INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

Saturday,.....May 17, 1873.

—A story is told of a French gentleman, who, having lost the bulk of his property through the rascality of his friends in whom he trusted, crowned it all by the loss of his mental balance, and for the remainder of his days found his only delight in riding in omnibuses and passing fares from passengers to the driver, taking care when change was returned to add to it a sou or two from his own pocket, and watch the effect on the receiver. In nine cases out of ten, as the story goes, the passenger, counting over his change and finding, as he supposed, that the driver had cheated himself, would look bewildered for a moment, and then pocket the change with a quiet chuckle. The special delight of the lunatic was in satisfying himself that nine-tenths of his fellow men men were dishonest if they only had the opportunity.

—Medical students who are about to pass through the ordeal of examination may advantageously, perhaps, copy the reply of a French student who was being examined by a famous physician. He described to the perplexed aspirant for medical honors a disease culminating by degrees to the most dangerous symptoms, and asked, "What would you then prescribe or do?" The student, after slight hesitation, replied, "I should send instantly for you." He gets his diploma, of course.

—"Tell ma to forgive me, for O, I am so happy," was the telegram an Indianapolis girl sent to her father to apprise him of her elopement with a telegraph operator.

—Indianapolis does not encourage tradesmen who try to recover debts. A grocer in that city who published a list of non-paying customers has been sued for libel.

—Vermont forgets all the hardships of the past Winter in jubilation over its maple sugar season, and cheerfully asks "what's the odds so long as its sappy?"

—"I know every rock on the coast," cried on Irish pilot. At that moment the ship struck, when he exclaimed, "and that's one of them!"

—It is said that Buffalo Bill is becoming jealous of Back Salary Bill.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

Vinegar Bitters.

No Person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittant Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most Wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

PRIVATE HOSPITAL.

THE SUBSCRIBER TAKES PLEASURE IN announcing to the people of Inyo county that he has purchased and fitted up as a hospital the Beaudry Hotel Building, adjoining the military post at Camp Independence. All the adobes have been removed and their place supplied with lumber; the grounds are handsomely laid out with shade trees and clover, and have a pure running stream of mountain water.

There is an excellent bath room and dispensary attached. One room is set aside for the county's sick, leaving ample room for private patients. The Northern Stage Line passes the door, and the place is easy of access from the town of Independence. The charges for board and lodging do not exceed those of any hotel or boarding house, offering equal accommodations, and the establishment has the advantage of having competent help and medical advice always at hand, being close by the house of the post surgeon at the camp.

The Breakwater a Success.

[From The Los Angeles Star, May 11.]

It is now demonstrated to a mathematical certainty that the breakwater below Wilmington will accomplish the great object which was predicted by the engineers who first planned the work. The uncertainty which has, to a great extent, seized on unskilled minds in regard to this work, is now dispelled by a fact which the near approach of the wall to Deadman's Island renders more apparent and understandable every day.

Our readers will remember that the theory of the work rests altogether on the compression of the great body of water, which enters and ebbs from the harbor over a great space of shoals reaching from Rattlesnake Island to the island at the mouth of the channel. The diffusiveness of the outlet enabled the bar across the entrance of the harbor to keep on forming, for there was no force in the tides to resist the accumulating sands. Hence it was argued it the entire body of water could be compelled by a seawall, extending from Rattlesnake to Deadman's Island, to flow and ebb only at the natural entrance to the harbor, its action would necessarily cut a channel, to about the depth of the interior channel, through the bar, and thus open our port to a large class of vessels.

That this theory was based on correct engineering principles, and will be successfully demonstrated, we have now the most satisfactory evidence. As the breakwater approaches Deadman's Island, the objective point, and the outlet becomes narrower, the water is found the deeper. As yet this effect has not been perceptibly felt on the bar. But in the great gap which yet exists between the dump of the seawall and outer island, the channel is deepening; so that when this entire opening shall have been closed, and lateral egress is completely cut off, the action we now find in the gap will necessarily be transferred to the bar. There could hardly be stronger advance proof offered of the success of a work in progress than this. The gap is now being filled in at the rate of from 100 to 150 tons of rock per day. Capt. Sears looks forward to the completion of the breakwater by October next, and a few weeks ago, before the work advanced sufficiently to make this new demonstration, he thought it might possibly require a large amount of dredging, after the completion of the breakwater, in order to cut a channel through the bar. But with this new evidence before us, we may look for practical effects long before October, and it is hardly likely that dredging will be at all necessary after that time.

The people of Los Angeles ought to feel buoyant over the ascertained success of this great work. Within a few months we shall have one of the finest and safest little harbors in the world opened to the navigation of vessels drawing twelve feet of water—and perhaps a much larger draft craft may enter without difficulty. And yet we are so staid and phlegmatic that we make no hurrah about it. San Diego could not retain her hilarity under such provocation, and her papers would swell with hyperbole and display headings.

Borax.

EDITOR STAR:—In response to your article of the 10th instant, I am willing to be one of 15 or 30 persons to put up the $3,000 for the purpose of establishing a borax refining or reducing works in this city, and the quicker we do it the better for Los Angeles. I am of the opinion, however, that in connection with the works here, leaching vats should be put up on the borax fields, by which all earthy substances could be taken out before it is freighted to Los Angeles. To accomplish all that will be required, at least $5,000 should be subscribed; and, if it should require $10,000, it will pay a heavy dividend.

Respectfully,

B. L. PEEL.

We commend the above to our readers, and hope that the ball thus started will be kept rolling. Here is a chance for those people who talk so much about local interests to act. We suggest the call of a meeting to put this thing into shape.—Los Angeles Star, May 11.

The Cherryvale Murderers.

[From The Eureka Sentinel.]

For some days the telegraph has been giving us disconnected scraps of information relative to the atrocious murders committed by the Bender family, near Cherryvale, Kansas. From our Eastern exchanges we gather the revolting details. Cherryvale is a small town on the Leavenworth, Lawrence and Galveston railroad, about fifty miles from the southern boundary of Kansas. The Bender family consisted of two brothers both of whom had wives. They lived on a farm about two miles from Cherryvale, and occasionally entertained travelers. One of the she Benders, wife of the oldest Bender, claimed to be a kind of spiritualist or medium, and was looked upon by the neighbors as a perfect she-devil.

Some months ago Dr. York, a prominent politician of Kansas, had occasion to pass through that portion of the State on horseback. He suddenly disappeared, and the most diligent search failed to reveal any trace of his whereabouts. The country was scoured for him, but without avail. They could track him to the vicinity of Cherryvale but no further. The country was deeply agitated, and the mysterious disappearance of Dr. York was in everybody's mouth. The Benders became alarmed and fled the country, but no one seems to have missed them until they had been gone several weeks. A man passing the farm one day last week discovered a dead calf in the yard near the road, and on investigation ascertained that it had died of starvation. The thought then flashed across his mind that the Benders had left the country and he proceeded to town and so reported. A crowd at once visited the farm. Beds, furniture, cooking utensils, etc., were all in place. Search was then instituted for the remains of the missing Dr. York. In a deep, dark pit, or cellar under the floor, cold, clotted blood mingled with earth was discovered. The house was thoroughly ransacked, but to no purpose, and the party next proceeded to the garden. Armed with a sharp iron rod, vigorously applied in probing the ground, they soon discovered a grave, which on examination was found to contain the remains of the long absent Dr. York. He had been buried without a coffin, face down. His skull was crushed on the back part of his head, and his throat had also been cut from ear to ear. Further search in the garden disclosed ten other graves, all containing remains in a greater or less degree decomposed. Among the rest was a father and his golden-haired little girl of six years, in one grave. Eleven bodies in all were exhumed by the excited populace in a few hours. Death had in every case resulted from a blow with a murderous hammer on the back of the head. As might well be conjectured, the most intense excitement prevailed for miles around, and people flocked by the thousands to the scene of these diabolical murders. Most of those murdered were travelers, but at latest accounts many of them had been identified. Plunder is the supposed motive which prompted the commission of these crimes. The case certainly stands without a parallel in the criminal history of our whole country.

The news now comes that these fiends have been arrested in Texas. The whole gang ought to be burned alive.

In District Court, Tulare.

[From the Visalia Delta, May 15th.]

Since last week this Court has been chiefly engaged with the case of the People against Thomas Woody, charged with the murder of John Findley, about two years ago. A. J. Atwell falling suddenly unwell, the prosecution mainly devolved upon Mr. Dagget, the new partner of S. C. Brown. The defense was managed by Cross & Burckhalter. The Jury, after a protracted trial, lasting from Monday till Friday had a long session of their own, and finally returned a verdict of murder in the second degree. The sentence was pronounced yesterday as follows:

"Thomas Woody! You have been tried by a Jury of your own selecting for the crime of murder; and they have returned a verdict that you are guilty of murder in the second degree. They could not have done so, had they not believed you were present when the foul deed was committed. And if they so thought, it could only have been in merciful consideration of your youth or family that they did not find you guilty in the first degree. I have, of course, heard all the testimony as well as the Jury, and see no reason for thinking you were not there, that you did not participate in that cold murder. The old man was awakened out of his bed in the night, allured under a false pretense to the road-side, and there shot from behind and slain. The judgment of the Court is that you be taken hence to the State's Prison, and therein be confined for the term of twenty-five years. If, in the meanwhile, as you suggest, you be not guilty, and the real perpetrators of this heinous crime should come to light, you will of course be discharged."

Last Monday the case of the People vs. Geo. Hodges for the murder of Gaddie, was called up. Some trouble was experienced in getting a Jury. The testimony was somewhat contradictory. Early on Tuesday a verdict of "not guilty" sent the prisoner on his way rejoicing. It appeared that the deceased was drunk at the time of the shooting, and so behaved, as in the opinion of the Jury, to excuse if not to justify the killing.

Internal Revenue.

The amount of internal revenue assessments in the Fourth Division of the Third Collection District of California, comprising the counties of Tulare, Fresno, Kern and Inyo, John H. Huntley Collector, for the year ending April 30, 1873, exclusive of that derived from the tax on the manufacture of malt and distilled liquors, was $7,627 20.

—"My bruddern," said a darkey wag to a crowd, "in all affliction, in all ob your troubles, dar am one place whar you can always find sympathy." "Whar?" shouted several of his hearers. "In the dictionary," he replied, rolling his eyes upward.

The War.

It was supposed that the Modocs were ensconced in another stronghold eighteen miles south of the original one, and that they would there make another stand, after their late defeat by Captain Hasbrouck's command, but they have slipped out of that and gone, no one knows whither. The cavalry are keenly on the lookout trying to discover their whereabouts, but apparently with no prospect of success short of the Pitt River region, where it is thought they have gone. The troops have been displaying considerable energy of late, and are working with a will to bring the war to a close. The Indians are certainly greatly demoralized since that bold attack on Hasbrouck's command, during which Capt. Jack, dressed in Gen. Canby's clothes, sustained himself in a most lordly manner, until his braves were put to flight, one being killed and at least seven badly wounded. This was the only real defeat they have yet sustained.

A Woman Hanged.

Among the numerous executions that have recently taken place throughout the country, we have an account of the hanging of one woman, a mere girl of 18, named Susan Eberhart. She was convicted as the accomplice of one E. F. Sham in the murder of his wife one year ago in Webster county, Georgia. The girl was hanged with the same rope that had been used in executing Sham three weeks previously. She went to her death with astonishing composure, declaring her happy willingness to at once bid farewell forever to the sorrows of earth, at the same time protesting to the last that her connection with the murder and subsequent association with the murderer, was through fear of her own life at his hands. The scene and fact of the execution produced a generally sad feeling in the minds of the people. This was the second woman who ever died by lawful hanging in Georgia.

The Stigmata Humbug Exploded.

Dr. Morse, an eminent physician of San Francisco, recently examined the so-called "stigmata" marks on the person of Miss Collins, which have been creating such a sensation for the last few weeks, and about which several poor deluded and fanatical wretches have been driven nearly crazy. The Doctor asserts that he was unable to discover anything preternatural about the case, and that the marks were evidently made with a needle, pin, or some other sharp instrument, and that they were nothing more than slight abrasions of the outer cuticle, with no connection whatever between the marks on the back and palm of the hands. The whole affair was an imposition of the grossest nature, and all the parties concerned should be arrested and punished for perpetrating a fraud.

The Available Force.

The whole number of available force in the field against the Modocs is much less than is generally supposed. Including the Warm Spring Indians, the total is 480, or a fighting force of 375. Lieut. Egan, who was badly wounded in one of the fights, and has been so highly commended for his bravery, has returned on invalid leave to San Francisco, and says that full 3,000 men would be required to surround the Lava Bed in order to make the fight as has been proposed. He thinks, however, a smaller number can drive through these rocks and kill all the Indians, but at a cost of many lives. Lieut. Egan was once stationed at Camp Independence, and his numerous friends here take much pleasure in hearing of his brave actions while in the field, and the high official notices they have received

Murderers Hanged.

From the number of hangings that have recently taken place ruffians generally will begin to infer that hanging is not altogether played out yet. On the 14th instant John Devine was executed in San Francisco, and in Sacramento on the following day Chas. J. Flynn, alias Mortimer, paid the extreme penalty of the law for the last of his numerous misdeeds. By their own confessions both of these men richly deserved their fate. From boyhood up it does not appear that either of them possessd or manifested a single good or reputable trait, and the world is well rid of two most desperate scoundrels. Both made confessions of many crimes, among them several murders, including those for which they were tried and executed. On Friday, May 16, Joseph O'Niel was hung at Mount Carroll, Illinois, and the same day Michael Nixon at New York.

Returned It.

Senator Casserly has returned his share of the back-pay as a member of the Forty-Second Congress, amounting to $970 40.

MALFEASANCE.

There appears to be no limit to official malfeasance. It is charged against a Congress almost entire, then a minister to a foreign country, officials of every grade, Credit Mobiliers, and railroad corporations at all times, and now comes the Surveyor-General of our State.

The great public is ready at all times to accept a mere allegation of peculations or unlawful speculations in such cases as a charge proved—as an accepted fact and wrong—which, if not excusable, has no remedy except a partizan one—which is only partial at the best. No party has, or ever can have, an exclusive monopoly of either the rascals or the honest men, and the only hope we can have of lessening actual official corruption and malfeasance, through party influences, is fully explained in the adage: "Set a thief to catch a thief." That is the difference and the need of parties, nothing more nor less, for the laws of the land made by either, and intended strictly to guard the rights of the public and to prevent frauds, are fully indorsed by both, and if properly executed are abundantly sufficient to protect these rights. We lack nothing in laws, but we lack much in their execution, and ever will until the great public itself cease to wink at or really encourage the idea that to rob Uncle Sam is no robbery at all. Whenever such robberies become as odious to the public mind—to either one party or the other, as a rule—as they nominally are to existing statutes, punishment will follow as in similar acts of lower grade thieves against private property.

We feel encouraged in the fact that there is boldness and virtue enough existing to at least arraign these alleged criminals, and still more so in the additional fact that, to a material extent at least, their accusers are not strictly anti-partisan, nor their "excusers," and most reliable shield, essentially the opposite. It may be considered a hopeful evidence of a better state of affairs that, as his late Accidency remarked in reference to treason, official robberies are becoming "odious" to the public mind and must be stopped.

If the present charges against Surveyor General Hardenberg are sustained, as it is quite possible and probable that they will be, he ought to be ranked and punished as any other thief; if not by actual sentence of law, at least in public estimation, instead—as has too often been the case under similar circumstances—of being considered "a very clever fellow indeed." If these charges are true, he has perpetrated an unmitigated swindle upon thousands of poor men, by involving their titles to theri homes in future costly litigation, besides already having pocketed large sums of public money for labor never performed. But he is not the first who has perpetrated swindles in this State, and of the same character. As a matter more nearly concerning ourselves, we have it from good authority that, under Jack Hays, the original surveys of this county were (non)performed exactly as those under Hardenberg; and the chances are that much if not all our valley lands will have to be re-surveyed to prevent clashing of ownerships, or at least to make them properly conform to mineral and other correct surveys to be made hereafter. As these grounds were mapped and nominally surveyed in great part by Hays' sub-contractors, as in other places with Hardenberg's, we are assured that a litigious person can raise a question of title concerning almost any section of land in the valley. With the realization of this possible fact, innocent sufferers would be apt to think that the cash Jack Hays received for work he only pretended to perform was money dishonestly obtained, but, if the question of his guilt was ever raised, it was never prosecuted nor was he ever punished, though many men for lesser crimes have since served long terms in the penitentiary, sometimes for nothing more than a mere attempt to commit a crime. But the statutes make no distinctions in persons committing criminal acts; it is only public opinion that does this, and practically nullifies the law punishing high-toned thieves and swindlers.

Postal Changes.

On the recommendation of Senator Sargent the Postmaster-General has ordered the following important changes in California: The service from Tipton to Los Angeles is raised from a weekly to a daily. The service from Los Aneles to San Diego is raised from a tri-weekly to a daily, and the time reduced from thirty-six to twenty-four hours. A messenger service is ordered between Wilmington and San Pedro.

A terrible fire and explosion, entailing the loss of seventy-five lives, took place in the Drummond, Nova Scotia, coal mines recently. None of the bodies have been recovered, and the mine is being smothered.

Lieut. Col. F. J. Dent, Fifth Artillery, has been at his own request, assigned to duty with his regiment.

Senator Sargeant left Washington on the 14th for San Francisco.

Not Second Class.

The Tuolumne Supervisors have recently formally rated that county as as third class, not having a population of 8,000 as determined by testimony, and therefore, according to the provisions of the Code, the Supervisors will not have to be increased to five, the number required for a second-class county.

The Whole Number.

The whole number of whites killed, citizens and soldiers, since the Modoc troubles began is seventy-one, and sixty-seven wounded. It is probable that this terrible list will receive a number of additions yet ere the Modocs are all sent to the happy hunting grounds, where, according to Indian ethics, they will be entitled to an exalted position, since on an average each one has already destroyed three or more of his enemies.

The Big Ship Canal Pronounced Feasible.

The results of the second and last expedition of Capt. Selfridge to explore the Isthmus of Darien for the route of a ship canal are given to the public. The statement is made that the entire length of the proposed canal has been reduced by this latest exploration to twenty-eight miles, the length of the tunnel to about three miles, and the estimated cost of the work to less than $70,000,000. The New York Herald says:

Captain Selfridge found the Atrato "a magnificent river, and at a distance of 180 miles from its mouth, capable of floating the heaviest ships, even at its lowest stage." In its courses this river comes within a few miles of the Pacific coast, and the object of the expedition was to find that point most available for the construction of a canal which should carry forward communication from the river to the Pacific Ocean. This was done. There was great labor in the work, and Captain Selfridge and his officers are deserving of the highest credit for their skill and devotion. This canal must and will be built. The commerce of the world demands it with a more imperative voice than it did the opening of the Suez Canal. The latter cost $100,000,000. The Darien canal will cost $30,000,000 less, and prove a far more profitable investment. The history of the last and final expedition will be eagerly read, and the only matter of regret connected with it is the loss, by drowning, of a brave and skillful officer among the exploring party.

His Reasons.

Senator Brownlow speaks thus frankly concerning his attitude on the salary grab:

"I took the increased compensation cheerfully and without hesitation, not because of poverty (though I am not rich), but because the increase provided for is just and right in itself. I could have dodged the vote, as members in both Houses of Congress did, and more easily than others, for it was late at night when it was taken, and, in the condition of my health, I was not expected to be in my seat, but I preferred being on record in favor of it, though I knew there were enough to pass the bill without my vote."

The Parson says further that, while working for himself his pay as an editor amounted to over $10.000 a year, and he could see no justice in working for the public, in performing the responsible duties of United States Senator, for a much smaller sum.

But he and the rest of them should not have gone back on the original bargain if had been for but $1 a year.

The Vienna Exposition Frauds.

Gen. Van Buren, recently removed as chief of the great exposition, publishes the following card in relation to his connection with the alleged frauds:

"For ten months I have spared no exertion or expense to make the exposition a success, and am utterly unconscious of doing or authorizing to be done a single wrong or unworthy thing, and that the person who asserts or intimates that I ever received, asked, or have been promised a single cent, or any consideration or advantage whatever, either directly or indirectly, from any appointment or concession by reason of my position, or that I am in any way connected with this exhibition, is a cowardly knave and liar. The accursed malignity and unhallowed ambition and vanity of John Jay have for months been employed to destroy me and my commission that he might obtain some notoriety himself."

The letters, of which the foregoing is the pith, are accompanied by a sworn document to the same effect.

The Railroad.

A gentleman who left the terminus on Thursday furnishes us intelligence from the railroad up to that date. Construction cars were then running as far as deep Creek. The bridge across that stream was nearly completed, and the grade was finished about one mile this side. About two hundred and fifty men were engaged in the various departments of the work. He states that a twenty mile section will be built by the 1st of June. The crossing of deer Creek is about six miles to the west of the stage road. The twenty mile section will bring the road two or three miles this side of White River. Between that point and Posy Creek there are no bridges to be built, and the plain is exceptionally smooth and level. The construction cars are now probably running across Deer Creek.—Bakersfield Courier, May 17th.

Sad Accident.

On Thursday morning, while Mr. P. Shine and two Chinamen were at work on Shine's claim in Columbia, an embankment fell, crushing one of the Chinamen, who is likely dead ere this, and seriously injuring Mr. Shine. Dr. Eichelroth attended the latter, who suffered acute pains from cramps in the stomach where he was hurt by the pressure of the fallen earth and rocks. The Doctor considers his injuries not necessarily fatal. The poor Chinaman's skull was fractured, his ribs broken, and one hand nearly cut off.—Sonora Democrat, May 17th.

On a Prospect.

The Eureka Sentinel reports the departure of a prospecting party from that town. It says Barnes, Read, Eddy and Dickinson compose the party. They leave, perhaps, to take up their abodes in other parts. They go to Lida Valley via Belmont, thence to the Inyo country and to Los Angeles. They then intend to prospect the country lying east of San Bernardino, at the head of the Mohave River.

A Used-Up P. M.—He Tells Us All How it Is.

[COMMUNICATED.]

Did you ever hanker after a postmastership in a country village, Messieurs Editors? If you never did, my advice to you is the same as Punch's to those about to marry—don't.

If there is anything in the world calculated to make a man hate all mankind; calculated to give him a poor opinion of brains; calculated to make him hate anything in the shape of an interrogation point, and calculated to drive him to an early grave, its a country postoffice.

I believe that a country postoffice is only a foreshadowing of the punishment we are to receive hereafter, and given to a few favored (?) ones in order that they may get their hands in and get a little used to varieties of torture.

If a man's brain could stand it, he could find much to laugh at, but a fifty-six-ounce brain would only be a starter, and as that is more than the average, the chances are that our lunatic asylums will soon be filled to overflowing.

There's the man who comes about 5 o'clock in the morning, about the time you feel most sleepy, and who pertinaciously rattles at your door till you get up to see what he wants. He wants to know if there is a letter in the office for him. Knowing, as you do, that the man has never received a letter during your term of office, couldn't read it if he had, your feelings toward that man are of the kind that make Cains.

Then there are the people who never receive any letters at all, and who come to the office four hours before the mails come, and ask you such intellectual questions as these: "Mr. Postmaster, what time will the mail come in?" "Mr. Postmaster, did the Sacramento mail connect with the mail going East yesterday?" "Mr. Postmaster, can you tell me what time the mail leaves San Francisco that goes North?"

Then when the mail does come in, perhaps a heavy one, and you are busy assorting it, how cheerful it is to hear the confidential cusses say: "Mr. Postmaster, if there is anything for me, chuck it over," and you answer yes, wishing all the time you could chuck it over, and the whole thing over, and him over, for while he's been talking to you, you have probably put the Sacramento package in the bag going to Texas and the Texas package in the bag going to Portland, Maine. Then, while you are opening package after package of letters and newspapers, to hear some one ask: "Did anything come?" "Is there anything in the mail?" you begin to doubt then whether you are sane; you begin to wonder if you are not in a dream, for you can't realize that people with ordinary heads on 'em can ask such extraordinary questions.

Then, there's the impecunious cuss who never has a stamp nor money enough to buy one, who insinuatingly says: "Just put a stamp on this letter, Mr. Postmaster, and I'll make it all right with you." Alas! he never makes it all right, but makes it all wrong, for in the course of a year you are out of pocket forty or fifty dollars on his impecunious lordship's account.

Then, in the long Summer days, when you feel a little "tired," and are quietly dozing in your little chair, to have a perfect stranger come in and rouse you from your peaceful slumbers by yelling in your ear: "Is there a letter for me?" With what fiendish glee do you turn your glaring eye upon him and in tones of thunder answer, "no!" and after he is gone, you chuckle to yourself with a sort of demoniacal chuckle, knowing that you don't know the man from Adam—or Eve. That is one of the perquisites of the office.

Then, when your notices inform the public that the mail closes at half-past 11, how nice and quieting to the nerves it is to have the inevitable last man come in when the stage is at the door waiting, and ask as a special favor that you will "put this in, as it's highly important," and "I'll be on hand next time;" and he is—at just the same hour. You of course open the bag, put his letter in, shut up the bag and get to the door just in time to hear the stage-driver say to himself: "Takes a thundering long time to make up their d—d little old mail."

Then there is the man who comes in and says: "Mr. Postmaster, I wish you would see that this letter goes to its destination." You look at the man in a bewildered sort of way, wondering how the devil you are to follow that letter without losing the emoluments of your office.

And last, not least, there's the man who comes in with the wonderful joke of asking "if the female came in."

Messieurs Editors, the Government allows you all these privileges and pays you the munificent sum of $12 per year, and find everything. Find that you are growing old; find that you are growing cross; find that you are growing gray; find that you are growing crazy; find that you are paying for the privilege of keeping an office $50 to $75 a year.

If you ever did hanker a country postoffice and do now, my labor has been in vain; and with sorrowful pen I close, for I hear a man saying, "Mr. Postmaster, is there anything in the office," and I answer, "not a d——d cent."

Yours, bewilderedly,
POSTMASTER.

Wants Advice.

A Washington special says the President recently expressed regret that the appointment of a Chief Justice would devolve on him, and that he would willingly shrink from the responsibility if he could. He further said he would appoint a man independent of political considerations, and one whom the lawyers of the country would indorse. In the meantime he hoped his friends and prominent men in the country would give him their views upon the subject.

To all County Assessors.

The State Board of Equalization have met and issued the following circular letter of instructions to all the Assessors in the State:

SACRAMENTO, May 12, 1873.

By a decision of the Supreme Court, rendered May 8, 1873, in the cases of Savings and Loan Society vs. Austin, and Bartlett Doe, et. al. vs. Austin, the doctrine of the cases of People vs. McCreary, People vs. Eddy, Lick vs. Austin, and People vs. Wbartenby, is practically overruled, and it is held that solvent debts of all kinds are not subject to taxation. You will, therefore, in making your assessment, omit all solvent debts, whether secured by mortgage or otherwise, State, county or municipal bonds, notes, judgments for money, scrip, county warrants, and all other evidences of indebtedness. And where you have for the present fiscal year made such assessments, you will cancel the same before the delivery of the assessment book to the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, as required by Section 3,654 of the Political Code.

Rules V, VI, VII, XIII and XXV, adopted by this Board February 24, 1873, so far as in conflict with the foregoing instructions, have been repealed.

How to Prevent Hens from Eating Their Eggs.

The Country Gentleman suggests a way to prevent hens from eating their eggs. It is to fill an egg with a solution of pepper, and put the egg back in the nest. A Danbury man has tried this and says it works like a charm. He put a pretty good dose of pepper in the egg and placed it in the nest of the criminal. Pretty soon the hen came around and took hold. It was a brindle animal, with long legs, and somewhat conceited. It dipped in its bill and inhaled the delicacy. Then it came out of doors. It didn't gallop out, we don't mean, but it came out—came out to look at the scenery, and see if it was going to rain. Its mouth was wide open and the feathers on its head stood straight up. Then it commenced to go around the yard like a circus horse. Once in a while it would stop and push out one leg in a tone of astonishment, and then holler "fire," and start on again. The other hens came out to look on. Soon the hens from the neighbors came over the fence and took up a position of observation. It was quite evident the performance was something entirely new and unique to them. There is a good deal of human nature in hens. When they saw this hen dance around and have all the fun to itself, and heard it shout "fire," and couldn't see the conflagration themselves, they filled up with wrath, and of one accord sprang upon it, and before the Danbury man could interfere, the brindle hen with the long legs was among the things that were. He says the recipe is effectual.—Danbury News.

The "Bob White" Partridge.

R. Ferguson writes: "On Monday morning, May 5th, while I was preparing to go to planting corn on my farm, near Fulton, I heard a clear and distinct sound—'Bob White! Bob White!' I cannot tell what my feelings were; my mind flew back to Tennessee and Missouri, where I have so often heard 'Bob White.' I called Mrs. Ferguson, and Miss Eliza Power, of your city, to share my joy. We stood and listened to it sound clearly, fifteen or twenty times, 'Bob White.' I have heard it every day since. I think it has located with me for the summer. I do not know how many there are. I think there are more than one, as I have heard 'Bob White' in different places on the ranch. I don't allow them to be disturbed, and will take as good care of them as I can for the great confidence they have put in me."—Sonoma Democrat.

DIED.

At the ranch of Smith & Shaw, Bishop Creek, May 19, GEORGE SMITH, a native of North Carolina, aged 60 years.

Mr. Smith was one of the pioneers of the coast, and one of the first settlers of this county. He was a good and highly respected man and neighbor, and leaves a large circle of friends to mourn his loss.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

An Unprincipled Absconder.

We have just learned the particulars connected with the absence of W. A. Fox, for a time a well known merchant and Justice of the Peace of Cerro Gordo. Fox somehow ingratiated himself into the good will of Mr. James Kays, and the two formed a partnership and opened a store, the latter gentleman furnishing all the cash necessary to lay in quite a heavy stock of goods. Having occasion to go below, Kays left the business in charge of his partner, who seems to have played things high during the interiem. On Kays' return, Fox had a pressing call to the Bay, and, taking $1,500 of the firm money, started thenceward to pay it to creditors there. From that point Fox writes a villainous string of lies, and finally disappears for parts unknown. Now comes a representative of the San Francisco merchants and takes possession of the store and merchandise, Mr. Kays being unable to help himself and out and injured some $4,000 by the perfidy of the wily Fox, who should have his tail amputated just two inches south of his ears. Fox has bilked many others as well, but the strongest feeling in Cerro Gordo is that of sympathy for Mr. Kays, who has made a host of friends by his gentlemanly and honorable dealing.

Belligerent.

Early loiterers on the streets of Lone Pine, on Wednesday morning last, were the amused witnesses of a running fisticuff between a gentleman of that place and one we will designate as Benedict, because that isn't his name. Getting into a wordy war, Benedict expressed a profound conviction that he could, individually, lurrup most anybody in town, particularly the gentleman referred to, and about this time he marked his eye against the other fellow's fist with so much force that he fell backward from the rebound. Elevated at the success of this strategy, he bellowed like a calf and kept on striking his head against the said fist, at the same time intimating that he had experienced a change of mind on the subject of his fighting abilities. The whole affair passed off smoothly, the only regrets being that the mussist was not arrested for his unearthly howls.

Rich Strike.

In the whim shaft, from the level of the Omega tunnel, Cerro Gordo, at a depth of 160 feet, a very rich strike of soft carbonate ore has been made during the past week. From only a seam the vein or pocket opens to a width of from four to six feet, the ore going six hundred dollars per ton. It resembles heavy, gray sand, and smelts about as rapidly as it can be fed into a furnace. The Omega is the property of the Swansea Company, and runs into ground covered by the original Front location.

Lida.

A friend writing from Lida Valley under date of May 7, says that the contractors on the Lida Belle shaft would have the shaft down 50 feet below the tunnel level in a few days, and that they were taking out considerable quantities of very good ore. The Blue Dick was down 90 feet with four inches of the highest grade ore and plenty of second rate. The developments at these depths in these mines are considered generally encouraging. The owner, who is a working miner, is anxious for our farmers to bring in a lot of butter and eggs, there being quite a demand for these products and none in the market.

Crops.

Though fruit generally in this county, grapes excepted, was pretty much all killed by the frost, Mr. J. B. White's peach orchard was an exception to the rule. He has some forty or fifty trees that bid fair to produce from one to three hundred pounds each of good fruit. Judge Gunnison, on the neighboring place, has a number of peach trees pretty well loaded. The season is somewhat backward, but the grain and grass crops are said to be looking splendidly all through the county.

The Cerro Gordo Water Company.

The welcome news has reached Cerro Gordo that the pipes for the new water company (Boushey) have been shipped from San Francisco, having been put together at that point, the company being unable to get mechanics to do the work on the ground. A portion of the main is to be of "eighth" boiler iron, and the balance galvanized, three inches diameter.

Bullion.

Twelve thousand bars of silver-lead bullion have accumulated at Beaudry's furnace, and some 8,000 at Belshaw's, Cerro Gordo. The average daily production at the first named as now 148 bars, each 83 pounds weight. Should no accident occur to prevent, the run during the present month will result in 4,000 bars, the highest heretofore made in the same time being 3,900.

Back Again.

We note on our streets P. or "Eph" Harrington, a well known old Inyoite, who has just returned from an extensive prospect in Wallapai and other portions of Arizona. Eph has returned to his old love, the Wolverine, a lead mine of Cerro Gordo, which is conceded by mining men to be the north extension of the Union and Santa Maria belt.

Who Wants It?

Corporal Hickok, being about to depart for Arizona, is desirous of selling a double bass viol, new and most excellent instrument; it will be sold at cost price. It can be seen at this office.

Invalided.

Mr. Beaudry, who arrived here several days since, is yet on the invalid list, but is improving pretty fast.

Three Men Killed in Lida.

[From The Independent Extra of Sunday last.]

We this morning received the news of a dreadful shooting affray which took place in our neighboring camp of Lida Valley, Nevada, in which two inoffensive citizens and one gambling rough were almost instantly killed.

About half past 5 o'clock P. M., May 12, two men, one a Mexican the other an American, were playing a game of "seven-up" in Scott & Fitzgerald's saloon in the town of Lida. A by-stander, a gambling rough named George Chiles, busied himself, though not interested in the game, in annoying the players in various ways. Some one told him to "dry up." Chiles turned on W. B. Harbin, who happened casually to be present, saying to him: "You white-eyed s——of a b——, what do you want?" at the same time going for his revolver. Before he could draw it, however, Harbin, who is a very powerful man, struck him a blow with his fist which felled him like an ox. As Chiles rose, his pistol already in hand, he fired at Hugh Scott (a brother of one of the proprietors of the saloon), who was quietly standing at the bar. As was afterwards ascertained, this ball struck Scott in the right breast, probably passing through the heart, and coming out near the spine. While falling he received another shot which entered midway between the point of the shoulder and neck, ranging downwards and remaining in the body.

Chiles fired again, the murderous missile striking John Duffy, another by-stander, in the thigh, severing the femoral artery, from which he bled to death before assistance could be rendered or obtained.

By this time a number of persons had gathered hold of the desperate rough, who was a large, powerful man. During the struggle Chiles received a shot just above the right hip, ranging through his body and lodging against the skin near the navel, and killing him almost instantly—thus winding up the career of a crazed ruffian and murderer. It is not known who fired the shot which ended this, the most dreadful tragedy ever witnessed in that section.

The untimely death of Scott and Duffy is sincerely lamented, both being quiet, inoffensive and highly respected men. Previous to the shooting they were neither of them connected with the row in any manner, but through an inscrutable Providence, destined to become victims of a wretched desperado wildly shooting into a crowd of scarcely less than thirty men, without aim or object, but his every shot taking effect upon one or the other.

Justice W. J. Brown soon afterward summoned a jury. The verdict was substantially as above given, as to the cause of death. It was also found that Hugh Scott was aged about 26 years and a native of Corben County, Pennsylvania. That John Duffy, aged about 30, a native of Ireland, county Westmeath. George Chiles, the murderer, supposed to be about 43 years of age, nativity unknown, and a gambler by profession. He had been in Lida for about a month previous to this melancholy event, and up to that time, had conducted himself peaceably and well for one of his class.

On the following evening the three bodies were consigned to their last resting place with due form and ceremonies, J. B. Hiskey, Esq., officiating as clergyman on this most sad occasion.

The true name of the dead murderer and desperado was George Woodlow Chiles, and he was a Virginian by birth. In person he was nearly six feet tall, weighing about 200 pounds. He was well known about Dayton and neighboring Nevada towns, near the former of which, in El Dorado Canyon in 1865-6, he was engaged in the wood business. For some years past and up to the time of his departure for Lida Valley, he has been knocking about this county, mostly at Cerro Gordo and Lone Pine, nominally as a miner, but really as a gambler stealing a living as best he could around gambling tables where he was always to be found. Though rated and ambitious to be considered as a desperado, always going "heeled," those who knew him best thought him a coward at heart, and will be the more surprised in hearing of this murderous onslaught. Had it not have been accompanied by that of innocent men and good citizens, the death of Chiles, or all such evil members of society, would be followed by no regrets except that it had not occurred sooner.

Ordered Away.

There is a strong probability that Major Egbert and the greater portion of his command will start early the coming week for Arizona as an escort to the Government telegraph builders. "Orders are orders," but it strikes us very forcibly, as we have before remarked, that the withdrawal of these troops is very bad policy, for which belief we can show good and sufficient reasons if necessary. However, the Major has more than once tendered his services to Gen. Schofield, and has been anxious to go to the Modoc war, in which peculiar duty we are morally certain the Major and the boys of his command, that would have gone with him in that event, would make a most gallant record. The Major is a highly popular gentleman and his departure will be universally regretted, if not as a question of policy certainly on personal grounds

Assault and Battery.

A few days since some travelers passing northward, intending to locate at Big Pine, we believe, stopped for the night at Mrs. McGann's place, a few miles north of this place. In the morning some dispute arose between Mrs. McGann and some of the men belonging to the party in relation to a trespass of the latter's stock. After some very hard words from both sides, the talk culminated in something of a fight or horse-whipping arrangement, Mrs. McGann whose husband was away, being beaten black and blue. She swore out a warrant upon which two of the men, J. R. Holt and J. W. Riddle, were arrested and brought before Justice Gunnison, the case being now on trial and before a jury. Pending this we forbear any further details or remarks.

A Corner in Goodies.

There was some excitement among the bear and bull operators in cream and strawberries here at the beginning of the week. The bears cornered the bulls on strawberries, and the bulls bullied the bears in cream to such an extent that none of this stock came on the Board, though it commanded a premium for a day or two. The cream of the joke in this double corner in goodies was that it was some outsiders and not the bulls and bears that had a bully time in making away with them. One of the operators thinks he May be cussed if sour strawberries are good without cream, while too much cream without strawberries was what "ailed Hannah." No colics, nor arrests.

Early Departure.

Mr. Addis, Photographic Artist, whose rooms are in the second story of THE INYO INDEPENDENT building, will remain in this place but one week longer, as other engagements call him hence. Those, therefore, desiring pictures possessing true artistic merit will govern themselves accordingly.

An Exodus.

Yesterday morning there was quite an exodus of several members of the sporting fraternity who for several days previously had been making it quite lively for the boys here, but not enough so, the departed ones say, to justify them in remaining longer at $6 per diem for poor grub. They think they can do better than that at the Astor in New York, which, though not a capital, is a town somewhat larger than Independence, and one that they shall hereafter recommend in preference, on account of some supposed advantages in hotels, markets, prices or something, we don't exactly know what.

Spreading Itself.

March appears to be trying hard, and succeeding admirably thus far, in spreading itself from February to August. While people in the valley, early in the week, were a portion of the time lathering in sweat, the White Mountains were lathered with snow, and the cold breezes from thence have since sensibly cooled the aspirations and barred the latherings of everybody save expectant politicians. March is the biggest month of all the year, for, yet in May, it still goes "Marching on."

Sloshing Around.

The junior of this institution is rantafousing around the lower end of the county, after which he proposes to do the upper end and a portion of Nevada. People needn't worry about their quartz mills or other heavy articles when he's around, but small quantities of coin in exposed places might be looked after to advantage in numerous instances.

Unpaid Taxes.

As there are a few parties who have not paid their taxes on the Independence School District assessment, we take this occasion to say that they will save costs and trouble both by handing in their respective amounts to Collector White at once. All unpaid taxes on this list at the 1st of the present month will be returned delinquent and collected according to law. Pay up.

Land Office Matters.

We observe that Mr. J. Earl has been appointed Register of the Land Office here, which is not here, and we also notice that the senior of this paper has received his commission as Receiver of Public Moneys, and would like to be commissioned as the receiver of a few dollars of private moneys, if such a thing could consistently be arranged.

For Clerk.

W. L. Moore announces himself as a candidate before the Democratic Convention for County Clerk. Everybody knows "Dadual," and everybody knows that he would make an agreeable and most competent Clerk.

An Old Timer.

We note the arrival here of V. A. Gregg, Esq., of Council Bluffs, Iowa. Mr. Gregg was one of our original sage-brushers, and now returns with quite a reputation as a lawyer, and with a view of making this his home.

—There may be such a thing as temperance becoming fashionable at some time even among such confirmed bon vivants as the English officers, and the near approach of that period is hinted at in this manner: Ancient Messman (to his officer just returned to barracks)—"Coffee and curacoa, sir? Brandy and soda?" Modern Captain—"Augh! No. Bring me a glass of iced toast-and-wat-ar!"

—A fellow in New Orleans ate a box of castile soap to get rid of freckles. He still has a few on his face, but inside he isn't freckled a bit.

Tulare Items.

Untold millions of grasshoppers are doing great injury to crops on Tule River and Outside Creek, and in some districts in the foothills. There are countless myriads of them, of all sizes and descriptions, the like of which was never seen before. Where do they come from? Does their appearance in such multitudes, so suddenly, tend to prove the doctrine of spontaneous production? If not, we again ask "whar do they come from?"

It will be noticed in our report of the Grand Jury that that body found thirteen indictments against saloon keepers in this county for selling liquor on Sunday. It is charged, we believe, that the saloons while keeping their front doors shut on Sundays open their back doors for the admission of customers. We understand that the saloon-keepers will make a common cause and contest this case. This will test the validity of this provision of the law and establish a guide for the future, so that there can be no misapprehension of legal requirements.

Several gentlemen who have lately been on the summit of the Sierras on the roads and trails south of here, tell us that the grass is drying up on the very highest points they visited, a thing never known before, it is said. One gentleman, who has been in this region nearly twenty years, tells us that he never knew this to be the case before—heretofore there has always been green grass on the summit. What makes this still stranger is the fact that more snow fell in the mountains last Winter than usual, and the season was much later. What is the cause of this?—Times, May 10.

Another Cold-Blooded Murder.

A gentleman from King's River brings the following intelligence of the killing of T. J. Payne, a citizen of Millerton, which took place somewhere in the mountains above Dry Creek on Saturday last. It appears that Payne had some sort of an altercation with a Cherokee, when the latter shot him dead. The Indian is said to have been furnished by Payne's partner with a horse and Henry rifle, and told to leave. He was subsequently pursued by Jess Morrow, who called upon him to surrender, but as he would not give up, the latter opened fire, shooting away some of his fingers and killing the horse which he rode. He then made the arrest, and the murderer was lodged in jail at Millerton. Payne was a quiet, inoffensive man, and peaceably disposed. He formerly kept a saloon in Millerton and has for some time past been in company with a man named Trip in the same business at the place where he was killed.—Visalia Delta.

Worn Gold Coin not a Legal Tender.

The recent act of February 12, 1873, has entirely changed the character of all the gold coins in the United States which are in actual use. The law provides that all gold coins shall be a legal tender in all payments at their nominal value, when not less than one-fourth of a grain less than the coined weight. If they are more depreciated than that they are to be received only at their nominal value. The Treasury will, however, receive them at their nominal value if not depreciated more than one-half of one per cent. This regulation is more liberal than the first, for there in order to be a legal tender a gold coin must not have lost more than one-tenth of one per cent. In ordinary business matters this will create little practical difficulty, but in the payment of large sums in gold coin the loss in many instances will be not less than $1,000 in $100,000.

Who did Cain Marry?

To the editor of The Chronicle—Sir: Where did Cain get his wife? Adam's wife, Eve, was of Adam's ribs. She gave birth to two children, Cain and Abel. Cain killed Abel; then he married. Now where did Cain get his wife? L.

We are sorry to be obliged to refuse to answer this question. Upon any subject of a public nature we never refuse to throw the desired light. But this is altogether a different thing. It is a family matter with which we do not care to meddle. Cain died some years before many of us were born, and such idle curiosity regarding the family affairs of a deceased person we regard as reprehensible, and calculated to violate the sanctities of domestic life. For these reasons, and because we do not wish to injure the feelings of the relatives of the deceased, we decline to answer the question.—S. F. Chronicle.

Annexation.

A San Francisco paper is informed by its Washington correspondent that Colonel A. B. Steinberger, of Washington, has recently been sent to the Hawaiian Islands to investigate the whole question of their annexation to the United States, and report to the Administration. Should the Hawaiian sugars be admitted free to the United States, a considerable sugar-refining industry might be expected to spring up there with the advantage of cheap Australian coals. The price of sugars would hardly be sensibly lowered to California but the area supplied from Hawaii would be increased to the exclusion of an equal amount now supplied from the refineries of New Orleans, St. Louis and Baltimore.—Sac. Record.

Snake Movements.

It is reported that the Snake Indians are pouring into Cope District, Nevada, from all directions. They are painted in war style and cause a great alarm to the settlers. The citizens of Cope District and Montana City were to have had a public meeting last week, and measures taken to procure arms and be prepared in case of an outbreak.—Owyhee Avalanche.

—An Oregon woman was recently kicked on the head by a horse and has not been able to converse sensibly since. This sometimes happens to women who don't get kicked.

About Fools.

The Dahm family of Fort Wayne, Indiana, left a loaded pistol around loose. A little Dahm went to tinkering with it, and winged the old Dahm in the hip. We are not inclined to interfere with another man's business, but the word fool could be worked into this paragraph with good effect anywhere after the word Dahm. Try it, gentle reader, and see how it fits. Here is another way of putting the same thing from The Detroit Tribune: John Van Dahm, of Fort Wayne, Indiana, was playing with a pistol in his house, one day, when it went off and made an eyelet hole in his hip. If he was named Jones he might be called a Jones fool; if his name was Smith he might be called a Smith fool, but, his is another name.

Snow.

We, in common with the rest of the aristocracy, were intensely astonished, on emerging from our palatial domicile, to find the bosom of Mother Earth wrapped in a white mantle. In other words, the ground was covered with snow. At this writing it is snowing heavily and the general out-of-doors aspect bears a strong resemblance to the month of December. "Beautiful snow" is not an apt simile by any means, for it is not in the least comfortable or romantic to be sloshing around in a snow storm in the middle of May; getting your feet wet and taking chances of your precious life from pneumonia or epizooty. The man that even thinks snow is beautiful is a fraud of the deepest dye.—Austin Reveille, May 15.

—An American sovereign, married to a scion of Spanish royalty, recently presented for baptism at the font a little prince of his house. There is said to have been absolutely no limits to the furious and indescribable howls and yells of that aristocratic infant when the name—the low and musical name—of "Perkins" was pronounced above it. To inflict such a name upon the descendant of a Bourbon is an outrage which even an effete civilization can not placidly bear.

VARIETIES.

—"Tell me, Laura, why that sadness? Tell me, why that look of care? Why has fled that look of gladness that thy face was wont to wear?" "Charles, 'tis useless to dissemble; well my face may wear a frown, for I've lost my largest hairpin, and my chignon's coming down!"

—A case of feminine daring is related of an Arkansas belle, who rode to the edge of a precipice and defied any man in the party with whom she was riding to follow her. Not a man accepted her challenge; but a tantalizing youth stood on his head in the saddle, and dared the lady to do that.

—"A beautiful day, Mr. Jenkins." "Yes, very pleasant indeed." "Good day for the race." "Race, what race?" "The human race." "Oh, go along with your stupid jokes; get up a good one like the one with which I sold Day." "Day, what Day?" "The day we celebrate," said Jenkins, who went on his way rejoicing.

—"That bed is not long enough for me," said a very tall, gruff old Englishman, upon being ushered into his bedroom by an Irish waiter at one of our hotels. "Faith, an' you'll find it long enough, sir, when you get into it," was the reply; "for then there'll be two more feet added to it." Exit Pat, with a boot fetching up the rear.

—A jailer in Oxfordshire, who was remarkably humane to his prisoners, said to one of them: "My good friend, you are to be hanged on Friday fortnight. I want extremely to go to London. Would you be so kind as to be hanged next Friday?" "With great pleasure, to oblige you," rejoined the complaisant convict, who was accordingly suspended.

MEDICAL.

PRIVATE HOSPITAL.

THE SUBSCRIBER TAKES PLEASURE IN announcing to the people of Inyo county that he has purchased and fitted up as a hospital the Beaudry Hotel Building, adjoining the military post at Camp Independence. All the adobes have been removed and their place applied with lumber; the grounds are handsomely laid out with shade trees and clover, and have a pure running stream of mountain water.

There is an excellent bath room and dispensary attached. One room is set aside for the county's sick, leaving ample room for private patients. The Northern Stage Line passes the door, and the place is easy of access from the town of Independence. The charges for board and lodging do not exceed those of any hotel or boarding house, offering equal accommodations, and the establishment has the advantage of having competent help and medical advice always at hand, being close by the house of the post surgeon at the camp.

NOTICE OF THE REMOVAL OF THE LAND OFFICE FROM AURORA, NEVADA, TO INDEPENDENCE, CALIFORNIA, AND OF CHANGE OF BOUNDARIES IN THE AURORA AND CARSON CITY LAND DISTRICTS IN NEVADA, AND THE VISALIA DISTRICT IN CALIFORNIA.

UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE, Aurora, Nevada, April 1st, 1873.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT PURSUANT to an order of the President of the United States, dated February 27th, 1873, and instructions of the Hon. Willis Drummond, Commissioner of the General Land Office, dated March 20th, 1873, we have this day suspended all action looking towards the disposal of lands embraced within the limits of the Independence Land District, hereinafter described, and that the Land Office at Aurora, Nevada, will be removed to Independence, California, and will be open for the transaction of business at the latter place on Saturday, the 31st day of May, 1873.

All business in said Aurora Land Office relating to the disposition of lands embraced within that part of the District lying within the State of Nevada will be suspended on the 15th day of May, 1873, at which time said lands will be transferred to the Carson City Land District.

The said Independence Land District will embrace all lands lying within the limits of California which heretofore formed a part of the Aurora Land District, and in addition all that part of the Visalia District which lies east of Range Thirty-two (32) Mount Diablo Meridian.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE, FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

Vinegar Bitters.

No Person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittant Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most Wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

ESTRAY NOTICE.

A Gloomy Picture of Texas.

The Idaho Statesman of the 14th instant publishes a letter written by a Mrs. Peter Moore to a citizen of Idaho, which is not calculated to encourage immigration to Texas. From the letter, which is dated San Antonio, Bexar county, Texas, we clip the following items:

There is plenty of land here for sale, and very cheap, if only desirable. There was a large tract of land sold here the other day, lying within six miles of San Antonio, for nineteen cents an acre. It was a subject of much wonder to me when I first came here, why land was so cheap, but I have been gradually enlightened on the subject. The land is of no account. We have traveled over 500 miles in the State, and it appears to be the same wherever we go. On the streams the land is better, but there it is very unhealthy.

Texas has been a fine stock country, but the great ranges are eaten out, and you travel for hundreds of miles without seeing any vegetation except the ugly cactus (prickly pear), and I have with my own eyes seen poor, starving cattle eat them. Many people during the past Winter have cut them and burned off the thorns; they then are good food for cattle—some say as good as corn.

Cattle have perished of starvation terribly this Winter; no Winter at all except the terrible "northers," which are so disagreeable. The trouble is there is no grass. The cattle men keep hands out skinning the stock as fast as it dies; they get three or four dollars apiece for the hides, which is about one-half the value of the stock. Hides here are said to be "grubby." A fly deposits its eggs in the flesh of an animal, which lives in a grub state and then appear as flies again. Then there is another kind of fly that is very bad on stock now, called the "heel fly," which torments cattle so that they rush into boggy places trying to get rid of them, and, being very weak and poor, they mire down and die by thousands, and then "ticks" swarm on them. I don't wonder that cattle grow all horns in this country, their tormentors are legion.

It is impossible to get milk to use here, notwithstanding there are so many cows. Men who have thousands of cattle do not use milk. Farmers have neither milk nor vegetables.

The "Grange."

The farmers of the West in their new movement have called their associations "granges." It is very expressive, but more an English than an American word. It comes from granum, a grain, and its primary significance is probably that of a granary. Its broader meaning is a farm house and its outbuildings. Some illustrations will show these two meanings. From the "Song of the Sower," so exquisitely illustrated by the Appletons, we have:

> And from the distant grange there comes
> The clatter of the thresher's flail.

In Milton's Comus:

> When for their teeming flocks and granges full
> In wanton dance they praise the bounteous Pan.

Measure for Measure, third act, gives us:

> I will presently to St. Luke's, where, in
> The moated grange, resides this > Dejected Mariana.

Tennyson's "Mariana in the Moated Grange, with the blue fly singing i' the pane"—about the weakest thing he has written—will be rememoered by all. Our farmers could not have chosen a more expressive word.

Valuable Instrument.

Sidney Smith says: I am astonished that our ministers neglect the common precaution of a foolometer, with which no public man should be unprovided; I mean the acquaintance and society of three or four regular British fools as a test of public opinion. Every cabinet minister should judge of all his measures by his foolometer, as a navigator crowds or shortens sail by the barometer in his cabin. I have a very valuable instrument of this kind myself, which I have used for many years; and I would be bound to predict, with the utmost nicety, by the help of this machine, the precise effect which any measure would produce upon public opinion.

The Youngest Officer in the Army.

[From The Washington Star.]

Among the many notable persons at the inauguration of President Grant was John L. Clem, of the Twenty-fourth United States Infantry, who reached here a few days since from his regiment at Fort Brown, Texas, in order to place in the National Asylum an invalid soldier. Lieut. Clem had a national reputation, and is written down in "Frank Moore's Rebellion Record," and in "Lossing's History of the Civil Conflict in America," as "Little Johnny Clem, the Drummer Boy of Chickamauga," at which battle he laid aside his drum and assumed the musket all day. During the retirement of the Union army from the field he then performed a guerre a mort upon a Colonel of a Texas regiment, who had ridden upon him with a drawn sword demanding his surrender, by suddenly swinging up his musket from an order arms and emptying the saddle of his assailant. This daring act in one so young sent his name flying through the country. He afterward had his little horse kil'ed under him, and was himself wounded in the shoulder at the the same time, at Atlanta while delivering a dispatch from Major-Gen. Thomas to Gen. Logan. He entered the army in May 1861, before he was ten years of age, as a drummer and served with distinction to the end of the war, during which time he was present at the battle of Shiloh, and at nearly every other battle in which the army of the Cumberland was engaged. He is the youngest officer ever commissioned in the United States army, and Lossing's History speaks of him as the youngest person of whom we have an account that ever bore arms in battle, either in this country or Europe; and his military record is a matter of history on the files of the War Department. Considering his years, he is without a peer either in the old world or the new.

Ancient Mining in Arizona.

Within the past few days C. O Brown and others have been exploring some old mines about forty-five miles northwest from Tucson. The locality is one of great interest both to the curiosity seeker and money maker. The party do not think they discovered the extent of the abandoned mines thereaway, but are sure of having seen about a hundred which had been extensively worked, some of which showed excavations in cuts, shafts and tunnels, that to make nowadays would cost at least $100,000. At the mouths of some tunnels and shafts the dump piles are immense to this day.

The smooth walls which once encased veins of ore are exposed in many places, firm and perfect. The shafts and tunnels are so filled in with crumbling earth and stone that it is difficult to determine the depth of any; but it is certain that thousands of men have been employed there for many years. Appearances indicate that the ore was taken elsewhere for reduction. What the component parts of the ore are, or whether it was copper, silver, gold, or gold, or all combined, that induced the old work there are now subjects of uncertainty.

Copper ore is now seen in abundance and of almost pure quality. Hundreds of tons are in sight, of which every pound shows the virgin ore, which seems to argue that silver or gold, or both, were the objects of the miner more than a hundred years hence. There is no evidence of the use of powder or any modern appliances at these mines; but stone hammers lie about in abundance.

Correct.

Think twice before you stop your paper because just now your funds are low. If you stop a valuable paper will you not cut yourself (and may be others, too) down in that which will be the most irreparable, that which will lessen you in the very highest qualities of your possessions; that which would give you greater power for accumulating for yourself and for usefulness to others? Had you not better dispense with some expenses that contribute merely to your lower wants; that will merely curtail your pecuniary possessions; something that can be made up to you again by good fortune in any future day? Remember that a good newspaper helps you grow as well as your crops. You cannot make up lost time in live newspaper reading. Can you apply the sunshine of yesterday to the growth of to-day or to-morrow?—Rural Press.

Wonders of the Grave.

Some six years ago Charles F. Jobson, a well known printer of this city, died, and his body was placed in a vault in the Catholic Cemetery. A few days ago a party of his relatives visited the vault and opened the burial casket. The change which had taken place was a remarkable one. At the time of his death the face was clean shaven When the coffin was opened it was found that the beard had grown to an extraordinary length. One hand, which had placed over the breast, was covered with it, and the length was estimated at at least a foot and a half. Singular to relate, the growth of the hair upon the head had not kept pace with that of the beard.—S. F. Chronicle.

—"I want to pay for three fish," said a customer after eating his dinner. "Waiter, what did this gentleman have?" asked the proprietor. "Two fish, sir," replied the waiter. "Three!" interrupted the customer; "two trout and one smelt."

Spicery.

The following is from The Boston Commercial Bulletin:

The *equine*octial storm of disease shows signs of abating.

Vain attempt at high art—Painting the weathercock on a church steeple.

Spicer says the mountain air is so thin in New Hampshire that you can see the mountains peak and the wood pine.

In Chigago, red-haired girls are called fire belles.

A western paper says that California farmers are turning their attention to hog-raising with success. In the Middle States, they raise 'em with corn.

Ought a strong boy to be paid a weekly salary?

People generally "come of age" but once, but General Grant has attained his majority for the second time.

A contributor wishes our comments on some lines commencing—

"Our country's lyres are mute."

We can only say that the election being over, we suppose the "lyre's" occupation is gone.

Mashing.

A correspondent, who has evidently been "behind the scenes," gives the following important information. "Mashing" is one of the vested rights of all blondes, and when judiciously exercised is marvelously prolific in results. A young lady, recently engaged at one of the variety theaters, kept a regular "mash" ledger, with a debit and credit account. On scrutinizing the recorded week's business, it was found that a bouquet was credited with a leer; a larger one with a smile, and a floral basket with a rose in the bosom. The latter means that an interview would be unobjectionable. A repetition of the basket by the same person was credited with a two hours tete-a-tete at supper. The largest credit that has yet appeared on that ledger is a diamond cross, with the prospect that when the "mash" thermometer attains the highest degree of the scale a brown-stone house will close the account.

George Francis.

George Francis Train has been sent to the Insane Asylum on the ground of insanity. Two of the jurors dissented, but Judge Davis said he must be convicted as an insane man, and forthwith packed him off to the State Lunatic Asylum. It may be all right. It doubtless was the only way to get the authorities out of the ridiculous and somewhat serious scrape in which they had involved themselves. Train had just been examined for weeks before a jury on the fact of insanity, and after voluminous testimony before the inquest a verdict of sanity was returned. He was remanded to jail under the original charge upon which he was arrested, that of circulating obscene literature, and the trial just concluded by his commitment to the Asylum was upon that charge. It looks to an outsider as if the authorities having reason to believe that their case would fail, and not wishing to defend the multitudinous suits which George Francis would undoubtedly institute for false imprisonment, concluded to dispose of him in some manner, whether legally or otherwise. Train will get discharged from the Asylum shortly, and will undoubtedly make it warm for some of prosecutors, whom he will style his persecutors.

Big Mining Suits.

It seems that the present season is to be made somewhat remarkable for the number of important mining suits that have occurred, or are pending in different camps of the sage-brush region. First, was the Raymond & Ely-Hermes suit in Pioche, decided in favor of the last named. Now, in Eureka, begins the Eureka Consolidated vs. The Richmond Consolidated which, as in the former, involves some immense interests. Next in order in point of time, but decidedly the first in the value of the property involved, begins here on the 10th of July, the suit of the San Felipe vs. The Union, or Belshaw & Beaudry. The Eureka Sentinel claims, however, that the Eureka suit involves a greater value of mining property than any other suit on this coast ever did before, there being, on the testimony of competent engineers, not less than three millions of ore in sight at this time. That is a pretty heavy pile to "buck" against, but notwithstanding we believe the Union is to-day by far the most valuable property of the lot.

On the War-Path.

The Sioux Indians have started on the war-path in dead earnest. On the 7th of May, according to information just received at Washington, 100 of them attacked Fort Lincoln, Dacotah, but after a two-hours' skirmish, they retired with a loss of seven horses and one brave killed, the garrison losing three horses but no men. Dispatches from Gen. Custar, dated Fort Randall, Dacotah, May 14, report the safe arrival of his command at that place from Yankton, and contains the following statement:

"Vallis, the guide sent me from Randall, reports that two hundred warriors and young men belonging to the Yankton Agency, left their reservation a few days ago to join the hostile bands on the Upper Missouri river, and that the Indians will muster five thousand warriors in the field this Summer. Vallis has lived in this country twenty-five years, and is married to a squaw. I report this statement for what it is worth."

Another Tragedy.

The bodies of two men, Charles Sanborne and Gus. Wright, were found some two weeks since in the water of a deep spring out near Pioche, to which place they were taken for burial. The skulls of both had been crushed in and both had been shot a number of times. There is a profound mystery surrounding this foul deed, evidently not having been done for the purpose of robbery, none of their money or anything of the kind having been taken from the murdered men. They had gone out with a view of locating a very rich silver mine, the existence of which was supposed to be known only to themselves, and it is darkly hinted that the diabolical deed was done by parties as yet unknown to secure possession of the discovery.

Rhubarb Wine.

The Rural Press says that rhubarb wine is unwholesome, and for that reason declines to publish a recipe for its manufacture.

Sad Bereavement.

John I. Ginn, of The Virginia Chronicle, has met with a sad bereavement in the death of his young daughter and only child.

TERRIBLE TORNADO.

One of the most terrific tornados and hail storms ever known, passed through Washington, Iowa, during the afternoon of May 22. It was about half a mile in width, and tore into fragments everything that came in its course—houses, fences, barns and trees. Cattle and human beings were caught up and whirled through the air like straws, and then dashed to the ground with such violence as to produce instant death. Houses and barns were torn into fragments and scattered for miles around; fields 'are dotted with large timbers driven into the ground at an angle of ninety degrees, and cattle were actually driven head foremost into the ground.

Hail stones nine inches in diameter were picked up and four hours after were yet as large as hens' eggs. The violence of the wind was inconceivable. Of seven persons known to be killed, one, a girl of fourteen, was carried a full mile through the air and was then dashed to the ground with such force as to scarcely leave a semblance of a human being. Even wagon wheels were torn to pieces; the roaring of the wind was most appalling.

Scarcely a month and hardly a week passes but we hear of some such terrible occurrence in some place in the eastern States, and such calamities appear to be becoming more and more frequent and disastrous to life and property; yet the inhabitants of those regions as a class, though living in such dread and dangers, shudder at the thought of making a home in a country where there is an occasional earthquake, which frightful as they may be, have never proved a hundreth part as fatal as those tornados and similar dangers to which they are exposed so often.

Where Aurora Is.

It has generally been thought that California would gobble up the town of Aurora by the new boundary line survey, but, as we learn from Register Butler, the new survey has now been made past that point, and Aurora is still in Nevada two miles and three-fourths from the line. This varies but a trifle from the original survey, and ought to pretty effectually upset the old charge against Senator Jeems Nye of having, by the judicious use of $10,000, so warped the first line as to wrongfully secure the then important political weight of Aurora to his own State.

Twice a Week.

The Austin Reveille of the 19th instant says that a petition has been signed by nearly all the residents on the route, asking that the present weekly mail from Junction Station to San Antonio, Silver Peak, Lida Valley and Gold Mountain be changed to a semi-weekly, and trusts that the movement may be successful.

France.

Thiers has resigned the French Presidency, and Gen. McMahon was elected to the office by a close vote of the Assembly and amid great confusion and uproar. Times are extremely exciting in France, and a bloody revolution is liable to break out at any moment.

Captain Jack.

This redoubtable warrior, according to Yreka dates of the 24th, has struck out for the Piute country with some twenty-five warriors. He has proclaimed that he intends to die with his gun in his hand.

An Unarmed Man Shot to Pieces.

An atrocious murder was committed last Monday, about six miles from this place, by J. W. Smith. It appears that the deceased, John Howard, had entered upon a piece of land claimed by Smith and was engaged in cutting a water-ditch, when Smith came upon the ground armed with a double-barreled shot-gun. He accosted Howard in a threatening manner, saying, "I understand you have said that you intend to kill me." Howard replied, denying any such intention, whereupon Smith gave him the lie and said, "I have a mind to kill you." Howard said, "You won't attack an unarmed man, will you?" Smith said, "Go and arm yourself." Deceased started toward the house, and when he was about 40 yards off Smith commanded deceased to stop, telling him to come back. Howard started back, when Smith fired, emptying both barrels at Howard. Deceased lived but a short time. Smith is now in custody awaiting an examination.—Bakersfield Courier, May 24th.

The Lida Valley Tragedy.

From a gentleman who has just arrived from Gold Mountain we learn the following further particulars concerning the late tragedy at Lida Valley: It appears that Chiles, instead of being shot by some person in the crowd, was killed by his own pistol in an attempt to disarm him. He was crazy drunk at the time and evidently shot at random, without any definite idea in regard to who he wanted to kill, although he had a few words with Hugh Scott, one of his victims, that morning; but everything had been amicably settled and no ill-will was supposed to exist between them at the time of the killing.—Austin Reveille, May 23.

—James says that his sweetheart is like a melon, because her old man has locked her up and she cantelope.

Surrendered.

Seventy Modocs, all but thirteen of which were decrepid old men, squaws or children, came in and gave themselves up as prisoners to Gen. Davis, May 22. The Chronicle correspondent, speaking of the arrival of the motley crew at Gen. Davis' camp, says:

The procession then moved across Cottonwood creek to a clump of trees. At this point the tailings of the crowd came in—and such a sight! There were half-naked children and aged squaws, who could scarcely hobble—the blind, the lame and the halt—the very scum of the tribe. There were sixty-four persons, men, women and children—thirteen bucks, twenty squaws and their children. Mr. Fairchild says there are twenty bucks missing from this, the Cottonwood branch of the tribe. The disaffection heretofore reported is corroborated by the captive Modocs, who parted company with Jack eight days ago. The captives are as stout and hearty as if they had been living in peace and on the fat of the land. They are now drawing rations and arranging for a feast. A more squalid, foot-sore and hungry rabble could not be imagined. They could hardly keep from weeping when they laid down their arms. Boys of twelve years of age and even younger ones, were carrying muskets. Last evening Bogus Charley, on his return to Bogus creek, persuaded the Indians to come in and surrender. Fairchild's party met them about four miles from here and brought them in. To him and Capt. Hasbrouck belongs the credit of this surrender. Hooka Jim came in after dark.

The surrendered Modocs say they had a fuss with Captain Jack, William and Jack fighting because he wanted to disarm them when they talked of surrendering. Some interesting facts in relation to the cause of the disaffection have been obtained from the prisoners. Before Hasbrouck whipped them, Captain Jack had consulted a stolen chronometer, and after sundry gesticulations, promised his followers that they should shed rifle bullets as a duck does water, and escape unharmed. The confidence this statement inspired was rudely dispelled by the Hasbrouck encounter when several Modocs were killed and others wounded; and indignation then reigned supreme in Jack's household. The Cottonwood branch then decided to fight no more, and then Jack took several guns from them. During the stampede at Dry Lake, Mrs. Hendricks, alias Limpy, threw her babe of six months to the ground in the hope of escaping, and was soon after killed by the Warm Spring warriors. She might have escaped by throwing up her hands in token of surrender, but she would not yield. Her babe was brought here and given to a local squaw.

The Mystery Solved.

Thomas Tennant, the well known optician of San Francisco, gives the following very plausible explanation of the cause of the mysterious photographs upon those field-glasses of which we made mention a few week since. In regard to the proposition made by Mr. Tennant in the last sentence we can only say that we would be pleased to accede to it, but the glasses are the property of Mr. Sam. Halsey, Gold Mountain, Nevada, and therefore not ours to dispose of in that manner. The subjoined we take from The Sacramento Record of May 22d:

Concerning the field glasses with foliage mysteriously photographed on them, reported by THE INYO INDEPENDENT, Thomas Tennant, of San Francisco, writes: "In your issue of yesterday, under the above caption, you quote from THE INYO INDEPENDENT concerning a pair of field glasses found by an Indian on the desert, both glasses of which were covered with beautiful photographs or etchings of desert shrubs, leaf stalks, etc. This is one of the cases where a vivid imagination misleads the judgment. There is no photographing about it; each object glass of those field glasses is made of two separate lenses, one double convex—the other plane concave, fitting accurately together, and thus forming one achromatic glass. For purpose of preventing the introduction of moisture or dust between these lenses, a thin film of perfectly transparent varnish is laid on the surfaces gluing them together; when in use, if allowed to be exposed to the heat of the sun, this varnish melts and spreads over the interior surfaces of the lenses, frequently assuming very beautiful and fantastic forms—"but there is no ghost in it." I have in the course of business during the past twenty-three years removed many such photographs in object glasses by separating the lenses with the agency of heat, clearing off the old varnish and renewing with fresh, then no photograph is visible. The Inyo case is one of the same kind, and if the editor of THE INDEPENDENT will send the glasses up here, to 508 Battery St., I will demonstrate it, under the supervision of a committee of the Academy of Natural Sciences.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION IN NEVADA—Governor Bradley having signed the bill passed by the Nevada Legislature, compulsory education becomes a law in that State. Nevada has always evidenced a great interest in educational matters, and in a return published some few months since, it was shown that the State stood second in the States as to the amount expended per capita for children attending school, Massachusetts only heading it. Compulsory education is gradually gaining ground. It is now the law in several States in the Union, and in Germany, Switzerland, Austria, and Great Britain in Europe. The subject will doubtless be re-introduced in the forthcoming winter at Sacramento, as California cannot afford to remain behind any State or country in the matter of education.

ARITHMETICAL SHARPS.—The following questions are the exciting topics of accrimonious discussion among arithmetical "sharps" in the San Francisco school department: 1. How many times can twelve be subtracted from one hundred and forty-four? 2. Can twelve dollars be divided by two cents? Truly Bacon spoke wise when he said "knowledge is power."

GRAMMATICAL SHARPS.—The disciples of Lindley Murray are agitated over the following: "He ate breakfast." What is breakfast? "Here he opened wide the door," What is wide? "Scrooge knew he was dead." What kind of a sentence?

Railroads Forty Years Ago.

A writer in The Hartford Courant, in a conversation recently with some of the elder railroad officials of the city, derived some interesting reminiscences of the early days of the railroad travel in the United States. We copy a portion of his account of his researches in this direction. The conversation began by a reference to the great advance made in railroad construction and equipment during the last twenty years. Yes, said one, there's been a great improvement since the Hartford and New Haven road was opened. It had then very meagre facilities, the roadbed was poor, had only scrap rails which were all the while curling up and running through the car floors, the cars were small and the locomotives weak. In fact, it didn't take much to block a train in those days. Sometimes an inch of snow on the rails would do it. Henry C. White, one of the conductors on the road, tells how he and the baggage-master used to sit in front of the locomotive, one on each side, and brush off the snow from the rails with a broom as the train slowly crawled along. Each had a pail of sand, and sprinkled a handful on the rails when necessary. The driving wheels (engine had only one pair then) used to slip round and round, and torment them almost to death.

On one occasion a train got stuck on the Yalesville grade by one inch of snow, and the wood and water gave out before the locomotive could overcome it. At last they got out the neighbors, yoked four pairs of oxen to the train and drew it, passengers, baggage, and all into Meriden, with flying colors. In the early days of the road the stage-coach drivers used to regard the cars with great contempt. Indeed, thirty years ago the passenger trains were three or four hours on the road to New Haven, and the stage-coaches went in about the same time. Superintendent Davidson remembers riding with his father in a carriage drawn by two horses, in 1844, which had a race with a passenger train near Wallingford, where the turnpike and railroad are parallel for three or four miles, and during all that time time the carriage kept even with the train. There were only two trains each way daily then, both carrying passengers and freight. The old cars were divided into three compartments, opened on side, and had twenty-four seats. The locomotives had only twelve-inch cylinders, and no cabs to protect the engineer and fireman from the weather.

The oldest locomotives were the Hartford, Luinnipiac, Charter Oak, New Haven, and Meriden, whose combined power would hardly equal one of the splendid machines now in use on the road. The Regulus, designed by General Superintendent Reed, and built in the company's shops in Hartford, one of the newest freight engines, will pull nearly one hundred cars with ease. There is no need to dwell upon contrasts which the splendid roadbed and superb equipment of to-day present to the facilities of those early days. Every passenger may do that for himself. Great credit is due Superintendent Reed for his able and efficient management in putting the road in its present first-class condition. Six large stone bridges have been built under his immediate supervision, besides the tunnel under Albany avenue and Main street, a beautiful and substantial structure, of which any road might be pround.

Indian Murder.

On the Armagoza river about forty miles southeast of Gold Mountain, some parties, four or five in number, have located farms. There are quite a number of Indians on that stream and they have looked upon this movement with considerable jealousy. About the middle of the present month, as we understand it, this feeling culminated in the murder of one of these settlers, and a stampede of the remainder. The murdered man is said to have a number of acquaintances in this valley, but unfortunately our informant has forgotten his name. This murder, in connection with other circumstances, has created a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of miners and others living east of the Inyo range.

The Assault and Battery Case.

After the second trial before Justice Gunnison, the first jury having disagreed, the case of the People vs Riddle and Holt, for an assault upon the complaining witness, Bridget McGann, a verdict of guilty was rendered against Riddle, Holt, the younger defendant, being found not guilty. Riddle was sentenced to pay a fine of $50. This being a woman beating case, it attracted a great deal of attention, and was warmly contested by counsel on both sides. P. Reddy, with the District Attorney, for plaintiff, V. A. Gregg for the defense. The verdict was rendered at 1 o'clock last Thursday morning.

More Candidates.

By reference to our advertising columns the candidacy of two well known old residents for two leading county offices will be found announced. Comparisons are "ojeous," and are certainly uncalled for from us in cases of political nominations, and especially preceding a general election; therefore, while expressing a high personal regard for both of these gentlemen, we now, and shall in all future cases in kind, content ourselves with the simple announcement of the several aspirants for county offices, without further remarks or expression of opinion.

Profited by a Mistake.

In Cerro Gordo, on Monday last, a Mexican known by the name of Lugo, in a settlement for coal, received from Beaudry's clerk $630 more than was due him. Before the error was discovered the Mexican had gone over town, paid his debts in full and disappeared. A warrant was sworn out before Justice Peterson of Lone Pine, and parties have for several days been in active search of the gentleman, but without finding him, so far as we have been able to learn.

Frost.

We are sorry to have to state that the greater portion of the growing corn, potatoes, and similar crops in Round Valley, Bishop Creek, and perhaps other places in the valley, have been killed by frost in the past few nights. Ice formed from a quarter to half an inch thick on standing water; and that reliable personage, "the oldest inhabitant," is completely upset at the course pursued by the clerk of the weather this Spring.

The Lida Stage Line.

J. W. McMurry has purchased the stock and privileges of Darrah's Big Pine, Lida Valley and Gold Mountain Stage Line. The stages, until further announcement, will run as heretofore carrying passengers, mail and packages, and we hope the people of those eastern camps will give Mr. McMurry sufficient encouragement and patronage to justily him in putting on a semi-weekly, and on fast time.

On the March.

Major Egbert, with twenty-three men in the command, took up his line of march for San Diego on Thursday last. Of the boys in the command we may mention the names of Sergt. Mattoon, Corporal Hickok, and Private Remsnyder. Dr. Campbell, late of San Francisco, accompanies the command as Surgeon.

Furnace Work.

We are indebted to Superintendent L. F. Shepard for this statement: During the month of March, Belshaw's furnace produced 4,000 bars of bullion; the average yield since starting up, on the 12th of the present month, being 149 bars per day. There are now 11,000 bars on hand at this furnace.

Returned.

We note the return home of Sheriff Mulkey from his visit to the Bay, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Mattie, home on a vacation from the Mills Seminary.

Turn Out.

A very important meeting of our citizens takes place to-night, at the Sheriff's office. Let all hands turn out, and be there on time. See notice.

New Law Firm.

People who can't be happy without going to law occasionally, and perhaps some others, will be interested in the fact that Messrs. P. W. Bennett and V. A. Gregg have formed a law partnership, and propose to do justice to their clients if they don't make a cent. We think would-be litigants needn't be afraid to trust their cases to the new firm, although we are satisfied that they will have to produce the authorities if they get away with our old stand-by, P. Reddy, if he happens to hold opposite views and sides—which is among the probabilities once in awhile. The mills of the gods are said to grind rather slow but exceedingly fine—sometimes reducing things to an impalpable powder, but whether this adage has any reference to clients and law firms, we don't pretend to say.

Possible Suicide.

Thursday afternoon a man named Gunther, who up to that time, and for several years past, has been in the employ of J. Schalten, left the ranch of the latter near the Post, and with a bottle of whisky struck out in the direction of the river. Not returning, search was made the next morning, when he was traced to the river's edge where the half-emptied bottle was found but no further clue as to the whereabouts of the missing man. The impression is that he fell or purposely jumped into the river and was drowned. We understand that Gunther has been a very steady, reliable man, and no addicted to the use of liquor, nor can any cause be assigned for the suicidal act, if such it was.

To Horsemen.

Professor Wright, who has gained quite a reputation on the other side of the mountains as a horse-tamer and as a teacher of this desirable art, has been teaching a class in Lone Pine, among whom we may mention the names of Dr. Columber, J. B. Wofford and J. H. Dodge. These parties all indorse the Professor in the practice and teachings of the science. The Professior desires us to state that he will be in this place about the 3d of June, and if parties wish, will take a class and teach them how to easily and successfully manage any sort of a horse, broncho or otherwise.

Another Man Missing.

Tom Boyce, an old resident here, and a man possessed of considerable property, mysteriously disappeared last Sunday evening and has not since been seen. He had had a little physical discussion that evening with another party here, and it may be has merely retired temporarily on that account, but so far as the public are aware, it is a case of genuine "mysterious disappearance."

C. & M. Cohn.

The old established firm of C. & M. Cohn, of Lone Pine and Cerro Gordo, are out again with an advertisement in their usual, effective style. They are men who thoroughly sabe business, and having a very complete stock of merchandise, are justly entitled to the liberal patronage bestowed upon them.

Notice to Hog Owners.

We are requested to notify the unknown owner of certain chicken-stealing, third-row hogs running loose about town, to the detriment and injury of divers and sundry persons, that the aforesaid swine must be kept within bounds if the owner wishes to avoid a bill of costs.

The Cerro Gordo Stage Line.

Our fellow champion of iniquity, but first rate stage man, A. K. Briggs, has purchased the Independence and Cerro Gordo Stage Line, and will take possession next Monday. We believe some changes are to be made, a coach and pony, until traffic increases, to be run on alternate days.

Resting.

Johnny Briscoe, now badly used up with the rheumatism, came into the valley last Tuesday, from Cerro Gordo, for the only time in five years, during which time he has constantly lived directly under the black smoke of Beaudry's furnace.

Nominated.

It will be seen by published notice in this issue that the Republican County Central Committee of Mono county has formally nominated Judge Reed as their candidate for District Judge of this Judicial District.

Pay Up.

J. L. Darrah having closed out his staging business, gives notice to the effect that he would feel better if certain accounts, Dr. and Cr., were squared up as soon as convenient.

Tinware.

We observe that George Stevens, tinner, is in receipt of a lot of new stock and wares of various kinds, at his shop near the Postoffice.

Oranges.

J. B. Rowley, P. M., has just received a number of boxes of fresh and sweet oranges.

A Grand Affair.

Next Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wright are to give a public ball at the Taboose Ranch, which, if ample preparation, painstaking, and expense will secure it, will be the grandest of the kind which has come off in the country. Although the formal announcement precedes the event but a few days, this ball, gotten up at the solicitation of many friends, has been on the tapis and in course of preparation for several weeks. Some essentials that our own markets did not afford were obtained by sending to Carson, Nevada, and so far as the matter rests with them, guests—no matter how many—may rest assured that nothing will be lacking on the part of the host or hostess to make the affair thoroughly enjoyable to all. A large pavilion has been constructed expressly for the occasion, and the best of music (five pieces) and good prompters have been engaged. As Harry has been to so much trouble and expense to afford this means of enjoyment to all who wish to participate, from all portions of the county, and believing that he well merits it, we hope everybody within reach will lend countenance and presence, and make it surpass expectations.

For the Fourth of July.

We are requested to announce to everybody in Inyo County, and the adjoining counties as well, that their attendance, individually and collectively, is most respectfully solicited at a celebration of the Fourth and grand free ball and supper, to be given by the citizens of this place, on the 4th of July next. Ample funds have been secured for the purpose, and as the new Court House will be formally dedicated to Justice by using it as a ball and supper hall, we rather think this will be a very nice affair—at all events, everybody is, as above mentioned, cordially invited to assist by his or her presence in making it so. The programme for the occasion will be published in our next issue.

The Steamer.

The Bessie Brady is lying at her mooring, a mile or so up the river from the lake, the teams having for some time been unable to clear the bullion away from the dock at Cartago, so that she has had nothing to do. M. W. Belshaw has purchased the Daneri interest in the boat, the remaining half belonging to Mr. Ferguson.

Business Change.

Wm. Barrows, the popular Cerro Gordo merchant, has purchased the stock and fixtures of the late firm of Fox & Kays, and will merge his branch store into that institution. Jas. Kays and McCarter, the latter a good single-handed talker and "Indian Agent," will conduct the machine.

New Goods and Stationery.

Prof. Rowley, at the Postoffice store, received this week quite a stock and variety of new goods and stationery, and these he proposes to sell on as reasonable terms as anybody, if not more so. See what he has to say about it in his new advertisement.

Restaurant.

The Cosmopolitan Restaurant, conducted by our good looking young friend Farrell, at Cerro Gordo, is the place to get good, square meals while you are on the hill. He has a steady run of custom, and deserves it. See advertisement.

An Address.

Mr. S. B. Appleton will, to-morrow at half past 2 o'clock P. M., at the school house, deliver an address upon the "Life, Services and Death of Christ." A free invitation is extended to all.

To Road Masters.

Roadmasters who have not already supplied themselves with blanks, will do well to send two or three dollars to this office and obtain a supply, and thereby save themselves much trouble and labor.

Bridging.

We observe that Rev. Billy Lake, Roadmaster, is preparing to put in a bridge or culvert at the creek just south of this office, which is a good idea—the bridge, not the office.

For County Clerk.

Geo. H. Hardy, our efficient school teacher, announces himself as a candidate before the Republican Convention for the office of County Clerk. Mr. Hardy is a gentleman and scholar.

The Land Office.

Register Butler is expected to arrive here to morrow morning. The office will be opened for business on Monday.

Effects of Tar on Fruit Trees.

I wish to state a curious effect of tar upon fruit trees which came under my observation this year, and I hope it may prove a warning to all your readers who may think of painting to prevent the hares or rabbits from barking them, or for any other purpose. These trees were painted from the ground upward, one or two feet; and almost every tree—apple, pear, peach, quince, and all—ceased to grow, painted, while that part above the painted portion continued to grow, expand, and thrive, as if nothing had happened, bark, branches, and leaves all looking very thrifty. A few of the trees died suddenly while in full leaf; the others are now fine-looking above, but the body, where the tar covered it, looks as though it had a laced jacket of iron around it for one year, and is a half inch or more less, in diameter. I think the whole orchard will finally die; for some of the trees, from weakness of the stem below and growing weight above, are toppling over. Does this not show that the entire bark of a tree, as well as the leaf, is an organ of respiration? I shall continue my observations, and give you the result. R. N. J. Wilson in Southern Farm and Home.

California Politics.

[From The Virginia Chronicle.]

The arrival of Senator Sargent at home has set the political cauldron to boiling in California, and he at once repairs to the Bay to inaugurate the campaign for the year. It is too early to make a positive prediction as to the tactics to be adopted by the Republican party, but it is quite safe to say that Mr. Sargent is not calculated to be a successful leader, although he succeeded in gaining the Senatorship at the last session of the Legislature. He was not elected upon his own merits, but was carried into place by the very elements he now turns his back upon. The remarkable success of the Republican party throughout the State ensured his re-election to the House of Representatives, but he was elected upon a platform and upon pledges which since his elevation to the Senate he has ignored. Forming a league with Gorham and the monopoly clique he stands in antagonism to those without whose support he would have failed. The course he pursues, aided by the Sacramento papers, is calculated to render him more than ever unpopular, and is certain to bring defeat to the Republican party. Gov. Booth, according to information received from all parts of the State is the favorite candidate with his own party. The Sacramento Record endeavors to read him out because of his fidelity to the pledges given by him at the time of his nomination for the Governorship; and The Union, with an unwise pertinacity, crowds the fight with the anti-Booth subsidized journals. Thus far the endeavor on the part of the opposition to the Governor has accomplished but little more than to sow the seeds of discord in the party, that will surely end in its utter disruption if it is not stopped. Sargent is energetic, unscrupulous, vindictive and persistent, and having joined the Gorham, Carr and Monopoly clique, will endeavor to force the former upon the Republican party. The people of California cannot stomach both of these men as their representatives. Gorham has been repudiated once, and Sargent will in due time receive the same treatment. We do not believe that Gov. Booth nor The Sacramento Union have the least desire to disrupt their party with a view to gaining Democratic votes. In the first place the Governor's sense of justice would not allow such a step, and his fidelty to the principles upon which he was elected is as steadfast as ever. He is to-day the most popular man in the State, and under ordinary circumstances would command a larger popular vote, irrespective of party, than any competitor. It lies with Mr. Sargent to prove in this campaign whether he is possessed of that mental and moral greatness that best become a Senator, or that he is simply a cute demagogue, short-sighted and unscrupulous. The result of the Senatorial contest will demonstrate his ability or his utter incapacity as a leader. If he prolongs and embitters the present strife he will assuredly defeat his own party and insure the election of a Democrat. As it is California politics are very much muddled.

Letter from Arizona.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

CERBAT, MOHAVE CO., A. T.,
May 13, 1873.

MESSRS. EDITORS: I wrote you about a month ago telling you of the killing of J. P. Ridgeway by Fred. Hunsaker. Our district and grand jury are now in session. The grand jury did not find against Hunsaker, and on the 6th inst. he was called into court, and when Judge Porter announced that he was discharged, there was clapping of hands and stamping of feet, and the Judge ordered the Sheriff to keep order. It seems that this is the third of the Ridgeway brothers who has died with his boots on. The other two were killed in the State of Nevada, under other names than Ridgeway; one of them had killed five, and the other three persons.

To-day one Malony was found guilty of murder in the first degree, and will be sentenced in a few days.

Our criminal calendar is a fearful one. There are four men in jail for murder, and three others that have gone, but but will be indicted. It appears that the devilry all runs to killing, as it is a rare thing that you hear of a horse being stolen.

We are now prepared to blow about one of the big mines of America—the Hope—that can plainly be traced for 14 miles, and is from four to fifteen feet wide, and assays hugely, as this from The Arizona Miner shows:

"Capt. C. C. Warner called on us yesterday and gave us the list of six assays made by C. Pietz, of Cerbat, of of ore from the new discovery south of Cerbat, elsewhere referred to. The lode is from 6 to 15 feet wide and has been traced and located for six miles, and is called the Hope. The assays were: $3,330 28; $3,843 95; $13,490 77; $358 25; $1,012 60; $1,044 62. The ore is argentiferous galena and contains 45 per cent. lead."

Inclosed find report of the grand jury. The indictment for perjury is of Thos. Moran, formerly of Cerro Gordo; for resisting an officer H. F. Baker, (the Colonel!); one sentenced to be hanged, and one for manslaughter, three years, the extent of the law. I append the report of the Mohave County Grand Jury, which may be of interest to your readers. CERBATICO.

REPORT OF MOHAVE COUNTY GRAND JURY, MAY TERM, 1873.

To the Hon. DeForrest Porter, Judge of the Second Judicial District for Mohave County, Arizona Territory:

The Grand Jurors for Mohave County, impannelled on the 5th inst., having completed the duties assigned them, submit the following report:

Have found ten true bills of indictment—two for murder, one for manslaughter, one for assault with intent to commit murder, one for assult with deadly weapon, one for drawing and exhibiting a pistol in a dangerous and threatening manner, two for grand larceny, one for perjury, and one for resisting an officer in the discharge of his official duty.

Also, complaints have been made before the Grand Jury of parties charged with high crime, but the jury were unable to obtain sufficient evidence to warrant the finding of bills of indictment.

We have, through a committee, examined the books of the several county officers and find that, with some few exceptions, that they are properly kept, and in a neat and systematic manner.

We find, upon examination, that the county indebtedness exceeds seven thousand dollars. That the taxable property of the fiscal year A. D. 1872 does not exceed $130,000; that the assets of the county do not exceed $600; that the statutes of Arizona limit the tax for county purposes to $2 on $100.

That we cannot reasonably expect any large increase of taxable property the present fiscal year, and while the probable expenditures for county purposes will not fall short of $10,000, we recommend strict economy in the administration of county affairs.

To prevent crime we recommend that the officials be prompt in the performance of their duties, and that the Sheriff of the county and his deputies arrest all parties committing crime coming to his or their knowledge that the parties may be punished in accordance with the law.

We recommend that the Board of Supervisors rent some suitable building for the several offices, and for the safe keeping of the prisoners.

In consequence of the neglect of our representatives to the Territorial Legislature in not introducing a bill authorizing our county to levy a special tax for the building of county buildings, we are compelled to rent buildings until some provision is made for the levying and collecting a tax for this purpose.

We find, upon examination, that the Board of Supervisors have ordered paid from the General Fund the sum of $150 50 in cash, when the same should have been drawn in the regular manner and been paid in rotation with other warrants, as provided by law.

We also find that the ex-Sheriff of this, Mohave County, has used the sum of $368 15 for which he has deposited county warrants in security for the payment of the same.

While there may be a necessity for the using of money by the county officials, the precedent set in the matter would tend to injure the credit of the county, and would be considered virtually a repudiation of the outstanding warrants. We are well satisfied that the Board of Supervisors, the guardians of the county, have been negligent in the performance of their duties and committed grave errors in the fullfilment of the duties devolving upon them.

It has been brought to our notice that in the removal of the county archives from Hardyville to Cerbat, they were removed in great haste, and by irresponsible parties, and as the Board of Supervisors had not made any provision for a suitable building or office, they were stored for several days, and that there was no officer properly authorized to receive them. That any one having business with the several offices, could not be accommodated in consequence of the books being guarded by a posse of armed men.

That the Court Commissioner was denied the seal of the court, in consequence of which great damage and loss might have occurred to parties.

It has come to the knowledge of this jury that a secret organization exists in the town of Cerbat, organized for the purpose of aiding the officers in the fullfilment of their duties, and known as an Anti-Vigilance Committee. That several of the county officers are members of this society. We believe that societies of this character are a bane to the community, believing as we do that a very large majority of the people are good and well meaning citizens, and ever ready to assist the officers of the county in the fullfilment of their duties.

Complaints have been made in regard to the killing of one Goodrich by the Mohave Indians, in the Autum of 1872, and since the holding of the last term of Court for Mohave County the Sheriff, with a posse of citizens, undertook to make the arrest, but as the proof was circumstantial and from Indians, it was not deemed sufficient evidence to convict in case of arrest. We, however, indorse the action of the Sheriff, together with the united efforts of the citizens, in attempting to enforce the civil law. While the Indians under the charge of the military or Indian Department are allowed in the immediate vicinity of the citizens a repetition of such acts may from time to time be expected.

We return our thanks to the several county officers for the courtesy shown us in making a full exhibit of their books and records, and such other information in regard to the condition of the county affairs as come under the head of their respective departments.

We also return our thanks to his Honor the Judge, District Attorneys, and officers of the Court for the aid rendered and attention shown us.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

VARIETIES.

—As some lady visitors were recently going through a penitentiary, under the escort of the superintendent, they came to a room in which three women were sewing. "Dear me!" one of the visitors whispered, "what vicious-looking creatures! Pray what are they here for?" "Because they have no other home. This is our sitting room, and they are my wife and two daughters," blandly answered the superintendent.

— He met Miss Kelly at a ball. After talking about the balloon ascension, the weather, and other things, he asked rather abruptly: "Where is your mother?" "Oh," said the sweet damsel, "I have left her at home; I generally do when I come to a ball. What is home without a mother?"

—"Doctor," said a sick man, "what is the matter with me?" "Cerebro spinal meningitis," said the doctor, solemnly. "Ah," cried the patient with a sigh, and instantly fell back and expired. No man could be expected to hold out against such a disease as that.

—An eccentric old fellow, who lives alongside of a graveyard, was asked if it was not an unpleasant location. "No," said he, "I never jined places in all my life with a set of neighbors that mind their own business so stiddy as they do."

—Cain and Ransier, colored Congressmen of South Carolina, have appointed each a white youth to West Point cadetships and colored youths to cadetships in the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

—Wonderful Impression—"You are wrong, my dear Simpletonius, in supposing the Irish to be cannibals from the mere fact of their having "the broth of a boy" so frequently in their mouths.

—"Look here, Mister Editor, I don't want yer paper any longer." Quiet Editor—"I shouldn't make it any longer if you did."

—A retired soldier, who marched upward of 4,600 miles during the civil war, says the hardest March he ever experienced is the one just gone.

—A Mississippi murderer said to the sheriff from the gallows: "Good bye, Sam—I'll come back and tell you all about it!" The sheriff hopes he won't.

Exploring Expedition.

A dispatch from New York states that the expedition which is to explore the mysterious country lying between South Pass, in Wyoming, and Gallatin Valley, in Montana, will be under the command of Capt. Jones, of Gen. Ord's staff. It will include a scientific corps, numbering 13. The escort will be two companies of cavalry, under command of Lieut. James N. Wheelan. The party were to have left Fort Bridger for the Wind River country May 10, and will go as far as the Yellowstone Lakes, traversing a new and most interesting country, which according to popular belief contains rich deposits of gold and other valuable ores.

NOTICE OF THE REMOVAL OF THE LAND OFFICE FROM AURORA, NEVADA, TO INDEPENDENCE, CALIFORNIA, AND OF CHANGE OF BOUNDARIES IN THE AURORA AND CARSON CITY LAND DISTRICTS IN NEVADA, AND THE VISALIA DISTRICT IN CALIFORNIA.

UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE,
Aurora, Nevada, April 1st, 1873.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT PURSUANT to an order of the President of the United States, dated February 27th, 1873, and instructions of the Hon. Willis Drummond, Commissioner of the General Land Office, dated March 20th, 1873, we have this day suspended all action looking towards the disposal of lands embraced within the limits of the Independence Land District, hereinafter described, and that the Land Office at Aurora, Nevada, will be removed to Independence, California, and will be open for the transaction of business at the latter place on Saturday, the 31st day of May, 1873.

All business in said Aurora Land Office relating to the disposition of lands embraced within that part of the District lying within the State of Nevada will be suspended on the 15th day of May, 1873, at which time said lands will be transferred to the Carson City Land District.

The said Independence Land District will embrace all lands lying within the limits of California which heretofore formed a part of the Aurora Land District, and in addition all that part of the Visalia District which lies east of Range Thirty-two (32) Mount Diablo Meridian.

MEDICAL.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE, FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
Vinegar Bitters.

No Person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittant Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most Wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

PRIVATE HOSPITAL.

THE SUBSCRIBER TAKES PLEASURE IN announcing to the people of Inyo county that he has purchased and fitted up as a hospital the Beaudry Hotel Building, adjoining the military post at Camp Independence. All the adobes have been removed and their place applied with lumber; the grounds are handsomely laid out with shade trees and clover, and have a pure running stream of mountain water.

There is an excellent bath room and dispensary attached. One room is set aside for the county's sick, leaving ample room for private patients. The Northern Stage Line passes the door, and the place is easy of access from the town of Independence. The charges for board and lodging do not exceed those of any hotel or boarding house, offering equal accommodations, and the establishment has the advantage of having competent help and medical advice always at hand, being close by the house of the post surgeon at the camp.

Pacific Coast Appointments, Etc.

A Washington correspondent of The San Francisco Chronicle, May 29, gives the following in reference to appointments, Congressmen, etc., pertaining to this coast:

Axtell, as you have doubtless heard, is to be appointed one of the five Inspectors of Indian Affairs, a new office created by the late Congress. His qualifications for the place are the having been a Democratic member of the late Congress, and making at the last Presidential election a Republican speech. There has been an animated contest over the Surveyor-Generalship of Washington Territory. Senator Mitchell of Oregon urged the appointment of Ben Simpson of that State; Senator Windom of Minnesota pressed the claims of McMicken; and Vicroi of Arizona was the candidate of Senator Scott of Pennsylvania. Windom won the fight, though Mitchell pushed him hard. The successful candidate was said to have had the strong backing of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, which has large interests on Puget Sound.

Of the Pacific coast Congressional delegation there remain at Washington, Delegate McCormick of Arizona, the newly-elected Representative Wilson of Oregon, and Senator Kelly of that State. The two latter are brothers-in-law, though opposed in politics. Senator Sargent was to have left last week for California, and as he has not been seen for the last few days around the Navy Department, which institution he appears to be running, it is supposed he has started West. The others have been gone some time. McCormick will leave for Europe in a few weeks, and pay a visit to the Vienna Exposition. Arizona is certainly very fortunate in her representative, and Southern California may also fairly claim him, as he is always ready and willing to look out for her interests. He is exceedingly popular, both in Congress and the Departments, and with his pleasant manner and public experience, manages to accomplish more desired results than many members who have the advantage of a vote. There is much confidence that he only asks what is right, and then "Mac, you know, is such a good fellow that you cannot refuse him."

Wilson will return to Oregon soon. The State has a Congressional election next Spring and the nominating Conventions meet early in March. It is no more than natural that he should desire a re-indorsement, and he goes therefore to gaard his political interests. As this is his first session he will hardly have time before the nomination to show his capacity as a member, and he will therefore labor under something of a disadvantage. He possesses energy and ability, and if his health, which has not been very good for the last few months, does not fail he will make an excellent Representative.

As Kelly has some years left of his Senatorial career, and, with his family is housekeeping in this city and pleasantly situated, he will spend the Summer here. Being a Democrat, and therefore on the wrong side in politics, he has no influence other than that exercised by his amiability and the general personal esteem in which he is held.

Value of Trotting Horses.

The calender for 1872 has not yet been made up, says a magazine writer, but will show an increase upon that of 1871. It shows that in 1871 they were 1,576 trotting and pacing horses in the United States, representing over a million dollars in premiums and purses, besides the great value of the horses. The horses would average $1,000 each, and not less than three to each race, which would be $4,728,000, say $5,000,000 in horses alone, who have actually trotted in the several contests during that year. From this and other reliable data, we calculate the value of those in training and exercising, but not contending in races, and those in the breeding studs, all united, would amount to not less than $18,000,000, being the sum invested in this country in trotting and pacing horses alone.

Billings on Birds—Blue Jay and Goslin.

The blu jay is the dandy among birds, a feathered fop, a jackanapes by natur, and ov no use but to steel korn and eat it on a rail.

They are a mysterious bird, for I have seen them solitary and alone in the wooded wilderness, one hundred miles from enny signs ov civilizashun. Az a means ov diat, they are just about as luxurious as a biled indigo bag would be, such as the washwimmen use tew blew their clothes with.

The blu jay has no song—they kant sing even "From Greenland's Icy Mountains;" but I must sa a flock of them, flying among the evergreens on a kold winter morning, are hi kolored and eazy tew look at.

It iz hard work for me to sa a hard word agin the birds, but when i rite their history, it iz a duty i owe tew postery not to lie.

The goslin iz the old goose's yung child. They are yeller all over, and az soft az a ball of worsted. Their foot iz wove whole, and they kan swim az eazy az a drop of kaster oil on the water.

They are born annually about the 15th of May, and never waz known tew die natrally.

If a man should tell me he had saw a goose die a natral and squar deth, I wouldn't believe him under oath after that, not even if he swore he had lied about seeing a goose die.

The goose are different in one respect from the human family, who are said tew grow weaker but wizer; whereaz a goose alwuz grows tuffer and more phoolish.

I have seen a goose that they sed waz ninety-three years old last June, and he didn't look an hour older than one that was 17.

The goslin waddles when he walks, and paddles when he swims, but never dives, like a duk, out ov sight in the water, but only changes ends.

The food of the gozlin iz rye, corn, oats and barley, sweet apples, hasty pudding and biled kabbage, kooked potatoze, raw meat and turnips, stale bred, kold hash and buckwheat cakes that are left over.

They ain't so partiklar az sum pholks what they eat, and won't git mad and quit if they kant have wet toast and lam chops every morning for breakfast.

If i was going to keep boarders i would not want any better feeders than an old shee goose and 12 gozlins. If i couldn't suit them i should konklude i had mistaken my calling.

Roast gozlin iz good nourishment, if you kan get enuff ov it, but there ain't much waste meat on a gozlin, after yu have got rid ov their feathers and dug them out inside.

I have always notised when yu pass yure plate up for sum more baked gozlin at a hotel, the colored brother cums back with an empty plate, and sez: "Mister, the roast gozlin iz no more."

A Mystery.

[From The Virginia Chronicle, May 28]

On the night of the 20th of January, 1867, Jule Boulette, a native of England, aged 35 years, and a woman of the town well known in this city, was murdered in her bed at her bagnio on D street, by being struck on the head with a billet of wood and smothered with a pillow. Some time elapsed before the officers obtained any clue to the murder; but finally a Frenchman named John Millean sold a dress-pattern to a lady in Gold Hill at a figure so low as to arouse the suspicions of the purchaser, and the police were notified of the transaction. Soon after this Millean was arrested for being concealed under the bed of Martha Camp, another woman of the town who kept a shebang on South C street, nearly opposite the Express building. The Gold Hill lady was brought up and readily recognized him as the same man who had sold her the dress-pattern, and the pattern was identified by one of our leading dry goods men as having been sold by him to Jule Bulette a few days before she was murdered. Other articles of jewelry and wearing apparel, known to have belonged to Bulette, were subsequently brought to light and recognized and Millean identified as the person who had sold them to the holders. Upon this and other circumstantial evidence Millean was convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged. An appeal was taken to the Supreme Court below. A motion was then made before that Court for a rehearing, pending which a supersedeas was granted, and the rehearing finally denied and the Court below ordered to fix the day of execution, which it did by naming Friday, April 24, 1868—one year, three months and four days after the murder was committed. At the appointed time Millean was duly executed, studiously avoiding to the last any intimation as to whether he was innocent or guilty of the crime. The Chief of Police, however, claimed that he (Millean) was one of three men who conspired to commit the deed, but that he did nothing more himself than act as look-out while the others entered the house and killed the woman. On the gallows the condemned Millean confirmed the truth of this statement by saying that he blamed the Chief of Police for his conviction, because that officer had drawn certain admissions out of him leading to the inference that he had committed the crime—which advantage, he said, would not have been taken of him by a Frenchman. With the execution of Millean "Justice" was satisfied, and the matter ended.

This morning Chief of Police Thomas E. Kelly of this city received a dispatch from Captain John D. Young, city editor of The Sacramento Union, asking for information, name, etc., of the murder of a woman in this city some years ago, for which we infer that the police of that city have reason to believe that they have in their midst one of the murderers of Jule Bulette. In looking over the local columns of the Sacramento papers for the past few days, we find the name of the notorious Bob Durkin, committed on a charge of house breaking." Durkin, we believe, was in this city at the time of the murder of Bulette, left here shortly afterward, and has never been back since. We should not be surprised to hear that he was the murderer of Jule Bulette.

Another Gone.

We learn from The Inyo Independent that W. J. Markley died at Columbus, Nevada, the 7th of this month. The deceased was an old resident of Tuolumne county, for several years he carried on a mercantile business at Shaw's Flat; was elected to the Assembly and served one session during his residence here. Some time since, he moved across the mountains and settled at Bishop Creek, in Inyo county. Last fall he visited his old home and friends, then he was in apparent good health and bid fair to enjoy a series of years. But it was otherwise ordained, he now at rest, causing another void in the circle that lived in the flush times of "Old Tuolumne."—Tuolumne Democrat, May 31.

TERMINATION OF THE MODOC WAR.

The entire tribe of Modocs, save the boss devil, Captain Jack, and three of his warriors, have surrendered or been captured, so that the renowned Modoc war is now considered at an end. This result—the surrender of the last party—is wholly due to the exertions of a portion of the same tribe, Shacknasty Jim, Bogus Charley, Steamboat Frank, and Hooka Jim, who were of the first lot to surrender. They, accompanied by a heavy force of troops, hunted their late commander and his remaining followers with so much earnestness and pertinacity that not a doubt was entertained of their desire to bring the war to a close. They led the troops straight to Captain Jack's last retreat, when he and his band were surrounded and all actually surrendered, but during the night Jack and the three braves skedaddled, but where, no one knows. It is likely that he too will soon be compelled to come in, since his own tribe will be sent after him and compelled to capture or kill him or die themselves. It is uncertain what disposition will be made of the captured leaders, but it is probable some of them will be consigned to the gallows. The only justification for extreme measures with these wretches is based on the treacherous murder of Gen. Canby and Dr. Thomas, if we concede to these people the same rights in war that we do to civilized nations. We should have rejoiced to know that they had been killed in fair fight, but just to overpower them by sheer weight of numbers and treacherous aid and then string them up like dogs for making a desperate war in defense of their own rights simply, is much like a strong man murdering a toddling baby for trying to retain its hold upon its own crust of bread. However, we suppose nothing but death by strangulation of these creatures will now satisfy the avenging spirit of the great American people, and the sooner Jack and his leading braves are set to rehearsing their death songs, the sooner this great people can go to sleep without fear and trembling.

"More in Sight."

The Belcher mine with its big dividends has a chance to increase them still more. Recently some exceedingly rich ore has been struck on the 1,300 foot level, well to the south of the mine. The ore is extremely rich in silver and free gold. Surely the Comstock beats any other vein ever found or likely to be found.

The Wilmington Bar.

The Los Angeles Star is quite proud of the obvious fact that the water on the Wilmington bar, by reason of the effects of the breakwater, continues to deepen. It says Uncle Sam never made a better investment of money in the way of public improvements than in this breakwater.

Southwestern Nevada.

The Belmont correspondent of The Eureka Sentinel says: As yet the the immense resources of Southern and Southwestern Nevada are little known; but when Belmont, Columbus and Gold Mountain attract the attention their merits entitle them to, then will the rush begin hither and thither.

In Luck.

The celebrated Mono mine of Dry Canyon, Utah, has been sold to John W. Gashwiler and others of San Francisco, for $600,000. This gives Mat. T. Gisborn, formerly of Cerro Gordo, a little raise of $200,000, since he owned one-third of the mine. "An Ethiopian for dogs," etc.

Borax.

Borax has been found in Oregon, 37 miles south of Cresent City. The borate of lime is said to be found in huge boulders, weighing from two to three hundred pounds each, imbedded in the clay and gravel formation from the surface of the ground to the talcose slate bed-rock.

Another Big Fire.

Another deetructive fire broke out in Boston, May 30. Five persons were killed by falling walls, and the value of property destroyed is about $1,200,000, $750,000 of which is covered by insurance.

A Failure.

The attempt to negotiate the $6,500,000 of San Joaquin Valley Railroad bonds, in Europe, has proved a failure. American railroad securities are described as being a drug in the market.

—There are 5,000 acres of cotton under cultivation in California.

SUGGESTIONS.

Several communications from individual residents of this county have been addressed to leading party men of Tuolumne for the purpose of ascertaining what action that county proposes to take about legislative nominations, but so far as we are aware no response has been received from any of them. From the tone of The Union Democrat, however, we infer that our desires will be complied with, but have no positive assurance of the fact. The other paper published in that county appears to be running on such short commons as to be unwilling to afford us an exchange, and we therefore know nothing of its opinions or those of the party which, if any, it represents.

The Tuolumneites appear to be much exercised in their own minds as to what phase they had best adopt in regard to political lines—whether to stand by old parties and name candidates accordingly, or to throw all former party issues in together and have a new deal: People, i. e. Republicans and Democrats jointly vs. Monopolies and Skulduggeries in general. Here is a portion of what The Union Democrat has to say about the political situation and the proper course to be pursued:

On the surface a general calm prevails among the politicians of this county. The apparent determination manifested by the rank and file of both parties not to support unfit or improper nominations for local offices, has caused those who have followed party grooves to be tender-footed. The obtaining of a nomination this year promises to go for naught, unless procured in an honest, straightforward manner. The intimation of an independent movement has disturbed strictly partisan aspirants, and causes them to move and act with caution. The admonition thus afforded cannot be disregarded; it will be wise for the leaders to give it heed. If an improvement is not made in the selection of nominees by both conventions over the manner pursued for some years, there is little doubt the people will discriminate and support those who can be most relied on for honesty and integrity, regardless of their party affiliations.

The advice given in this is just as good as anybody can give, or as can be acted upon. It further says that no selection of members, in view of the important measures to come before the next Legislature, should be made of candidates who are "on the make." This is well, but it would have been better if it had gone further and advised that no more of the old fogies, political hacks, broken-down, anti-progressive politicians and standing candidates should be put in nomination. Both parties have been carrying too much weight of this kind, and hence there is an obvious weakening of the muscles, and it will take progressive ideas and fresh men to restore them. Otherwise Monopoly and Skulduggery (synonymous terms) win the race.

But the question that particularly concerns us of Mono and Inyo is whether Tuolumne proposes to maintain her usual motherly jurisdiction over us. Whether the delegation "from Tuolumne, Mono and Inyo"—three Representatives and two Senators—are as before to all have their local habitations in Tuolumne, or will that once flourishing but now dilapidated county allow us jointly two of the Representatives, while she takes the other and both Senators? That is all we ask, but there is no assurance that even this very reasonable concession will be granted.

Notwithstanding talk to the contrary, there is no doubt both parties in Tuolumne will name one, perhaps two, candidates each, while it is equally certain they will have an Independent candidate or two besides. Contrary to all precedent, up to this date but one candidate has announced himself in that county—one A. Widekind, who has a wide kind of a notion that he is a very proper person for Representative on the Independent ticket. We have no kind of an objection to Mr. Widekind, except that we have a kind of an idea that he hopes to tail in so closely after the regular nominees of that county, supposing each party to have but one, that both he and they, by the aid of respective party votes in Mono and Inyo, will be able to out count one or the other of our candidates by a dint of scratching our nominees for his benefit, and then noble old Tuolumne will again secure a representation commensurate with her great (?) needs. As she verges on the sere and yellow leaf of decay, public offices become an object to be secured at almost any cost, and the matter of leaving out in the cold her younger and more flourishing sister counties of the district, which really stand in pressing need of favorable representation, is a thing of small consequence to them. It may be of material importance to certain individuals over there to continue to maintain the political importance of Tuolumne in State affairs, even though it is on a false basis, but this side of the mountains will not willingly concede them the right.

We would urge both parties in both Mono and Inyo to each nominate one candidate for the Assembly, no matter who so they are live men, absolutely unpurchaseable and on principle antagonistic to all unjust schemes of railroads, monopolies, special legislation and Government rings, who are with one Senator and Representative from Tuolumne to form our joint legislative tickets; then, either party winning on a straight vote, all will be satisfied. If we can't elect one Representative from each county, let us have none at all. It is certainly now or never.

A QUESTION OF TITLE.

Surveyor-General Gardner has made application in behalf of the State of California for the following tracts of land as part and parcel of the 500,000 acre grant, to-wit: The S. W. ¼, and and Lot 1 in N. W. ¼, and Lot 1 in N. E. ¼, Section 6, Township 13 S., Range 35, E. In other words the State of California asks the United States to give up its title to the largest and best portion of the Camp Independence reserve, including the ground upon which the whole of the quarters are situated.

The reason why our much respected State does this is because it sold a school warrant to one McLaughlin, formerly a Lieutenant at Camp Independence, and as Lieut. McLaughlin couldn't find any land that suited him as well, he laid his warrant on this 320 74-100ths acres included in the lots referred to, and for that reason the State claims this as a portion of the 500,000 acre grant.

This land is a portion of that reserved by the Government in 1859 for an Indian reservation. This reservation was withdrawn in 1864.

The State selected this, among other lands in the valley, as a part of the 500,000 acre grant, in July, 1864, which selection was invalid, as the township had been suspended in February, 1859, to await the location of Indian reservations, and was not restored, as above, until December, 1864. Application was made in the Visalia Land Office in 1863—a year previous to the restoration—by McLaughlin for the lots referred to, and under the warrant then laid the applicant has continued to maintain his claim. A cash entry for a portion of the land, made by W. S. Matthews, was rejected (or suspended) by the Commissioner of the General Land Office because it was upon land within a mile of a military post, for which military reservation an order was made by the President in 1866, Matthews' settlement dating two years later, 1868.

The value of McLaughlin's location is contingent upon the State's original title to the land. It is simply a question of title between the State and General Government, with the chances all in favor of the latter. Among other parties who will be dispossessed of possessory title if the school warrant location is sustained, is J. Earl, who will lose about half of his claim, and E. Chaquette pretty much all of his. But the Surveyor-General's application, in the very nature of the certificate required from the Register (Butler) of this office, will be returned rejected, and the facts reported to the Commissioner. The State will then have sixty days to file an appeal, so that if such an appeal is taken, which is doubtful, it will be several months before the final settlement of the question.

McLaughlin would be quite well fixed up for business in the way of valuable improvements should he happen to make his land warrant stick, but, with our best wishes for his general success in life, we feel much in hopes and strongly believe that the Lieutenant has made a fatal error in his calculations.

On Their Track.

Sheriff Caldwell of Nye County, Nevada, thinks he has struck the track of the murderers of Wright and Sanbourn, whom we mentioned as having been murdered and thrown into a spring out near Pioche. The Sheriff is now in pursuit, and hopes to succeed in arresting the murderers.

Postal Cards.

Some 300,000 of these have been received in San Francisco, and many of the residents of that burg are so delighted with the novelty that they send off cards by the cord.

Terrible Homicide.

Just before closing our forms for the press a man was killed in front of Malloch's brewery, on Main street. Two Mexicans were quarreling and he interfered, when one of them turned and stabbed him, the knife going through his body and coming out at his back. It occurred just after sunset last evening. He lived about half an hour, and gave his name as Charles White. He is said to have lived in the foothills and had a family. The murderer was arrested as he ran away, near John O'Conner's, by Marshal Shearer.—Tulare Times, May 30.

An Age of Enlightenment.

It strikes us there is a good field for some energetic missionaries now open in San Francisco. If something is not soon done that city will soon be renowned for its barbarism. In fact it only needs the established whipping post, to be followed by a Bartholomew upon the heathens, to entitle it to rank first of American cities in point of barbarism. One or two of the leading papers are terribly exercised on the Chinese question. The Board of Supervisors don't feel quite justified just yet in following up the teachings of these papers to the full and order a general massacre of the celestial heathens, so they compromise the matter by passing an ordinance to crop and mutilate their persons. Though the object the Board has in view is entirely commendable, the method by which they have undertaken to compass it is a disgrace to civilization. As one of our contemporaries remarks, this Chinese question has got to be treated on a much higher principle than those which actuate a resort to queue cutting, and an embargo on the translation of the dead of the obnoxious race, and we cannot believe that even San Francisco is so beside herself as to approve of such reprehensible legislation.

Comstock Yield.

Wells, Fargo & Co.'s agent at Virginia City, tells The Enterprise that the shipment of gold and silver bullion from the Comstock mines to San Francisco, New York and elsewhere, through the Virginia agency alone, amounts to the sum of $2,500,000 per month.

Denies the Soft Impeachment.

Tyler Curtis, the absconding San Francisco merchant, has turned up in New York. He denies the charges made against him by the press, and says he will shortly return and explain matters.

Kern County.

In the case of the contested county seat of Kern county, the Supreme Court has affirmed the judgment of the County Court in the county seat appeal. This leaves the prize with Bakersfield.

S. P. R. R.

The impression is now prevalent among the employes of the railroad that work thereon, if it ceases at all, will not do so until it reaches this place. The company are reported to have negotiated bonds enough to cover the cost of that extent of construction. The work is progressing with reasonable speed. It is said the construction cars may be seen from the hills on Posey Creek. The reflection that a glimpse of the cars may be obtained in a two hours ride is a pleasant one.—Bakersfield Courier, May 31.

ALL PARTIES INDEBTED TO THE UNDERSIGNED are hereby notified to call and settle their accounts in full within thirty days from date, as we are setting up our books preparatory to closing out business.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

Saturday,.....June 7, 1873.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

The Proposed Celebration.

As by advertisement elsewhere published it will be seen that the town of Independence is going to do its best for a grand Fourth of July celebration, on the approaching National Anniversary. The word "grand," in this connection, must be taken in a comparative sense, by making due allowance for circumstances and surroundings. The managing committee, in the name of the town they represent, can only, and do most cordially, tender to any and all in every quarter a free invitation to come and participate in the best they have to offer on this occasion, whether that "best" is on a "grand" scale or the reverse. It is expected that the attendance will be very large, and it is furthermore expected and understood that all the residents of the town are to extend their individual hospitalities to friends from a distance, and beyond this it is useless to say more.

School Report.

The Union school, Geo. H. Hardy, teacher, closed the six months term last Tuesday. This also ends the term of consolidation of the two districts, Milton and Independence, according to the original agreement, but it is probable the agreement will be renewed for the next term, beginning in July. The special tax levied in Independence district has, with one important exception, been paid in. When this delinqency is paid up, and all accounts settled there will be quite a balance left to the credit of the district. Following is a brief synopsis of teacher's report: The highest number of different pupils enrolled during the term is 46; whole number days attendance, 2,175; whole number days absence, 411; whole number tardinesses, 24; whole number boys enrolled, 17; whole number girls enrolled, 20—total, 37; average number belonging 21.7; average daily attendance, 18; percentage of attendance on average number belonging, .84.

The Land Office.

Register Wilson Butler arrived here last Sunday, and during the week has been engaged in completing the unfinished business of his office preparatory to turning it over to his successor Mr. Earl, whose bonds have been submitted for approval. The change of officers will probably take place during the coming week. For the present the Land Office is located in THE INDEPENDENT office, but will soon be permanently located in May's building in the rear of Bennett & Gregg's law office. A statement of the land business transacted this week will be found elsewhere in this issue.

More Black Rock Enterprise.

The boys at the Black Rock Saw Mill have effected a peculiar triumph of art over nature, which for a singular adaptation is worthy of note. In the foothills surrounding the mill are seven low, ex inct volcanoes, the craters of which vary in depth from 50 to 600 feet. Into one of these the boys by flumes and a ditch turned for a time the waters of the creek, and instead of a dry, red and desolate crater is now a lake of some two acres in extent, and from 6 to 10 feet in depth. The water is pure and clear, and should by all means be stocked with trout.

Fine Potatoes.

Several days since we received a box of new potatoes from the fine ranch of the Rittgers Rros., below Lone Pine. These potatoes are of a new variety for this section, and are claimed as the best that have yet been introduced. We believe this claim is well founded, for, with all the drawbacks of the season, many of them we received were quite as large as a man's fist. Messrs. Rittgers obtained this seed from Wisconsin, and we are glad to know that it has proved such a success.

Internal Revenue.

S. G. Sneden, Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue for this and Mono county, gives official notice that the stamps required by persons liable to special tax can be procured of him, and publishes a statement of the denominations requisite for the different classes of business. We would advise our liquor and tobacco dealers to attend to the matter immediately. Mr. Sneden is now at home from San Francisco.

The Shingle Mill.

Messrs. Hill & Stecker are making fair progress in building their shingle mill north, of the Black Rock Saw Mill. They have a road completed from the Taboose Ranch, wheel pit and tail race dug, building site ready for the structure and trail partially completed to the timber. They have commenced getting the timbers down the mountain, and expect to have the machine in full operation by the middle of July.

The Biggest Yet.

Beaudry's furnace turned out 4,530 bars of bullion during the last month, less three days, when the furnace was undergoing repairs. This is the biggest month's yield yet for any of our furnaces, and speaks well for the energy of the new foreman, W. L. Hunter, and Superintendent Porter. This was Hunter's first month in charge of the furnace.

The Silver Sprout.

Work, with a few men, has been resumed on the Virginia Consolidated and Silver Sprout mines, Kearsarge District. Superintendent Wingard is being daily expected, when more extensive operations will doubtless be begun.

The Ball at Taboose.

Up to the present day, one of the staple topics of conversation in town, since the occurrence, has been the ball and supper given by Harry Wright and lady at Taboose Ranch, on Wednesday evening last, the very complete success of which has been universally admitted. Delegations were present from almost all portions of the county, Independence, George's Creek, Lone Pine, Big Lake, Fish Springs, Black Rock, Big Pine and Bishop, in goodly numbers, a fact attesting to the popularity of Harry and his lady, and showing the general sociability and love of fun in our people. The dancing hall prepared for the occasion, 25x40 feet in size, was well crowded, although not too much so for the dancers, each and every one of whom certainly flung the "fantastic" to their heart's content. A few hours' exercise of this kind preceded by a long ride, gave all hands a most excellent appetite for the really "huge" supper, the excellence of which we will not enlarge upon farther than to state the general expression that it was the finest ever spread upon any similar occasion in the whole county. We are glad to state that Harry received a handsome financial benefit for his trouble, but to our notion the greatest credit is due his very estimable spouse and her able assistants for their untiring efforts, upon which the superb success of the affair was so essentially founded. The splendid music, directed by Mr. T. S. Harris, richly merited the praises which it received.

Prof. Wright.

We this morning witnessed a display of Prof. Wright's wonderful power over that noblest of animals and man's most useful servant, the horse. Like the Rarey system his method is based on kindness; for that reason we heartily indorse his system and undoubted success in reducing the wildest horse to perfect tractability in much less time than the usual violent and cruel style of breaking and handling them. The system is based on sound principles, is in no sense a trick or catch, and should be understood by all owners of horses. It is not difficult of acquirement or execution, and Bergh himself, whose mission it is to prevent cruelties to animals, must sustain it. In proof of his skill and method the Professor took a two-year old Buffalo colt belonging to C. D. Begole, and put him through an astonishing course of performances. Though entirely wild a week previously no circus horse could have done better or been more docile. As the Professor has a class here and is engaged in breaking a lot of bronchos, we shall pass further remark for the time.

New Location.

While in Cerro Gordo a few days ago, our junior, in company with Martin Mee, the well known mining foreman, made location of a claim on the Belmont side of the camp. It has the usual character of the silver ledges of the district, and has every indication of wealth and extensiveness. Prospect work is to be commenced "when the snow comes." The boys are in some doubt as to whether its name shall be the "Inyo Independent" or the "Back Salary Steal!" But whether this momentous question be decided or not the locators are in high hopes.

A Heavy Operation.

M. W. Belshaw has been for some weeks below engaged in getting wagons and stock for a fast freight line of eighty teams, to be used in the transportation of bullion. The wagons are being built in San Francisco and Sacramento, the teams procured everywhere, and they are to be run on the Los Angeles road. Stanford's railroad is out of money, it is said; but anyway it is very evident that they will be required to exhibit some more enterprise than they have of late to ever control "the Inyo trade."

The S. P. & L. A. Railroad.

Attention is called to the new advertisement of the above well known institution, elsewhere. A special mention of the road at our hands is unnecessary, further than a statement that over and above the most of Los Angeles institutions it deserves the business and patronage which it receives from Inyo people for the manner in which it keeps its advertisement perpetually before them, if for no other reason.

Horse Thieves Captured.

About the 1st of May some twenty horses were stolen from a ranch about fifteen miles from Columbus. All but four or five of these were subsequently recovered, and, as we learn from Register Butler, John Rooney, one of the thieves, was captured in Lander county and is now in the jail at Aurora. There were two of the thieves, and the other, Thomas Landi, is in the Austin jail.

Business Change.

Messrs. Wood & Cohen, the well known merchants, are advertising their stock for sale, at cost rates, for the purpose of a change in the business. Mr. Cohen contemplates traveling for the benefit of his health, which for a long time has been very poor. They offer the best inducements to buyers, and will doubtless meet with ready sales at their low prices. See advertisement.

Meeting.

The Democratic County Central Committee meet at this place to-day. Following are the names of the gentlemen comprising it: T. K. Hutchison, I. S. Freeborn, J. L. Porter, John W. P. Laird, S. P. Moffatt, J. E. Parker W. P. George and A. N. Bell, Chairman and H. M. Isaacs, Secretary.

New Mexico Ruby.

We have been favored by Prof. Wright, the horseman, with a fine specimen of an uncut, though perfectly clear, bright ruby, which was found among many others in New Mexico, by the donor.

Measles.

This disease has made its appearance among the children in this place.

McKenzie's Raid.

A Washington dispatch of May 30 has this in reference to Col. McKenzie's recent raid sixty miles into Mexican territory, wherein he corralled so many of the "border ruffians" contrary to international laws:

A private letter was received here today from Fort Davis, Texas, written by a gentleman who participated in the McKenzie raid. It gives full particulars of the march and attack upon the Indians. The writer gives some points which have not been touched upon yet. He says the raids of the combined forces of the bandits, composed of both Mexicans and Indians, had become so intolerable and the losses sustained by South American and Mexican rancheros, from these raids, so great, that the inhabitants on both sides of the Rio Grande rejoiced at the punishment inflicted upon them. They express the hope that Col. McKenzie will not only be promptly sustained, but that he may be instructed to repeat the lesson as often as may in his judgment become necessary, in order to punish Indian and Mexican bandits and protect border citizens in their lives and property. A few persons are disposed to charge the Mexican Government with assisting and encouraging the raiders, but the majority believe that the national Government would be glad to break up the bands of raiders if they could, but they have not force or means at present to do this. Consequently it is believed they will, instead of attempting to make trouble on account of McKenzie's raid into their country, rather be inclined to approve it. One thing is certain: Had not Col. McKenzie acted promptly as he did, the inhabitants along the border would have organized, and assisted by friends from the interior would have invaded Mexican territory in a manner which would most likely have produced a rupture. Our border citizens seem to feel assured that they shall not hold their lives and property at the mercy of lawless scoundrels, who have heretofore found shelter on Mexican soil.

Who They Are.

The military company, due by the steamer Newbern at Wilmington about Tuesday next, is company "D," 12th U. S. Infantry, Capt. McGowan. They come from Fort Yuma, Arizona, where they have been stationed for some time. They are en route to Camp Independence to take the place of Capt. Egbert's company, which has been transferred to another post. Gen. Banning received a letter from Fort Yuma, merely announcing that the company would be at Wilmington at the time specified; and, as our war office here has not kept thoroughly posted on the movements of the army, some supposed that Drum Barracks were about to be permanently garrisoned. However much we regret, for the sake of our Wilmington friends, that this is not to be the case, we give the above as the true solution of the temporary occupation of Drum Barracks.—Los Angeles Star, June 1.

Carson Matters.

A gentleman who recently left this section with a view of locating in Carson, Nevada, seems highly pleased with the looks and future prospects of that flourishing city. The writer says in a private letter to us that the completion of the Columbus road is certain to make Carson a point of considerable business, both for the northern end of this county and our neighbors in Nevada from Columbus southward. In fact it already commands a respectable trade from this direction. For the information of many of our readers unaccquainted with the possible advantages of the trade offerred by that city, we extract from this letter the following in relation to some its business houses:

There are several large business houses here, together carrying on many different branches of trade. E. B. Rail & Co. carry an immense stock of hardware, tinware, etc.; they manufacture all kinds of tinware on a large scale, and do a large wholesale trade. Kitzmeyer & Bro. carry on a very extensive business in furniture upholstering, etc., and import direct from the St Louis manufactories, and since I have been here have received an immense stock from that source. Then Driesbach & Co., and the late firm of Davis & Gillson, now G. A. Davis, are large wholesale dealers in groceries, liquors and general merchandise; and near to them is the large wholesale liquor store of Geo. D. Fryer, then comes the house of Jno. G. Fox, wholesale and retail dealer generally, in books, prints, frames, stationery, jewelry, etc. Then, also, J. H. Chandler, wholesale and retail dealer in fruits, confectionery, and produce generally.

The town is rather pleasantly located at the base of what have been thickly-wooded hills—now nearly cleared off They have located here the State House, State's Prison and State Orphan Asylum, all neatly and well-constructed, the two former of stone, which is quarried near the State's Prison, and the latter a frame building all well appointed. There are four very neat churches, Catholic, Methodist, Presbyterian and Episcopalian; one fine, large two-story public school house, and several well-appointed hotels. Among them the Ormsby House, under the management of Geo. D. Fryer, a jolly Britisher, and the St. Charles, under the management of mine German host Geo. Tuffly, whose avoirdupois is only about 350. Then there is the Corbett House, managed by the Corbett Bros., natives of the "Sunny Green Isle;" there are also numerous saloons, some very nicely fitted up, several planing and lumber mills, several wagon and blacksmith shops, and two carriage painting shops, where they do very nice work.

An Important Business Mission.

[From The Los Angeles Star, May 31.]

Mr. J. L. Ward will go to San Francisco to-morrow on business connected with his house. He may remain away for two weeks, and during that time will collect information valuable in connection with the project of establishing a borax refinery here. Our greatest need at present is the successful formation of companies to manufacture some of our crude resources into articles of commerce, and among these none will have a more beneficial bearing upon our interests than the successful establishment of a borax refinery. The advantage of our situation is peculiar and unsurpassed. We are the base of supplies of the two great borax fields recently discovered. These beds, according to the universal testimony of all who have visited them, are inexhaustible; and so abundant is the raw marial that it is computed the returns would be fabulously remunerative, if the market were ample, even at $200 per ton. The latest quotations of the borax of commerce in New York place it at 20 cents per pound. This would leave an immense margin for its manufacture. The secrecy with which the two refineries have been conducted in San Francisco only goes to prove that the process in vogue there is very simple. If it were complex, there would be no necessity for secrecy. Mr. Ward will direct his efforts to procuring all the information he can on this head, and on the character and extent of the market. There are now parties in San Francisco, representing capital in Washington, whose special business it is to examine the borax business with a view to investment. Mr. Ward will also interest himself in laying on a a line schooners between Wilmington and San Francisco.

The Arizona Telegraph.

Last evening we were informed by Gen. Schofield that all bids for the construction of the proposed military telegraph from San Diego to Prescott, and Tucson have been rejected. The appropriation of $50,311 80 is too small to secure the completion of the work, and inasmuch as the chief object at present to be attained is in facilitating military operations in Arizona, it has been decided to commence the work when it is most required. The entire line proposed is from San Diego via. Fort Yuma to Maricopa Wells, and thence one branch going north to Prescott, and another going easterly to Tucson. The two branches connecting communication between Tucson and Prescott will first be built, and under the sole management of the military forces. No contract, except for material, will be given out. It will probably require an additional appropriation to build the line from Maricopa Wells, to San Diego. This plan will enable Gen. Crook as soon as possible to handle his forces advantageously and without delays. Nearly all the Apaches will be east of the spreading arms of this galvanic courier.—S. F. Alta, May 31.

Tax on Borax.

The Aurora correspondent of the Sacramento Union has this to say about borax:

In March last the Legislature passed a law authorizing the taxing of the proceeds of borax and soda mines, and for the first quarter, ending with March last, three companies have made returns. M. A. Hearne reports gross proceeds, $12,318; total expenses, $8,785; net profits, $3,533, or about $143 per ton. Mosheimer & Engelke report the net profits of ten tons $210, or $21 per ton. The Pacific Borax Company reports the net profits on 113 tons $1,137 50, or about $10 per ton. There must be some rather loose swearing or the borax companies are not making the large profits that have been represented.

The One-Ledge Theory.

Recent developments in the Pioche mines tend to prove as correct the one-ledge theory—that is, that in any mountain characterized by numerous argentiferous veins, those veins all tend, like small veins running to the main arteries in the human system, to one grand central deposit. The ledges on the south side of Spring mountain generally dip to the north, those on the north side to the south, and the bodies of ore have increased in extent as depth has been attained. If development continues in the future as they have in the past, we will yet be able to boast as great an extent of ore as have been exposed in the Comstock mines. —Record.

A Duel.

A couple of young clerks determined to adjust their personal difficulties by mortal combat just before dark last evening. Armed each with a pistol, they proceeded with friends to the bank of the river, near the bridge, measured off the ground, and at the word "fire," only one pistol went off. The young man who held the other weapon, as soon as he heard the report, took to his heels, and was ruuning at last accounts. The authorities should hunt up the parties engaged in this meeting, as the law against duelling has clearly been violated by this hostile demonstration.—Los Angeles Star, May 27.

Prof. Agassiz.

Prof. Louis Agassiz finds it necessary to give public denial to a pretended report of a lecture which represents him as asserting that the blood of a negro is chemically different from that of the white man, and making other professedly "scientific" statements in disparagement of the race. The report originated in the west as a burlesque, but has been accepted in good faith by many newspapers in the east and south.

MEDICAL.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE, FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

Vinegar Bitters.

No Person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittant Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most Wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

PRIVATE HOSPITAL.

THE SUBSCRIBER TAKES PLEASURE IN announcing to the people of Inyo county that he has purchased and fitted up as a hospital the Beaudry Hotel Building, adjoining the military post at Camp Independence. All the adobes have been removed and their place applied with lumber; the grounds are handsomely laid out with shade trees and clover, and have a pure running stream of mountain water.

There is an excellent bath room and dispensary attached. One room is set aside for the county's sick, leaving ample room for private patients. The Northern Stage Line passes the door, and the place is easy of access from the town of Independence. The charges for board and lodging do not exceed those of any hotel or boarding house, offering equal accommodations, and the establishment has the advantage of having competent help and medical advice always at hand, being close by the house of the post surgeon at the camp.

The Difference.

There's a vast difference between a spanking and a good, healthy old licking. Every boy who ever had a good father and mother knows the difference.

The mother generally does the light comedy business, or the spanking; the father does the licking, or the "heavy" business. Find a man that was never spanked and thrashed and you'll find a man that's "but half made up," and who is probably as dull as the Spring trade in Death Valley, for he's missed half the delights and experiences of youth.

How nicely it sounds to a boy, when he knows he has been doing something for which he ought to be licked, to hear his mother call thus: "Henry, you young scamp, come here; I'll have to give you a severe whipping." Henry digs his fingers into his eyes to start a tear, but the tears ain't on the start. Mother comes along with that soft, old slipper, and tell Henry to lie across her lap. Henry lies cross her lap. She then goes after Henry with that slipper till she gets out of breath, while Henry is wondering when she's going to let up, and how much cake she will give him to make it up.

When "the old gentleman" calls to Henry, "Come here, boy. I'll just make things lively for you," Henry don't feel so good about it. He finds that he don't have to dig for a tear. He thinks over all his hiding places, and wonders which is the best. He wants to treat his father as a stranger and not know him. He tries to think he don't hear, and before he gets his mind fairly made up about it the old man heaves in sight. At first Henry thinks he'll run, but he knows it is of no use, for he has tried it before and knows the "old man" can out-wind him. Henry thinks he had better yield. He yields.

The old gentleman catches him by the collar and says: "Why did you lie to your mother?" Henry adds one more lie and says he didn't. Then it is that the by-play of the old gentleman becomes interesting to Henry. The "old gent" takes a nice little rawhide from under his coat—for the fathers scorn slippers (the said rawhide probably belongs to Henry)—and with that rawhide sails into Henry till that boy comes to the conclusion that he did do it, and "allows" that he "won't do it any more." And all this time Henry hasn't had a vision of a single cake, and has come to the conclusion that his cake is pretty nearly all dough.

For four or five days Henry walks a good deal. He don't wan't to lean against anything nor sit down much, and if you will go with Henry he will show you where he has stowed that little rawhide nicely away under the barn, considering it the cause of all his troubles; and he may possibly express to you the wish that he "was twenty-one, so that he might either lick the old man or go away from home."

If Henry is really fortunate as a boy he will express that wish a great many times before he is twenty-one, for the chances are that there will never be another boy who can cut down his father's cherry tree with a little hatchet and not lay it to some other boy.

AN OLD HENRY.

Contemplated Raid on Mexico.

The Savannah (Ga.) Advertiser publishes the following improbable story: A gentleman, late an officer of the United States Volunteer Corps, declares that while recently in New Orleans he had been offered a command in an expedition then being organized to move to Mexico. He was told that the advance guard was to be composed of five thousand men, consisting of Texans and others, to be commanded by James Longstreet, late of the Confederate Army, now of Kellogg's militia. He was further informed that the United States Government knew of and sympathized with the movement, and would aid it in every way possible. Also that enlistments for the purpose were being made in Mobile and at other points in the southwest.

The Stevens Furnace.

The Salt Lake Herald publishes the following:

Starting at the top where the bricklayers ended, the stack is some nine feet high, perpendicular; and is a continuation of an oblique furnace stack constructed apparently at an angle of about forty-five degrees. This depressed stack is about thirty-one feet in length, its lower end forming a cavity where the molten metal and slag collect.

The furnace is immediately in front and is composed of two chambers—an upper and a lower. In the former gas bearing fuel is placed—common coal—and gas is generated, which is carried off by a pipe, down in front and below the lower chamber, having united with it superheated steam and atmospheric air; the whole being arranged so that it can be regulated at pleasure. This oxy-hydrogen passes up through the bars of the lower chamber and through the fire, causing an intense heat, and having all the force and power of a magnified blowpipe; while the coke from the chamber above can be lowered into the blazing chamber beneath, increasing the fuel and saving any waste of burning material. This is the furnace.

The process of reduction is equally simple and scientific. In the testing of the works, a body of flame the full width of the depressed stack was thrown clear through it—thirty-one feet with the greatest ease; and with equal ease it could be thrown fifty feet and be utilized the entire distance. The ore is shoveled in at the top of the depressed stack, and as it descends it is at once roasted and disulphurized before the flux is added, which is introduced by a hopper a few feet down the stack. Every one acquainted with the reduction of ores knows how important is the point thus gained, and the result is, that ores can be reduced at a cost wonderfully lower than by any other process now known, and to a very high percentage of their metalliferous value.

The cheapness of the process and of constructing the furnaces is the great point involved, as it will enable ores to be worked that are now deemed worthless. The cost of the furnace is comparatively small; the expense attending the reduction of ores is estimated at about four dollars per ton; while it is intended to place the price of the royalty so low that it will be within the reach of every miner. In fact we heard Mr. Stevens say he was willing to take, as his royalty, the percentage of metal that would be saved by the process above that of any other process now in use.

About Lotteries.

A Virginia City paper holds forth as follows regarding the late Omaha Lottery swindle (as they all are in our opinion), though the paper referred to winds up the article with a puff and recommendation for the so called honest lotteries, or gift enterprises, for "charitable purposes," constantly being put up in the State of Nevada for home gudgeons to nibble at:

It was rumored on the street yesterday that we had drawn the capital prize in the Omaha Bilk. It is nearly a week since this "drawing" or bleeding commenced, and ticket No. 80,777 has been announced as having won the $75,000, but it has not yet transpired who is the holder of that ticket—nor it never will. All this looks very significant; but if our victimized ticket-holders will only wait patiently for a week or two longer they will probably learn that "some lucky man in British America or the city of Mexico is the fortunate individual." Considerable distrust has been manifested by our citizens for some time past on the management of this concern, who appear to have called our attention to it by this rumor, doubtless thinking that we might ventilate the matter. For the benefit of such, we would say that we are not the "lucky man," and are of the opinion that they would have to travel as far as Omaha to find him. 'Tis nearly time Nevadans began to know enough to quit patronizing these outside concerns, being totally ignorant of their management, save what they hear from smooth-tongued agents, who are well paid for all the puffing and blowing they do. For several years past the people of this State, to a much greater extent than those of any other, have been blindly investing their money in such institutions, and out of the scores of thousands of dollars they have thus thrown away not one iota of benefit has ever accrued to them, with perhaps one exception, and that is considered doubtful.

More Discoveries.

It does seem that this whole desert country, over an area of thousands of square miles, is threaded with veins of silver and gold—the former predominating. John Mason and James Reace, old prospectors of this State, have just returned from an exploring trip south and west of the Ash-Uttah mountains, down towards the Armagoza river, and not far from the celebrated Death Valley, who reported having found some very promising galena deposits. They will return, if they can get assistance from men of means. Railroads are only needed to make Southeastern Nevada, we may reasonably believe, the richest section of the explored globe.—Pioche Record.

The Insane Dodge.

Charles Dudley Warner, in noticing the article on the "Insanity of Cain," in the May number of Scribner's, says: "He was the last really good respectable villain we had left; Judas, Henry VIII, etc., are all gone. And now Cain is not a murderer, but a homicide laboring under emotional insanity.

—By cable dispatches we learn that calico is higher in England than for years before. This is severe on the aristocrats who use fabrics of this character, but in no wise affects the servants and lower classes who wear silks and satins.

FOR SALE.

THE INYO INDEPENDENT, one of the best established country papers on the coast, at an extremely low figure for cash. Parties interested will note the advertisement in the usual columns.

THE TULE RIVER RESERVATION.

The Visalia Times and other papers in Kern and Tulare pronounce the new Tule River Reservation a great swindle, as no doubt it is. There is not a hundred acres of tillable land on the entire tract, and it cannot by any possibility be made to afford a living for one-half the Indians for which it is designed. The consequence will be that large numbers of working Indians, now peaceably and profitably employed on farms, will be transmogrified into vagabonds, forced to steal or starve, if compelled to go on this worthless piece of ground. Of course this part of the business won't trouble the contractors for supplies, agents, et id omne genus, but it is a matter of considerable importance to white settlers in these regions. They, as a class, protest against the withdrawal of their Indian laborers because they need them as such, and that relation is mutually advantageous; they object, because the Indians themselves are most decidedly averse to the proposed change; they oppose it, because, if no other means will serve large numbers of their Indians are anxious to and will become, tax-paying citizens which, of itself is an objectionable contingency, as the accession of that class of citizens is not desirable or desired by the whites, but nevertheless they will assist many of the red men to become citizens rather than to see the reservation programme carried out.

The Polaris.

The survivors of Captain Hall's ill-fated Arctic expedition have reached Washington and been subjected, each member separately, to a rigid examination as to the cause of Captain Hall's death and the subsequent abandonment of so many of the crew on an ice-floe.

The result appears to be an entire exoneration of Buddington, the sailing-master, of any murderous act, either towards Captain Hall or the others left on the floe. The story of the latter--of 197 days on the floating ice, and their final most wonderful rescue--was never equaled in the tales of the sea. It is a relief to know that it, or rather the death of the entire number, was not an act premeditated by Buddington, and quite as much so that he did not murder his brave commander. The details of this examination have not yet been published, but no doubt will be soon, in consideration of the rumors of foul play that have added so much interest to the story of this last American search for the North Pole.

A Burlesque.

The Democrats of San Francisco recently held their primaries, and from the manner in which the election was conducted and the resuts obtained, the whole thing is pronounced a shameful burlesque. Even The Examiner is ashamed of the kind of delegates elected, and disposed to jump the entire proceedings. The way of transgressors, i. e. politicians, is extremely hard. Honest, patriotic politicians are prone to sing, as applicable to themselves, the words of the Rogues' March —"Beat and banged and knocked to the d—l kase I would not sojer;" or "words to that effect."

Commissioner Appointed.

A Commissioner of Immigration has been appointed for San Francisco, and it was about time, as something has to to be done in refrence to the China question, and it is equally certain that the local authorities of that burg need looking after in the same connection. These later are trying to prevent the additional curse of more Chinamen by passing ordinances directly in conflict with the plain letter of the Constitution and of treaty obligations as well. It is evident this Mongolian tide can only be stopped by amending or abrogating the treaty with the Celestial Kingdom.

Sold Out.

It seems to be an established fact that Wm. Sharon has purchased the interests of C. P. Huntington and Mark Hopkins in the Central Pacific Railway. Huntington didn't like the way San Francisco done about the Goat Island job, and wants to take his final adieu of all such people, to which those people don't raise any very serious objections.

BIG MINING SUITS.

The Eureka Sentinel, in noting an article under the above caption which appeared in THE INDEPENDENT a few weeks since, discourses as follows:

The suit of the San Felipe vs. the Union, is no doubt a matter of some importance to a few dwellers in the earthquake region, but to compare that property to any of half a dozen mines in Eureka district, is not just to the people who reside here, and who certainly are in the best and richest mining portion of America. When the reducing power of the two great companies here will require a supply of ore per day amounting to 450 tons, and that double the ore to supply them can be raised from the property in dispute, it seems strange that a paper so well posted as THE INDEPENDENT should make so egregious a blunder, and endeavor to magnify a mine that would simply be considered, in comparison to our mines, a prospect.

According to this, the Comstock, Cerro Gordo, Pioche and Utah mines can take a back seat. Now, it is slightly possible that we were in error in our assumptions. Certain it is that we don't claim for the Union the capacity of 900 tons per day or anything like it. We claim, however, a "prospect" there that has shipped 3,000 tons of bullion in the past year, the average value of which exceeds $350 per ton; also that the mine is easily capable of producing twice that amount in an equal length of time, and unlike the Eureka mines don't require four tons of ore to produce one of bullion; in fact not over 2½ tons of ore for one of bullion. The Union has never created so much smoke on the hill nor on the stock board as some of the mines referred to by The Sentinel, for it is private property, but we do believe that it has yielded more clear cash than any of them. For more than a year past there has been no day that there was not at least 1,000,000 tons in sight. We consider it a pretty healthy "prospect," and one that the managers would not be glad to have the horse disease as an excuse to shut down, as was the case in a certain other mining locality we could mention. The San Felipe suit only calls for $1,035,000 and the mine, which is not so much as the Raymond suit. We hope our friend George won't allow the "prospect holes" of this "earthquake district" to throw him out of balance. When there is no better place Eureka will do very well no doubt, and The Sentinel is quite right in trying to make people know it.

BEECHER AND TILTON.

For a long time the public have anxiously looked for a refutation of the scandalous charges against the Rev. Henry Ward and the fair fame of Mrs. Tilton, and for the same length of time the public has looked in vain. Bowen, editor of The Springfield Independent, instigated by Tilton himself it appears, was the originator or promulgator of these charges, and upon them Victoria Woodhull has sung all the changes and numerous variations. These things became irksome to Mr. Beecher, but instead of either admitting or denying their truth publicly, a sort of a private compact was arranged in writing signed and sealed between himself, Tilton and Bowen, which was to protect each other's honor and standing, the two latter retracting all the charges and insinuations involving Beecher and Mrs. Tilton, and denying they had committed any grave error. But Victoria wasn't a party to this compact, made over a year ago, and during that time she has been peppering away with such effect that Bowen was made to feel that it was his duty to give to the world the terms of this compact, and it now happens that Mr. Beecher has resolved to rush into print in defense of Tilton, for whom he entertains a high esteem, but does not wish it understood that he does this in any sense in his own vindication. But the deacons of his church don't admire so much self-abnegating reticence on the part of their pastor, and have, therefore, resolved on a thorough investigation.

For the sake of his profession and morality in general, we certainly hope this renowned preacher and man of talents may be able to prove his complete and perfect innocence. His conviction, owing to the position he has heretofore held in public esteem, would have a more generally demoralizing effect than any similar event in our social history. But things are mixed and have an ugly outlook, although we do not consider the Woodhull charges against Beecher as established facts, by any means.

Out of Spirit.

A skeptical contemporary sneeringly asks the Spiritualists how it happened that the fate of the Polaris expedition remained unknown for eighteen months, until intelligence was brought by purely human means. To which the obvious reply is that the mediums knew of it all along, but the knowledge put them too much out of spirit to tell it.

THE MODOCS.

The newspapers have been worrying themselves very much as to what is to be done with the captured Modocs, some claiming that they should be turned over to the civil authorities, and others that, being prisoners of war, the military can alone properly decide their fate. The Attorney-General at Washington settles the matter by deciding that all of those engaged in the Canby massacre are subject to a military court and must be executed, if found guilty, of which, of course, there is no doubt as regards a number of them, including Captain Jack. The remainder are to be dealt with by civil authority, some in Oregon, some in California; all of the tribe escaping hanging are to be scattered or sent to different portions of the country, so as to virtually exterminate the entire band. Captain Jack expects to be hanged, as do most of the others, except Schonchin, who thinks he will get off because Meacham did not die. He will be violently awakened from his delusion soon, as the court-martial is ordered at once, and the timbers are all on the ground to erect the scaffolds. General Davis had these prepared in the full intention of hanging some dozen of the Indians--those whom he knew to be guilty--without further ceremony, but the very evening this little operation was to be performed orders reached him from Washington to hold the captives for future action The reception of this order fell upon soldiers and citizens alike as being a great misfortune, since it involved a useless delay in the execution of a foregone conclusion and a consequent detention of so many soldiers and citizens in the Modoc country, and to no purpose. However, it is not likely they will be detained long, and it is safe to conclude the "Modoc war is ended."

WHAT AN OREGON GENERAL ACCOMPLISHED.

General Ross, of the Oregon Volunteers, reports to Governor Grover that he has closed the Modoc war and has a number of prisoners, whom he will place in irons. The Governor ordered him to deliver those who are under indictment for murder to the Sheriff of Jackson county; but about that time came an order from General Davis for him not to do anything of the kind; in effect, that the Governor of Oregon and the Sheriff of Jackson were really both fine men and that was a fine State, but the Webfeet were not yet an independent nation, and until they became so General Davis should insist that it was the United States at large, and not Oregon, that was "runnin' this 'ere war;" and while admitting that brave General Ross and his volunteers had conducted and fought it to a successful issue, the United States must stand on its reserved rights as to the preliminary disposition of the red prisoners. At the same time General Davis gave the Oregon Governor to understand that the Government would finally turn over enough prisoners for the Oregon Sheriff to hang to put him in fair practice, and at the same time give the whole Webfoot nation a good excuse for a big war dance. Of course it was to be understood that the hangings were to take place before anybody could be exposed by Indian testimony in reservation swindles, the cause of the outbreak and the like. But the query is--What would have become of us if it hadn't been for General Ross and the Oregon Volunteers?

Borax Lands

It is ruled by the U. S. Land Commissioner that asphaltum and borax lands may be taken up under the mineral land law of 1872. Accordingly such lands cannot be patented in larger lots than twenty acres for any one individual, nor more than 160 by any one company or association.

Advantages of a Southern Route.

Col. Thos. A. Scott's recent report to the stockholders of the Texas-Pacific Railroad is voluminous. Speaking of the superiority of the southern over all other trans-continental routes, he says:

The data obtained from the surveys for the entire line across the continent show some remarkable features. Among them that the summits to be crossed are about thirty-two per cent. less than the summits on the existing Pacific roads; that the grade and curvatures will be about sixty-two per cent. less; that the climate through which the road is located is so favorable for its maintenance and operation, that no train need ever be delayed from snow or other obstructions, now sources of expense and delay on the more northern route; that an abundance of excellent coal for fuel is accessible at a number of points along the road; that the entire rail transportation between the waters of the Pacific and New Orleans will be less than 1,800 miles, and with accessible ports in Texas less than 1,500 miles, thus forming a route across the continent for international transportation a great deal shorter than now exists, or, perhaps can ever exist by any other line.

Pacific Coast Items.

In San Francisco it costs more to supply a family with water than with flour. So much for monopolies.

An improved steam wagon for agricultural purposes has been invented by Oliver A. Olstead, of Sebastopol, Sonoma county, Cal. It is capable of moving up a grade of one in twelve.

The Idaho mine (Grass Valley) has paid its regular dividend of $62,000 from the proceeds of a four weeks run.

The People's Party arrangement of California appears to have extended to Santa Barbara. Four hundred citizens and taxpayers of both political parties have signed a call for a convention for the 12th of July to nominate candidates for county offices, without regard to party, and naming leading citizens--Republicans and Democrats--as delegates.

Farmers are beginning to harvest crops in Santa Barbara and Ventura counties, and report the crops to be fully up to the average.

A returned Californian states that a party of fifteen travelers, bound to the Pacific coast, stopped at Salt Lake City and determined to return East, in consequence of reports of the prevalence of leprosy in California.

The Grand and Occidental Hotels, San Francisco, pay the Spring Valley Water Company each from $500 to $600 per month for the use of water; the Lick House from $300 to $350, and the Cosmopolitan from $300 to $400. It costs something to keep hotel.

Wirt Hopkins has been appointed Mint Assayer at Carson City.

A car containing 30,000 live fish is on the way from Massachusetts to this State. These young fish, consisting of trout, bass, pickerel, perch, and shad, are to stock the California rivers.

There was no blow at Whitewater Station on the La Paz road last Monday. Stewart Wall says it is the first day in four months that the wind has lulled a minute at that point.

Bear Valley at this season of the year is one of the prettiest in the State. It is about twelve miles in length by from one to four in width, and the grass upon which thousands of stock subsist during the Summer, is now twelve inches high.

Schyff, Brooks & McCay started Tuesday for the Death Valley country. They are interested in the Chloride ledge and will join the party now at work. At present ten men are taking out ore. The rock brought in assayed from twelve hundred to three thousand dollars per ton.—Guardian, June 7.

Mining Frauds.

One J. W. Haskins, of Vallejo, has been arrested for alleged frauds in Utah mines. A Salt Lake dispatch, of June 7th, has this to say concerning the arrest and matters connected therewith:

The interest in the J. W. Haskins affair has increased with the publication, in The Herald of this morning, of a card from ex-District Attorney G. C. Bates. A morning paper having connected his name with the case, Bates states that he acted in his official capacity in the matter between Wall and Haskins, but that if both parties will consent, he will "a tale unfold" that will astonish the people of Utah and of the United States. This is said by those who claim to know to refer to that of the bribery of certain prominent Federal officials who were connected with the case in a certain legal capacity. Rich developments are loooked for, and everybody is on the qui vive. To-morrow morning Colonel Enos A. Wall, the party proceeding against Haskins, will make public a communication giving Bates permission to publish his statement and calling upon him to rise and explain. If Haskins does the same the ball will open, and then stand from under.

Mysterious Disappearance.

Last month a party of two Indians and a white man left Indian Wells for the purpose of prospecting in the vicinity of Slate Range. The Indians have been seen since with the effects of the man, and don't know anything about him. Scalps are in demand.—Havilah Miner, June 7.

Quit Work.

We understand that the present warm weather, by preventing the borates from crystalizing or rising to the surface of the ground, has compelled a suspension of work on the borax marshes about Columbus.

Stokes.

The Court of Appeals of New York, having confirmed the judgment of the Supreme Court in the Stokes case, Stokes' last hope is gone, and he will now be remanded into the hands of the hangman.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Cerro Gordo.

The water question is assuming a serious phase among the residents on the hill, the article growing scarcer and harder to get as the Summer advances. The cost of water per day for running Belshaw & Beaudry's furnaces and the Union mine amounts to $120 for each set of works, the price of the article ranging from 5 to 8¾ cents per gallon. The Duval spring, distant 4 miles from camp, furnishes about all that is required for the boilers, that for drinking and domestic uses coming from the Crohn and the Belshaw & Beaudry springs, distant some 6 miles from camp. About 60 pack mules are employed in the business, and the town pays nearly $6,000 per month for the commodity. Although the American Hotel at Cerro Gordo pays $300 per month for water, the price for board at that house is no greater than that charged by hotels in the valley, where the fluid is free and plentiful. The big Water Company, which for a time promised to remedy this state of affairs, has gone entirely out of the control of the originator—one Bourchey—and is now in the hands of a responsible Los Angeles company, headed by Temple and others; but they seem beset by a serious disagreement with an employe which somehow knocks the bottom—i. e. the springs—out of their operations. Their enterprise once inaugurated, Cerro Gordo would boom with life, money and excitement, support a population of ten times the present number, necessitate the erection of more furnaces, and the water men would indeed have a "big thing."

Candidates.

Our advertising columns this week present another batch of candidates for immolation on the political altar, at least so far as the same is to be determined by the County Conventions soon to assemble. One of them privately informs us that, notwithstanding the assumptions of certain politicians to the contrary, his name is S. V., or "Sher," Stevens, and not Henry Stevens. The one is a candidate for the Legislature, the other for the Sheriffalty; and neither wants it understood that he is a candidate for both these positions, and the said politicians will therefore please make the proper distinction between t'other and which. As for the other victims—one of them being intimately associated with this paper, and the other a gentleman of prominence throughout the county and district—we shall leave them to toot their own horns, merely remarking that both County Conventions in naming their candidates for the Legislature, have other than mere personal considerations which should govern in making their selections, and will do well not to jump at conclusions too hastily. It is better to be defeated in a good cause than to win in a bad one.

An Icicle.

Believing that this item will be refreshing these hot days, we mention the fact that Harry Clausen presented us the other day with a portion of an icicle, which as it hung in one of the Silver Sprout tunnels was six feet in length and eighteen inches in diameter, clear and pure as ever ice was made. Such a chunk of ice as that has about a 20-horse cooling power, or sufficient to modify 500 cock tails and juleps.

Kearsarge.

We understand that the Kearsarge property is now in the hands of J. Frank of San Francisco, a heavy capitalist but not a mining man, and that there is a prospect of its sale to a good company. We do not believe that there is a thorough mining expert in existence who will not, after a fair, careful examination, pronounce the property to be the best "plant" now open for purchase.

Returned.

Capt. Wingard, Superintendent of the Silver Sprout Company, has arrived here, and subject to the decision of certain prominent mining men, soon to arrive, hopes to inaugurate some operations looking to the development of that valuable mining property. The Captain certainly has the best wishes of this entire community for his perfect success in his designs.

Arrived.

Mrs. McGowan, wife of Capt. McGowan, Co. "D," 12th Infantry, arrived here the present week. Capt. McGowan with his command is expected here in a very few days to relieve Capt. Dove and his detachment of Co. "B" at Camp Independence.

Ball at Lone Pine.

The Mexican population are making extensive preparations for a fine ball to take place at Mexican Hall, Lone Pine June 24. Everybody is invited to attend. See notice. Rafael Romo will prepare the supper.

Ready.

Col. Stevens has his sawmill, on the head of Cottonwood Creek, ready for turning out lumber. The work of constructing the long flume can now begin and will no doubt be pushed through as rapidly as possible.

To Celebrate.

Round Valley folks are arranging for a big pic-nic and dance at Goodridge's Grove, a charming spot in the upper part of that beautiful valley, on the coming Fourth.

Arm Broken.

Billy Lee, a young boy living at the Inyo House, was thrown from a horse a day or two since, causing him a broken arm.

The Democratic County Central Committee.

Pursuant to published call of the Chairman, the County Democratic Central Committee met in Independence on Monday, June 9th, at 2 P. M. Members present: A. N. Bell, Chairman, S. P. Moffat, James E. Parker, T. K. Hutchison, (by R. B. Snelling, proxy,) J. L. Porter, (by John Lentell, proxy,) John Laird, (by John B. White, proxy,) Henry M. Isaacs, Secretary. The meeting having been called to order, the following business was transacted:

It was moved and carried that the 28th day of June, 1873, be the day for holding the primaries, at the usual polling places in the county, for the election of delegates to attend the County Convention.

James E. Parker moved that the primaries be held on the "Crawford County plan," but upon it being put to a vote of the Committee, it was decided to hold the primaries in the usual style.

Moved and carried that the County Democratic Convention be held at the Court House, in Independence, on Wednesday, July 2, 1873.

The following resolutions were then adopted:

Resolved, That no person be allowed to vote at the primary election unless he is an elector.

Resolved, That the officers of the several precincts are hereby instructed not to receive the vote of any known Republican at the primary election.

Test—Do you solemnly promise that you will support the ticket to be nominated by the Democratic County Convention to be held on Wednesday, July 2, 1873, at the town of Independence?

Following is the apportionment of delegates to the County Convention:

Cerro Gordo, 6; Swansea, 1; Lone Pine, 5; Independence, 5; Fish Springs, 2; Big Pine, 3; Bishop Creek, 5; Round Valley, 2. Total, 29.

Appointment of officers of the election: For Cerro Gordo—Inspector, W. L. Hunter; Judge, Daniel Macarter. For Swansea—Inspector—; Judge—. For Lone Pine—Inspector, F. P. Ball; Judge, W. J. Covington. For Independence—Inspector, John Lentell; Judge, Wm. B. Lake. For Fish Springs—Inspector, J. G. Bonds; Judge, D. B. Curtis. For Big Pine—Inspector, B Blackmore; Judge, Richard Hessian. For Bishop Creek—Inspector, John L. Bourland; Judge, I. P. Yaney. For Round Valley—Inspector, D. Olds; Judge, Wm. Horton.

Moved to adjourn, subject to the call of the Chairman of the Committee.

A. N. BELL, Chairman.
HENRY M. ISAACS, Secretary.

A Mercantile Failure.

A man in Rhode Island recently died leaving an immense fortune. It is said of him that one night, after having shut up his store, he re-opened it to give a little girl a spool of thread. The incident took wind and gave him a great run, and he died rich. A Lone Pine merchant (this is what a friend tell us) having seen the above item in a newspaper, determined that he, too, would make a fortune selling thread to little girls. He bought a large stock of thread; kept his store locked up, and stood on the stoop in front of his store, and every time he saw a little girl he said, "Little girl, let me re-open my store for you and sell you a spool of thread. I wan't to die rich like the good man of Rhode Island." The chances are that the good merchant won't reap much, for the little girls have answered so far "that they don't sow.'" There's a stock of thread for sale in Lone Pine, and a disappointed merchant. And as he can't find any little girls to sew with thread, he has gone to sowing tares himself. He's at work on a big "tare" now, and wants to be an officer and with the officers stand.

Judge Sheppard.

As most of our readers are aware, Judge Hannah was disqualified from trying the Peerson and Gallardo case by reason of his being a party in interest, therefore the gentleman whose name heads this article, the County Judge of Tulare, was called upon to preside, in accordance with directions from the Governor. This he has done, and in a manner highly creditable to himself. His rulings were decisive, to the point and, according to the opinions of those who ought to know, were based on sound principles of law. Both as a gentleman and in his judicial capacity, Judge Sheppard has gained great favor in the opinions of all with whom he has come in contact here, and it gives us pleasure to bear witness of the fact. He starts homeward Monday next.

Personal.

Superintendent A. Wingard, of the Silver Sprout and Virginia Consolidated series of mines, arrived here this week, and will doubtless resume active operations upon his companies' extensive and valuable property. J. S. Rothschild, the principal and San Francisco member of the well known house of J. S. Rothschild & Co., of this place, also reached our town a day or two ago. We believe he intends remaining for some weeks.

Temporary Departure.

Mr. Addis, the artist, has located his gallery temporarily at Big Pine, but unless assured in advance of sufficient business at other points to justify his attention in the meantime, he proposes to return here and continue business during the first few days of July, and then to return to Los Angeles. Mr. Addis is a good artist, and succeeds very often in making fair looking pictures from mighty shabby originals.

On Trial.

Judge Sheppard, County Judge of Tulare, has finally disposed of Peter Peerson's perjury case. Gallardo (also under indictment), by permission of his Honor, appeared as counsel for defendant against District-Attorney Van Decar, and Bennett & Gregg for the prosecution. A special venire of forty was issued and served by Coroner Lank—the Sheriff being a party in interest, and therefore felt himself unqualified for the duty of summonsing a special jury. The jury was completed on Wednesday and the case put on trial, lasting until Friday noon, when it was given to the jury, which in a very few minutes returned a verdict of "not guilty." This, of course, carries the Gallardo case with it. Though we were not present during the trial, we are justified in saying that this verdict was based wholly on technical grounds, in this, that the copy of the complaint from the Sixth District Court was fatally defective in not having been compared with the original, as the Code directs when such copy is to be used as evidence. The result is, both of these late prisoners go forth legally purged of perjury.

Going East.

We were requested not to make mention of the fact that on Monday next Jas. P. M. Perham, Thomas May, George Shedd, and J. S. Brown start out for an Eastern trip, but as Lokel items is conducting this department on his own hook, he will impart the information confidentially with the hope that his readers will keep dark about it. The three first named are natives of the Green Mountain State, and will of course fetch up in that commonwealth, while the latter expects to land in Canada. They all want THE INYO regularly forwarded to them during their stay, but it's curious to notice the fact that Jim is particularly anxious that this number shouldn't precede him, and Tom is solicitous that his advertisement be discontinued while the paper may be seen by his folks "way down in Vairmount." But the fellows are about as good men as any country can produce, and all Inyo will wish them a jolly journey and lots of fun during their respite from business.

More Trouble Ahead.

F. F. Gallardo, Esq., is a living realization of the fact that misfortunes don't come singly; but it is possible he don't look upon his little troubles as misfortunes, but rather the reverse. He no sooner gets a single sniff of the air of freedom, the best this sage brush region affords, after a close confinement of several months, ere the myrmidons of the law snatch him again, and now he is to be bundled off to the capital of the State, as party defendant in another libel suit. "Them as lives by the sword must expect to get punctured," but this possibility don't worry the subject of these remarks, so long as board and traveling expenses come free, and he gets off body whole from the "uncivilized barbarians" out here, instead of being "made away with," according to the usual custom of our officers, as he, in fear and trembling, swore when remanded here for his late trial. F. F. Gallardo is a powerful nice man for the Sacramento reporters, et. als.

Remit.

Parties knowing themselves indebted to THE INDEPENDENT concern will oblige the publishers by settling immediately. This request is not made merely to fill space.

Milling Property for Sale.

Miners and business men will learn of an excellent opportunity to get into a paying operation by consulting the advertisement of C. H. Aaron, of Benton, elsewhere.

Religious.

Rev. E. H. Orne will preach to-morrow in the School House, at the usual hour.

A New Origin for the Word "Hoodlum."

In Mr. Nathan Porter's argument yesterday, before the committee appointed to investigate the management of the Deaf, Dumb and Blind Asylum, he gave the following derivation of the word "hoodlum:" When I was connected with the Industrial School, I remember there were eight, ten or a dozen small boys all corralled and committed at the same time, and brought to the Industrial School. The leader of them gave us to understand how they had subsisted, and where they made their rendezvous. It was in a steamboat boiler, down on one of the wharves, that had an upright cylinder down which they went and got into it. There they slept at night, there they lived a long time. Their hiding place was not known, and the term came from these boys, "huddling" in that boiler and calling themselves "huddlers," and from that has come the term "hoodlum." Before they had got to the school some had got to calling each other "hoodlums," and the term became general among the clique in which they circulated.—S. F. Alta, May 8.

Insane Woman.

The insane woman, of Sheriff Swift's energetic search for whom we made mention in yesterday's Appeal, was taken into custody by him and put in jail. Her name is Duignan, and she has lately been living at Lone Pine or somewhere in that part of the world, and has been afflicted with certain domestic troubles which brought on this insanity. She is quite mad; refuses nourishment; and sees angels and demons, and thinks there is a constant conspiracy against her life. The sheriff telegraphed to her relatives in Virginia yesterday afternoon, and we understand that her father came down on the evening train to see her. We are told that she has three or four young children.—Carson Appeal, May 29.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE, FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

Vinegar Bitters.

No Person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittant Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most Wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

PRIVATE HOSPITAL.

THE SUBSCRIBER TAKES PLEASURE IN announcing to the people of Inyo county that he has purchased and fitted up as a hospital the Beaudry Hotel Building, adjoining the military post at Camp Independence. All the adobes have been removed and their place applied with lumber; the grounds are handsomely laid out with shade trees and clover, and have a pure running stream of mountain water.

There is an excellent bath room and dispensary attached. One room is set aside for the county's sick, leaving ample room for private patients. The Northern Stage Line passes the door, and the place is easy of access from the town of Independence. The charges for board and lodging do not exceed those of any hotel or boarding house, offering equal accommodations, and the establishment has the advantage of having competent help and medical advice always at hand, being close by the house of the post surgeon at the camp.

Those Carpets.

Imitations of "the Danbury Lunatic" are in order, and The Utica Herald goes after it as follows:

The annual ceremony of taking up and whipping and putting down carpets is upon us. It is one of the ills which flesh is heir to, and cannot be avoided. You go home some pleasant Spring day at peace with the world, and find the baby with a clean face and get your favorite pudding for dinner. Then your wife tells you how much younger you are looking, and says she really hopes she can turn that walking dress she wore last Fall, and save the expense of a new suit, and then she asks you if you can't just help her about taking up the carpet. If you are a fool—and you generally are by that time—you tell her of course you can, just as well as well as not. Then she gets a saucer for the tacks, and she stands and holds it, and you get the claw and get down on your knees and begin to help her. You feel quite economical about the first three tacks, and take them out carefully and put them in the saucer. Your wife is good about holding the saucer, and beguiles you with an interesting story about how your neighbor's little boy is not expected to live till morning. Then you come to the tack with a crooked head, and you get the claw under it, and the head comes off, and the leather comes off, and as it won't do to leave the tack in the floor, because it will tear the carpet when it is put down again, you go to work and skin your knuckles and get a sliver under your thumb nail, and tell your wife to shut up about that everlasting boy, and make up your mind that it doesn't make any difference about that tack, and so you begin on the corner where the carpet is doubled two or three times, and has been nailed down with a shingle nail. You don't care a continental about saving the nail, because you find that it is not a good time for the practice of economy; but you do feel a little hurt when both clauses break off the claw, and the nail does not budge a peg. Then your manhood asserts itself, and you rise in your might, and throw the carpet claw at the dog, and get hold of the carpet with both hands, and the air is full of dust and flying tacks, and there is a fringe of carpet yarn all along by the mop board, and the baby cries and the cat goes anywhere, anywhere in the world, and your wife says you ought to be ashamed to talk so, but the carpet comes up.

Then you lift one side of the stove, and your wife tries to get the carpet from under it, but can't because you are standing on it. So you try a new hold, and just after your back breaks the carpet is clear. You are not through yet. Your wife don't tell you any little stories, but she gets your old coat and hangs it on to you, and smothers you with that carpet, and opens the back door and shoves you out, but intimates that the carpet needs whipping. When you hang the tormenting thing across the clothes line the wrong way, and get it righted, and have it slide off into the mud, and hang it up again, and get half a pint of dust and three broken tacks snapped out of the northwest corner into your mouth by the wind you make some observations which you neglected to make while in the house. Then you hunt up a stick and go for that carpet. The first blow hides the sun and all the fair face of nature behind a cloud of dust, and right in the center of that cloud, with the wind square in your face, no matter how you stand, you wield that cudgel until both hands are blistered and the milk of human kindness curdles in your bosom.

You can whip the carpet a longer or shorter period, according to the size of your mad; it don't make any difference to the carpet, it is just as dusty and fuzzy and generally disagreeable after you have whipped it two hours as it was when you commenced. Then you bundle it up, with one corner dragging, and stumble into the house, and have more trouble with the stove, and fail to find any way of using the carpet stretcher while you stand on the carpet, and fail to find any place to stand off from the carpet, and you get on your knees again while your wife holds the carpet, and with blind confidence hands you broken tacks, crooked tacks, tacks with no points, tacks with no leathers, tacks with the biggest end at the point.

Finally the carpet is down, and the baby comes back, and the cat comes back, and the dog comes back, and your wife smiles sweetly and says she is glad that job is off her mind. As it is too late to do anything else, you sit by the fire and smoke, with the inner consciousness that you are the meanest man in America. The next day you hear your wife tell a friend that she is so tired, she took up and put down that great, heavy carpet yesterday.

A Doctor's Diary.

A pocket diary has been picked up in the street, and is now in the finder's possession, awaiting its owner. From the following extracts it appears the loser was a medical man:

"Kase 230, Mary An Perkins. Bisnes, washerwoman. Sicknes in her hed. Fisik, some blue pills a soaperfik, age 52. Ped me one dollar, 1 kuarter bogus, mind get good kuarter and make her take mo fisik.

"Kase 231, Tummes Krinks. Bisnes, Nirishman. Lives with Paddy Molony whot keeps a dray—sickness, dig in the ribbs and tow black eys. Fisik to drink my mixter twice a day of sasiperily b er and jessup, and fish ile, with asifedity to make it taste fisiky. Rubbed his face with pork grease liniment, aged 29 years of age. Drinked the mixter and wuddn' pay me bekase it tasted nasty, but the mixter'll work his innards, I reckon.

"Kase 232, Old Misses Bogus. Aint got no bisines, but plenty of muney. Sickness awl a humbug. Gav her some of my celibrated 'Dipsifferikon,' which she sed drank like cold tee—wich it was too. Must put stuff in it to make her feel sick and bad. The old wuman has got the roks."—Exchange.

"Cheek."

The "cheek" of the Indian Ring thieves is as rocky as the sides of Granite Mountain. When they are caught in the act of letting a fat contract they invariably cry out, "Oh! the figures are lower than those which obtained under the old regime." Well, what of that? Has not the cost of labor, transportation, of everything, in fact, fallen greatly in the last ten years? But this is not where most of the profit comes in. They advertise for wagon loads of scap, and other articles which Indians never use; they feed thousands on paper, and in this and other ways make a big "pot," which is divided among the sanctimonious scoundrels.

To break up this business, Government had best empower military officers to inspect the stores and be present at every issue to Indians. Of course there are some honest agents sent out by the Churches, but it is a wonder to us how such men support themselves on a salary of $1,500 a year, and not infrequently these men have families dependent upon them.—Arizona Miner.

None in Theirs.

The Puget Sound Courier says: On the 1st of the month the Indians on the Straits of Fuca had a grand "potlatch" a few miles below Port Angeles. Some trader, thinking to make a few dollars, took across a barrel of whisky to sell to the Indians. No sooner was his purpose discovered, however, than two of the principal Indians took axes and stove in the head of the barrel, emptying the contents out upon the ground. This is a case almost unparalleled in Indian history, for, generally, they are anxious to get all the fire-water possible. The Indians, by way of encouragement, were promoted to the rank of Chief and Marshal, by Supt. Milroy.

—There is a story of a doctor who went to settle in a village out west, and on the first night of his arrival was sent for to attend a sick child. He looked at the little sufferer very attentively, and then delivered this oracular opinion: "This hyar babe's got the small-pox, and I ain't posted on postulues. We must approach this case by circular treatment. You give this little cuss this draught. That'll set him into fits. Then send for me, I graduated on fits."

—The Daily Graphic has an admirable cartoon representing Uncle Sam as a sick man, with all the railroad monopolists—Vanderbilt, Drew, Tom Scott and others, as doctors. They have placed leeches (locomotives) on the poor man stomach and are standing around waiting the result. Dr. Vanderbilt says: "Well, gentlemen, shall we bleed him any more?" The other doctors—"Oh, yes, by all means; bleed him as long as he can afford to pay for leeches!"

—A Tennessee paper of a recent date states that a locomotive struck the wagon of a farmer in that State, and himself, wife and child were deposited on the other side of the fence, somewhat hurt in spirit, but not in body. The woman's first act was to knock John down for running into the locomotive, and to shut up both eyes for insisting that he didn't.

—A Philidelphia belle has been counting her fans, and finds that she has six hundred and five, all presented by her admirers.

—They call it "naivete" in Scranton when a young lady, while waiting for ice-cream, playfully places a spittoon on the table.

—A Chicago paper tells of a couple who married in that city after three hours' acquaintance, but does not explain why they waited so long.

Commissioner Meacham.

Mr. A. B. Meacham, the Modoc Peace Commissioner, arrived here last night, and to-day gave a full account of the troubles with the Modocs to Secretary Delano and Commissioner Smith. He pronounced as untrue, in the most unqualified terms, the story told by Capt Jack to Gen. Davis, that he did not shoot Gen. Canby. Commissioner Meacham says that there is no doubt that the assassination was planned by Capt. Jack, as it was executed by him. Mr. Meacham has not yet filed a written report, but will do so in a day or two.—Washington dispatch of June 13.

END OF VOLUME III.

With the present number closes the third year, Volume III, of THE INYO INDEPENDENT. With the issue following, June 28th, a new volume commences, in order to obtain which it will be necessary for all those whose subscriptions expire with this number to either forward their orders accompanied, in all cases where practicable, by the cash to this office, or leave the same with our authorized local agents. Of the paper and its prospects we will take occasion to speak in our next, and the promises we may make relative thereto will depend somewhat upon the number of renewals, etc., ordered in the meantime.

Rumored Death of Pope Pius IX.

The New York Graphic of June 12th publishes an extract from a private letter dated Rome, May 15th, which tells of a rumor prevalent in that city that Pope Pius IX died some days previous, and that his place is filled by an old and astute priest, Abbate Minati. The story goes that when the news of the Pope's fatal illness was published, the Cardinals hastened to the Vatican to take in the condition of affairs. They found the situation an exceedingly critical one for the church. It seemed to them that nothing could be more inopportune than the death of the Pope and the election of his successor at this moment, so they determined upon a stroke of the most daring and astonishing character. There was a priest of the Order of Bendictines, Abbate Minati, who bore a striking resemblance to Pius IX; accordingly they determined that Father Minati, in the event of the Pope's death, should enact his part. The Pope died, but instead of their announcing the fact to the public, they informed the world that the Holy Father was getting better, and finally that he was quite well again, the fact being that the remains of Pius IX were hidden away in some secret recesses of the Vatican cellars, and that Abbate Minati quietly stepped into his place.

Senator Mitchell.

The Senator from Oregon, John H. Mitchell, has recently become the object of some very damaging charges. He was accused of abandoning his wife and child in Pennsylvania to the cold charities of the world, and of swindling his law partner before he came to Oregon some thirteen years ago, where he has been known as John H. Mitchell, instead of his true name, which is John Mitchell Hippell. The charge of abandoning his wife he, in a lengthy card, admits to be true, but claims that he had good and sufficient cause for doing so, and also for transposing his name. He proves in the same card, by the affidavits of his former law partner and others in Pennsylvania, that the allegations against him of swindling and of having been a dishonest man generally, are wholly and entirely without foundation or truth, and to that extent proves that he has done no wrong. He admits that he committed a great weakness in the matter of his name, but denies that it is in any sense criminal.

Still They Come.

Over 2,000 Chinamen arrived in San Francisco harbor, June 13th, on the steamers Alaska and Cyphrenes. It is likely these Celestials will be much struck with the warmth of their reception before reaching their respective hotels, after they land from the steamers. Brickbats and "sich" they can stand very well, but the philippics of The Chronicle is what will bear them to the earth. Some leading Chinamen have sent to China for a million of type with which to publish a China paper in San Francisco, so as to inform intelligent Celestials what The Chronicle really does say.

Way Up.

The San Francisco Chronicle is responsible for the statement that "Mr. Gorham recently informed a gentleman at the Parker House, in Boston, that the time would yet come when the Chinese would be enfranchised, and when they would select the Senator from California, and that he would bide his time."

Thanks.

Hon. S. O. Houghton has placed us under real obligations for a large number of public documents, among which are ten volumes of The Congressional Globe, finely bound, and a most valuable addition to any library.

REDEEMED THEMSELVES.

The way things were turning out the Oregon Volunteers were fearful they would have to go home without having an opportunity to display any of their ferocious instincts, but after they had actually started, a most splendid opportunity was presented to them to maintain their caste by proving that the Modocs were not the most treacherous and savage, even though they were much the braver. There was a lot of Indian captives—four braves, unarmed and crippled, and seven women and children, also without arms—being hauled in a wagon to Gen. Davis' headquarters. These were met by the brave Oregonians, who murdered the four braves and wounded one of the squaws. Thanking heaven that such a splendid chance had fallen to their lot, just at the last moment to redeem themselves, without a particle of personal danger, they done the foul deed and went on their way rejoicing. Owing to the fact that Gen. Davis thought proper to issue an order for the arrest of the murderers, the Oregon General, Ross, and his volunteers had to defer their scalp-dance over this achievment until after they reached their own native wilds. It was very wrong to compel them to defer this dance, since it was the first chance they had had to howl over any dead Indians of theirs since the war began. They would have killed some before, but there was always so many risks to be taken they didn't think it would pay, until Fairchild came along with his wagon-load of captives.

In view of this transaction and of the embittered feeling of the Oregonians generally towards the Modocs, Gen. Davis sensibly enough concludes that no portion of the captives should be turned over for trial by such people. In justice, however, it must be stated that Gen. Ross denies that it was his men that done the murder, but nobody believes him for all that. The treachery of the Indians themselves sinks below that of these cowardly whites. If the one should be punished by hanging, the other, when brought home to the proper parties, is even more deserving the same.

Results of the Polaris Investigation.

Advices from Washington of June 12th are that the Secretary of the Navy will show first, that Capt. Hall died a natural death; second, that the parting from the Polaris by Capt. Tyron and his men was purely accidental, and that no blame on this account is attached to Capt. Buddington; third, that to a great extent the objects of the expedition were accomplished before the death of Capt. Hall—that is, that he reached a point of latitude not heretofore attained by any Arctic expedition; fourth, that the Polaris will return before the end of Summer. His examination of the survivors of the Polaris has been concluded and his report submitted. Capt. Buddington, or rather Sailing-Master Buddington, comes out of the investigation acquitted of any offense whatever against Capt. Hall or good discipline. The finding from all the testimony is that Hall died from natural causes, which relieves Buddington from the hideous suspicions cast upon him by the reported conversations of Esquimaux Joe and Hans. It is, moreover, given out that the Polaris may be expected home in September, and that the grand results of the expedition are considerable, if not quite satisfactory.

Personal.

Among the passengers arrived in Virginia City by this morning's train from Reno was J. M. Bailey, the "funny man" of The Danbury News. Although a comparatively young man, his humorous contributions to newspaper literature have already won for him an enviable notoriety. The perusal of one of his effusions is a sure antidote for dyspepsia or "the blues." As a faithful delineator of the joys and sorrows of human life he is peerless. We trust that during his brief stay in our midst our people will "deal with him kindly and cheer his young heart."—Gold Hill News, June 9.

We know of a quartette in Inyo who would rather have the acquaintance of "the Man of Danbury" than the friendship of the sagest philosopher in the world.

Rattlesnakes and Scorpions.

A Lava Bed correspondent tells this: Rattlesnakes and scorpions are becoming more numerous on the Peninsula every day, and the tuneful mosquitoes are getting together preparatory to a carnival of blood. Lieut. Bacon, happening into Assistant Surgeon Bently's tent, in the latter's absence, killed two large and active rattlesnakes, in a little depression near the head of the bed, where the reptiles had evidently spent the night. Scarcely a day elapses that a rattlesnake, and generally one with eight or ten rattles, is not killed in or about a tent, and yet the snake season is not fairly inaugurated. Last month we had storms of snow, hail, sleet, rain and gales of wind, which provoked the remark that this country was the one alluded to by the psalmist when he spoke of that beautiful land where "December is pleasant as May." But June has been calm and rather pleasant, the weather warm during the day and comfortably cool at night.

OUR MISTAKE.

A few weeks since, feeling a justifiable pique at the persistent refusal of our namesake in Tuolumne in refusing us an exchange, we made an allusion to it, which provokes the said namesake, The Tuolumne Independent, to come down on us like a thousand of brick. We are an orphan, and don't like to be called a "trans-montane neighbor," or any such hard names. But, on due investigation as to the matter of exchange, or what is of more importance, the apparent lack of courtesy, though due to a mutual misunderstanding, we find that our own unintentional oversight is the cause of the entire trouble, and the blame, for the most part, our own. When The Independent first made its appearance it was received by us with more than usual cordiality, and considered a very desirable addition to our exchange list. As such its name with a number of others—some fifty altogether—was, in full intent at least, placed in type in a galley of our mailing machine, by which all our papers are addressed for the postoffice. It now appears that we were in error as to the name of The Independent being placed there at all—a fact that might easily escape attention under the circumstances, especially in the exchange galley, which is rarely overhauled. A few numbers only of The Independent were received, and then ceased entirely, and in the course of time we naturally enough concluded that here was a melancholy case of unrequited love; but in the changes of the exchange list that subsequently took place we never knew to a certainty that the order to take this name out of the galley was not literally obeyed, nor that it could not have been, because as it now appears it was not there. The political relations held by the two counties made it desirable to have this exchange, and subsequently, with a written address, we made another effort, but without a response of any kind that we now recall, until the present time; hence these tears. In conclusion, we will simply inform The Tuolumne Independent that we have no "axes to grind" of any kind or description in which it can be of the least possible value, so far as we now know—we will add by way of a saving clause—except that as to news matters of public interest, and especially in a political canvas where there is mutual interest of the two counties. If this is satisfactory, say so; if not, don't waste any more of your valuable space in formal adieus.

Deny the Charge.

The press of Oregon, at least a portion of it, has taken the opportunity at once to denounce the assassins and express the belief that they do not belong to the Oregon Volunteers. This is honorable to them as men and as civilized beings. But the evidences are too strong, or at least the natural inferences from certain movements of that body of patriotic soldiers, to allow much doubt. How happens it that these bold soger boys never showed their patriotism until the danger was over? While our poor "boys in blue" were being slaughtered by the unseen foe, and to engage in the contest was to stand a very fair chance of getting one's hair lifted, where were those valorous web-feet military heroes? At home, out of the way of bullet and scalping-knife. But when the Modocs had been driven from their stronghold, most of them taken or killed, and there was really very little danger to apprehend, then for the first time we hear of the presence of those volunteers, and the only time, as far as the current history of the affair has reached us, they appear in the presence of the enemy, the Modocs unarmed and prisoners. Then the conduct of the officers and men of that valorous band of Oregon Volunteers was such that the defenceless conductor of the captive Indians was fully impressed with the belief that they meant mischief, and he hurried on. Directly he was pursued, accosted, headed off by disguised men, his life threatened, and the Indians butchered. Who but some of that crowd of men, valorous over prisoners only, did it? We hope they did not. If not, let it be shown that they did not.—S. F. Alta.

False News.

The news published by us last week, to the effect that Stokes had been denied a new trial, was an error, as will be seen by this New York dispatch of the 10th:

The Court of Appeals were unanimous in their opinion granting Stokes a new trial. There are two opinions written, one by Gardner and the other by Rappalle. The charge of the Court bill is held to be erroneous on the point that the law presumes murder from the fact of killing and calls on the prisoner to mitigate or justify. Also, there were errors in excluding proof of threats by deceased to kill the prisoner. Also, error in permitting Mrs. Morse to contradict Jennie Turner in collateral matter called out on the cross-examination of Jennie—namely, as to whether she left Mrs. Morse's against her wishes and because detectives were said to be after her soon after the homicide. There are other points discussed, but these are the principal ones.

And it also seems that the dispatch to private parties in Sacramento, and published in the Union, stating Victoria Woodhull had suddenly deceased, was another mistake. She didn't die at all, although she was pretty sick.

Pacific Coast Items.

The Interior Department has had for some time one of its officers in California investigating the Hardenbergh case. Cranston which was burnt with a dead Indian, who died of his wounds while on the march.

A Grave Charge.

Near the latter part of last month the Indians at San Carlos Agency, in Arizona, began a disturbance, in which they attempted to kill the Agent, Major Larrabee. In an endeavor to save the Agent's life, the officer in command, Lieut. Almy, was instantly killed by the Indians. Lieut. Almy was a young officer, renowned for his bravery and good qualities, and aside from the manner in which it occurred, his death is greatly lamented. Many of the Indians fled the reservation and have gone to the mountains. In commenting on the circumstances of the tragedy, The Arizona Miner gives place to the following:

The trouble and rivalry between Indian agents, spoken of in the foregoing, has never been alluded to in print. It is of a very grave nature, and will some day come out. At present all we can say concerning it is that it is publicly charged, and (to our knowledge) not denied, that Dr. Wilbur, one of the agents alluded to, upon learning that he was to be relieved by Major Larrabee, the present Agent, did use his influence with the Indians for the purpose of having them murder Major Larrabee and others, so that he (Wilbur) and his friends at Tucson could continue to grow rich by feeding and furnishing Indians. Of these facts we are told that Dr. Bendell, Superintendent of Indian Affairs, was cognizant, but for some reason he labored to suppress them.

Cerro Gordo Items.

We are indebted to a Cerro Gordo friend for these items: The hoisting works met with an accident last Friday which necessitated a suspension of work in hoisting ores for a few days. In bringing up a load the tub was run up too high, breaking the hoisting tackle and twisting the engine shaft so as to render it temporarily useless. The shaft is eight feet in length and six inches in diameter, and the strain was sufficient to bend it one and a half inches. Beaudry's furnace was shut down for the usual repairs, but the engine and smelting rooms are to be remodeled and cleaned up generally. Belshaw had also shut down on Wednesday of this week. In consequence of this enforced idleness large numbers of persons were leaving the hill, some for the fishing grounds, others on a pasear to other portions of the State. It is considered a fixed fact that the Water Company will commence active work on the 1st of July, and that the works will be in full operation by the 1st of September. This statement comes from a very reliable source, so we may soon look for piping times in Cerro Gordo ere the snow flies.

Removed.

P. Reddy, Esq., after Monday next, will be permanently located in his fine, new office near his residence. This is a model office, both in design and finish. The building is of the cottage order, containing four rooms, the office proper being 14x17 feet, with fireplace, bay-window, and front door opening on a short piazza in front of another room of nearly the same size, similarly fitted, except the front window, which is of plate glass. The inside finish is of varnished redwood, the floors of Oregon pine. The outside of the frame, which is of man-of-war strength, is covered with rustic siding, and altogether it will rank as a first rate structure. The contractor, Mr. Gerrish, has crowded the work through on this and the equally fine barn, some distance to the rear, at a most rapid rate, and he is certainly an energetic and most excellent workman. We like to note such evidences of material advance in taste and character of improvements in the county as here manifested by those of Mr. Reddy.

More Celebration.

This coming Fourth of July bids fair to receive the most elaborate celebration of any event whatever that has yet occurred in this county. Round Valley, at the northern end, is to have a big picnic, barbecue, regular exercises, and ball. This place is preparing for a grand blow-out, and in the best possible spirit extends a free invitation to all. Lone Pine, as will be observed by advertisment in this issue, is not going to be outdone by either of the others, and is making extensive preparations for the occasion. The Fourth of July has this peculiarity, that both the occasion and the day is big enough for all mankind to celebrate, with a surplus yet to spare, so we anticipate, and most assuredly hope, that everybody and every locality will make the most of it and have a most enjoyable time.

"Nadeau's Teams."

Mr. Nadeau has taken the Cerro Gordo bullion shipping contract for three years, and according to The Los Angeles Star, has purchased the eighty wagons that Mr. Belshaw has been fitting out, as mentioned by us three weeks since. This arrangement, of course, definitely settles the channel of the Inyo trade, and much to the advantage of Los Angeles, and not a little to that of this county, since it gives a perfect guarantee that hereafter we will not have such immense piles of bullion bars lying in useless idleness awaiting shipment. It will take Nadeau several months with all his teams to catch up to the furnaces, there being now at least 30,000 bars at the furnaces and lake.

Clearing Away the Rubbish.

Parties are busily engaged in removing the debris from the old Court House, among which is to be included the old jail. When this work is completed there will be a clear yard, though it is but small, in front of the new county building. The latter is now receiving the finishing touches. The furniture is not yet on hand, so it will likely be some weeks before the county officials are fairly domiciled in their splendid new offices.

Land Office Matters.

The Land Office has this week been removed from its temporary quarters in THE INDEPENDENT building to a well fitted office in May's building. Mr. Earl, having received his approved bonds as Register, has formally relieved Mr. Wilson Butler, than whom Uncle Samuel never had any better District Land Officer. Mr. Butler returns to Carson the coming week.

Wanted.

Business men in need of a competent clerk and book-keeper will do well to consult our new advertisements of this week. The advertiser is an excellent penman, and has a thorough understanding of "biz."

All About a Young Lady.

The question arose on our streets the other evening, whether a young man, not a member of the family, though intimately associated with them in business matters, should take the daughter and sister to the ball. The old man objected, as did also some half a dozen of the brothers. The discussion grew extremely warm, so that no phrases less emphatic than to call each other sons of female canine progenitors would begin to express the feelings of the parties in the argument. This mode of giving point to their remarks finally ceased to be satisfactory, so a resort to boots, sledge-hammers, old files and the like became necessary. One of the brothers thought to give the aspiring young man boot in advance of the trade, but in aiming a blow at him with a pair of them took bad aim and struck his own venerable sire on the snoot instead. This caused the old gentleman to boil over, and then came the scrap-iron, old files, and sledge-hammers. The party defendant drew a deringer and endeavored to maintain an armed neutrality, saying that if he was half cocked himself, he'd be "dod Roger'd if his pistol was, and he would shoot, cussed if he didn't, if the old cock didn't dry up." This produced a temporary Hitch in the "old cock's" operations, and there was no loss of blood, though there was considerable inquiry for revolvers for some time afterwards.

The Ygnacia.

Of late we have heard but little about this formerly somewhat noted Cerro Gordo mine, but now a friend informs us that work has been carried on in developing the mine and taking out ore for several months past. They have on the dump quite a large quantity of ore which would readily command $250 per ton, and the mine has improved to such an extent that the present owners value it at least six times its original cost. It belongs to the Diaz Bros. of Cerro Gordo and some San Francisco parties who, some two years since, sold it for $10,000 but subsequently took it back. The claim is 950 feet in length, and from all accounts we believe the Ygnacia is really a very valuable property. It was one of the first mines opened in Cerro Gordo, and has produced some of the finest carbonate ores of any in the district.

Another Big Run.

A week or two since we made mention of the unprecedented run of the Beaudry furnace, at Cerro Gordo—4,530 bars, during May. Now comes a report of the operations of Belshaw's for the 30 days run ending on the 12th instant, in which 4,580 bars were produced, without any special effort being made to surpass former runs. With increased knowledge resulting from experience, the furnaces have been steadily increasing the amount of ore run through per diem, and of course the profits in a like ratio. We remember when, three years ago, a run of 115 bars in 24 hours was pronounced prodigious; now 216 bars in the same time excites no special remark.

Wrongly Informed.

A Lida Valley correspondent tells us that The Reese River Reveille is wrongly informed in regard to George Chiles having shot himself. It is positive that he fired three shots at Scott and Duffee, and equally positive that after his own death his six-shooter had three shots remaining in it. Besides this conclusive evidence that he did not die by his own hand, the ball that was taken out of his body was from a pistol of smaller calibre than his own. The presumption is that he received his quietus from a small deringer.

To Enlarge.

Pending the result of the big Cerro Gordo mining suit are the proposed enlargement and extensive improvements of the Belshaw & Beaudry furnaces. For some time they have been preparing to more than double their producing capacity, by means of more powerful blowers and cupolas of three times the size of those now in use. It is to be hoped that the suit will not long delay these operations.

The Daily Again.

On Monday next, the Independence, Lone Pine and Cerro Gordo Stage Line will resume its daily trips, and will hereafter run stages each day, the same as before the alternate pony trips were started. The stages are running loaded each way, a circumstance very satisfactory to the numerous friends of Al. Briggs, the new proprietor of the line.

Gone Below.

Mr. L. F. Shepard, for a long time the efficient Superintendent of Belshaw's smelting works, has gone to San Francisco, and will probably turn up in connection with some Utah smelting operation. F. F. Gallardo, accompanied by Tom May as an escort, has gone to Sacramento, in response to an urgent invitation from that county.

The Mexican Ball.

The ball to take place in Lone Pine on the 24th instant, is designed to be a very fine affair, and as preparatory to the operations of the Fourth, is looked forward to by ball-goers with especial interest. Some new, and said to be very superior, musicians have been engaged for the occasion.

To Let.

The well known Orleans Hotel at Lone Pine is offered for sale or rent. The Orleans is considered among the very best hotel properties of Lone Pine, and with the right kind of a man to run it, would undoubtedly become a paying institution.

The Silver Sprout.

Pending some more important operations Superintendent Wingard has let a tunnel contract on the Silver Sprout, and work begins at once.

Mining Sales.

Deeds for the one-eighth interest in the following mining property have recently been filed in the Clerk's office: The "Bob Stewart" lode, Panimint District, by R. A. Jacobs, to Paladio; also, by and to the same, the "Mina Verde," the "Wonder of the World," the "Sunnyside," mill-sites and timber claims, for cost in the amount of $1,500 and other valuable considerations; from the Sheriff of Inyo county to P. Reddy, the Eclipse mill and mining property and appurtenances.

Discharged.

A short time since one M. B. Mullen, a soldier, was arrested on a charge of forgery, the amount involved being $3 50. Last Monday he was brought before Judge Hannah of the County Court on a writ of habeas corpus, and in the belief that no conviction by a jury would follow if placed on trial, the prisoner was discharged, though the charge was substantiated by his own admission.

Builder and Contractor.

We very cheerfully commend Mr. P. P. Gerrish, whose card will be found in another column, to parties anywhere in the county desiring anything in his line. He has abundantly proved his ability and energy as a good workman since his arrival here, as will be seen by taking a look at the several buildings, including the Court House, whereon he was boss mechanic or contractor.

The Big Pine Saw Mill.

Messrs. Stewart & McDonald, after a deal of hard work in removing this mill and overhauling it generally, have it now nearly ready for operations, but do not expect to begin turning out lumber for about two weeks yet.

Adjourned.

The County Court adjourned last Monday for the term.

A Balloon Journey to Europe.

The next wonder in ærial navigation is to be Prof. Wise's trip to Europe in a balloon. This daring balloon assentionist has made many trips through the air above the clouds, but on the next anniversary of our national independence he proposes to eclipse all previous ærial exploits, by navigating the ocean of space from Philadelphia to the English metropolis. If Mr. Wise executes his design, the Quaker City has in reserve one of the most astounding sensations of the age. The proposition of the Professor to make the transit of the second ocean in the world in a balloon will no doubt be considered foolhardy in the extreme, and the Professor be set down as anything but wise. Should the attempt prove a failure, and cost the daring navigator his life, he will be regarded as a silly dreamer, and will extort but little sympathy from the public; while on the other hand, if the experiment proves a success, his name, in the future, may find a niche in the temple of fame beside those of Franklin, Watts, Morse and others. Three days is the time in which the voyage is expected to be completed, making an average rate of speed of fifty miles an hour. Beneath the chamber of the balloon there will be an open platform for a balcony, and beneath that again one of the Francis metal life-boats, provided with sails, ores, implements, food and water, all of which will be ready at any instant for use. This life-boat will have four large air chambers, and will be provided with a cabin, in which the voyagers can be protected from the weather. By means of an ingenious contrivance, the center of gravity can be made beneath the bottom of the boat, thus rendering it impossible to be upset by the disturbance of the waters or by accident. There will be provisions for thirty days stored in life preservers. The result of this most daring undertaking will be looked forward to with more than ordinary interest.

Important Expedition.

Bearing a letter of introduction from a valued friend, came upon us yesterday Major W. D. Wheeler, who is conducting a portion of the work of Lieut. Geo. M. Wheeler's exploring, geographical and astronomical expedition. Lieut. Wheeler is in Denver, Col., and will take the field very soon from Santa Fe, New Mexico. A portion of the party is now at Green river, putting up initial monuments in blank, to be inscribed with the points of latitude and longitude. These monuments will be of stone, dressed smooth on two sides, with blanks denoting latitude and longitude as soon as these can be made out from the field notes. This is a very important work, and of more than ordinary practical importance. One will be at Green River, three at Ogden, one at Kelton, one at Winnemucca, one at Carlin, one at Battle Mountain, one at Virginia City, one at Fort Hall, one at Helena and one at Fort Ellis. Chief Astronomer Clark is here with Major Wheeler, and we believe this is to be headquarters for this arm of the expedition for the season. The Chief Topographer will shortly be here. An astronomical observatory is be erected in Ogden. It will be built on high ground on the south side of the river, commanding a fine view of the town and surrounding country. The building will be of brick, containing offices and a fine dome.—Salt Lake Endowment.

Compromised.

Dispatches were received here yesterday announcing a compromise between the Eureka Consolidated and Richmond. The details of the settlement have not yet reached us, and as to this part of the agreement the public, we presume, care but little. The main point is to know that matters have been satisfactorily adjusted between these two leading companies, and that both will now proceed to work unfettered their respective mines. There can be no question that this compromise will mark an era in the prosperous history of Eureka that will rebound to the benefit of all whose interests are identified with the future of the district.—Eureka Sentinel, June 11.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE, FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.

No Person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittant Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most Wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

PRIVATE HOSPITAL.

THE SUBSCRIBER TAKES PLEASURE IN announcing to the people of Inyo county that he has purchased and fitted up as a hospital the Beaudry Hotel Building, adjoining the military post at Camp Independence. All the adobes have been removed and their place applied with lumber; the grounds are handsomely laid out with shade trees and clover, and have a pure running stream of mountain water.

There is an excellent bath room and dispensary attached. One room is set aside for the county's sick, leaving ample room for private patients. The Northern Stage Line passes the door, and the place is easy of access from the town of Independence. The charges for board and lodging do not exceed those of any hotel or boarding house, offering equal accommodations, and the establishment has the advantage of having competent help and medical advice always at hand, being close by the house of the post surgeon at the camp.

Who Owns That Pig?

I do not like pork as an article of diet, but as a means of promoting an appetite I feel no hesitancy in recommending it.

Who owned the particular pig which promoted my appetite could never be found out. Every few days an insane man would be raving around with a hatchet, and a gun, and a dog, inquiring who owned that pig, and nothing was ever found out about it, excepting that the pig belonged to one of the neighbors. One of the neighbors ought to be ashamed of himself, whoever he is I never knew what that pig wanted around our house. He seemed to b looking for something: in the flower beds, among the potatoes, in the poultry yards, and once or twice he walked in at the front door. He was looking for something, and he found everything, I should think, except the cellar drain; but still he wore a sadly dissatisfied air. It finally occurred to me that the pig thought the fence ought to be fixed, and as I wanted to do something to satisfy him I went out the next morning and collected all the broken boards and things I could find and fixed the fence, and after it was all done the pig was following me toward the house for breakfast. I did not know where he got in, and he did not know, but I made up my mind that he must find the place. He was willing enough to look for it, and I chased him through the current bushes and over a table cloth spread out to bleach, and in among the dahlias, and over the onions and everywhere else, but he didn't find the hole he came in at, nor did I. However, I had an appetite for breakfast.

Then Maria came out and stood on the back steps, like a female Napoleon, and issued orders and proclamations and general directions with the rapidity of chain lightning, and, with a beautiful and implicit trust in Providence, threw fire bricks and coal shovels and sad irons and stove wrenches, and broken crockery with her left hand in every possible direction except where the pig was, and if her right hand knew what the left was doing it knew a pile more than I could keep track of. The pig upset a hen-coop and stepped on three chickens, and made a maniac of the old hen, who blamed me for the whole transaction, and acted accordingly, and then the pig got into the corn and refused to come out under any circumstances, although I had given up the idea of finding where he came in, and opened the gate and let down the bars Maria went into the house for some furniture to throw, and I tried to set the dog on the pig. The dog had learned to regard the pig as one of the family, and could not understand my allusions, and finally got out of patience and inserted a fine set of natural teeth in my left leg. He did not get the wrong pig by the ear, but it amounted to the same thing so far as I was concerned. Maria came out with a broom and explained the situation to the dog, and the dog went into the corn after the pig, and came back in thirty seconds a bankrupt community. I had appetite enough for a week. Finally I borrowed two boys from a neighbor, and the grocer's man, and we drove the pig out, after he had tramped down all the corn, and he made for a place in the picket fence where there had never been any hole, and just made one and got out. My appetite would have justified me in eating that pig, but circumstances wouldn't allow. There used to be some poetry about "Who is my neighbor?" and that's what I want to know—the neighbor who owns that pig.—Utica Herald Idiot.

Powerful Acting.

The little old theater at Albany, New York, has been the scene of many curious theatrical stories. On one occasion Edwin Forrest, the American tragedian, then a young man and more famous for his muscle than his genius, gave a tremendous display of really powerful acting. He was supposed to represent a Roman warrior, and to be attacked by six minions of a detested tyrant. At the rehearsal Mr. Forrest found great fault with the supers who condescended to play the minions. They were too tame. They didn't lay hold of him. They didn't go in as if it were a real fight. Mr. Forrest stormed and thr atened; the supers sulked and consulted. At length the captain of the supers inquired, in his local slang: "Yer want this to be a bully fight, eh?"

"I do," replied Forrest.

"All right," responded the captain, and the rehearsal quietly proceeded.

In the evening the little theater was crowded, and Mr. Forrest was enthusiastically received. When the fighting scene came on the great tragedian took the center of the stage, and the six minions entered rapidly and deployed in skirmishing order. At the cue, "Seize him!" one minion assumed a pugilistic attitude and struck a blow straight from the shoulder upon the prominent nose of the Roman hero; another raised him about six inches from the stage by a well directed kick, and the others made ready to rush in for a decisive tussle. For a moment Mr. Forrest stood astounded, his broad chest heaving with rage; his great eyes flashing fire; his sturdy legs planted like columns on the stage. Then came a few moments of powerful acting, at the end of which one super was seen sticking head foremost in the base drum in the orchestra, four were having their wounds dressed in the green room, and one finding himself in the flies, rushed out on the roof of the the theater and shouted "fire" at the top of his voice; while Mr. Forrest bowed his thanks pantingly to the applauding audience, who looked upon the whole affair as a part of the piece, and had "never seen Forrest act so splendidly."

The Local Editor.

The American Newspaper Reporter says: "The following is borrowed, and it is the best we ever had a local editor to lend us." And our Lokle items, after two or three years of sorrowful experience, finds so much affecting truth in it that he feels constrained to believe these few remarks are entirely personal to himself:

"If a man buys a new buggy, or if his cow can bawl three times without winking, the local is expected to proclaim it with a grand flourish. If he starts a two-penny business, his first thought is to bribe the local with a five cent cigar to write a five dollar puff. Indeed he thinks it is a mission of the local to make his fortune for him by 'free blowing.' He will take the local to one side and point out the superior qualities of a rat-terrier dog, and coolly ask him to 'give him a hoist.' He don't care anything about it, only Spriggins has a dog which he thinks is a buster, and some of 'em wanted his 'put in' just to 'take the conceit out of Spriggins.' Everybody wants to be 'put in,' they are the 'GREAT I AM,' but no one says, 'Here, local, put yourself inside this new suit of clothes,' or 'throw yourself outside of this oyster stew,' or 'stuff this watch into your pocket.' Oh no, of course not; that would cost something The shoe is on the other foot, you see The local is supposed to know everything about other people's business, and is expected to show up all the actors in every family broil in town If the vile tongue of scandal finds a victim, people wonder why he don't run about with his note book and gather up the vituperative bits of slander for his paper. If he steps into a billiard hall he is requested to make a note of the astonishing fact that Bill Tompkins has made a run of eleven points. When the minstrel troupe arrives in town, the agent immediately rushes into the printing office, and, calling for the local, he slips three or four tickets in his hand, and whispers, "Draw us a big house! Put it in strong!" and patting him patronizingly on the shoulder, the agent admits the inferiority of the troupe, but we are not to 'let on.' It is no sin for the local to lie. To please the lecturer the local is forced to sit two mortal hours to hear him through an insipid discourse so that he can 'write him up.' And so it goes. All are anxious to appear favorably in print, but few are willing to pay for it! The local's time is worth nothing, but to bother his head writing puffs for ambitious persons. It don't cost him anything to live. He never eats or drinks or travels, and money is of no use to him. Put it in! Put it in!"

That Unfortunate Boy.

When a boy is in haste to go somewhere on his own account is not exactly the time to send him elsewhere on your account. But a fond Danbury mother thought different. She wanted her boy to carry some things down stairs, when he thought he thought he ought to be out doors tickling the carman's horse. But he took the things. He put a mirror under one arm and a clock under the other. Then he took a chair in each hand and hung a pail of dishes around his neck, and filled his pockets with tumblers and started for the stairs. Just as he got to the top to commence the descent, the mirror slipped, and in an endeavor to recover it he lost his balance and went shooting down to the next floor, accompanied by all those articles, and making an earthquake at every bound. Coming up the stairs at the same time was the carman. He saw the danger and had sufficient presence of mind to shout: "Hey, you! go back!" But they boy did not hear him, apparently, for he kept right on, and by, the carman, leaving that unfortunate man to follow on his head. The cries and crash brought the rest of the family to the rescue, and the disconsolate youth was saturated with arnica and tears, contrary to the advice of the carman, who suggested that he be driven into the earth with a mallet.—Danbury Lunatic.

VOLUME FOUR.

Volume IV of THE INYO INDEPENDENT begins with this number. In calling attention to the fact we are constrained to speak retrospectively as well as indulge in some speculations concerning the future, but will do neither, further than to express our determination to follow, to the best of our ability, the course we have taken from the beginning—i. e., an honest, straightforward fight for the advancement and good of our WHOLE COUNTY, and every town, precinct and section therein. We are thankful for past patronage, and solicitous for an equal, united and greater support in the future.

A MISCONCEPTION.

We are told by the friends of the plaintiff in the big mining suit that our reference last week to the proposed enlargement of the Belshaw and Beaudry furnaces, was an effort to prejudice the case in their—the defendants'—favor. This is a clear misconception of the entire thing. We have no desire nor intention to prejudge or prejudice this case, if for no other reason that it would tend to produce the very result we and the public are most anxious to avoid—an indefinite delay in the final decision and a consequent detriment in the prosecution of what we may properly rank as our chief industry. Laying all personal considerations aside, we have deprecated the inauguration of this suit on these grounds alone. We want it to end as soon as possible, most assuredly, and we also want that party to win which has justice and right to back it, but we do not know nor pretend to know which that party may be, nor do we intend to convey any impression likely to militate against the rights of either. The item referred to was an allusion to an important project, freshly brought to our notice, that we knew was in contemplation before this suit was ever, possibly, thought of, and the suit itself was alluded to in that connection to explain the delay in its execution—that and nothing more.

The Sale of the Central Pacific.

The sale of the Huntingdon and Hopkins interest in the Central Pacific Railroad is so nearly consummated that the new Directors will assume control July 1. Huntingdon and Hopkins will retain one share each, and remain on the Board for the present. The new Board is as follows: Leland Stanford, President; D. O. Mills, Huntingdon, Hopkins, Cohen, Sharon and Reese, Directors. Many of the Nevada and California papers have been congratulating themselves in the belief that when Sharon and Mills become owners in this road a new order of management would obtain, and that a more liberal policy would be inaugurated. Such may be the result, but it will be observed that Standford is yet President, therefore we don't anticipate any material change for the better just yet awhile.

Lands Restored.

The Commissioner of Lands has ordered something near half a million of acres of land lying between San Jose and Gilroy restored to homestead and pre-emption entries. These lands were originally withdrawn in favor of the Central Pacific Railroad, afterward rejected from their grant, and then subsequently embraced in the Southern Pacific grant, but are now found, under the law of Congress of July 27, 1866, not to inure to that company, hence the present order. This tract includes some of the best land in the State, and, of course, if not already in possession of settlers, very soon will be.

Locating a Land Warrant.

A school land warrant is a very elastic sort of a document. It can be made to do duty in locating a claim to a fort, a mine worth five or six millions of dollars—the Keystone for instance—a meeting house, Indian reservation, mineral springs and what not.

The latest use noted is the locating of a school warrant on Camp Independence. A Lieut. McLaughlin, formerly stationed at that post, conceived that it would be a good thing to gobble up the entire reservation, storehouses, barracks and all the appurtenances of the post. He accordingly located a school land warrant thereon, and for some years has been pushing his claim. Surveyor-General Gardner has made application on behalf of the State, but really in behalf of McLaughlin, for 320 acres, or for Camp Independence. If the application is successful, McLaughlin will be set up for life. Some other adventurer might locate Goat Island or Alcatraz, and that without any discouraging prospects of ultimate success.—S. F. Bulletin.

LOCAL POLITICS.

To-day transpires the preliminary skirmishes of the pending big political fight—i. e., the primaries. Both the Democrats and Republicans are to elect delegates to their nominating Conventions, which meet respectively on the 2d and 3d of July. The central object in the list of officers to be elected this Fall is the Representative to the next Legislature, and if there ever was a time in the political history of this State when it was a matter of the first importance that the people should elect their own men to make laws for all and not for the few, it is now. It is not entirely a matter of partizanship between Republicans and Democrats that is to be considered, but the main question is: Shall we relinguish the political and financial destinies of this State solely to the monopolists and railroad politicians, or shall we maintain our rights as a People against the grasping efforts of the Few? If the people lose ground in this contest, they may lose that which can not be recovered short of a revolution. Money naturally tends to combine, and if the people allow its representatives to rule and make laws solely for their own aggrandizement, we may as well give up the ship—since no legitimate enterprises can possess attractions for capitalists so long as they can fatten upon extortions.

There is no room for doubt as to the views of the masses in regard to their duty in the question of the People vs. Monopolies, the recognized head and front of the latter being the railroad company. Against these corporations no great portion of the people at large have a simple factious opposition to offer them; on the contrary, so long as railroading is confined to its legitimate business, we are their most ardent supporters. But if such enterprises can not maintain themselves on this coast or elsewhere without arrogating, as they are doing, the right to dictate all the legislation of the country, then they become a curse instead of a blessing—and must be taught to know their place. At this day the Pacific railroad proposes not only to name the next United States Senator, but in the furherance of that and other schemes, they purpose naming even county and township officers.

They aim to make the railroad interest a grand and harmonious whole, and unless met and checked now and at once, such it will be. Every man not bowing down of his own volition will be forced down. We will not be permitted to select a Constable, if he be known to hold views averse to those of the great ruling power. This is a question of far more import than that of freights and fares, though that is the main point upon which the contest hinges. If, through a short sighted policy or lack of energy, we concede that the railroad companies are above the law in this respect, then we concede their superiority in every other. We must not only acquiesce in their extortions, but submit to the hogging schemes of their hungry followers. Why not? Where is to be our redress, when the executors of the law are the creatures of those in whose sole interest the laws are made?

It is a matter that we of this county ought to consider well in connection with our legislative nominations, now so soon to be made.

The Pioche Record.

After a long intermission, we are again in receipt of several copies of The Pioche Daily Record, now in the control of one of the former proprietors Holland, and our old friend "Uncle" John Booth, formerly of The Carson Register. In all truthfulness The Record has the healthiest financial looking run of mining notices and other advertisements of any paper that reaches this office. Well, Pioche, as a mining camp, can't be beat, and of course ought to, and does have, a newspaper to match.

A Big War Cloud.

According to Russell, the Vienna correspondent of The London Times, a general war in Europe is imminent Bismarck is very suspicious of President M'Mahon, who, it is believed, is preparing to strike for the recovery of Alsace and Lorraine. Germany, Austria and France are all arming and drilling, and the Russian Bear is uttering some significant growls. It is a dark prospect for the poor people of those countries.

A Great Difference.

Thomas May, Deputy Sheriff of Inyo county, presented a demand against the county of Sacramento in the sum of $231 to the Board of Supervisors yesterday. The amount was claimed to be due in consequence of May's having arrested Gallardo in Inyo county on a bench warrant from Sacramento county, and brought him here. The Board merely allowed $8 for making the arrest, and rejected all the other items of the bill.—Sacramento Union. June 21.

AS A MATTER OF SAFETY.

There is a little village, or collection of mud houses, over in Kern county that rejoices in the name of Bakersfield, and the inhabitants have in times past been much worried with "fever n'agur" and sich. As there were but few of these people, the share of shaking each one had to withstand made it exceedingly onerous, and especially without a systematic orgaization to meet the general attacks, or make a proper apportionment when, as was generally the case, there was an abundance to go all around. Therefore it was resolved to incorporate a mile and a quarter square of land, elect Marshals, Trustees, Assessor, etc., publish a full newspaper page of ordinances and take such other necessary measures to secure a well organized and unshaken front, as the exigencies of the case and the "intermittent" attacks of the common enemy seemed to require As a safety precaution, made necessary by the relaxed and shaky state of their nerves, no permanent resident is to be permitted, on pain of ten dollars fine, to carry any revolver or other dangerous weapon liable to explode and hurt somebody, in case it should fall or be shaken out of the pocket of said resident, nor is any young man to be allowed to come down from the country and set fire to and burn up the straw piles to the risk and detriment of the adobe houses in the immediate vicinity. It is further provided that as fast as one City Tax Collector is worn out, or shows symptoms of a crazed brain, another, no matter where he may be caught, may be sentenced to continue his duties. With these and similar arrangements it is thought this incorporated city may be able to present a firmer aspect to the common enemy, and very materially increase the percentage of ordinary village happiness.

A LINE OF SCHOONERS.

We have alluded on a previous occasion to the fact that J. L. Ward & Co., a heavy forwarding firm of Los Angeles, were endeavoring to place a line of schooners on the route between Wilmington and Los Angeles. We now have it from good authority that the desired object will certainly be attained, if our Inyo merchants will lend a helping hand. When the advantages offered are fairly understood there is no question but that all our shippers will readily avail themselves of this, the only practical means of obtaining cheaper freights. This much we hope each and all of them will do, and at once, viz: to drop a note to Messrs. Ward & Co., giving them their views and desires in the matter.

The proposition is to put on a regular line of fast schooners, which class of vessels can, of course, carry freights much cheaper than steamers can possibly do, and as they will haul directly along side the wharf at Wilmington, the extra expense and rough handling of goods in lightening will be avoided entirely. This fact alone makes a saving of $1.50 per ton, or 15 per cent. on steamer freights, besides the blue water reduction of $1 more. As all our freights will henceforth pass through Los Angeles, it must strike all our shippers that the above proposition is well worthy a favorable and immediate consideration, and to assure its accomplishment, let each and all address J. L. Ward & Co., 19 Spring street, Los Angeles, in the matter as soon as may be.

About Registering.

There are doubtless many persons in this county who have not obtained their transfers of registration from other counties, but who expect to do so with the view of becoming voters in this; in other words, expect to have their names placed on our great register. This ought to be done by all means before the 5th day of August. If not done on or before that date, they not only cause themselves much unnecessary trouble, but also the County Clerk and Election Boards, for on the day mentioned the copy for printing is closed, and those coming after have to appear in a written supplement, a large number of copies of which have to be made, causing much unnecessary trouble and extra expense. Send for your transfers and get your names on the great register at once and be done with it.

The Cerro Gordo Water Company.

LOS ANGELES, June 23, 1873.

MESSRS. EDITORS: Noticing in the last number of THE INDEPENDENT an article in relation to the Water Company formed to conduct water to Cerro Gordo, and thinking a true statement of how the work is progressing wou'd be of interest to your readers, we would state this: We are manufacturing here for the Company eleven and one-half miles of pipe, and will be turning it out at the rate of one thousand feet per day. We confidently expect to have water running through these pipes into Cerro Gordo by September 1st.

CERRO GORDO, June 24, 1873.

MESSRS. EDITORS: The weather here for the past week has been somewhat warm, but this week brings a change. The mornings are quite cold, and give us quite a pleasure in feeling the cold winds of Winter with the sultry heat of Summer. Business here is the same as ever, very little change having taken place. The Union mine has again resumed operations, and are hoisting quite a large amount of ore, and one could say, to judge from the amount of ore coming out of the mine, that it will be eternity before said mine will be stripped. The shaft, which was so badly twisted, is in place again, and turns around as it did formerly, going through its work day in and day out, month in and month out. Belshaw's furnace is, in the language of the poet, in full blast. The late Superintendent, L. F. Shepard, has gone below, and the charge of superintending has been left to Mr. William Goodrum, assayer for Mr. Belshaw. Mr. Goodrum has been here sometime, and during the time of his stay has had quite an insight into the furnace business. The charge has been left in good hands, and no doubt we will be astonished at the amount of bars the furnace will produce in the coming month. In conversation with Mr. Goodrum, I was informed that the daily run of bars tapped was between 150 and 200.

Beaudry's furnace has been entirely remodeled, and will resume operations in a day or two. The management of the reconstruction has been left with Mr. J. Champagne, and I must say he has proved himself quite an efficient mechanic. The furnace itself is entirely new; a new blower has been put up and the engine cleaned, and when the work is commenced no doubt the number of bars produced daily will be greatly increased. The place has also been cleared of all the old rubbish that has been lying around for months, and now looks as bright as a new dollar. Several large freight teams have been here during the present week, and have taken away considerable bullion. Quite a spring of water was lately found by Mr. Lyda, of this place, about a quarter of a mile from Duval's Springs. The water is very good, and when one desires a very good drink, all that he has to do is to take a walk of about five miles, and his glass of Adam's ale will be quite delicious to him. The water company have not to my knowledge commenced operations yet, but will undoubtedly do so on the 1st of July. Having exhausted my budget of news, I will close.

CERRO GORDO.

What The Courier Thinks.

The Bakersfield Courier of the 21st instant holds forth as follows concerning the freight route for this county:

We infer that it takes very little to elate, and even drive into all manner of extravagance, our contemporaries of Los Angeles. It seems that Mr. Nadeau, who is now extensively engaged in the freighting business in Nevada, recently visited that city to either hire or purchase some teams to enable him to comply with a contract with the Kern & Inyo Forwarding Company in regard to the delivery of bullion from Owens Lake to the sink of Tehachepi. The Star and Express were immediately excited into seeing this simple transaction in the following light, finding therein matter for infinite congratulation:

"Mr. Nadeau has transferred all his teams from Nevada and has contracted to haul all the bullion from the Lake to Los Angeles for three years."

Mr. Nadeau passed the greater part of this week here, leaving we believe, on Friday. He informed us that he had no intention of transfering a single team to engage in the bullion trade between the Lake and Los Angeles, but that he had purchased eleven heavy freight teams, and wished to buy or hire more for the purpose of connecting with the Kern & Inyo Forwarding Company at the sink of Tehachepi. His visit to Los Angeles was in connection with this business. He thinks the passage of the entire trade of Owens River in this direction is only a question of time. No doubt when the new road through Tehachepi is completed, the route by this place will not only be shorter but far better. Even now bullion can be placed in San Francisco in half the time via this place than by Los Angeles. The difficulty is people are not so public spirited here as they are there. The business men of Los Angeles make great efforts and even sacrifice to furnish hay and grain at the cheapest rates. In that way they manage to keep in great measure, a trade the natural channel of which is in this direction. In short he thought it was only the difference in the cost of feed that would prevent the entire trade of Inyo from taking this direction when the cars come to the new terminus. But in spite of that it must all come here as soon as the railroad reaches Kern River.

The Ga-lorious Fourth.

The coming Fourth is likely to receive a more general celebrating throughout the State than any preceding for several years past. Balls, bawls (or orations), fire-works, fire-water, picnics, etc., some or all are talked of to occur on the galorious occasion in almost every city and village in the country. Go it!

Registration Transfers.

If parties making application for transfers of registration from one county to another will describe himself as near as possible, sign the application himself and transmit postage stamps sufficient to pay postage, they meet the requirements necessary and requisite for the County Clerks, and avoid trouble about the matter generally.

Letter from Co. "B."

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

SAN DIEGO, June 20, 1873.

MESSRS. EDITORS: Square yourselves and listen to a few notes from Auld Lang Syne, pitched to the key of B sharp, if you don't strike a flat:

After a march of 386 miles, which took us just 20 days, we have at last, with a snort and jerk, fetched up at the city of San Diego—a place noted for its great activity in doing nothing; so far as I can learn the town is rapidly advancing backward. The bay or harbor has about the same aspect; there is one schooner and a couple of yachts at present lying idle in it. The Orizaba was at the pier on the afternoon of our arrival, but when the soldiers hove in view she piped all hands on deck to hoist anchor and then steamed out to sea, and soon she was gone from our dream like a beautiful gaze. But I am getting on the wrong string, or else my lyre is out of tune. After leaving dear old Independence (if you doubt it just step down to the stores and buy a grindstone, cross-cut saw or anything else in the vegetable line, and see if it isn't dear). Well, as I was saying, after leaving there we didn't feel so jolly as we might. For one, I felt like some poor orphan, left alone in the cold world with only one father and mother. We stopped that night at George's Creek, and the next day, May 30th, at the head of the lake—a march of 15 miles; 31st, to Passmore's, foot of lake; June 1st, to Hayway Meadows, 11 miles; 2d, to Little Lake, 18 miles; 3d, to Indian Wells, 21 miles; 4th, to Red Rock Canyon, 30 miles; on the the morning of the 3d we went down to Desert Springs, 10 miles, and in the evening, at 4.30 P. M., we started for Willow Springs, 40 miles, and arrived at 6.45 A. M. on the 6th; June 7th, to Major Gordon's (in San Francisco Canyon), 25 miles; 8th, to Charley Moore's, 16 miles; 9th, to the old Mission, 18 miles; 10th, to Los Angeles, 25 miles, where we laid over the 11th; 12th, to Blonde Station, 17 miles from Los Angeles; 13th, to Adobe Station, 24 miles; 14th, to San Juan, 22 miles; 15th, to Foster's Ranch, 22 miles; 16th, to Encenetas, 27 miles, our destination, and the finis to the great "March from Independence to the Sea." The headquarters here are very large and roomy, there being plenty of room in them for three hundred men. Sergt. Matton and I have a room all to ourselves; that's 'cause we are good boys. At Desert Springs there was one of our men left behind—overslept himself. His name was Wm. Lieb, of Waucoba notoriety. The road from Little Lake to Los Angeles was pretty rough and the weather very hot. I've prospected so much on the trip that I now have to put on my overcoat to make a respectable shadow, but take it all in all I stood the trip bully. My feet did not get sore, but they were so big it was a job to tote them along There were only four or five of us who walked all the way, most of the men having got a "lift" in the wagons. We made a march of 30 miles from 6 A. M. to 2 P. M., and never went into camp later than 3.30 P. M. My big Newfoundland poodle-dog came through all right. I was up to the Horton Hotel last night, where they had quite a nice ball—a private affair. The music was good. I looked on for awhile, but heap look and no dance didn't suit, so I retired.

How are you getting along in the music line, and has Mr. Harris started his schools yet? Did you go to Harry Wright's ball; if not, how did you like it? I suppose he had a nice time, had all the pretty girls, good music and other choice brands of liquors and cigars. Now, when you write, just tell us all you know—it will not take much ink. I've told you all I know, except that I am very lonesome and dilapidated here. I feel as if I had been put into a large sized howitzer and fired through the woods backwards.

I think George Creighton will start for that country in a few days. The Major and Doctor are enjoying good health and cigars. Give my kind regards to all the girls, and tell them to get themselves in good dancing trim by the time I come back, for Lord, won't I swing them!

Joint Pre-Emptions.

It has been decided by the Secretary of the Interior that two, three or four pre-emption or homestead claimants may join in the erection of a house for joint occupancy, located on parts of the claim of each, and that such house is a legal compliance with the law requiring a house to be built on every quarter section in order to secure title to the land

Eastern News.

The second report of the commission appointed to examine into the Vienna frauds confirms the charges against Gen. Van Buren, and brings additional revelations to the surface.

Cholera has reached some of the towns on the lower Ohio river. Five deaths occurred at Paducah, Kentucky, on the 18th, and seventeen at Cairo on the 19th from the disease. Both are small towns, and the violence of the epidemic causes much excitement. The total population of Cairo is under 6,500.

The Secretary of the Treasury is authority for the statement that he has no intention of resigning, and that he has not been offered nor would he accept any position as head of a foreign house, as has been published. Judge Richardson was appointed Secretary of the Treasury with the distinct understanding that he was to remain, except some serious difference of opinion should arise between him and the President. So far, they are in perfect accord in all matters pertaining to the financial policy of the Government. The stories about Secretary Richardson's resignation have all had their origin in Wall street, and it is believed they were started for speculative purposes.

San Felipe vs. Union.

We infer that both parties in the pending mining suit bearing the above title are preparing for the contest, which begins on the 10th proximo. One of the principals of the San Felipe interest, Mr. M. A. Wheeler of San Francisco, has been in town for several days. Messrs. Brooks and McHenry of San Francisco and Mr. Freeman of Havilah, who are to be here shortly, together with Messrs. Bennett & Gregg, constitute the attorneys for the plaintiff, against Mr. Patterson of San Francisco and Mr. Reddy for the defendants. This suit is, contingently, a matter of very great importance to this community, at least in the event of a failure to arrive at a conclusive decision at the first trial, in which case the matter may and most likely will be kept in litigation for years. The inevitable result will be hard times. In this matter it will be of interest to know that the case comes before Judge Belden of Alameda, who ranks as the most experienced Judge in mining litigation of any in the State, and is known as a man of unimpeachable integrity. Next to Judge Belden in the qualifications and attributes mentioned stands our own District Judge, but who, for some reason, has decided not to hear the case. It is our intention, circumstances favoring, to give a complete report of each day's proceedings in the trial.

Military Affairs.

Capt. A. B. Macgowan, late in command of Fort Yuma, with Company "D," 12th Infantry—30 men—arrived at their new quarters, Camp Independence, on Wednesday last. Capt. Macgowan has for five years seen much hard service in the Apache country, and has earned the reputation of an efficient and gallant officer; we are quite sure that he will become as great a favorite with our citizens generally as was the former commandant, Sugeon White remains with us, but on Monday next Capt. Dove, with 23 men, will take up the line of march for San Diego, where he expects to rejoin Major Egbert. The departure of Capt. Dove and his amiable lady is a matter of sincere regret to their many friends in this county, but "orders are orders," and must be obeyed.

Take the Hint.

We would suggest to our business men that, now that Mr. Addis, a very competent photographer, is here, it would be a very excellent idea for them to obtain views of their residences and places of business, from which we can obtain engravings for use upon letter headings, cards, bill heads, etc. In this manner we shall obtain cuts of the town, the Court House and THE INDEPENDENT building, and—well, others can take the hint.

Is a Candidate.

Mr. J. N. Duddleston, a prominent gentleman of Mono county, is favorably mentioned as a candidate for the Legislature from that county. If regularly nominated by the Mono County Convention the Republican Convention or voters of this county will no doubt sustain him as the Mono candidate on the joint ticket, upon which each party in this county expect of course to have one local candidate.

Painful Accident.

Last Wednesday John Schulte, engaged with John Veil in the butcher business in Cerro Gordo, met with this accident: He was killing a beef, and, owing to some defect in the revolver he was using, two barrels were discharged simultaneously, one ball killing the beef the other wounding his right forefinger so severely that amputation will be necessary.

The Primaries.

The Republican and Democratic primaries for the purpose of electing delegates to the respective nominating Conventions occur throughout the county to-day. In this place the polls for the former will open at 10 o'clock A. M. and continue all day, while the latter will open at 1 and continue till 6 o'clock P. M.

Home Again.

We note the return here of Mr. G. W. Brady from a two months' visit to old Kentucky. Native air, travel, change of water and grub, or something of the kind, has caused Mr. Brady to wax very fat comparatively, and fresh looking in proportion.

Will Return.

Mr. Addis, the artist, requests us to state that he returns here to-day to remain but ten days only, before returning to Los Angeles. So parties here and hereabouts wanting pictures will govern themselves accordingly.

Musical.

A very fine, new Estey organ has been added by the Masons to the furniture of their hall in this place. The instrument was selected out of a hundred, by several "music sharps" in San Francisco.

Preaching.

Rev. A. Clark will preach at George's Creek at 11 o'clock A. M., and in this place at 2½ P. M. to-morrow.

About Hawks.

We have a few chickens, young, tender, innocent and harmless birds. Every day we have seen one or more voracious hawks, regular monopolists, sail down and nip some of these little innocents, and have waxed wroth in proportion. Right down in the middle of the streets almost under peoples' noses those bold free-booters dart down and every dart as a rule diminishes by one the prospect for future chicken soups. It is extremely aggravating and the sum total of the pecuniary loss is considerable—somewheres from $2,500 to $5,000 yearly, to take the valley through. We know some farmers near here who in a few weeks have had from one to two hundred chickens and ducks—promising fowls, too—carried off by these marauders, and the percentage of losses from the same cause will average about the same for all the poultry yards in the county. Every wild mother game bird—ducks, quail, etc.,—with all their watchfulness are luckier than we think they are if the birds of prey don't gobble up two-thirds of each and every brood; and the rabbits—they fare about the same, but perhaps that is no loss. Now, a reward of say one dollar ahead for each hawk, young and old, would soon cause the last one to disappear from our gaze forever. Let one shooter or other person in each neighborhood in the valley circulate a subscription paper for a reward fund to be placed in the hands of some responsible man in each locality to be paid out as above, and soon, for a sum not exceeding the cash value of a marketable chicken from each poultry owner in the valley, every hawk will come to grief, our fowls can live and multiply in peace, and a general loss in the aggregate of several thousand dollars, be averted every year. We believe this apparently small matter is worthy of serious attention and systematic effort, and feel certain the result will doubly repay the cost and trouble if properly inaugurated. Our columns in this and all kindred subjects are open for suggestions from any source. Speak out.

The Facts of the Case.

It has been remarked that in the proposed Fourth of July exercises, our military friends at Camp Independence have not been formally included. This need excite no surprise when the facts are properly understood. The presence of the military on parade on such occasions, when possible, is a usual and always welcome feature and would have been especially so in the present instance but owing to the change of garrison ordered and likely to occur at the most inopportune moment, nothing but an indefinite arrangement at the best could be made or promised and to save probable embarrassment and disappointment nothing of the kind was included in the published programme, or any formal company invitation extended. It is enough to say that a most cordial welcome awaits the ladies of the Post, and officers and members of both companies, all of whom are and were included in the general invitation, none other having been made to any person military or civic, in any instance. "Come one, come all," is the word.

Dentistry.

Dr. A. B. Thomas, surgical and mechanical dentist, late of Visalia, arrived on Thursday evening last, and has located himself professionally at the Blaney House. The Watsonville Pajaronian says that Dr. Thomas is one of the best denists who ever came to that country, and from personal recommendations he brings, we are satisfied that he will give satisfaction in every respect. He is prepared to insert teeth, fill with gold or other substances, and extract teeth without pain—in short, to execute dentistry in all its branches, and warrant his work.

New District.

"Pigeon Springs" is the name of a new mineral camp out in the Lida country, some ten miles this side of that point. One of the main ledges is galena, 22 feet in width, the ore averaging over $400 per ton in silver and from 40 to 60 per cent lead. The property belongs to Spyker, Ruth, Shaw and others. There is a probability of a smelting furnace being erected shortly.

San Juan's Day.

Our Mexican friends at Lone Pine celebrated St. John's day, June 24th, with great enthusiasm. Chicken-pulling, displays of horsemanship, etc., winding up with a great ball in the evening, which was a success. Balls are always successes at Lone Pine.

In Town.

J. B. Hiskey, of the Lida Mill, is in town upon business connected with the property of his company. The mill is temporarily shut down, waiting for necessary machinery, which has been delayed upon the road. It will resume operations soon after the Fourth.

Military News.

Elsewhere will be found a characteristic communication from a member of the detachment of Co. "B" which is now at San Diego. Although not intended for publication, it is most too comical to be lost.

Crops.

The most encouraging reports reach us from all parts of the valley relative to the appearance of the growing crops, particularly small grain. But crops are so uniformly good here that none but good reports can ever be made.

Withdraws.

Mr. Geo. H. Hardy, whose announcement has appeared as a candidate for County Clerk, wishes us to state that he withdraws that announcement, and is not a candidate for the position.

At Home.

Mr. M. W. Belshaw, who has been on an extended business tour below, arrived at Cerro Gordo a few days since. He brings his young son with him.

Gallardo.

The case of F. F. Gallardo, for libeling William Mendez, came up in the County Court yesterday. It will be recollected that several months ago Gallardo was held to answer in the Police Court for the charge. It was alleged on the part of the prosecution that he had published an advertisement detrimental to Melendez in a Spanish paper in San Francisco—The La Sociedad, of October 2, 1872. After his examination, and before the Grand Jury met, Gallardo was taken to Inyo county on a bench warrant, and remained there until last Thursday, when he was brought back by Deputy Sheriff Thomas May of that county. The prosecuting witness, Melendez, died since Gallardo was held to answer, and the District Attorney moved yesterday to dismiss the case, as a conviction could not be had. A nolle prosequi was entered and at last Gallardo is a free man.—Sacramento Union, June 2.

MEDICAL.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE, FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.

No Person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittant Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most Wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

MEDICAL.

PRIVATE HOSPITAL.

THE SUBSCRIBER TAKES PLEASURE IN announcing to the people of Inyo county that he has purchased and fitted up as a hospital the Boundry Hotel Building, adjoining the military post at Camp Independence. All the adobe have been removed and their place applied with lumber; the grounds are handsomely laid out with shade trees and clover, and have a pure running stream of mountain water.

There is an excellent bath room and dispensary attached. One room is set aside for the county's sick, leaving ample room for private patients. The Northern Stage Line passes the door, and the place is easy of access from the town of Independence. The charges for board and lodging do not exceed those of any hotel or boarding house, offering equal accommodations, and the establishment has the advantage of having competent help and medical advice always at hand, being close by the house of the post surgeon at the camp.

From the Muddy and Los Vegas.

The Pioche Record of the 14th gives the following intelligence concerning the Muddy and Los Vegas countries:

Deputy Sheriff James returned to Pioche a few days ago from the Muddy and Los Vegas, after an absence of two weeks. He was called to these remote localities in an official capacity, being intrusted with the serving of summonses and posting notices in several tax suits. He went down through Meadow Valley Wash, and struck the Muddy at the head of the valley; followed the Muddy down to St. Thomas, the lowest settlement on the river. He viewed the wheat and barley crops of the Valley, which were more than half harvested when he left. Both crops showed good return, it being estimated that the barley would yield from 30 to 35 bushels to the acre and the wheat from 25 to 30 bushels. There are about 27 acres sown in wheat and barley by the white settlers in Muddy Valley this season; besides about 50 acres cultivated in the valley by the Indians, who have been so far civilized as to turn their attention to agricultural pursuits; they sowed wheat principally. The major portion of this land will be re planted in corn, beans, etc., the climate and soil being adapted to raising two good crops every year, which is a great consideration with farmers, and will render lands in that valley of great value as soon as railroads enable them to ship their products to market. Irrigation is being used quite extensively. There are about forty miles of irrigating ditches, constructed by the Mormons some years ago, which serve to irrigate the lands now in cultivation. At Los Vegas the crops are superior to those on the Muddy. About 100 acres were cultivated in barley and wheat by the white settlers this season, and they will have about the same acreage in corn, beans, etc. The Indians in the same locality raised about 15 acres in wheat, besides beans, squashes, melons, etc. The people of the Muddy and Los Vegas, both whites and Indians, are very much opposed to the establishment of a reservation in that section; the Indians are especially averse to the proposition. The Indians sustain themselves by honest labor; they are industrious and frugal, and have stowed away large quantities of food from last year's crops. They argue that the presence of white settlers among them stimulates the Indians to industrious habits and prevents demoralization among them. The people on the Muddy feel the need of a better road from their settlement to Pioche, and are about petioning the Board of County Commissioners for an appropriation to improve the road leading from the Muddy to this place.

Tornadoes and Forests.

[From The Cincinnati Gazette.]

It is about thirteen years this month of May since a fearful tornado rushed from the prairies of the Far West and took our city in its path. The visitation was not one that anybody wanted to see repeated. Our streets were filled with fragments of trees and bricks from overturned chimneys. The roof of the then new Commercial office flew against the western cornice of the building at the southeast corner of Fourth and Vine streets, and left a dent to mark the collision. Worst of all several persons were killed in and about the city. Cincinnati is not as exposed to such disasters as many other places. Her rampart of hills is a great protection, of which the suburbs do not enjoy the benefit. But the most elevated districts of southern Ohio are freer from danger than the treeless and hilless States further west. A few acres of forest would do more to protect the dwellers on the prairies than anything that could be devised. It is true that a tornado will cut through a wood, but if it is met with many such obstacles, its pathway would be impeded, its speed and violence abated and its track shortened. Tree-planting organizations in some sections are forming, and their increase is urgently required. Central Iowa has had a lesson which should not pass unimproved. In northwestern Iowa railroads carry trees gratis for all who will plant them, and similar encouragement should be given elsewhere. The destruction of forests is not only to be deprecated in view of hurricanes, but it has injurious effects upon the rainfall and the climate of the surrounding regions. A check ought in some way to be put to the waste of wood, and States might well have special commissioners of forests. The subject has received increased attention of late and we hope it may excite more general interest.

Ex-King Amadeus.

* * * The other day, crossing the Ponte Trinita, I met his ex-Majesty, Don Amadeo of Spain. He was walking alone and had a bunch of violets in his button-hole. He looked neither to the right nor to the left when he passed me; his vacant eyes stared into vacancy. His face was pale, haggard and postively unhappy, and I could not help feeling a foolish sympathy with a disappointment which is so real to him and so very unreal to most other persons. A few boys scampered after him, just as they used to do after Fisk and his likes in Broadway; the Florentines came to their shop doors, looked, pointed their fingers and laughed; but no hats were taken off, and nothing was further from anybody's mind than to cheer. Yet Amadeo's abdication seemed both honest and plucky, and I respected him for it until I heard another interpretation of his design the other day, which gives a very different coloring to the whole transaction. In any case, there was an immense deal of humbug in the ceremonies of welcome which smoothed his return to Italy. The house of Savoy is deeply mortified, and the people are anything but enthusiastic.

I cannot leave Florence without acknowledging the kind and cordial hospitality which our countrymen receive from James Lorimer Graham, the American Consul, and his estimable wife, who are unremitting in their endeavors to discharge not only the real but also the presumed or supposed duties of their position. The Consulate here is evidently a social office, as the spacious halls of the Palazzo Orsini, almost weekly filled with American, English and Italian society, will testify. But the many at home who know Mr. and Mrs. Graham hardly need this statement.—Bayard Taylor.

CHALFANT & PARKER.

JAS. K. PARKER | P. A. CHALFANT

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

Saturday,.....July 5, 1873.

HOW IT IS.

The editorial labor bestowed upon THE INDEPENDENT of this week is not of an extent sufficient to hurt, or either make or unmake anybody's country newspaper. The recurrence of the ever-glorious Fourth, coupled with the conventions and a score of the other matters commanding the attention of all hands, from editor-in-chief to devil, have in combination made the usual office work out of the question.

Freemasonry in the South.

Freemasonry has gained a somewhat notable success in Brazil, where the Government has warmly espoused the order in its conflict with the priests and clerical party of the country. The Premier gives assurance that the Masons will hereafter be relieved of religious persecution. South America, the least enlightened quarter of the civilized world, has for many years been the only place where an open contest has been waged with the Masonic order, and it is probable that the clerics have begun to see the futility of any further warfare of that kind.

Fun.

A feature in the Fourth of July celebration at Placerville was to be an "egg-picking." Three rows of eggs are placed on the ground, the eggs in each row to be three feet apart; the pickers are to start from one end of a row proceed to the other end, pick up one egg and return to the starting point, deposit it, and continue the process until the entire row, consisting of fifty eggs, has been gathered. The one completing his row first to take the prize.

Correcting the Code.

The Judges of the Supreme Court of California, all the Judges uniting, have asked Gov. Booth to appoint a committee of jurists to examine the present Code and to point out such errors, omissions, conflicts of provisions and other defects that they may find therein. The Governor has appointed Judges Stephen J. Field, Lorenzo Sawyer and Jackson Temple. Judge Sawyer declined to serve on account of pressure of official duties.

The Visalia Delta.

The Visalia Delta has entered upon its fifteenth volume. The Delta is certainly a very good paper, and appears to be in a flourishing condition, having recently added a new mailing machine capable of printing 7,000 addresses an hour, also a fine job press. We tender our best wishes for the continued success of our Tulare neighbor.

The Joe Walker Mine.

According to The Havilah Miner the heavy pumping machinery that has been steadily running for several months past in an endeavor to free the Joe Walker mine of water, has proved insufficient for the purpose, so work has been suspended until additional machinery can be put in.

Is Willing.

The Union Democrat, in closing an article about needed legislation, speaks as follows concerning the representation for the several counties of this district:

"Heretofore it has been the custom to let Mono and Inyo name one member for both counties. Two years ago their nominee was shamefully beaten, and the consequence was those two counties were wholly represented by two Democrats and one Republican of Tuolumne. It is but just and fair those counties be directly represented; each of them is entitled, this year at all events, to a member. If the convention here will nominate the Senator and one member, leaving each of those counties to have their own Assemblyman, it will tend to strengthen the work the Democratic Convention of this county with our party and friends over the mountains. It is but justice that this consideration be shown our neighbors. They have ever acted fair with us, and the party here cannot well do otherwise than try to meet them on the same ground.

Fire at Hamilton.

A Hamilton, Nevada, dispatch says: Hamilton is in ruins. The following is all the particulars that can be obtained at present: At 5:30 A. M. a fire broke out near the store of M. Cohn & Bro., cigar dealers, on Main street, while a strong southerly wind was blowing. It soon communicated to the adjoining buildings, and in a short time the whole of both sides of the street was in flames. Owing to the scarcity of water and the excitement incident to such occasions the fire soon got beyond the control of the efforts of the fire department and the whole of Main and Treasure streets, from Withington's building on the south to near the Smoky mill on the north, was covered by the conflagration. The total amount of losses can be estimated at nearly $500,000. All the principal places of business are destroyed. No lives were lost.

The Arizona Telegraph.

Major Harry C. Egbert, of the Twelfth United States Infantry, arrived in our city from Fort Independence, Inyo county, about half past two o'clock yesterday afternoon, with a detachment of Co. "B" of that regiment, under orders to report by telegraph for duty in escorting and constructing the Arizona telegraph.

He reports a very pleasant and quite rapid march down, stopping one and one half days at Los Angeles, and marching on an average of twenty-one miles per day. Through the desert east of the mountains the march was generally made at night, the command finding it more pleasant and expeditious than in the heat of the day. The whole distance was made, including stoppages, since noon of the 28th of May.

Major Egbert brings some very fine specimens of silver ore from the newly discovered ledges near Little Lake which promise exceedingly rich returns when means are devised to transport the ore. He also speaks of large deposits of borate of lime near Desert Springs, Kern county. He thinks San Diego has a splendid "back country" through which he passed, extending far beyond Los Angeles, which sooner or later must acknowledge this city as its seaport.—San Diego Union, June 18.

The boy says the performance does not injure his health, and he can make himself so near dead that it is only by a great mental effort that he throws off the lethargy.

The Cerro Gordo Trade.

[From The San Francisco Bulletin.]

With the exception of a brief interval within the last twelve months, the crude bullion of the Cerro Gordo mines has reached this city by the roundabout way of Los Angeles, and the merchandise from this city has found its way thither by the same route. This forwarding trade has been very profitable to Los Angeles, as some like five hundred mules are employed in it, all of which obtain their fodder in that county. The annual consumption of small grain alone by these animals probably amounts to four million pounds. It is in the sale of this fodder that Los Angeles county has realized the greatest benefit from the trade.

When the San Joaquin Valley Railroad was completed to Tipton, Bakersfield entered into competition with Los Angeles for the Cerro Gordo forwarding business. A forwarding company, organized at that place, made arrangements with the railroad company by means of which they were enabled to transport crude bullion from Cerro Gordo to this city through the San Joaquin Valley, for less money than it cost to freight it via Los Angeles. Under this arrangement the competition of Bakersfield threatened to become formidable to Los Angeles. The experiment (for such it was) has, however, been pretty fully tried and failed, and the freighting business is returning to its old channel, a contract having been let by the Beaudry and Belshaw Smelting Companies for the transportation of crude bullion from their works to this city via Los Angeles for the next three years.

It is no fault of the San Joaquin route that Bakersfield failed to retain the Cerro Gordo trade, for in the point of distance it has an immense advantage over its rival route, being not much more than one-half as great. The blame rests elsewhere, and the failure is attributed to quite a different cause. Cerro Gordo, like Bakersfield, was deluded into the belief that it would benefit by the shorter distance for freighting to and from this city afforded by the construction of the railroad to the southern extremity of the Tulare Valley. Indeed the terms of contract made with the Bakersfield Forwarding Company for the shipment of bullion, were such as to give coloring to the delusion. It was not until the new freighting line was fairly in operation that Cerro Gordo realized the fact that it paid one price for the freighting of its bullion to this city and another price for the carriage of its merchandise in return, and that the aggregate cost for freighting to and fro by the new route was greater than by the old one.

In the carriage of such freight as the crude bullion of Cerro Gordo there is nothing to be gained by quick transit. The question of cost is the only one affecting its transportation; and so long as mule teams and the coast steamers continue to carry it and the return feeights of merchandise for a less agregate cost than the San Joaquin Valley Railroad Company, so long will the trade continue to go the roundabout way of Los Angeles. And unless the Railroad Company's schedule is materially reduced, it will remain in that channel indefinitely.

Letter from Arizona.

CERBAT, MOHAVE Co. A. T.,
June 17, 1873.

MESSRS. EDITORS: I write that you may publish the death of Mrs. Martha Bowner, which occurred last evening while arranging the bed for her baby, nine months old. Her clothing took fire from a coal-oil lamp, and the poor soul was literally roasted alive, and the babe badly burned. She lived four hours and then found relief in death. She was burned much worse than she otherwise would have been in consequence of having hoops on at the time, which rendered it difficult to smother the burning underclothing She had all the assistance that medical skill could render, from Dr. Gildersleeve and Dr. Reese. Her house took fire, and it was saved; but everything, bedding, and clothes for herself and seven small children, were almost entirely destroyed, leaving the family destitute. Mrs. Bowner was about thirty-five years old, and came from Kernville to this place.

Do not fail to send me THE INDEPENDENT Send via Prescott, as the other route is by horseback, and they carry garden seeds instead of paper mail.

Powerful Company.

The Cerro Gordo Mining Company have filed in the County Clerk's office their certificate of incorporation. It sets forth that the purpose of the corporation is to supply water for the mines, mining works, smelting furnaces, and other uses at Cerro Gordo, Inyo County, and for the mining and reduction of ores at the same place. The principal place of business of the corporation is the city of Los Angeles, and the term of its existence fifty years.

The directors all have their residence in this city, and are as follows: F. P. F. Temple, T. W. Temple, F. H. Howard, Robert Burnett, and H. S. Ledyard The capital stock of the company is $2,000,000 in $100 shares, and $1,200 000 have been actually subscribed. The company is now building eleven and a half miles of 4-inch pipe in this city.—Los Angeles Star.

The Walworth Trial—Evidence of Insanity.

A New York dispatch of June 28 has the following in relation to the Walworth trial:

At the trial of Frank Walworth, for the murder of his father, yesterday, Mrs. Walworth testified that when Frank was six years of age he fell, and and his skull was fractured. He would often become violently excited, at which time he frothed at the mouth. The following letter, which the boy read before the shooting, was submitted in evidence:

Publication House of Carlton & Co., under Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York —Listen to these terrible words; they will show you how keenly and fiercely I feel the humiliation of the Reuben H. Walworth will, and what a Scot, the descendant of King Malcolm, will do when all has been taken from him. Reuben H. Walworth always hated me from my cradle; he also hated any one who was high spirited and world speak his own thoughts. He always liked cringing hypocrites like Eliza Backus and Clarence Walworth. Although he was of my ambitious spirit, he hated it because it would not toady to his favorite Yankees. Hence, from my cradle he persecuted me, and headed me off in every pursuit or speculation. I could not please in anything, because I wouldn't whine to him about his favorites. Everything that I ever wrung from him, even my pay in the Spoke case, was wrung from his fears.

The only reason he did not omit my name from his will altogether was that he respected my talents, and hoped that I would write his life. He knew that nobody else would. But he has stung me to madness and broken up my family by placing me under the humiliation of being under a trustee, and that trustee my brother who has neither ambition nor heart. From his grave he gloats at me and says, "Ha! ha! you were always proud and high-sprited, but by my will I have put in your side a thorn for life. You have no dignity under it, and it will sting you to your grave. The only ones who have any dignity under my will are your sons Frank and Tracy, who will bear my name to posterity."

Now, Ellen Hardin, knowing that I am helpless under that will, if you persist in trying year by year to see how much of that trust you can wring out of me by threats, or your personal blandishments with my trustees, or by any means; if you doubt, and will not see that I ought to have something for my entire life, whether he intended me to or not, then mark what will be the finale of my vengeance on that dead scoundrel dog, who has made me so pitable before men and you.

I will, so help me the demons who wait on the persecuted and proud spirited and revengeful, I will when stripped by you of my property, and you mean it at last, and cut of the Walworth name forever — — him; he has elevated them and degraded me, and you gloat over it. I have nof one single right under his will. This you you believe, and this has been the cause of your despising and abandoning me. With cold, calm purpose, you contemplate my eventual beggary and humiliation. I will kill your boy, and defeat the — scoundrel in his grave and cut off his — name forever. Now you just persecute me about that property and keep the thorn alive in my heart, and by the eternal God I will kill them and you too. Now, you hurt my property any further, you — — infamous — and I will gut your boys as well as you. The — — dead villain shan't rob me of my children and property. If I can't have anything else I'll have revenge.

A Fifty Million Railroad Mortgage.

A mortgage was filed with the Secretary of State, given by the Texas Pacific Railroad Company to Trustees, as security for construction bonds to be issued as the work of building the road progresses. The mortgage is signed by Thomas A. Scott, President, and E. B. Hart, Secretary of the Company, and is given to J. Edgar Thompson and Samuel M. Felton, both of Philadelphia, as trustees for bondholders. The document is a voluminous one. It provides that the Company will issue bonds of the value of $1,000 each to the amount of $40,000 per mile, to be known as construction bonds, as the construction of the road progresses from Texas to California. The entire road, with the rolling stock and 15,000,000 acres of land, given by the Government, are bound by this mortgage as security for the payment of the bonds. The bonds draw seven per cent. interest and will be taken at par in payment for the purchase of any of the lands of the company. A sinking fund is provided for the payment of the principal, and on the first day of each year the Company deposits one per cent. of the amount of the bonds issued, which shall constitute a fund for the payment of interest thereon. The mortgage does not mention the aggregate amount of the bonds to be issued, but at $40,000 per mile the total cannot be less than $50,000,000. It is necessary that this mortgage be placed on record in each State or Territory and each county through which the road passes.—Sacramento Union.

—The mailing of honey bees having been forbidden by the Assistant Postmaster General, an appeal for the reversal of the decision has been made to the head of the department by Gen. Butler, in behalf of the Massachusetts man, his client, who has invented for the purpose a trap made of wood and wire netting. The objection to receiving the contrivance is that the other mail matter is damaged by the honey which oozes from it, and that too inquisitive clerks are stung by the escaping bees.

—Last month 6,025 persons arrived in this State from the East by railroad, being 1,752 more than arrived by the same route last year; 2,799 departed by rail.

A Borax Land Sale.

We learn that a bond was entered into yesterday by Messrs. Ball & Lent and other proprietors of borax claims, at Desert Station, to transfer 160 acres of the borax lands to Gustave Olitz, at the expiration of ten months. The price stipulated is $10,000. Mr. Olitz yesterday shipped fifteen tons of the borate to San Francisco, which will be thoroughly tested.—Los Angeles Star, June 27.

Accidents.

Last Friday two accidents occurred at Cerro Gordo, one of which occurred at the dump and the other at the Omega mine. A man named Brown had his fingers badly crushed and the bones broken, at the dump. The accident at the tunnel was caused by a cave, in which one man had his hand so badly crushed that amputation was necessary. The other man, a Mexican, escaped with a few cuts on his person. No blame is attached to the company, as the men were repeatedly warned not to go near the place.

Fourth at Lone Pine.

Commi[illegible] hear that the celebration at [illegible] Pine was a most gratifying success, the attendance being much larger than was anticipated. It is said the Reader, Mr. M. W. Belshaw, and the Orator, F. K. Miller, Esq., acquitted themselves very well indeed. We should be pleased to publish the oration and proceedings at length next week. No report in detail has yet reached us.

New Store.

The Messrs. Pinchower Bros., a well known Bishop Creek firm, are in the field again with a very large and complete stock of goods, in an entire new outfit. See their advertisement. The Pinchowers have ever been popular, and with their twenty tons of new merchandise shortly to arrive, will make their store one of the institutions of the valley.

Religious Visit.

Presiding Elder J. D. Hammond, of Carson, whose visit to this place a few months ago will be remembered by our churchgoers, is announced to be at Bishop Creek to morrow, in attendance upon quarterly meeting. We hope he may conclude to come as far as this place, while he is at it.

Only for a Short Time.

Died.

At the private hospital, near camp Independence, Cal., at 5.30 A. M., July 2, 1873, of chronic inflammation of the liver and kidneys, James Devlin, a native of Ireland, aged 39 years. Deceased had last lived at Columbus, Nev., but is also known at the mines of this county.

Information Wanted.

Any one knowing the whereabouts of Henry Newton, L. H. Newton, John Murphy or Arthur E. McHugh, will confer a favor by addressing James R. McElroy, or J. O. Reilly, San Francisco, Cal.

Completed.

Assessor Dillon and his Deputies have almost completed their labors, as prescribed by law. We shall endeavor to give the footings, etc., of the assessment roll in our next.

Picked Up.

There were picked up on the ballroom floor, this morning, two gold studs, one a $2,50 gold piece, the other oval shaped with blue enameling. They can be seen at this office.

Will Meet.

The Supervisors will, according to law, meet on Monday next as a Board of Equalization, and will continue the sitting until that business is all disposed of.

To Miners.

We call the attention of mining men to the card of J. S. Jones, Mineral Surveyor.

The Fourth Here.

When the Fourth of July begins on Friday and its observances don't end until Saturday morning, it occasions a state of affairs affecting the working force of a Saturday paper wholly inimical to a full and a fair report of the ceremonies; therefore, in the present instance, from the facts and the circumstances hinted at, we are quite free to say that we don't propose to do anything of the kind regarding the operations here yesterday.

We shall briefly state that, considering some very unfavorable previous conditions, some of which were entirely unavoidable, while others again could have been entirely averted, the celebration here yesterday was a most decided success. The dinner, under the management of Thos. Kehoe, was eminently satisfactory, gotten up in good taste, variety and quantity. Plates were laid for 140 persons, in the hall and lower rooms of the Court House, and the tables were crowded, and three times filled.

The ceremonies of the day began before sunrise, by a heavy cannonading from Capt A. Parker's anvil battery—this cannonading recurring at three several intervals through the day.

The regular exercises from the stand began in the Court room, which was full to overflowing, at 2 P. M., and was a perfect success in every particular. No one who appeared on that stage but may feel quite proud of his efforts. To V. A. Gregg, Esq., the orator of the day, especial credit is due for his masterly effort, for as to substance and manner of delivery it has rarely ever been excelled. We commend the address, which appears in our columns, to the notice of our readers.

The music and singing was highly satisfactory, as was the execution of every detail of the regular programme for the day.

Having had personal occasion to appreciate the kind volunteer assistance of a few, we deem it proper to return thanks to Mrs. Sneden and Miss Warnes, of Bishop Creek, and Mrs. P. Reddy, for their tasteful efforts in decorating the hall, nothing of the kind of which, it now appears, would have been attempted but for their offers and work done. In the same spirit, Mr. Gage also volunteered a handsome addition to the same end; but it should be remarked that nothing had been attempted or even proposed until almost the very last moment, but it could not have been materially bettered in general effect by the most elaborate preparations, so "all's well that ends well."

There is nothing like having a high and "efficient" managing committee of gentlemen. It looks well on paper and gives the thing tone, and in this instance it is hard to say what we would have done without this committee. Their assistance, collectively and individually, was invaluable, but we kindly suggest that the next one made up here be selected from Capt. Jim's band. Their names are longer and will fill up a newspaper column better, and in point of execution, especially in the matter of actual labor, the odds are 100 per cent. in favor of the Captain Jims.

We are under obligations to Capt. McGowan, of Camp Independence, for favors, and to W. F. Matlack B. H. Yaney, Geo. Stevens, P. P. Gerrish and W. B. Hutchings (they are not committeemen), for their volunteer assistance in some very laborious preparations; to Harris & Rhine especially for material furnished gratis. There are some others deserving of mention in this particular but we can't undertake any more now.

We have never seen a more accommodating spirit shown by musicians than that by the Cerro Gordo band, and their music, in the regular order and in a general and particular serenade, vocal and instrumental, was highly appreciated by the entire burg.

The ball room was crowded to excess, the only thing that tended in the least to interfere with the perfect enjoyment of the many on pleasure bent. We can't give the extensive reception committee very extravagant praise, however, in their endeavors towards the fulfillment of their especial duty. It is worth five dollars each hereafter to put a string of reception committee names in print—as so much space in a newspaper column can be used to a better purpose. However, there were a few who seemed to accept their responsibility in this respect in the right spirit, and to consider their best efforts in hospitality due to each and every stranger present, and, therefore, we can truthfully say this ball was a grand success, and that we are particularly glad that it was so, as there were present representatives, ladies and gentlemen, one or both, from every locality in the county between Round Valley and Cerro Gordo.

—A great struggle is prevailing in Shamokin, Pa., for the possession of over ten thousand acres of land in the anthracite coal regions, value, $20,000,000. One party burned three houses which the other side had erected, and retaliation is now threatened. O. H. Wheeler, of New York, represents one side, and the Reading Railway Company the other.

—According to The American Artizan, measures are pending at Washington to secure an international coinage of silver, to facilitate the necessities of trade between this country and other parts of the world

ORATION

Delivered by V. A. Gregg at Independence, July 4, 1873.

FELLOW CITIZENS: We have come out from our homes, our farms, our workshops and mines to celebrate a day dear to every American heart.

Let us stop for a moment amidst our festivities and briefly consider the inspiring history of our nationality.

Listen! what is that music floating upon every breeze? It is the melody of business coming, coming up from the working places of forty million of busy people.

Go backward o'er Time's fleeting course 381 years. Listen, again! All is silence. The silence of eternity. A silence resting o'er this broad land since Creation's dawn. The same sun that gladdens it now rose and set, and rose and set again upon a silence of desolation.

Oblivion's pall rested o'er it, touching the sea upon every hand.

The waters of the Mississippi gathered at its source and swept through broad valleys on to the gulf, bearing nothing upon its bosom—waiting for the commerce of a people yet unborn.

Jostling thousands beyond the sea toward the rising sun, labored on for a meagre pittance, bound down by the tyranny of kings—looking off across the waste of waters toward the setting sun, believing, as mythology taught them, that beyond that sea lay the Elysian fields where mortals never hoped to come; where inhabitants lived on in perpetual youth, always joyful, never knowing sorrow, never tasting death! Among those toiling millions came forth one—a son of Italy, "flow'ry land!"—a navigator, who beneath the stars and bright skies of the Mediteranean navigated his ship, forgetting mythology, and dreaming of lands beyond the sea.

"Insane dreamer!" cried that age. "Wonderful and mighty mind!" says this. He crossed the Atlantic, discovered and touched this continent with the magic wand of civilization. Then the pall of oblivion that rested here since creation's dawn, commenced to rise. Men of every nationality sought these shores. Spain sent her courtly, dreaming sons—Pizarro seeking the fountains of youth, where mortals might lathe their weary limbs, renew youth and live forever. They came of every land, brave, chivalrous men seeking romantic danger. Bold hunters seeking the "long drawn aisles" of trackless forests. Persecuted men, a home of rest. The Pilgrim fathers, a land where they might worship their God in peace.

This was the coming—these men the germ of our civilization. Hasten history! make no note of Indian wars; make no note of scourges, famines, pestilences, sorrows or joys of that people scattered from the lakes to the gulf. Look upon them as they had grown to thirteen colonies, provinces of Great Britain. Three millions of people, brave, intrepid, peaceful, and loyal to the mother country. In 1768 wars were devastating Europe and depleting the treasury of Great Britain. She, to increase her revenues or maintain her treasury, passed ordinances taxing with peculiar and odious taxes her American colonies. Force, in the uniform of the British soldier, crossed the Atlantic to enforce that resisted impost tax of 1768.

This was the first note that ended in the clarion of war. The cold blooded massacre of 1770 chilled the loyal blood of the colonists, and the closing of the port of Boston against the commerce of the seas sent the blood back to their hearts hot for resistance. And it came at last, ending in bloody revolution. The cry arose in the British Parliament, "Carthage must be destroyed!" and Gen. Gage, leading the first invading force, took possession of Boston harbor. Then the colonists left their fields, workshops and working places, and flew to the aid of suffering Boston. Upon that historic night, as sentinels aboard British ships paced their beats, echoing from the hills the cry "All's well! all's well!" like magic the intrenchments and breastworks of the colonists arose on the hights of Lexington. Morning came, and with it came newborn, bloody revolution. The colonists fast flew to arms, crying "Back with the invader!" And, as the cannon boomed forth upon Lexington, the patriotic voice of Patrick Henry echoed back from the hills of Virginia "Give me liberty or give me death!"

Seven years our fathers felt and faced the blight of war. Homes and firesides devastated; mothers at doors waiting for fathers who would never come; maidens dreaming of lovers who, cold in death, lay upon the field of carnage; fathers, brothers and sons dying; mothers and sisters weeping o'er them; sickles rusting and harvests standing unreapt; "Briers encumbering the gardens of beauty;" blood marking the snow upon the course of the Winter's march of the colonial armies; Death standing about our fathers on every hand. They faltered not; bravely and gloriously they fought through the dark perils of the revolution, and boldly marched to victory and independence. The morning of our nationality came at last, and forth went the cry, ringing throughout the world, "America is free, America is free!"

There came forth one in that history, of whom let me speak. Destiny made him the Father of his Country. Serenely like the sun, as if in harmony with the universe, he arose on the world. So, bright and undimmed, he moved over the firmament, and without a cloud to dim his splendor, sank gloriously to rest. It is said that when Cromwell's stormy spirit was passing from this troubled sphere, the enraged winds and waves strewed the English coast with stranded vessels. And as Napoleon lay struggling in the last throes of mortal life, the sea arose with a thundering sound o'er its barriers, as if trying to reach the spot where the great sufferer lay. But no such violence in nature heralded the birth or death of a Washington. He came up like the sun on a peaceful sea, and passed to his eternal rest like the quiet grandeur of an Oriental sunset.

Out of that revolution grew a written constitution and a republican form of Government—the grandest system the world has ever known. It is our heritage, let us guard and maintain it as it has been guarded and maintained for nearly a century.

From three million of people, poor, broken and destroyed in property, without commerce and without means, strong hands and bold hearts have brought our nation forth—"Minerva from the head of Jupiter." Our commerce has whitened the seas and penetrated the uttermost parts of the earth. The persecuted people of every land find here a home of freedom. And here the "harp of Tara's halls" is strung anew, and the shamrock entwines the stars and bars. No human mind could have foretold the rapid strides of our growth and our prosperity. It is said that Henry Clay, while on Arlington Hights with a friend, who said to him, "Mr. Clay, it will be hundreds of years before that part of this country west of Ohio will be settled. Why take so much thought about the disposition of the public domain?" Clay, shading his brow with his hand, looked off towards the west. Standing thus a moment, he then said, "I see at the end of a swift going score of years millions of patriotic citizens peopling the Valley of the Mississippi. I see their churches, schools and villages dotting the West everywhere. I see the Mississippi and Missouri carrying an immense commerce to the sea. No living man can comprehend the coming growth and glory of my country."

Our growth has been so great wonderful that it has struck the world with an amazement like unto that of an untutored savage first looking upon an eclipse of the sun. Ours is an electric light in the laboratory of the world.

Yet our country's progress has not been undimmed—death has stood hovering o'er our unity, and with solemn voice called for disunion. But patriotism stood at the breach, and the desolating tide was forced back. Let us forget that history inaugurated in 1861. Cast the olive-branch upon its monuments from Gettysburg to the Gulf. Plant the willow and the violet on the graves of the brothers as they lay side by side in the Valley of the Mississippi, the Shenandoah, yea, all over the South; and let the gentle South wind sing a requiem to their resting ashes. Harbor no unkind thought, no unhallowed remembrance. Stand with uncovered heads at the graves of the brothers, and drop a tear as quietly in peace they rest side by side—"The blue and the grey."

When Pericles, the greatest of Athenian orators stood in the suburb of the Keramei-kus to deliver the funeral oration of the soldiers who had fallen in the expedition to Samos, he seized the occasion to describe with great, but pardonable pride, the grandeur of Athens. It was the first year of the Peloponnesian war, and he spoke amid-st the trophies of the Persian conquest and the creations of Greek genius. In that immortal oration he pictured, in glowing colors, the true sources of national greatness, and enumerated the titles by which Athens claimed to be the first city of the world. He spoke of constitutional guaranties, of democratic principles, of the supremacy of law, of the freedom of the social march. He told of the elegance of private life, of the bounteousness of comforts and luxuries of their cultivated tastes, of their love of the beautiful. But above all he dwelt on the courage and patriotism of her citizens, animated by reflections that her greatness was achieved "by men of daring, full of a sense of honorable shame in all their actions." Let me adopt the descriptions of Pericles. If we fall below the Athenian in the appreciation and production of Art, in how many respects is our fortune to be superior? We have a vast and fertile country within our dominions and science brings the whole world to our very door. "We have founded an empire in a wilderness and poured fabulous treasures in the lap of commerce." And torrent-like as has been our advance, we yet stand upon the very threshold of our glory, and our mightiest achievments are still beyond. Forty millions of people, fifty thousand miles of railroads networking the land, uniting with iron bands Plymouth Rock to the shores of gold. Yet they are unable to carry the commerce of the land. The telegraph and printing press are everywhere, and daily being disseminated, yet far unequal to the demands of the people. Commerce, gathering from every quarter, is streaming in at our ports on the East, coming from the Orient on the East, heaping up on this coast, rising to the top of the mountains, and streaming off to the Valley of the Mississippi. Half cannot be told, mind cannot conceive it, words cannot tell it. It is a grand thing to live at this day, at this age.

The stars upon the blue ground of the banner waving o'er us are emblematic of national perpetuity. Let no man say our Union must be dissolved at last. Maintain the principles of Union in whatever political organization the day may bring forth. Tell not the folly to the land that 60,000 national office-holders—no difference how corrupt you think them—can destroy the country. They may pollute the fountain, but they cannot poison it. The people are sovereign. Seven million votes guard the nation, and their silent whispers, when gathered in ballot boxes, speak resounding throughout the land. Their ballots are the thunderings of Sinai, the sacred tablets, and fall on the nation as binding as the sacred law to that people in the wilderness, guided by a cloud by day and a pillow of fire by night. Let no man depreciate the hour. Let the past be a guide to the future. "Say not thou what is the cause that former days were better than these, for thou dost not inquire wisely concerning this," is the language of Scripture. Come out from old policies; take on the new and the work at hand. Old political organizations may have been wise and good in their day, but this is a new era. Take hold on the present, however badly you may think it compares with the policy of the past. "A living dog is better than a dead lion." Let the present and the future ever be the consideration, and let the policy of all political organizations be the present, shaped for the coming of a grand future. The policy of the day is internal improvements, integral strength. Stand not in the way of progress. Urge it on, and let it be your policy, until the iron iron horse courses every valley, and the facilities of commerce are at the door of every hamlet, and the electric voice is ready for speech at every postoffice in the land. Stay not your hand until this beautiful valley, with the snow-capped Sierras on the West, and mineral-filled Invos on the East, blossoms as the rose. No, not until iron bands connect the U. P. R. R. on the North with the Pacific Ocean on the South. Not until a mighty ship canal, along the foot of the Sierras furnishes water to every arid foot of this valley and is floating out to desert Arizona—the vast wealth of the mighty forests of the Sierras.

Let progress be your aim, and your country your first love, and then we and our posterity will enjoy a country and a name; a country girded by chains of Union as strong "as the bands of Orion," and as exalted as the stars that at evetime look down upon us.

—According to common report the Vienna Exposition is likely to prove a failure, financially and otherwise.

Swipes is in Trouble—Just Hear Him Howl.

I am fading; Oh yes, I am fading!
Ebbs my blooming hope away;
And I've lost the gift of hoping,
As I hoped the other day.
Where are the gossiping legions
Who promised their support?
Alas! they've gone to other regions,
And their number's getting short.

Though the gossips gathered round me,
And bade my weak spirit hope,
They have left me in the darkness,
Disheartened, weak and faint to grope.
If I'd cows now—as Charlie has—
Wherewith to back my rising will,
I would fight them like a Modoc,
"And be the great aspirer still."

Let not the "Judge" upbraid me
As the means of his defeat;
He will have the laugh against me,
When he learns how bad I'm beat.
Like a noble Modoc brave
Once I did put my hopes aside;
Yet I "ponped the question,"
"But 'twere better I had died."

Should some fun-loving gossip
Cast her mischief-making eye
Where "Snyder," my beaten "pard,"
Weeps above his pumpkin pie,
Seek him: say the little darlings
Wanted neither him nor me
(Although we really thought so);
Let us bow to their decree.

And for thee, Oh noble Charlie—
Who stands as I hoped to stand—
Reach to me, from out thy milk-house,
One last, dear consoling hand
Tell her that the "Judge" has told me
That my hopes are in the dust;
Teach, oh teach me, teach me bravely,
How to fail—since fail I must.

I am fading, Oh yes, I'm fading!
Ebbs my blooming hope away,
And I've lost the gift of hoping,
As I hoped the other day;
And no more among the gossips
Dare I lift my sheep sh head.
Now, gossips and tattlers, aid me,
Or else my hope is dead.

"And that's what's the matter" with

SWIPES.

SWEETWATER, Nevada, June 25, 1873.

A Shout For Columbia.

The glorious sun rises bright o'er the ocean,
Of Western Atlanta all dripping with gold;
Her billows now sparkling in wildest commotion,
Sweep on to the shore of the dauntless and bold.

With the music of bells, and the cannon's deep roar,
Comes the song of the brave from Columbia's shore,
Unfurl all your banners above the deep sea,
And shout for the land of the noble and free.

The birthday of freedom a world's celebration,
We hail the great triumph o'er tyranny's chains;
And the noble old heroes of time's consecration,
Who shed their best blood on Columbia's plains.

With the music of bells, and the cannon's deep roar,
Comes the song of the brave from Columbia's shore,
Unfurl all your banners above the deep sea,
And shout for the land of the noble and free.

Sweet home of the pilgrims! the sun's golden splendor
Adorns thy bold rocks, and illumines thy strand;
But never may honor, and glory surrender
The blessings of heaven on our happy land.

Over air, earth and sea! may the gallant Huzzah!
Swell high on the breezes, and mountains afar,
While prairies and fountains and blue ocean wave,
Shall shouting exult o'er Columbia the brave!

Its Third Year.

We are in receipt of The Pittsburg Peoples Monthly (illustrated), for June. This number keeps fully up, in the excellence of its illustrations and the variety of its reading matter, with those which have gone before. A new serial called "Scarlet" is commenced, and many original contributions from writers of repute promised. The publication of an illustrated 16-page paper "out West" was rather a hazardous enterprise, but we are glad to know that the venture is a successful one. The circulation is over double that of last year, and it bears on every page the impress of prosperity. With its beautiful illustrations for the home; its fine tinted paper; its "Household" and "Boys and Girls" departments, we don't know a paper in the country which surpasses it in elegant appearance or attractiveness. It now gives away to every subscriber a very choice and rich chromo, or a 24x30 inch engraving. Price, only $1 50 per year. Address Peoples Monthly, Pittsburg, Penn.

—The following, which is without doubt the biggest snake story ever published, is found in The Pulaski (Tenn.) Citizen: "Charles T. Robinson, of Giles County, killed a chicken-snake on the 19th instant, which measured seven feet in length. He found it in the crack of a fence, half of its body being on either side. On examination it developed that the snake had swallowed a rabbit before it attempted to crawl through the crack, and that after its body was half through it caught and swallowed another rabbit, thus having a rabbit on each side of the fence. The crack was so small that the rabbits could not get through, and the consequence was that the snake was hitched. It was killed in this situation."

—Nixon, the murderer, who was hung in New York recently, made his will the day before his execution, beginning it in the usual way: "Being impressed with the uncertainty of life." Most men under like circumstances would be.

MEDICAL.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE, FREE FROM ALCOHOL

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.

No Person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittant Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most Wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

PRIVATE HOSPITAL.

THE SUBSCRIBER TAKES PLEASURE IN announcing to the people of Inyo county that he has purchased and fitted up as a hospital the Beaudry Hotel Building, adjoining the military post at Camp Independence. All the adobes have been removed and their place applied with lumber; the grounds are handsomely laid out with shade trees and clover, and have a pure running stream of mountain water.

There is an excellent bath room and dispensary attached. One room is set aside for the county's sick, leaving ample room for private patients. The Northern Stage Line passes the door, and the place is easy of access from the town of Independence. The charges for board and lodging do not exceed those of any hotel or boarding house, offering equal accommodations, and the establishment has the advantage of having competent help and medical advice always at hand, being close by the house of the post surgeon at the camp.

Proceedings of the Republican County Convention.

The Republican County Convention of Inyo met pursuant to a call at the School House, in Independence, July 3, 1873.

J. Earl, chairman of County Central Committee, called the Convention to order.

P. W. Bennett was elected chairman of the Convention and A. L. Freedman secretary.

R. L. Peterson, Schuyler Williams and Isaac Harris were chosen as the Committee on Credentials and Permanent organization.

J. R. Westerville, James Shaw and W. W. Vaughn were chosen a Committee on Resolutions, after which an adjournment until 2 o'clock P. M. was ordered.

On reassembling, a motion to assess each candidate in nomination $5, to defray current expenses was carried.

The Committee on Resolutions then made the following report:

MR. CHAIRMAN—We, the undersigned committee, beg leave to submit to the consideration of this Convention the following resolutions:

1. Be it resolved, That the Republican party of Inyo have full and implicit confidence in the administration of the affairs of our General Government by our President Gen. Grant.

2. Be it resolved, That we favor the reduction of all taxation as fast as the business and best interests of the country will permit.

3. Be it resolved, That we favor as low a tariff on foreign imports as will give reasonable protection to established industries, and at the same time provide for the interest on the national debt and the ordinary running expenses of Government.

4. Be it resolved, That we favor all honest schemes of internal improvements, and the building of railroads wherever the demands of business require them. But, while we favor their building, and encourage them, yet we demand that they be restricted against all unjust discriminations as against any industry, class or section. And in order to prevent such discriminations, we favor the enactment of laws providing for a system of graded penalties, and their strict enforcement when passed. And in all new charters we demand provisions for their forfeiture in cases of discrimination.

5. Be it resolved, That we are opposed to all monopolists, as such that enrich the few at the expense of the many, yet we will encourage the banding together of men for the purpose of carrying out any laudable business or enterprise.

6. Be it resolved, That it is our policy to encourage every class of industry, and we ask for labor a fair compensation and capital a reasonable profit.

7. Be it resolved, That we appreciate the benefits of existing laws, known as the "Herd Law" Believing it to be the true principle of justice that owners of any kind of stock should be responsible for any ravages they may commit on the property of another. And only ask that the law be simplified so that offenders under it may be brought to a more speedy justice.

8. Be it resolved, That each candidate nominated by this Convention is expected to carry out these resolutions, so far as they are consistent with his honest judgment.

J. R. WESTERVILLE,
W. W. VAUGHN,
JAMES SHAW.

These resolutions were adopted by an unanimous vote.

The Committee on Credentials then submitted their report which was adopted.

Nominations being in order, the following gentlemen were placed in nomination for the several offices, each in time receiving his respective nomination by an unanimous vote:

Theron Reed, District Judge.
Seth G. Sneden, Assemblymen.
M. S. Clark, Sheriff.
M. W. Hammarstrand, County Clerk.
J. W. Symmes, County Treasurer.
P. W. Bennett, District Attorney.
J. C. Kingsley, Assessor.
G. H. Hardy, County Superintendent of Public Schools.

Albert Wayland the Democratic nominee, received the endorsement of the Convention as Coroner and Public Administrator.

Anson Grissel, County Surveyor.

For members of the Republican County Central Committee for the ensuing year, the following gentlemen were chosen: R. A. Loomis, Lone Pine; A. J. Gould, Cerro Gordo; J. R. Westerville, Fish Springs; J. C. Kingsley, Bishop Creek; D. Campbell, Sr., Big Pine; W. W. Vaughn, Round Valley; J. P. M. Perham, P. W. Bennett and D. D. Gunnison, Independence.

Convention then adjourned sine die

A. L. FREEDMAN, Secretary.

Greasing the Glasses.

One day about, 11 o'clock A. M., three thirsty young men might have been seen entering a well known saloon in St. Paul, says The Dispatch, and advancing directly to the lunch table, where each, after disposing of his regular amount of provisions, secured a piece of fat meat and concealed the same in his hand. Then the three young men seated themselves and called for lager beer. The gorgeous bar-tender, with a flourish of his paper cuffs and large green studs in the air, deposited on the table three glasses full of foam.

A touch of the fat meat upon the top of each glass instantly reduced its contents to a small remnant of beer with just a film of foam on the top, and before the bar-tender had retired a pace his attention was called to the small measure given. With a pleasing, indifferent smile he conveyed the glasses again to the faucet and filled them full of beer. Each glass had been rubbed around the inner edge with grease and the foam would not stand.

There was a puzzled look about the drawer's face as he replaced the now filled glasses, which look passed slowly off as glass after glass of foam was served to other customers. Soon the young men called again for their glasses to be filled. There was another flourish of the cuffs and studs, but before he could convey the glasses to the table, the astonished beer-jerker saw the frothy contents diminish to a small residue of beer. Back he went, lifted up the keg, shook it smartly and drew again, filling the glasses full of beer. Again and again the greased glasses were filled, and always with beer, for foam they rejected.

In vain did the accomplished beer-slinger, whose skill in piling up foam had never before failed him, lift off the half empty keg and try a full one, the result was all the same. Then he forgot it was a week day and used Sunday words; he pronounced a most extravagant anathema upon the brewer, and he solicitously inquired of the young men whether they found the beer fresh. When they answered that they found it unusually good, then he drew a glass for himself, carefully, slowly with the glass low down, and he sipped his glassful of foam based on a thimbleful of beer with a countenance upon which the play of mixed emotions was wonderful to behold.

The young men called for more beer, and again he had to draw twice to fill their glasses. Then he drew another glass for himself, and as he gazed first upon the light froth in his glass and then upon the solid beer in theirs, the more his amazement grew. While his glass was still before him, one of the young men managed to grease it, and then invited him to fill up and join him in a parting glass. He drew accordingly, and the four glasses were alike—holding no foam but clear beer.

There was a wild look in his eye, and a fading of color from the cheeks of that expert beer drawer as he rushed to his stand, seized another glass and drew into it a piled up mass of foam. The loud laugh of the young men he noticed not—his mind was all distraught with the mystery, his soul was grieved at the failure of the expertness upon which he had long prided himself—he fainted quite away, and was only restored by rubbing a piece of "Limberger" on his moustache.

To-day all the regular consumers of lager beer are provided with fat pieces of pork or bacon rind, and are able to keep themselves up on half their usual number of glasses.

S. S. Prentiss on Metempsychosis.

The gifted Sargeant S. Prentiss once gave a sumptuous dinner to some friends at a hotel in Vicksburg. Early in the evening a stranger entered the room in a mistake. Prentiss courteously invited him to join the party. Before long the strange guest began boasting of how much he had drunk during the day—a cocktail here, a smasher there, a julep in this place, a sling in that, and so on, apparently without end. At length Prentiss said:

"Sir, do you believe in the doctrine of metempsychosis?"

"I don't know," was the reply, "and I don't see that it has anything to do with what we are talking about."

"It has," rejoined Prentiss, "much—much every way. I have firm faith in that doctrine. I believe that in the next life every man will be transformed into the thing for which he has best qualified himself in this. In that life, sir, you will become a corner groggery."

—The plan recently promulgated by the Government of Japan presages a system of education superior, perhaps, to any other in the world. The country is divided into eight districts, and in each of these districts there is to be established a college. Each district is subdivided into thirty-two sections, each of which is to have a high school and a large number of primary schools. The whole number of primary schools that are provided for is over 50,000. Loans are to be made to needy students, and a certain number of prize scholars will be sent abroad every year to complete their education at the expense of the Government.

THOSE RESOLUTIONS.

Just what the Republicans of this county would have done without those resolutions enunciated by the last Convention we confess we don't know. Without these the party would have been like a tub at sea—no place to go to, no means of getting there if there was. But now with these things, a particular faction at least are well provided to go any where—to hit any port. We are invited to come aboard— to bring all our traps and things, and if we don't land in Stanford's bosom, we can't all fetch short of the Back-pay Steal!

They are good, reversible resolutions —accommodating, chameleon resolutions, such as an infant needn't be alarmed about. They will suit a railroad man or an anti-railroad man. They suit Stanford, Booth will endorse them, they are the very things Gorham has been looking for; on the main points Casserly wouldn't think of filing an exception. If these nauseate any man of any political belief, milk and water would cause that man's gorge to rise, perhaps the nails of his boots. Except for the Land Office, swamp land ear mark they bear, not a soul would know that this was the Gorham platform without thorn or bristle. Satan would smile and unsophisticated Gabriel could not frown at such non-commital clap-trap and smooth running sophistries. These are good resolutions and calculated to fit anything with a tight-looseness as a colored gemman's shirt does a bean-pole. They are like a certain beautiful flower—best to smell at a long ways off, or if at all, must be handled gingerly or you'll get PRICKED.

Resigned.

Owing to a pressure of other matters of more immediate importance last week, we forgot to mention the fact that P. A. Chalfant, the senior of this paper, had a few days previously, tendered to the Department his resignation as Receiver in the Land Office in this place. The main reason for this step may be truthfully stated as follows: That he was indebted for his unsought appointment to a faction of his party with which he does not nor cannot assimilate. He has ever since its organization been an ardent supporter of the Republican party, and of its true principles he expects ever to remain such, but he does not propose to lend even a silent endorsement to the acts and aims of those of its leaders who use it, and to its ruin, only as a stepping stone to accomplish their own selfish ends and personal aggrandizement, regardless of the rights of others. To retain this position under existing circumstances was to admit an obligation derogatory to a true sense of honor and independence, both personal and as a journalist who intends to preserve his right to say what he pleases without placing himself amenable to the charge of ingratitude.

Schuyler Colfax.

There appears to be a pretty strong probability that Colfax will be able to prove a complete vindication of the charge against him of having accepted as much as a single dollar of Oakes Ames' money. We believe the vindication, if it comes, will be hailed with real gratification by even his political enemies. First, because if untrue, this charge of a failure of duty, made doubly criminal by absolute perjury, is most unjust to any innocent man of either high or low degree. Second, because if sustained against one who, of all others had the confidence of the people as an honest man, it justifies to a material extent the belief that we can have no confidence in the integrity of any high official of our Government; that no matter what his previous high standing in that regard, he becomes a legitimate object of suspicion the moment he assumes a public trust. We hope the promised vindication may come clear and indisputable.

The Freedman's Bureau.

Gen. Howard, of the Freedmen's Bureau, is to be prosecuted in the Courts for failing to pay over the moneys in his hands as Commissioner at the time Gen. Vincent made his report of the condition of affairs in that Department. The Attorney-General holds that though Gen. Howard is in the military service, the office he holds is a civil office, and that he must be tried by the Courts and not by Court-martial. The American people will therefore soon have another opportunity to gratify their morbid taste for official scandal. The chapter of defalcations is a long one. As soon as one excitement is over a new topic of the same character quickly takes its place.

THE REAL ISSUE.

It will be observed by the published reports in this issue that the Republican Convention, only, indulged in promulgating a set of resolutions, although the Democrats did make one resolve to the effect that each nominee is bound to support each and all of the others, etc., and another indorsing Casserly's course. It is in the proposed enforcement of these little matters of party discipline that, in our opinion, the Democratic party of this State are making their greatest error. There are thousands of liberal minded Republicans and Democrats, good citizens, who hold the rights of the people, without distinction of party, far above all mere partisan considerations, and who would gladly give a hearty support to any champion of their rights whether he may nominally train with one party or the other, but who, at the same time, will deem it an unreasonable demand that their votes shall be given in opposition to their own inbred political notions, of however much secondary importance at this crisis they may be, to the end that one of the so-called parties may obtain a triumph over the other. To go back no further than the past six years, the people of this State have no more right or reason to look to one party as their especial safeguard or champion than the other, so, if the main issues are to be ignored—issues that we conscientiously believe to be of vital importance to the future welfare of every poor man in this State—if these issues are to be ignored by a strict drawing of party lines, which consist in nothing but the name, then on these lines this battle is to be fought, and for a mess of pottage we are to incur the risk of taking on a yoke we can never throw off.

To avoid any misapprehension as to actual facts, we wish here to emphatically assert that this paper—THE INYO INDEPENDENT—is not the organ or reflex of either the Republican or Democratic party, or any candidate in either because he is one or the other. The simple fact that its junior editor is a Democratic candidate, while its senior is, and never has been else than, a Republican, effectually precludes all desire or intention to make its columns the especial advocate of either one party or the other. The very fact of this candidacy on such strict partisan issues as the Democrats of this county seem to exact, compels a degree of reticence in regard to the important issues alluded to, that no other probable circumstances could possibly have induced. This paper could and would cheerfully support any candidate for the State Legislature, no matter what his party proclivities may be, so long and as long as he took his stand high above all mere party allegiance and obligations on the broad platform of the people's rights.

In other words, in the matter of the next United States Senator, any party may properly require its representative to vote for its own nominee and to elect him if possible, but should not insist that a possibly hopeless contest for party power should be carried to the last ditch, and prefer to see the common enemy triumph rather than to give up a line of party rule. In the face of far more important issues the mass of the people of this State do not propose to institute a rigid inquiry as to the political antecedents of their champion. It is a matter of comparatively utter insignificance whether this champion has "never voted anything else but a Democratic ticket in his life," or the reverse, so long as he proves himself their true friend in time of need. So far as the party platforms are concerned, there is a distinction without a difference, and that is all. To rigidly persist in maintaining this distinction may be to incur shipwreck and certain disaster. An independent spirit must find place in the management of both parties, or it will find standing room outside.

Such are the sentiments of the Independent parties now forming in this State—in the strong Democratic county of Sonoma and in others, Democrats make this their plan of action, though the men they select to legislate for them are Republicans. In Sacramento county, overwhelmingly Republican, the rank and file of that party will give a hearty support to more than one half Democrats on precisely the same conditions, and this is equally true of many other counties of the State.

Thinking men everywhere know that their most dangerous enemy is not embraced in the exclusive tenets of either party, but that traitors to the country's best interests are to be found in both, and that either one or both can alike be used in advancing the nefarious ends of these schemers.

There does not seem to be a proper general appreciation of the real extent and nature of the various issues involved in this railroad Senatorial question. It is not alone the matter of unjust discriminations in freights and fares, nor oppressively high rates, nor the Goat Island grab, nor present additional subsidies, nor the mere privilege of naming an uncommitted, free and honest United States Senator. The election of a Gorham or any railroad Senator is to give to that soulless corporation not only its own option in all of these, a release of millions of interest money now due and unpaid upon the Pacific railroad second mortgage bonds and a perfect release upon those bonds themselves to the amount of fifty millions and more, but it means the absolute political control of the entire Pacific coast—every federal appointee from Postmaster up must hold his place subject to the good will and pleasure of these railroad magnates, and thus with the reliable help of their own numerous employees, that company will hold the people of this coast as completely subject to their will as were ever his serfs to the Czar of Russia. It is a grand scheme the railroad has in view, and to accomplish which they can well afford to expend millions. In addition to what they now have, there is but the one thing lacking to its perfect accomplishment, and that is the election of one more pliant tool, like Gorham, to the United States Senate. Then the people will not have a single friend at court. They may send in petitions rods long, though it were but for the removal of the lowest and most incompetent federal officer on the list if Stanford said, "Kick that petition out; I have use for that appointee just where he is," it would be kicked out. Who is there to say him nay? With his united delegation of special advocates in Congress (and he now lacks but the one) he can overslaugh every counter interest that may arise in this State; every officer from Constable to Governor; dictate the financial policy of the State and every county in it; he will submit propositions, and, agreeable or otherwise, his minions will see that the people vote aye; his unscrupulous followers will inaugurate schemes of personal aggrandizement on their own account, and against which with such backing, the toilers of the land can have no redress, for is not the railroad the law and its disciples the interpreters? Stanford pipes and Democrats and Republicans both alike complaisantly dance and contort themselves till their strength and vigor are no more.

The people ask this and nothing more: The privilege of refusing a proposition if they do not choose to accept it. The monopolists demand the right, not only to submit propositions (which right no one denies), but to enforce their acceptance. This power, with all its evil concomitants, they have secured as certain as the sun sets on the close of the day that returns a railroad Legislature. That is the issue in this contest, compared to which all others present sink into utter insignificance.

Another Turn of the Thumbscrew.

[From The Reno Crescent.]

The Central Pacific Railroad under its new administration has added three cents per hundred pounds to the price of freight on general merchandise, and by rerating and increasing the list of articles that are subject to special rates, have added a still greater imposition to the long list already existing. We have been told over and over again that the sympathies of William Sharon would be with Nevada, and that we might expect a degree of consideration at his hands that could not be obtained at the hands of the old company. We can not say that we are disappointed in the result, though we confess to having indulged in the hope that our estimate of the man might prove erroneous. The facts are that a vast combination, the ramifications of which extend throughout the length and breadth of our land, has determined through the carrying trade to levy and collect taxes from a whole people, usurping to themselves the rights that belong only to the Government—an exercise of power that no people can submit to and remain free—an usurpation that will bring revolution, war and bloodshed on this country as surely as did the encroachments of slavery. We have no idea that the reported change of proprietorship amounts to anything more than a withdrawal of the Finance and Construction Committee from sight, to, if possible, allay the force of excitement that threatened these high handed robbers with condign punishment. If the ruse be successful, the people will find that the change is simply from the frying pan into the fire. The business of the people is to fight the principle, not the person. It matters not whether one name or another holds the rod over us, the power must not exist even though it be not exercised to our detriment. The power to compel men to pay freight for six hundred miles carriage when no carriage is had, is no more offensive than to compel a man to ride fifty miles to reach a point but twenty miles distant. If we ever expect to resist these encroachments the quicker we organize for the contest the better.

—"Shine ye up?" said a little bootblack to a stranger, whose boots showed great depth and richness of soil. "No; clear out!" was the surly reply. "See here, stranger," retorted the boy, "I'll shine you up for the dirt on your boots, as a speculation!"

OUR POSITION.

Respecting the pending political contest in this county (and State), we have this to say regarding the course this paper will pursue: First, then we wish it distinctly understood that we shall not oppose nor favor any candidate because he is either a Republican or Democrat, nor, unless some extraordinary contingency should arise, endeavor to direct the choice of county officers at all, although we want to see an open field and fair fight. With partisan questions simply we have nothing whatever to do, and if possible, still less with matters merely personal.

There are some issues, however, that we consider of the very first importance to the general welfare. These, as occasions offer, we shall endeavor to submit to the consideration of voters precisely as if no party organizations existed. These are matters to be decided definitely at the State Capital. We have here two candidates, one on each ticket, for the Legislature from this county, and correspondingly six or more in the district from which to choose three Representatives and one Senator, who are to give decisive expression to the people's desire on these important issues, or more properly, the single question whether monopoly or the people are to govern; whether the latter are to be used only that the former may wax fat and overbearing, or whether they are to be made mutually beneficial. Of the Inyo candidates, both are so essentially identified with, and well qualified to represent our local interests as to leave little or no room for discrimination in that regard. We know that one has worked as hard and with as much self-abnegation for the best interests of this county as any man in it, while, with regard to the other, he is not amenable to a charge of lacking either the will or deeds in the same spirit.

But rising above all purely personal and local considerations is the question that as nearly affects the people of this county as any other in the State, though we have not and may never have a railroad within two hundred miles of us, and that is, Who is to rule, the people or monopoly, swamp land, back-pay stealers? In their representative sense, which for Senator, Gorham for the anaconda alone, or Booth or Casserly for the people and just rights to capital? The people of this legislative district, from on end to the other as we have good reason to know, will permit no legislative candidate to dodge this question, no matter what Conventions may do, or what ticket he may be on. He must assign his own position—for or against the anaconda—unequivocally, or —he will be set down as its champion.

It is proper here to state that since the junior of this paper, James E. Parker, is a candidate for the Legislature he deems it but proper and right during the canvass (from the date of his nomination to election day), to withdraw all editorial charge, and to disclaim all especial claims upon its favors. While the above expression of opinion on the main question may be accepted as according exactly with his own views and position, a similar right of expression through these columns is extended to any or all the legislative candidates in the district, no matter whether they accord therewith or otherwise.

Plain Talk.

Henry Edgerton, the Sacramento People's Ticket nominee for State Senator, introduced the following plain talk into his speech before the Convention—whereat the railroad sheets are waxing exceedingly wroth:

The industry and perseverance with which that company has for years been treasuring up powers and pretensions inconsistent with the objects of its creation; the skill with which it has multiplied and extended its ramifications until they reach into almost every nook and corner of politics and society; the universality of its aims, comprehending not only the exclusive navigation of our rivers and the operation of all your lines of railway, but the manipulation of elections, both general and local; the absolute control of all legislation, both Federal and State, which may affect its relations with the public; the dispensation of all offices, judicial, political and educational—political, from that of United States Senator to those of Constable and Poundmaster, and educational, from that of the presidency of your State University to those of Superintendent of your county and city schools; the relentless espionage it has established over the elective franchise, by which it pursues the citizen into the very precinct of the polls, to spot and persecute whosoever dare cast a vote in opposition to its sovereign will; the shameless mendacity and malevolence of its acknowledged local organ in this city, manifested in foul and wanton aspersions upon the motives and character of our honored chief magistrate—all these are facts which, with a view to public safety and public decency, can no longer be hoodwinked or disregarded. The sooner the people realize that the issues now paramount to all others are directly between themselves on the one hand, and this overgrown, arrogant, pampered moneyed power on the other; a power that aspires to nothing less than the possession of the Government itself in all its departments; a power that has already instituted an odious surveillance over every man and avocation and trade in the community; a power that is a standing menace to the independence of the citizen; a power which touches and oppresses life and business at almost every point, and in almost every form; the sooner the people awaken to the reality and the gravity of this situation, the better it will be for their prosperity and peace—aye, for the continued existence of popular liberty itself. This power is to-day the most compact, distinct, dominal force in the politics of California, and it is impossible to blink the fact that the names and forms of existing parties are but an ambush in which it plots, and from which it directs all its operations.

Kern County.

Following are the Democratic nominations of Kern county: For Sheriff, W. R. Bower; for District Attorney, A. B. DeBrutz; for Clerk, A. T. Lightner; for Treasurer, D. A. Sinclair; for Assessor, B. F. Walker; for Surveyor, P. A. Stine; for Superintendent of Public Schools, J. T. H. Gray; for Coroner and Public Administrator, R. R. Donnell; for Assemblyman, E. A. Reading; for Judge Sixteenth Judicial District, Thomas Laspeyre.

Affairs Political.

The Inyo County Democratic primary election will be held on to-day, June 28, and the County Convention will meet July 2 at Independence. Test—a promise to support the nominees. Inyo belongs to our legislative district, and we shall soon know who is to be one of our Democratic nominees, as the Democracy of Tuolumne will undoubtedly ratify the selection of their Inyo brethren.—Tuolumne Independent.

Fatal Accident.

A most lamentable accident occurred in the Mazurka canyon on Sunday last, by which an estimable young farmer of George's Creek, named William Callahan, lost his life almost instantaneously. Callahan, accompanied by Mike Stinson, was engaged in hauling a load of wood, and while coming down the canyon a portion of the load fell off. Stopping the team, the two men were at work reloading the wood, Callahan being on the wagon and Stinson on the ground, when the team suddenly started up. Callahan rushed ahead to catch the lines, but by some means pitched forward and, falling on the wagon tongue, received a kick from one of the horses which mashed the top of his head to a jelly, causing death almost instantly. Upon hearing of the accident, Mr. John Shepherd caused the remains to be removed to his house, and on the following morning Coroner Lank held an inquest, eliciting a verdict substantially as above. Callahan was about 29 years of age, and for more than a year has been a resident of George's Creek.

Southern Stage Line.

The attention of the traveling public is directed to the announcement of the Telegraph Stage Company, which will be found elsewhere. The proprietors, Wm. Hamilton and W. G. Roberts, are among the heaviest stage men of the coast, the line reaching here, with the connections thereto also run by them, being the longest in the State. Mr. Hamilton, with A. O. Thoms, has been circulating in Inyo for the past week, the purchase from Al. Briggs of the Independence, Lone Pine and Cerro daily line being one of the results. We understand that the entire routes are to be furnished with nearly double the present amount of stock, and arrangements generally perfected for making "Rome howl."

The Big Mining Suit.

The suit of the San Felipe vs. the Union began before Judge Belden on Thursday last and still continues. Much less difficulty was experienced in obtaining a very excellent trial jury than was generally anticipated. The panel was filled early the second day, and long before a venire of seventy-five was exhausted. The array of legal talent engaged in this case is duly commensurate with its importance and has never been excelled in any court in this county. The trial is being reported in full by a noted short hand reporter, J. J. Malone, and this report we hope to be able to publish in extenso next week.

Accepted.

The Board of Supervisors, July 3d, formally accepted the new Court House, dirt and all, as it turned out. It is a fine building, creditable to any little county in style, finish and workmanship. The finish is materially different from the original plan, effecting a most decided improvement in various details. We purposed an extended description but are forced to forego it for the present.

The Assessment Roll.

Contrary to general expectation, the assessment roll of this county foots up a grand total of $1,409,278. This is but $36,454 less than it was last year, notwithstanding the new rule of excluding mortgages, notes, money on hand and solvent debts. It strikes us that Dillon has performed his thankless duties about as well as any Assessor in the State.

Horse Stealing.

Sheriff Mulkey last week arrested one Antonio Aviso on a charge of having stolen two horses from a ranch near Lone Pine. One of the horses only was recovered. The prisoner was brought before Justice Peterson for examination, but the result we do not know, except that the thief claims in extenuation that it was only a back pay steal in the first place.

Freights.

The following freights have been started in this direction from Los Angeles, by Olinghouse: J. S. Rothschild & Co., 281 pkgs, 24,051 lbs; V. Hoff & Co., 144 pkgs, 11,222 lbs; C. Meysan, 4 pkgs, 329; Lubkens & Co., 125 pkgs, 11,501 lbs; C. & M. Cohn, 17 pkgs, 782 lbs; G. Zobelien, 25 pkgs, 1,790 lbs; 386 pieces pipe for Cerro Gordo Water Co., 15,500 lbs.

What it Cost.

The little "blow-out" the good people of this burg indulged in on the Fourth, cost $1,142 00, cash, besides some considerable mental and physical tribulations and labor for which bills were not rendered. "Them as pays the fiddler must dance."

Sheep.

From the southern and coast counties 19,000 head of sheep have been driven to the south fork of Kern river, and on the mountains at the head of Cottonwood creek. We understand that they will not be brought any further north.

Religious.

Rev. E. H. Orne will preach to morrow in the School House, at the usual hour.

Panamint Mines.

We are permitted to extract from a private letter the following items concerning Panamint district, the mines of which are now creating some excitement in the southern portion of our county: "Jacobs, Neiswander and party left here (Little Lake) on the 2d for the mines. Jacob takes out two wagon loads of tools and provisions, and commences to take out ore to ship immediately. * * The district was discovered in January last, by R. C. Jacobs, W. L. Kennedy and R. B. Stewart, the enterprise having been projected by Jacobs and Kennedy, when afterwards Stewart went with the party. The number of locations recorded amount to 80 or 90. The class of ore is copper silver glance, or grey copper ore heavily charged with silver bearing sulphurets and chlorides. About June 1st galena lodes were discovered by Churen and Wilson; some of them are large, 10, 12 and 15 feet wide, and some running on the surface for a mile or more. The mines are situated immediately south of Telescope Peak, the Recorder's office being in Surprise Valley, where the principal mines are situated. The rock assays all the way up to $3,000 per ton, but the probable average of metal bearing ore is $125 per ton. Nothing except the Sierra Nevada can beat the location for timber and water. Altitude of mines about 8,000 feet. Country rock, lime. The silver ore is properly milling rock, but if lead is found in abundance it will be smelted. Distance from Lagunita Post-office (Little Lake), 55 miles; from Los Angeles, 210 miles. The principal lodes found are the Wide West, the Gold Hill, No. 1 and 2, Wonder, Wyoming, Marvel, Pinos Altos, Surprise, Challenge, Beauty, Chief, Cannon, Venus, King of Kayorat, Esperanza, Silver Ridge, Garry Owen, Balloon, Panamint, Mina Verde, Blue Belle, Sunset, Pine Tree and many others. Surprise Canyon runs about 50 inches of water under four inch pressure. The mines are all in Inyo county, and distant 100 miles from Independence. A large supply of salt is found seven miles from the mines." The writer complains of the non-receipt of THE INDEPENDENT. It is absolutely certain that the fault does not lie with this office.

A Rough Shooting Affair.

At Slinkard's old place, some ten miles north of Big Pine, on Wednesday last, occurred a shooting affair between two old and well known farmers of the valley of a nature about as serious as such things can be without involving an outright murder. W. G. Watson, it seems, had a horse which somehow got into the garden or vineyard of his neighbor, Thomas Volkert. The latter took the animal and tied it up. Watson went after the horse, offered to pay all damages which he might have done, and proceeded to take him away. To this Volkert objected, but as Watson urgently needed the animal for work, started with him home. When about opposite the house Volkert suddenly appeared with a leveled shot gun; Watson stopped and in a second received a heavy charge of fine shot in his left hand, badly shattering and doubtless destroying it. Mr. Watson has been brought to Surgeon White's hospital, and at our last accounts an officer was despatched after Volkert. Pending a legal investigation we shall give no further particulars or comment upon the truly unfortunate affair.

Thankful.

Those of our readers not particularly interested in such things, will be glad to know that the expected report of the proceedings on the Fourth at Lone Pine didn't reach us. Our correspondent overdone himself that day, and is fatigued yet.

Is a Success.

In landscape and building photography Mr. Addis is certainly a success, as the numerous specimens, recently taken, well prove. He goes hence to Lone Pine and Cerro Gordo, where he proposes to make this class of work a specialty. *

Fire.

A small house, temporarily occupied by J. N. Rose while building a new dwelling on his place three miles east of this place, was, with all its contents, destroyed by fire on Thursday last. Loss, about $150 00.

Positively the Last.

Dr. A. B. Thomas will positively not remain in this place longer than one week from to-morrow, so that those standing in need of the services of an excellent mechanical dentist had better apply to Dr. Thomas at once. *

Taboose.

Who doesn't know all about the excellent meals and superior accommodations to be obtained at Harry Wright's station? If any one is skeptical upon this point he had better try it. See his advertisement.

A Tri-Weekly.

It is rumored hereabouts that Johnny Ullrick of the northern stage line is about putting on a tri-weekly—a consummation most devoutly to be prayed for. Ullrick has lately become owner of the Benton and Columbus line.

Re-Opened.

S. A. Densmore gives notice elsewhere in this issue that he has re-opened his well known livery stable at the north end of town.

Deferred.

We are unavoidably compelled to defer until next week an address from Mr. D. B. Curtis to the voters of Supervisor District, No. 1.

Cattle.

A band of about 3,000 head of cattle, belonging to one Dan Murphy, are now down on the plains opposite town, en route for Long Valley.

LETTER FROM ROUND VALLEY.

[Correspondence of The Independent.]

EARTHQUAKES!

No got 'em; played out long ago, yet some folks contend the shakes continue, and very frequently the question is asked at the breakfast table by one that can sweetly slumber, "Did you feel an earthquake last night, or did I dream?—the new Court House fell, I thought."

WINDS.

Yes, sir, we do have an occasional puff, but then we close the doors, drop the curtains, fill up the crevices, shut our eyes and roll into bed as mad as a wet hen. With closed eyes, ears and noses hid under blankets, and while the winds are howling, the dust flying and the canyons roaring, we curse the country, its inventor and discoverer! Then and there we want to sell out, for six bits, or a tin whistle—anything—must emigrate. During the "terrible" night we soliloquize thus: "What rich lands and cheap, too, are in Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska; what huge crops they raise there; that's the country to live in. But, oh, what a delightful climate, though, is on the other side the mountains: we'll go there or elsewhere, to a white man's country!" Next morning no wind, all serene, the sky blue, the air fresh and invigorating, and—we feel better. While the old black coffee pot is trying to generate steam we pick up a newspaper and read thus: "Western crops—Although the flat and productive prairies of Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin, and the broad and rich bottom-lands of Missouri produce large returns of corn per acre, yet the growers have come to the conclusion that with hogs at three to three and a half cents per pound net, and corn at ten and fifteen cents per bushel its production does not pay either as a crop to sell or to convert into pork" Also, we read of the terrible tornadoes in Iowa, blowing down houses and buildings in general, killing human beings, horses and cattle, and hurling sheep through the air like so many feathers; and the accounts of severe Winters, prairie fires, floods and all manner of general disasters; and in California complaints are heard of drought, dry winds, grasshoppers, high railroad tariffs and gophers playing the mischief—"Let's have some coffee, Bill. This is good and strong. I slept well last night. How a fellow can sleep when it blows a little. Some more coffee, it's devilish good. There's where it blows, Bill, in Iowa, Nebraska—h—l! such countries! who'd live there? I think a bull team will be the best for me to break with—30 or 40 acres new ground next Spring. Well, Bill, let's hitch up (the dog will lick the dishes), and go to work. Mighty fine day; what splendid weather we have here!" Presto, change!

THE CROPS

of small grain, in Round Valley, look promising. No total failure of grain, corn, potatoes or watermelons has occurred here since the first year of cropping, 1864. Probably the corn crop this year is not quite so forward as it was at the same date last year, which is to be attributed to the late frost and some heavy wind. There is an abundance of grass and the mowers are ready to march into it.

IMPROVEMENTS.

After considerable delay in repairing, Mr. Sherwin's saw mill is now running. He proposes to make it "sweat" this Summer. Hope he will. Mr. Parsons and Mr. Horton are making good, substantial improvements on their ranch, having lately erected a fine dwelling house and commodious barn, built fences, corrals, etc., and have supplied themselves with proper agricultural implements and excellent teams. Instead of waiting like many for "something to turn up," these gentlemen "turn" things up while others are whining, growling and very frequently "kalkerlatin'" on big projects. Round Valley is proud of having acquired such valuable settlers as Mr. Parsons and his estimable lady.

THE FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION

here was a grand affair. The boys, Vaughn, Whipple, Paul, Ryan & Co., worked like Trojans in clearing the brush, trimming the trees and fixing seats, tables and so on, in a grove belonging to Mr. Goodridge, which he kindly permitted the picnic party to occupy, and also tendered his new house for the evening dance. We missed the presence of Mr. Birchim, one of our most prominent settlers, he being in Long Valley sowing wheat (rather late). With few other exceptions all of the Round Valley folks, big and little, old and young, were at the picnic. A great many came from Bishop Creek, and some even from Fish Slough and Big Pine. It was the largest and gayest gathering that ever met in Round Valley—hundreds of well dressed (and handsome) ladies and children with the rest. The picnic ground was a picturesque and most delightful spot, on account of its perfect shade and the several cool purling streams winding through the beautiful grove of Balms o' Gilead.

THE PROCEEDINGS.

Mr. D. Love briefly, but rather pointedly, addressed the assemblage. Loud calls were then made on Mr. John Bourland, who soon appeared and wisely suggested—refreshments. The good ladies of Round Valley were immediately on the alert, and the tables were soon loaded with the greatest abundance of the finest and best. Conspicuously on the table was "J. C. Kingsley, by proxy;" it was a nice boiled ham. When this serious business of eating had come to an end, and our keen appetites fully satisfied, then came some lively music by Messrs. Woody and Gardner and sweet singing by Misses McNulty, Inman and ——, and Mr. Gardner. Everything passed off lively and joyously during the day, as did the dance at night, and everybody pronounced the affair a grand success, and was pleased accordingly. YAHSUP.

Round Valley, July 5, 1873.

Fearful Explosion at Virginia.

[From The Gold Hill News, June 30.]

Shortly after 11 o'clock last night the most fearful and calamitous explosion ever occurring in this section took place at Virginia City, whereby many lives were lost, and much valuable property destroyed. It was an explosion of giant powder, and occurred in the large brick block at the corner of B and Taylor streets, immediately back of the Bank of California, the upper part of which was occupied as lodging rooms. Fronting on B street the block of buildings were two stories in hight, and so fierce was the explosion that it blew away both stories completely, down to a level with the sidewalk, from the Taylor street corner to Douglas' building on the south. Even the last mentioned building was badly shattered and a large portion of the north side blown in, the greatest force of the explosion being evidently to the south and downward. The north wall, near the place of explosion, was thrown into and across Taylor street, breaking in the side of the wooden building opposite to a considerable extent, and the fronts of the houses on the opposite side of B street were also badly battered. The windows and doors of all the surrounding houses were smashed in bodily, and glass was broken in windows nearly down to Union street on the north, and those of the new Odd Fellows' Hall building on the south, by the great concussion, which also threw down several men who were on the street near by. It being at the hour when most people are retiring for the night, the loss of life was among those rooming in the building, although one man was mortally injured in the stable on the opposite side of B street, by an iron shutter which was hurled across.

A raging fire was immediately kindled from the explosion and well completed the work of destruction, extending through to C street. Armory Hall and Kennedy & Mallon's store were completely destroyed together with a stock of goods, etc. The explosion made a terrific sound which was heard to the utmost limits of the city and Gold Hill. The alarm was quickly sounded by both bells and steam whistles, and all the machines of the the Fire Department, both steam and hand engines, were got to work as soon as possible. A perfect deluge of water poured in from all sides, and the raging flames were soon conquered and confined to their original location. Those steamers did splendid work, never getting tired, and in reality paid for themselves on this very occasion, for had the fire got across Taylor street there is no telling where it might have stopped.

Those who first arrived at the scene of destruction heard groans, and voices calling from the basement at the Taylor street corner, beneath the ruins. One was that of Charley Knox, well known in this section, and formerly a Storey County Commissioner. He said his feet were caught and he could not extricate himself, and that Wm. Lowe was near by. The approaching fire and suffocating smoke soon silenced their earnest appeals for assistance, although water was got upon the flames as quickly as possible.

The following comprises the list of those who lost their lives by this dread calamity, as far as is known: Maj.-Gen. Jacob L. Van Bokkelen; J. P. Smith, the well known hardware dealer on C street; William Davis, a young man, clerk and salesman in Smith's store; W. L. Lowe, Superintendent of the Silver Hill mine; Charles H. Knox, Benjamin Mandel, clerk in Block's dry goods store; Mrs. L. P. O'Connor, Mrs. Susan Dean, wife of Edward Dean, of Gold Hill, and their little daughter Dolly, aged eight years. James Devine was the name of the man in Derby & Gearhart's stable, who was mortally injured by the iron shutter hurled across the street. He was at work in the harness room cleaning harness when the fatal missile came flying through the window, knocking him insensible and crushing him so badly that if he is not already dead at the present writing, he has little or no chance of living.

Scientific Anecdote.

A professor's wife, who occupied herself sometimes with assisting her husband in making casts of interesting objects of geology and natural history, says The Manufacturer and Builder, also, for her own pleasure, made sometimes flowers and fruits, of wax and other materials, and notwithstanding she had become quite a successful expert in this line, she found that almost all her efforts were criticised by her friends. Once, at a tea party, she passed a large apple around, and stated her confidence that this time she had been quite successful in her imitation of Nature's product; but her friends were as usual not of her opinion; one criticised the shape, saying it would be more natural if it was not so globular; another criticised the color, and said it was better than other imitations, but that she had not hit the natural, indescribable peculiarity which distinguishes the natural apples from the imitations; almost every one had some fault to find. After the apple had passed around and came to her hands again she ate it, without saying anything. Her friends had been criticising a ripe apple, but never afterwards criticised her imitations of fruit.

MEDICAL.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE, FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.

No Person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittant Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most Wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

PRIVATE HOSPITAL.

THE SUBSCRIBER TAKES PLEASURE IN announcing to the people of Inyo county that he has purchased and fitted up as a hospital the Beaudry Hotel Building, adjoining the military post at Camp Independence. All the adobes have been removed and their place applied with lumber; the grounds are handsomely laid out with shade trees and clover, and have a pure running stream of mountain water.

There is an excellent bath room and dispensary attached. One room is set aside for the county's sick, leaving ample room for private patients. The Northern Stage Line passes the door, and the place is easy of access from the town of Independence. The charges for board and lodging do not exceed those of any hotel or boarding house, offering equal accommodations, and the establishment has the advantage of having competent help and medical advice always at hand, being close by the house of the post surgeon at the camp.

A Defense of Bustles.

"Bill Arp," the Southern humorist, defends the ladies on the bustle question:

It's all a sham, that rubber bustle; there ain't no substance or back bone in it. I've seen them flat and seen them blowed up. There ain't a bit of harm in them, but I never see one on a woman that I don't want to hit it just hard enough to make it pop. I golly! wouldn't she jump and holler! But I'm not going to do it; no, sir; I've got too much respect for women. Their bustles don't hurt anybody, and I do despise to be always picking at a woman's close. If they don't wear something to diguise 'em, the men would quit business when they come about. Purty women always did wear something to skeer the men away. It's been so forever.

If they do lean a little as they go, it is all right. They can straighten up when it is necessary. No spinal disease about that. Them's the very sort that can lift two bushels of wheat without cracking a bone. It's only a passing fashun, and it will last until something else comes along. Nature made 'em that way, and you can't change it. The more you try, the more you can't. The more you abuse their bustles, the more they'll stick 'em at you—so let them alone, I say.

They are all the same about the fashions, and the last one would put them on if they had their own say and plenty of money. I wish I was just rich enough to give every lady in the land a string of diamonds and a handful of pearls. Good gracious! how quickly the Methodist discipline would be busted on the jeweler business.

Well, I do like to see them look pretty, and so far as I am concerned if ribbons and flounces and furs will help to do it, it is all right. Some of the birds are dressed mighty fine, and I reckon their pride ain't much of a sin, either. But, understand me, Mark, I don't hanker after bustles, though they do say it makes the nicest little shelf for the arm to rest on in the world, when a fellow is dancing around with his gal. That's all right, provided the fellow ain't dancing with my gal. If he is, why he may take her and keep her, that's all.

An Unequal Match.

I know a young man, a noble fellow, who carries on a successful manufacturing business. Although possessed of an abundant competence, he devotes himself with untiring assiduity to the interest of his factory ten hours every day. His eyes and hands are everywhere. Half a year ago he married a beautiful, accomplished girl, who is said to speak four of the continental languages with the fluency of natives, while she touches the keys with infinite skill. Four months ago they began housekeeping. A week since they gave it up in utter disgust. Three servants figured conspicuously in their griefs. The coffee was execrable, the steak abomnible, the cruet-stand and silver not fit to be seen, and the whole house in confusion. He bore it as long as pride and patience could endure, and then, sacrificing everything at auction, returned to boarding, resolved never to suffer the miseries of housekeeping again. I never was more indignant than when I heard of it. If that beautiful bride had learned one less language and devoted the year to the mysteries of housekeeping, she might have made that friend's home a paradise. Suppose her husband's management of his business had been like her management of the house, what would have become of them? I don't think the match a fair one. On one side it was a cheat. A young lady of the same ornamental class, in discussing the case, exclaimed "she did not agree in the marriage contract to play the part of a household drudge!" Did the husband agree to play the part of a factory drudge?—Dio Lewis.

—Bootmaker (who has a good deal of trouble with his customers)—"I think, sir, if you were to cut your corns, I could more easily find you a pair." Choleric old gentleman—"Cut my corns, sir! I ask you to fit a pair of boots to my feet, sir! I am not going to plane my feet down to fit your boots."

Good Advice to Young Doctors.

Prof. L. P. Yandell's Valedictory Address to the graduates of the Louisville Medical School gives, among other items, the following advice about the treatment of the sick:

In all things study the quiet, the ease, the enjoyment of your patients. Give them abundant fresh air and ice and cold water and fruit, when they desire such things. As to food, obey their appetites. Hunger and thirst have been well styled our "physical conscience," which in the sick-room is never to be disregarded. They are safer guides in respect to diet and drink than can be found in all our medical philosophy. They make known to us what the living organism needs. Whatever sick people have a true desire for they ought, therefore, to be indulged in. When your little patients have been sick a long time, and have become anæmic and emaciated, it may be for want of proper food, have them carried to the table and allow them to indicate by signs, if they have no words, what their systems require to build them up again. Infants suffer great distress when ill, on account of thirst, which they have no way of making known to you except by their moans and cries. You will often be delighted to see how instantly their plaints cease on your giving the little sufferers a drink of cold water. Dismiss from your minds, then, and everywhere discountenance the absurd notion that cold drinks can ever be injurious to the sick. Avoid noise in the sick-room. Whispering, too, should be discountenanced. The attention of patients is attracted by it, and they are annoyed and fatigued by the effort to hear. Some of my colleagues whisper that this is especially the case with lady patients. As a general rule, you may safely trust the feelings of convalescents in regard to sitting up and taking exercise as well as in reference to diet. In a word, you can scarcely consult the inclinations of the sick too far, except as to physic, of which, of course, they know nothing.

Genteel Gambling.

It is alarming, the extent to which fashionable gambling is now carried on in New York. I can remember only a very few years ago when to play cards for money was to risk one's social standing, and to incur the danger of being branded. To say of one that he gambled was to classify him below the common drunkard. Now "draw poker" has become as common as whist once was among all classes of people in New York who are not religious. It is becoming almost as customary in "genteel society" to play poker after tea as it once was to play euchre. Ladies join in the amusement and excitement, and toss their chips into the pool with all the sang froid of professionals. Some of our most prominent men in professional and business as well as political life are confirmed poker-players. I might give you a long list of them, beginning with Commodore Vanderbilt. A State officer, a man of world-wide reputation for his great bravery during the war, and who was most conspicuous in breaking up the Tammany and Erie rings, particularly the latter, is a confirmed social gambler. A prominent journalist, whose New York daily goes all over the country, spends most of his evenings over the poker-table. Drop into any of the clubs, any evening, and you will find social gamblers at work. In fact, judging from the way in which things are now going, it will not be long before faro banks are introduced into the club rooms and private houses. Doubtless this condition of affairs has been brought about by the demoralization of the war era. It is certainly a subject demanding the earnest attention of the pulpit and the press—N. Y. Cor. Chicago Tribune.

Items for Housekeepers.

Do everything at the proper time. Keep everything in its proper place. Always mend your clothes before washing them.

Alum or vinegar is good to set colors—red green or yellow.

Sal soda will bleach; one spoonful is sufficient for a kettle of clothes.

Save your suds for the garden and plants, or to harden yards when sandy.

A hot shovel held over furniture will take out spots.

A bit of glue, dissolved in skim milk and water, will restore old rusty crape.

Ribbons of any kind should be washed in cold suds, and not rinsed.

If flat irons are rough, rub them well with fine salt, and it will make them smooth.

If you are buying a carpet for durability, you must choose small figures.

A bit of soap rubbed on hinges of doors will prevent them from creaking.

Scotch snuff, if put in the holes where crickets run out, will destroy them.

Wood ashes and common salt wet with water will stop the cracks of stoves, and prevent the smoke from escaping.

Green should be the prevailing color bed-hangings and window-drapery.

Know all About It.

Kate Field, being what the world would call an old maid, has her ideas of matrimony. Of course she knows all it, just as Miss Abigail Dodge, and Miss Helen Hunt, and Miss Catharine Beecher, know exactly how children should be raised, since they never had one and never expect one.—Woman's Journal.

CAN'T MAKE ANY DIFFERENCE.

Many of our people here are disposed to look upon the railroad question as one of small importance to us, situated as we are here. They fail to see that a completed railroad system in this State, under a single management, is a completed political power that will inevitably bind every other interest to its locomotive wheels, unless the people composing this political machine take time by the forelock and, with or without endeavoring to prevent consolidations of the railroad interests, see to it that the monster combination does not rise beyond all control. It must be held amenable to law, and the people, who have a joint interest, must make the law or go into virtual slavery. Look at Iowa, Illinois and other Western States, where the people are in a state of semi-revolution against the very power they themselves in their inexperience created.

However, we only aim to show that even now isolated Inyo is required to pay tribute to the great monopoly, and without present available means of helping itself. To furthhr its own ends the railroad company (there is but one now in the State) have decided that Inyo freights must go over more miles of their iron than heretofore, and thereby enhance the value of their hitherto unsought lands lying alongside. One city must be crippled or destroyed that they may build up another. We must pay to the big railroad $2 50 more on every ton of our bullion and other freights than was demanded by a small one working for profits only. Five dollars per ton is now charged on the L. A. & S. P. R. R., where but $2 50 was demanded before, because the present owners of that road also own that running down the San Joaquin, together with the broad acres given it by the people, on account of which they have chosen another route for our channel of trade. We are to foot the bills, besides continuing in power their political understrappers.

Overcharging.

The Los Angeles Express states that the price of freighting bullion from the Cerro Gordo mines, from Los Angeles to San Pedro, has been raised from $2 50 to $5 per ton. Stanford & Co., of the Southern Pacific of California, now own this road. The San Diego World, commenting on this raise, says that it has been made by Stanford & Co., for the purpose of driving the bullion shipments to San Francisco by way of Visalia, cutting Los Angeles off from her old and rich trade with the mines. We do not stop to inquire whether The World is right or wrong in its conjectures. But as the Los Angeles and San Pedro railway is reputed to be only 22 miles long, the company has no right to charge over $3 30 for carrying this bullion, and if they charge more, they violate the law and may be compelled to pay a heavy penalty for every such charge.—Sacramento Union.

Nadeau will be so unreasonable about it that his teamsters will forget to unload until they fetch up right at Wilmington! We shall look to Los Angeles to see that Stanford pays the penalty, if any there be, for overcharging. However, here is a turn of the extortion thumbscrew that the pepole of Inyo are directly interested in. It would seem that even on the very eve of an election which the paid minions of the railroad are straining every nerve to carry, the monopolists thus bid royal defiance to law and the people.

Accepted.

The Secretary of the Interior, through Commissioner Drummond, informs the editor of this paper that his resignation as Receiver of the Independence Land Office has been accepted, to take effect when his successor is appointed and qualified. As yet we know nothing as to who the successor is to be, though there is a general desire that the late Register, Wilson Butler, may be the man, a largely signed petition to that effect having been forwarded. With the Pacific Coast appointing ring in power, however, petitions to the departments don't always accomplish desired ends, no matter how extensively signed.

Level Headed.

There is no question but that the heads of Congressmen are exceedingly level on the grab question. They are going forward in files of twos and fours and drawing their pay for the next year in advance, in regular monthly instalments. Besides having the money right at hand for current expenses, they are on the safe side in case of a repeal of the $7,500 steal, and it is in this their wisdom is displayed.

THE MERITS OF THE CASE.

As a natural sequence the result of the late mining suit occupies a great deal of public attention. As there is little or no probability that the question at issue will ever again be submitted to the arbitration of another jury in this connty we now feel at liberty to express any opinion on the merits of the case that apparent facts seem to justify.

There is one phase of the question we are sorry to remark, more especially as we in a small degree may have been the partial cause. There are not a few who now try this cause in public opinion, or outside the court room, not on actual rights of the parties but on the basis of indvidual popularity. In this, without meaning a word of disparagement to the opposite party, we believe the defendants are greatly wronged. Because popular gentleman, backed by a deservedly popular company in our midst, appear to have a superior legal right to a certain piece of property it is hardly fair to make a moral award in their favor also, to the detriment of him who has at least an equal right in law and certainly no less in equity, all by reason of the fact that in long continued exertions to prove its value he has gone straight along attending to his own business, without special effort to curry popular favor.

The original conditions of the two parties were the same in this respect: That both bought in good faith and paid for undeveloped claims of uncertain worth. They were believed to be separate properties with no prospective conflict of titles, because of different component parts and originally located, with but a short period intervening, under different names and in part at least by identically the same individuals, proving one of two things: a belief on the part of the locators that there was two different ledges—or an intended swindle, one portion of the prior locaters against the other. M. W. Belshaw, in full knowledge of existing circumstances and even choice before him expends money in the purchase of the ledge last located, and while the other lies almost untouched; in the lapse of time he proves his purchase of great value; in doing so, he is the first to inaugurate, amidst difficulties and discouragements that would have swamped almost any other man, a system of ore reduction, previously untried on this coast, which, under his management, has done more to benefit this county than all other primary enterprises combined. If he had been a believer in the possibility of the two claims being identical, or had intended a wrong upon any one, is it not self evident to all who know his business perspicuity, that he would have begun by securing the only title that could threaten his own, or reversing the order, the only one with which he could, if inclined, override others?

Knowing as he and his counsel well knew, that he had a perfect moral right to the property which he in good faith bought and paid for and risked his all in proving its value and that of our country as well, and knowing full as well as they did, that he held at least an equal technical right, and confident as they were that they had shown one clearly superior under even the cold uncharities of the law itself—is it surprising we ask that they, clients and counsel, should feel astounded and outraged that they were not allowed even the benefit of a reasonable doubt at the hands of a community, which, but for the untiring exertions and honest efforts and skill of those men, would not today have had a material existence. Admitting the law and evidence (which we do not) all to be on the side of the plaintiffs in this case, we claim so far as sympathy goes or could effect feelings or results, it is and was due the party dragged up to defend a tenure they have truly believed to be their own and in that honest belief they alone have made its value an object for others to seek it. By developments and proper construction of law the Santa Maria may some day prove itself the crowning or only lode on that hill, and by priority of location cover others now considered distinct and absolute property. In that event, though the law should give all to the one as its spurs with connections established, the equitable rights of the losers of these would never be disputed. And on the same principle, public opinion, whatever abstract law might do, cannot deny Belshaw and Beaudry a right in equity to the Union mine. We will briefly attempt to show why, in our opinion, the verdict given was wrong, but before doing so we wish to state that, until better proofs to the contray are offered, we accept this verdict as the honest though probable mistaken convictions of those who agreed to bring it in as it stands. Our faith in the integrity of at least a portion of the jury forbids any other conclusion, or that the circumstance which gave point to the contrary belief by some, was anything but a piece of maudlin gasconade, though it did prove such a coincidence.

By agreement of parties the question was narrowed down to these issues: First, whether there is more than one vein upon the disputed ground; second, whether the original San Felipe location was or was not a silver quartz lode, and separate from the Union lode.

J. J. Moore testified that the San Felipe location was made running southeast from original San Felipe shaft, and saw nothing but silver ores, that being the character of the lode.

Mr. Van Arsdale testified that the quartz vein, so-called, was a deposit and not a vein and not necessarily different from the Union mine.

Other witnesses testified as to the ores of this deposit being silver quartz, though others had seen galena pieces occasionally intermixed.

Beltran had made the original location of the quartz lode at a point about 25 feet southeast from the original San Felipe shaft, and had made a monument on the lead.

Valenzuela's testimony was the same. Pedro Astorga the same, and every witness as to the original notice and monument swore to the same facts, varying only as to the distance of the notice from the shaft.

Messrs. Goodyear, Price and Heusch swore positively to the distinct character of the Union and San Felipe mines, or the leads so-called, and that they could not by any possibility be one and the same. Plaintiffs admitted the existence of the two veins, but denied, however, that the quartz vein was the San Felipe.

The Court charged the jury that if they believed there were two veins, one located by the San Felipe, the other by the Union, their verdict would be for the latter. The fact that the point of the orignal location of the San Felipe being on the silver lode was not denied by any, except as to a matter of intention. The jury thought the intention was to locate the Union, which, if so, a portion of the same company eight months after, and before any conflict had arisen, again located it under a different name and after Moore by request had made a survey of the first location.

With as many "reasonable doubts" as these in his favor, the defendant in a criminal action would have had to be a notorious scoundrel indeed if he didn't escape conviction.

The Court ordered a stay of proceedings for ninety days (sixty more than usual), during which the defendants are at liberty to go on with their work as before, and to prepare a case showing their right to a new trial.

The Stock Law and Politics in Tulare.

Thomas Fowler, late Senator from Tulare, Kern and Fresno counties, was on the 15th, renominated by a Democratic Convention which went to pieces in the effort. His anti-no-fence doctrines were too big a load for even the usually docile Democrats of that region to carry, and although the noble mustang lord assured them he had never been anything else but a Democrat in his life and never would be, nearly one-half the delegates resolved to drop him and support some candidate, no matter what his politics otherwise, so he is sound on the no-fence question. The prospects are quite flattering for Mr. Fowler to be beaten, notwithstanding the superior strength of the party he claims to represent. And here we are constrained to ask, What would have become of the Winter (and Summer) range on which the stockmen of this valley depend, was it not for our no-fence law? According to a correspondent of a Tulare paper, there is at this time full 200,000 head of stock, sheep, cattle and horses, in the region about Monache Valley and Cottonwood. As pasturage is very scarce there, much of this stock would have found temporary pasturage in this valley, to the ruin of growing crops and feed both. Most of the stock referred to belongs in other counties.

Motions by Gallardo.

On the 14th, in the Sixth District Court, Gallardo on his affidavit moved that M. W. Hammarstrand, County Clerk of Inyo, be ordered to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt for not obeying orders of that court. This, also a similar motion with reference to Judge Hannah, was denied. The point at issue was that certain papers relating to the Gallardo-Hannah suit were retained here by the Clerk because the fees were not paid. In the suits against Hannah, alias writs of certiorari were ordered to issue returnable at the October term.

—Bootmaker (who has a good deal of trouble with his customers)—"I think, sir, if you were to cut your corns, I could more easily find you a pair." Choleric old gentleman—"Cut my corns, sir! I ask you to fit a pair of boots to my feet, sir! I am not going to plane my feet down to fit your boots."

VINDICATES HIMSELF.

Mr. F. K. Miller, under date of July 21, among other things writes as follows:

MESSRS. EDITORS:—In your last week's issue of THE INYO INDEPENDENT appears an article headed: "Concerning a Homestead Application," in which an unnamed attorney is acccused of failing to forward the commission and fees entrusted to him by the client (Manuel Presciado). [Here follows a denial couched in uncalled for ungentlemanly language, the which we do not see proper to give place to, especially as not being sufficiently explicit in its application.—ED.] The facts are as follows: In December last past, Mr. Presciado employed me to make out an application to the U. S. Land Office, then located at Aurora, Nevada, for the tract of land in question. On the 9th day of said month I forwarded the papers by mail through the Lone Pine P. O., and the commissions and fees through the Lone Pine office of Wells & Fargo's Express, both parcels addressed to Wilson Butler, Register U. S. Land Office, Aurora, Nevada. Mr. Presciado accompanied me to the P. O. and express offices at the time the papers were mailed and the money expressed. The Express books at Lone Pine show that the money was sent on the day referred to. An intelligent public will think it very strange that Mr. Butler received neither the money or papers, when each were sent through such usually safe, and different channels of transmission.

The public must reconcile the matter between the postal and express departments on the one hand and Mr. Butler on the other. * F. K. MILLER.

Preceding his signature in the above Mr. Miller addresses a word of advice to the editors of this paper (he will please bear in mind there is but one at this time, and his name is P. A. Chalfant), for which he will accept thanks according to value, which must be considerable in case of volunteer words of wisdom from a shining legal luminary like Mr. Miller.

In support of the truth of the above statement by Mr. Miller we append the following certificate received direct from the gentleman making it, though we do not publish this because we have any doubts of the truth of Mr. Miller's statement, which, on the point at issue, is satisfactory of itself:

LONE PINE, July 21st, 1873.

I hereby certify that on the 9th day of December, 1872, while acting as agent for Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express, I forwarded to Wilson Butler of Aurora, $3 in coin received of F. K. Miller, which, to my knowledge, was for the purpose of paying Land Office fees on the Pre-emption Application made for and in the name of Manuel Presciado of Lone Pine. S. V. STEVENS.

So far Mr. Miller stands fully exonerated of the only charge, direct or implied, made against any person whomsoever in this matter regarding the forwarding the money and papers which Mr. Butler asserts that he never received. It was assumed as a piece of carelessness or an accidental oversight, but not in any sense criminal or purposed neglect or hope of gain on the part of anybody, the smallness of the amount, even if there was no other reason, entirely precluding such an idea.

But admitting as we do that Mr. Miller properly executed his trust as an attorney up to the point mentioned, it strikes us with the lights now before us there is yet a charge of apparent neglect pending, which his client, if no one else, might ask explained. As the agent of a client presumably unacquainted himself with the requirements of a case of so much personal importance, it was his duty to ascertain why no receipt had been returned, for which ample time passed in the half year between December and June folling when the other party interposed to his client's detriment. But for aught we know or assert to the contrary Mr. Miller may have done his duty in this respect also, and informed his client that the Receiver's receipt, which he knew was or ought to be due, had not yet come to hand, and without this he had no evidence that his client was secure in his rights and therefore some additional steps, by renewal or otherwise, must be taken to secure them. If he did do this then he as an attorney is blameless and his client, though he had once done all that was usually necessary, is himself amenable, but no matter which or how that may be, our charge of carelessness still has some foundation in fact, though not in the manner then specifically named and on what appeared to be perfectly justifiable grounds. We have given this matter much more space than we intended or needed to have done, and shall not now speculate as to the solution of this seemingly unaccountable mystery. It is absurd to suppose that anyone has purposely committed or permitted this wrong upon Presciado, but it is certain there is some culpable negligence somewhere. And here we will remark that we have some reason to believe there are other land claimants who by delay of their own or that of their attorneys, are similarly jeopardizing their titles. Certain it is a certain attorney did say some time ago that some cases of final proofs, the time for which had then expired, were intrusted to him, but so far he has done nothing. Perhaps some of these may give rise to another false assumption like that which called forth our remarks in this connection last week.

A Nice Point to Determine.

On the 3d of May last the Commissioner of the General Land Office at Washington decided that the pre-emptors within the limits of the Lewis survey of the Las Poscitas Rancho had a right to enter their lands as against the Western Pacific Railroad Company, the lands being within the extreme lines of a Mexican grant at the time Government granted to the railroad company the odd sections within twenty miles of its road. Sixty days were allowed the company, after receiving notice of said decision, to appeal therefrom to the Secretary of the Interior, should it see fit to do so. The Register of the Land Office in San Francisco gave due notice to the company on the 16th of May last. The company filed its appeal on the 18th of July. The attorney for the pre-emptors claims that, under the United States law, the day on which notice was given to the railroad company—May 19—must be counted as one of the sixty days, and that, consequently, the 17th of July was the last day on which the company could appeal—that being the sixtieth day after the 19th of May. He refers to the decision of Secretary Delano in the Eureka mining case, recently decided, as sustaining him in this view. Accordingly he has moved the Register and Receiver to disregard the appeal and allow the settlers to enter the land as claimed. The matter has been referred to the Commissioner of the General Land Office for a decision.

The Teaming Prospect.

The Los Angeles Star says that Casebolt & Co. of San Francisco are building 40 new wagons, each to have back-action and tender, for Nadeau's Cerro Gordo bullion train, which, altogether will require 90 12 and 14-mule teams. Nadeau is preparing 20-mile stations all the way through, to supply which extra teams are to be employed. His borax teams are all to be withdrawn from Columbus and put on the Los Angeles road. There are 30,000 bars of bullion awaiting shipment; with these away the ninety teams were expected to keep the furnaces clear after their proposed enlargement. The big mining suit, we fear, is going to upset all these arrangments, and others too, for a time.

Good Words.

THE INYO INDEPENDENT has entered upon its fourth volume. It is a good and readable local paper, and deserves to succeed.—Eureka Sentinel.

Chalfant, the editor of THE INDEPENDENT, has resigned his position in the Land Office. He found he was the appointee of an objectionable faction of the Republican party, and he would rather be without office than run with them. Parker, the junior editor of THE INDEPENDENT, is the Democratic candidate for the Legislature, and withdraws from the paper until the campaign is over.—Los Angeles Star.

THE INDEPENDENT has stood the shock of many earthquakes, and presents a front which shows that its proprietors are determined to surmount all difficulties.—Pioche Record.

Chalfant, lately appointed Land Receiver in Inyo, has resigned. We know nothing of the merits of his course, but the following, taken from the last number of THE INYO INDEPENDENT, comes pretty squarely up to our notions of propriety. A few such men as Chalfant and Parker, his partner, who have made their paper what its name declares, "Independent," would so purify the official atmosphere that Inyo and Kern would soon be known as the right places to make homes in. We are neighbors, with common interests, and there is comfort in feeling whilst one is battling at one end the right men are on duty at the other. * * * —Kern County Courier.

The Inyo Nomination.

James E. Parker, nominated by the late Democratic Convention of Inyo county, is one of the proprietors of THE INYO INDEPENDENT, published at Independence. His indorsement by the Inyo Democracy is sufficient warrant for his being a good Democrat. We are informed that he is hostile to wire-pulling, political combinations of men and money, whether they be in favor of railroads, land grabbers or government rings; favorable to consistent, legitimate legislation for the final prevention of Chinese immigration, and in favor of the re-election of Eugene Casserly to the United States Senate. There is not a doubt of the nomination being ratified by the Convention to meet here. Between S. G. Sneden, nominated by the Republicans of that county, and Mr. Parker it will be a square party fight, as there is no reason or disposition for the voters to deviate from their partisan sentiments, the two candidates truly representing their respective parties.—Tuolumne Democrat.

Shut Down.

Our Cerro Gordo correspondent, in a private note, informs us that it is probable both the Belshaw and Beaudry furnaces will be compelled to shut down for a time. It is scarcely possible to obtain either water or men to run them until a supply of the former is obtained through the new water company, who are actively engaged in their work. Many of the furnace hands and miners are unable to work from sickness, more prevalent than usual while the weather is so extremely warm, and are going off to the fishing grounds and elsewhere to recuperate. Among others, Mr. Beaudry himself and his Superintendent, Mr. Porter, are obliged to repair to the coast for relief, both having long been in very bad health. Money is scarce, and pending a final decision of the great mining suit it is not likely to be more plentiful—so we presume it will not justify to be at such a continual heavy expense in adding to those immense piles of bullion now awaiting shipment, and of course paying no returns to the owners. We are indeed sorry that circumstances have so combined as to render a stoppage of work necessary, but hope that it will be only temporary. In other respects, our correspondent adds, the prospects of the camp were never more encouraging. The other important mining enterprises going on there, with the certainty of an abundant supply of water early this Fall, together with the active working of the Swansea company, will do much toward maintaining the usual financial balance of the county. As his own private opinion, this correspondent says: "I am sure as can be that Belshaw and Beaudry will get away with this suit yet; if they don't I shall always think they have been greatly wronged, and that is what the people here now think about it."

The Exodus.

A lively Lone Pine correspondent rings in thusly: "Is the atmosphere of your place lighter after the departure of so many criminals? Our little town is almost deserted by the wealthy, pleasure seeking ladies and gentlemen, the word of order being "for the mountains, to the fishing grounds!" Everybody likes the big fishes, particularly the tender sex; I don't joke. The trout is so delicate a morceaux; then there is the poetical shade, 'neath the balsamic pine, and the dolce far niente—to be sure it must be enjoyable. When æronautic navigation is perfected we will go there also, provided the rudder is managed by Charley Begole, who is now over there directing the equestrian exercises after each trout meal, on temperance and hygienic principles."

Succeeded.

We mentioned some time since that an effort was to be made to stock with trout the beautiful trouting streams which flow into and across the valley. For some unexplained reason, none of these fish are found in any of the streams east of the crest of the Sierras, although they seem to be as well suited for them as any to be found. The duty of obtaining the fish was intrusted to Mr. A. B. Kitchen, and during the present week he has placed sixty lively beauties in Little Pine Creek, the stream running through town, and will follow up the business until all in this vicinity are supplied. It is to be hoped that for the next two years any Indian or individual disturbing them will be immediately reduced to bait for the benefit of the fish remaining. There would be a poetic justice about that.

Persevering.

If Capt. Chase, who by the way is one of the heirs to the great English estate of $260,000,000, has not earned the most ample success for hard working perseverance in trying to develope his mining property across the river, then we know of no man who ever did. For months and years, solitary and alone he has been engaged in driving a tunnel, every foot in blasting rock, and now at 150 feet he just begins to find reliable indications that the ledge is but a few feet distant. We hope such is the case, and that it will prove the richest in the county.

Some More of Them.

Supervisor Hutchison and Al. Wapelhorst sailed out northward yesterday for the silvery, limpid streams and sylvan shades of the Sierras, and in addition to those mentioned elsewhere, a party of four start to-day for a mountain excursion over towards Kings River. These are Captains Abe Parker and Chase, and high privates Ditsworth and Gudgeon. If the state of affairs superinduced by so many departures long continues, it will will require only irrigation for us soon to have beautifully grass-grown streets. It's a good time to repair and revarnish saloons and barroom chairs.

Just So

We are busted, and San Francisco bills are overdue. There are 150 persons in this county indebted to this office in sums from $5 to $50, who don't pay. The matter don't seem to make any particular difference, but we just thought we'd mention it.

Rusticating.

A large number of citzens and citizenesses have recently gone out to rusticate in the Kern river mountains, catch trout, bad colds, fight misquitoes, gnats, reptiles or anything else that adds to the felicities of a life on the mountain hights. Of those from Lone Pine we can name but a few: I. W. Hunt, C. D. Begole, Judge Perrin (according to a note from "Farmer Brock," the last two were lost, a circumstance much regretted on account of the pack mule they had loaded with whisky, there being a sick man with the party that knew enough to keep the trail), Mr. and Mrs. Dodge, Mrs. Stewart and others. From here we have the two Johnnies, Heckel and Baxter, and in another party a large number of pack animals load d with case goods, a wall tent and other refreshments, preceded by several ladies, to wit, Mrs. and Miss Mulkey, Mrs. Bennett and Hannah J. A., and followed by mayor domo Piute Jack, Fred Grothey, Sheriff Mu key and P. W. Bennett, dust clear in the rear, which is a good idea on his part, as he will be better able to select good fish to send us; Gregg's interest limited.

Mining Suits.

An old Inyoite, writing from Eureka, Nevada, under date of July 13, has the following report to make concerning the recent great mining suit of that camp, and in doing so describes a state of facts very similar to that prevailing in this place for a time during last week: "At the time of my arrival the great mining suit between the Eureka Consolidated and the Richmond Consolidated Mining and Smelting Companies was in full blast, and to see the precautions taken by the parties interested to avoid a possibility of the jury being bribed was enough to make any honest American citizen wish the whole jury system could be abolished, and some other mode be adopted whereby litigants might receive justice at the hands of the law. The jury was of course under the charge of the Sheriff and his deputies, but as a precaution that they should not be bribed there were two guards constantly on the watch, employed by each company. Then again I saw guards watching the guards, and for all I know guards ad infinitum."

An Error.

A note from "Chips" Rascoe, of the Benton and Columbus stage line, states that our item to the effect that Johnny Ullrick had purchased the road was a mistake, and that he is, individually, the sole boss of the entire institution. Our statement was made upon what we considered the best of authority. However, we stand corrected.

Assessments Reduced.

During their session last week the Board of Equalization made reductions of assessments as follows, the sums being, for the most part, the amounts raised by the Assessor on the respective assessments: J. S. Rothschild & Co., $1,000; V. Beaudry, $3,490; M. W. Belshaw, $4,480; Harris & Rhine, $10,000.

Drug Store.

One of the neatest business establishments in the county is the well-stocked drug store of Dr. P. G. Gelcich, Lone Pine. The popular doctor has a host of friends, and enjoys a well-deserved run of patronage.

A New Fit Out.

"Boston" and Sam Crane, Cerro Gordo, were bound to be butchers or die. If you don't believe it, read their advertisement.

Hotel Change.

Mr. S. A. Densmore, as will be seen by the advertisement, is now conducting the Inyo House, in connection with his livery business.

Another Ticket.

It is reported that a complete Independent ticket for county officers is to be put in the field. Sail in, gentlemen; the more the merrier.

The Republican Primary

In Sonora, passed ot quietly. The fight was between Rodgers and Bell, for the State Senate, and each ran a ticket, which resulted in eight of the ten delegates on the Bell ticket being elected, while one on the Rodgers ticket tied two on Bell's. The Convention will have to settle the muddle, which is more complicated from the fact that of the 93 votes polled one was thrown out for having an extra inclosed, and 94 votes were still found in the box on counting, showing that two other parties had voted double. These Repubs. either made a mistake or tried the Democratic dodge and failed to make it count for lack of practice.—Tuolumne Independent.

Silk Raising.

A day or two since we were shown by Mr. G. S. Reuter, a small twig of oak upon which were clustered 61 silk cocoons from worms of his own raising. They are the largest and finest we have ever seen, and prove that our climate is the natural home of the silkworm. With a market, this would be a profitable and pleasant business for the young folks about the farm to engage in, and with our climatic advantage the eggs and silk raised here would always command the highest price. Mr. Reuter will send this specimen of cocoons to the Exhibition at Vienna.—Tuolumne Independent.

Judge Reed Indorsed.

At a meeting of the Republican County Central Committee of Kern, held at Havilah July 18th, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That we cordially and unanimously indorse Hon. Theron Reed as the candidate of the Republican party of Kern county for the office of District Judge of the Sixteenth Judicial District of California at the ensuing election.

The Promptings of Friendship.

PIOCHE, Nev., July 12.

MR. EDITOR: In your paper of a recent date I see that the Democracy of Inyo have indorsed Thomas Laspeyre, Esq., as a candidate for Judge of the Sixteenth Judicial Distirct. Having resided in that district in years gone by, and having become well acquainted with Mr. Laspeyre, I hope my motives will not be impugned if I ask of you a place in your columns in which to express my estimate of that gentleman's character as a lawyer and a citizen. An acquaintance casually formed some ten years ago was renewed at Havilah, Kern county, in the Fall of 1966. The acquaintance soon ripened into friendship. Our relations became of an intimate nature, and I was thus enabled to judge of his character. A regard for his sterling worth as a man and a citizen increased as in the lapse of years I came to know him not only as a friend, but as a public functionary intrusted with the funds belonging to the county of Kern while for two successive terms he held the important position of District Attorney. During that term of service thousands of dollars passed through his hands, every dollar of which was accounted for and paid over at the proper time. In this age of degeneracy, when back salary steals are rife and the Credit Mobilier threatens to swamp the entire country, the fidelity of a public officer intrusted with the people's money, should not and will not be forgotten. Mr. Laspeyre is an indefatigable student, never forgetting that in his profession something can be learned by the oldest and the wisest. As District Attorney he allowed no feeling of personal regard to swerve him from a rigid prosecution of every case called to his official notice. From an intimate knowledge of his personal attributes and legal acquirements, I am confident that the judicial ermine could not fall upon an abler lawyer in your district, nor a more upright and honorable man. He is dignified in demeanor, affable and courteous in social life, of unswerving integrity in his dealings with the public as an officer and as an individual between man and man. Mr. Laspeyre has many warm friends in this community who, like myself, have no direct interest in the matter, yet are desirous of seeing their old friend Thomas Laspeyre elected Judge of the Sixteenth District of California.

AN OLD FRIEND.

A Voice from the Farmers.

BISHOP CREEK, July 15.

MR. EDITOR: I would offer, through your excellent paper, a few words to the people of this county, and ask their reflection thereon before the ensuing election.

I am now far advanced in life, but I think the coming election is the most important one that we have been called upon to participate in for a long time. We have got over the negro question; now comes that of the overpowering monopolies. They must be fought, and the people must win or we are gone. Then there is the Back-pay Steal—I don't know what else to call it. Men in whom we placed confidence, after taking the oath of office turn right around and violate their oath to the Constitution. Our Chief Magistrate might have saved the nation's disgrace if he had just witheld his signature from the bill. So you can see that we have nowhere to look for protection—only at the polls. Let us elect no canditate that will not pledge himself to vote for no man for United States Senator but a tried man, one that can not be bought.

The people must hold their public officers to a strict account, or in a few more years we will be worse off than the serfs of Russia. Then let us try and make good selections, and the victory is ours.

Health Hints.

Warm bread "packs" the stomach. Don't eat it.

The best and safest toothwash is tepid water.

Warmth, abstinence and repose are three excellent medicines.

Never sit or sleep with cold feet.

A mixed diet of animal and vegetable food is the best; the vegetable portion should predominate.

Regularity of the time in eating has much to do with the preservation of health. Do not eat late suppers.

Water standing for a time in a room becomes impure, by absorbing noxious vapors from the air.

All sleeping rooms should be thoroughly ventilated. The bedding should be often changed and kept well aired.

"Hay fever" may be instantly relieved by bathing the nostrils and closed eyelids with spirits of camphor and warm water.

Whoever eats "heavy" pie crust or "soggy" bread commits a crime against his physical well being and must pay the penalty.

Thoroughly cleanse the cellar. Ventilate it from without, Summer and Winter. Suffer no decayed vegetables to remain it.

Colds are often caught by standing in an open hall or door way during cold weather. The transition of the warm and cold currents causes the trouble.

An eminent physician thinks that more than thirty thousand deaths are caused annually in this country by tight lacing.

Wet or damp clothing should be instantly removed. "Why?" Because they rapidly chill the surface of the body, the heat being carried off by evaporation.

Something Wrong.

Now, we lay it down as a cardinal maxim that, great as any man may be, the country is still greater; that when it is necessary to place any one man above the country something is radically wrong in its institutions.—New York Herald.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE, FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.

No Person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittant Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most Wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

PRIVATE HOSPITAL.

THE SUBSCRIBER TAKES PLEASURE IN announcing to the people of Inyo county that he has purchased and fitted up as a hospital the Beaudry Hotel Building, adjoining the military post at Camp Independence. All the adobes have been removed and their place applied with lumber; the grounds are handsomely laid out with shade trees and clover, and have a pure running stream of mountain water.

There is an excellent bath room and dispensary attached. One room is set aside for the county's sick, leaving ample room for private patients. The Northern Stage Line passes the door, and the place is easy of access from the town of Independence. The charges for board and lodging do not exceed those of any hotel or boarding house, offering equal accommodations, and the establishment has the advantage of having competent help and medical advice always at hand, being close by the house of the post surgeon at the camp.

Sheridan's Escape.

[Correspondence Philadelphia Press.]

In Georgia I heard an incident in connection with Lieut. Gen. Sheridan, which "Little Phil." will read with some surprise, and lay down the paper with some grateful feelings towards the gallant soldier who saved his life. The night previous to the surrender of Lee at Appomattox, Gen. John B. Gordon, who commanded Stonewall Jackson's old corps, Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, commanding the cavalry, and Gen. Longstreet, held a consultation with Gen. R. E. Lee. At this consultation it was agreed that Gen. Gordon should try the Federal strength on the following day. Sheridan was in command opposite Gordon. In accordance with the programme, Gordon made his demonstration next day and was met by Sheridan's cavalry, which he gallantly repulsed, but finding Sheridan well supported by large numbers of infantry, fell back and sent this information to Gen. R. E. Lee. Upon its receipt Gen. Lee ordered the firing to cease, and displayed the white flag under which the surrender was subsequently made. During the cessation of hostilities, and, while Generals Grant and Lee were in consultation, Gen. Sheridan, with a large retinue of officers and men—about one hundred in all—was seen approaching Gen. Gordon's lines. Of course the cavalcade, as it came dashing across the plain, challenged the attention of Gordon's entire force. Chancing to turn his head, Gen. Gordon saw a long, lank Mississippian within a few yards of him, deliberately training his cocked rifle on the approaching horsemen. Gordon dashed at the marksman and rode him down, with an exclamation more emphatic than refined. "What do you mean, sir?" thundered the irate Gordon. "Don't you know that firing has ceased by my order?" "I know, Gineral," replied Mississippi, as he gathered himself up, 'but I thought it were a ridgment acomin' agin us, and I jist sighted that short legged feller, thar, and if you hadn't come up I'd a fotched him whar he sot, and he's been a powerful heap of good to the Yanks."

That man was one of the best shots in the division, and never failed to kill his object when deliberate aim was had. Gordon turned to meet Sheridan, and Buchanan Reads's hero has never known how near his life came to going out with the rebellion. Gen. Gordon is now United States Senator from Georgia.

The Twelve in New Zealand.

The Southern Cross, of New Zealand, is accountable for the following:

In a great many cases juries might be advantageously dispensed with. Not long ago a man was tried for manslaughter in a neighboring colony. One of the witnesses swore he saw the prisoner beating his victim to death with a stick six feet long. Contrary to the opinion of every one in court, the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

"Whatever made you come to such a decision?" was asked, a few days afterward, of the foreman.

"Why, you see, I measured the stick myself, and so far from being six feet long, it was barely four feet six."

In another town, a man was tried for horse stealing. His only defence was that he purchased the horse from a man named Benjamin Brown.

"Had Brown red hair?" interposed a wise juror.

"He had," replied the prisoner.

"That's all right—I knew him and he had red hair. The man has told the truth."

And so, upon the strength of this ludicrous non sequitur, a well-known horse thief was turned loose upon society again.

—A little girl in New Orleans has won, after a patient labor of three months, a prize of a silk dress, by successfully accomplishing the feat of multiplying nine by nine, and eighty-one by eighty-one, and so on, using each succeeding product as its own multiplier, until the operation was performed nine times. The prize has been offered several years, but never before earned. It is said the work comprises 262 numeral compounds and 90,000 figures, and the whole covers four or five square yards of paper.

An Accident Policy Man.

We are rather sorry that George Crook did not capture the Modocs. During the war it was observed that when Gen. Crook was sent after bushwhackers, he never brought any into camp to be bothered with—they always met with some accident. We remember an illustrative occasion. Crook, then Colonel of the Thirty-Sixth Ohio, reported to Rosecrans of Cross Lanes, after the battle of Carnifex Ferry. Rosecrans was delighted to see him, because he had a good helper. The bushwhackers were very troublesome. Crook was ordered to squelch them. About ten days afterwards Crook came into headquarters looking like a man who had been sleeping out o' nights. Rosecrans and the rest of us greeted him warmly, and, after a glass of water, said:

Rosy—"Well, Crook, what did you do?"

Crook—"Cleaned out the darned bushwhackers."

Rosy—"Didn't you take any prisoners?"

Crook (drawling)—"Well, yes. I did have—seven, but the d—d foos fell off a tree and broke their necks."

Headquarters took more water.

Two Centuries Hence.

SCENE—Library in the house of an elderly gent, somewhere in Australia. Old gent telegraphs to the kitchen, and waiter ascends in a balloon.

Old Gent—John, fly over to Calcutta and tell Mr. Johnson that I shall be happy to have him sup with me. Never mind your coat, now—go! John leaves and at the end of five minutes returns:

John—Mr. Johnson says he will come; he has got to go to St. Petersburg for a moment, and then he will be here.

Old Gent—Very well, John. Now start the machine for setting the table, and telegraph to my wife's room and tell her that Johnson is coming; then brush up my balloon, for I have an engagement in London at 12 o'clock.

John flies and the old gentleman runs over to the West Indies to buy a fresh orange.

No Effect.

A German paper contains a reply from a clergyman who was traveling, and who stopped at a hotel much frequented by wags and jokers. The host, not being used to having clergymen at his table, looked at him with surprise; the clerks used all their artillery of wit upon him, without eliciting a remark in self-defence. The worthy clergyman ate his dinner quietly, apparently without observing the gibes and sneers of his neighbors. One of them, at last, in despair at his forbearance, said to him:

"Well, I wonder at your patience! Have you heard what has been said against you?"

"Oh, yes; but I am used to it. Do you know who I am?"

"No, sir."

"Well, I will inform you. I am chaplain of a lunatic asylum. Such remarks have no effect upon me!"

Our State.

California is 78,135 square miles larger than the whole of Great Britain, the latter being 110,846 square miles. It would make twenty-four States the size of Massachusetts, leaving 2,781 square miles; the area of California would make one hundred and forty-five States as large as the State of Rhode Island.

—Mirth is God's medicine. Everybody ought to bathe in it. Grim care, anxiety, moroseness, all this rust of life ought to be scoured off by the oil of mirth. It is better than emery. Every man ought to rub himself with it. A man without mirth is like a wagon without springs, in which every one is caused disagreeably to jolt by every pebble over which it runs.

—How noiselessly the snow comes down! You see it but never hear it. Charity makes no noise in the world, but distributes wherever there is poverty. A person who does good out of pure benevolence never spreads it abroad in the circle in which he moves, nor makes it public through a newspaper.

—A erudite insurance agent sent the following dispatch to a western office just after the Boston fire: "Our companies all sound as a nut. Loss will not exceed $100,000. Advance rates 25 per cent. and go ahead. Our motto is still 'Soc et tw em.'"

—"Cannot something be done to prevent young ladies from being insulted on our streets at night?" asks a Cincinnati paper. There can. Just have the girl's mother tuck her in her little bed about eight o'clock in the evening and lock the door on her.

—The Vienna New Free Press, on what it claims to be good authority, states that the powers entitled to a vote on the election of the Pope agreed during the late illness of Pio Nino, to veto the election of any Cardinal favored by the Jesuits.

—A young man in Peoria sought to secure his sweetheart by strategy; so he took her out for a boat ride and threatened to jump overboard into the lake if she wouldn't marry him. It did not work. She offered to bet him a dollar he dare not dive in.

—We would be better persons if, instead of sitting in judgment on our intellects, we would allow our intellects to sit in judgment on us.

—We suppose the reason the mosquitoes have not appeared in any number yet is that it is so hard to collect bills.

THE THIRD TERM MOVEMENT.

A number of Eastern papers, particularly The New York Herald, are giving considerable space to the discussion of the "third term" principle, it being stated that many federal office-holders, both civil and military, are beginning to advocate President Grant's claims for another term. There is not a syllable in the Constitution to prevent the election of any President for three or more terms—nothing but the two-term precedent established by Washington, but which has been hitherto so strictly adhered to that people would almost think an additional term a violation of the Constitution itself The public are not informed what Gen. Grant thinks about his third candidacy for the Presidency, but this much he can rely on to an absolute certainty—that it would be the hight of absurdity for him to attempt it, though the end of the present term should prove him in all respects to be the very best President this Union has ever been blessed with. His very best friends and most ardent admirers in times past (always excepting a certain class of political vampyres) would then look upon him as a dangerous man, and with the exceptions named, would as a unit interpose their strongest objections. They would then believe that he only sought the opportunity to be a Cæsar indeed; and, though they still should have confidence in him, the principle of such long presidential terms once established and even once safely passed, the precedent could but leave it an open chance for a possible Cæsar, revolution, slavery or disruption for the future. Two terms will do, but three, never—not even if in the two we shall have found President Perfection himself. We have no reason to believe that Grant desires a third term, nor that an addition to the Constitution to prevent such a thing on his part is necessary; but as a proper precaution for the future this amendment ought by all means to be made.

"For Ways That are Dark," Etc.

The modern politician is a cunning animal. In Iowa the Farmers' Granges are supposed to hold the balance of power, and, as a matter of course, the suffrages of this element are eagerly sought after. There is an aspirant for Governor in that State by the name of Lowery, and lately he has been writing letters which he dates "Farm near Davenport." But the papers have discovered that he hasn't an acre of land in the whole country, and never did a day's work on a farm in all his life. As may be well imagined, they are making it unusually warm for Mr. Lowery, and his chances for the support of the agriculturalists are growing beautifully less with the developments which each day brings forth. Indeed, it may be said they have a "corner" on Lowery.

Is Right.

The San Francisco Examiner announces that it will not in future publish the Democratic ticket at the head of its columns unless it is paid for it at regular advertising rates. This is good sense. People generally have curious ideas regarding the obligations of party newspapers. They expect them to advocate their cause through thick and thin and do the party advertising and receive nothing in payment but—the honor of being the party mouthpiece It is not our trouble in any respect, but the stand taken by The Examiner on this point is about the correct thing.

J. L. Ward & Co.

We observe that this Los Angeles firm have succeeded in inaugurating their freight line of fast schooners between Wilmington and San Francisco. It is to be hoped our Inyo shippers will all assist in giving this enterprise a permanent basis. It is only an experiment as yet, but if patronized as it ought to be, it will be a success of general advantage.

State Convention

The Republican State Central Committee have called a State Convention to meet in Sacramento this month to nominate Judges of the Supreme Court.

A Steal.

Very little difference between a penknife and a Congressman. One has a steel back and the other "a back steal," that's all.

—"They put him in a show case," was the remark of a rural lady, who recently attended a city funeral.

THE SAN JOAQUIN SCHEME.

But few of our readers but know that in the San Joaquin Valley there is a vast expanse of good lands which without artificial means of irrigation are wholly worthless for farming purposes. Interspersed, however, through this expanse are numerous areas of greater or less extent susceptible of irrigation at small cost, and on these many small farmers have made their homes; but it is their desire that the whole region should become settled up. This can be brought about only through a heavy expenditure of money in constructing an extensive canal. The enterprise, if undertaken on a right basis—that is to say, on the live and let live principle—would meet the approbation and receive substantial support from the settlers of the valley, as well as other portions of the State. It would add much to the property value of the State, and apparently wrong no man, since it would redeem only the waste places. But it seems that this desirable end cannot possibly be accomplished, except as a gouge and a swindle upon poor men. Now comes the "San Joaquin and King's River Irrigation Company," with the most infamous scheme of robbery in the shape of a monopoly that has yet been proposed in this State. They agree to build the canal and finish it before the first of March, 1875, and that is the only obligation they take upon themselves. For this boon they ask in return: The free gift and exclusive right of the waters of the lakes and rivers on the route, from Kern Lake to the mouth of the San Joaquin.

As soon as any portion of the canal is available every acre of land lying below the canal, or that can be irrigated with its waters, is to be taxed $1 50 to aid the construction, no matter whether it is irrigated or not. To this sum another dollar in coin is to be added when the canal is completed. If this $2 50 or any portion of it remains unpaid at that date, and previous intervals when instalments are due, it is to be charged ten per cent. per annum until paid.

One-sixteenth of all the crops raised on these lands, whether by irrigation or otherwise, for five years is to go to the company, this and the paying requirement to be secured by mortgage on the lands.

One of the San Joaquin farmers sums up the matter as follows:

"You do not apply for a lease of the waters of the rivers and lakes mentioned above, but your document secures your right to those waters and to our lands to yourselves and to your successors throughout all time. You claim the right to go over all and every part of the land lying on the line of your proposed canal with men, horses, vehicles, etc., to aid in the construction, maintenance and repairing of the same whenever it may suit your convenience—you doing as little damage as possible.

You propose to charge the usual rates for irrigation. What are we to understand by usual rates? What security do you offer that your charges will not be so exorbitant that it will impoverish a poor man to pay for it? You word of honor? No; that you can't give. No man can give what he does not possess, however generously inclined he may be. You send copies of this "contract for subsidy" of yours to all the large landholders on the line of your proposed canal, offering them contracts for building the same, and asking their assistance to help along your scheme. Yes, offering to buy their co operation, as you expect to purchase and bribe the Legislature to give you the water of lakes and rivers which they have no moral right whatever to give even the control of to grasping monopolies, which are fast becoming the scourge and ruin of this country.

By what right do you claim so monstrous a gift as the exclusive use and control of the lakes and rivers mentioned in this article from the Legislature of a free people? Why do you presume to make such outrageous propositions as those embodied in your "contract for subsidy" to the people of an intelligent community? Why, sirs, you would own us; we would be but your serfs, beholden to your mercy for the bread we would put into our children's mouths. You would, with a high hand backed by legal authority, rob a large community of their homesteads and of their birthright, and with the combined wealth of these spoils would make yourselves millionaires. What do you take us for? Fools outright? Slaves from some foreign land, used to despotism, and ready and willing to bow our necks for the yoke of the burden you would place upon us? No so fast; have a care how you attempt to plant your feet upon the neck of the people; just step one side and do not give your precious souls further thought about the irrigation of our valleys. We will attend to that little matter ourselves, without any interference from disinterested parties."

"Be it resolved," saith the Inyo Ring, in those beautiful resolutions, "that we are opposed to all monopolists, as such, that enrich the few at the expense of the many, yet we will encourage the banding together of men for the purpose of carrying ont any laudable business or enterprise—according to our 'honest' interpretation of what a 'laudable enterprise' is." Which means any swindle whatever like that of the San Josquin canal, by which we can turn an "honest" penny. "Rings mean money and power." Who wouldn't belong to a ring and set baits (see resolves) to catch gudgeons! "D——n the gudgeons."

PLATFORMS AND CANDIDATES

The Democratic convention over in the Tulare district put forth a set of resolutions as a platform upon which their nominees are to stand, which, in most particulars, will exactly meet the views of the party voters, and in various leading points, of those of the opposition as well. On this platform Thomas Fowler, for State Senator, is mounted and expects to ride into office, because he is the regular nominee, stands on the party platform, and party men must vote for him or be ruled out. So far there is nothing very wrong in this. Mr. Fowler, no doubt, will do his best to give effect to the principles and objects enunciated in the platform, but the trouble is, the only issue of special importance to his district is studiously ignored in this written form, and really considered, this issue is paramount to all others. It is the only one upon which he has ever made a record, or in which he differs from other equally as capable aspirants for the same position. He knows, and his party managers know, that full three-fourths of his party and of the people of that district are diametrically opposed to his desires on this issue, yet, by virtue of a generally acceptable party platform, this highly objectionable feature and its representative is silently but very forcibly crammed down their throats, and voters are explicitly informed they must take all together or no longer be considered party men. The potent power of this threat is very great with a certain class, and may in this instance be sufficient to secure the desired object, to wit: the election of a man whom they know is bound to continue in force the very law of all others that they, the people, most earnestly desire changed, and all through the effect of party rule and a few glittering generalities, the most important of which is of comparative insignificance. Parties are good things and ought to be sustained, but never as mere machines run wholly in the interest of arrogant, overbearing schemers and managers whose individual interests are alone to be attained.

The paramount question with the Democratic party and people generally of Tulare is the fence question, that of the Republican party of Inyo is the Senatorial question. Look at the record and surroundings of the leading nominees in both and let any honest man say if either is truly represented; if both are not required to support men who, if elected, totally misrepresent the wishes of their respective parties on the main question. Yet if you do not vote for them you are not a party man; you are asked and imperatively ordered to give the lie direct to your honest sentiments and assist in carrying out the wishes of a few arrogant schemers, or you are no longer a Democrat, no longer a Republican; you must vote a lie, or, politically speaking, take up your abode elsewhere.

Some More Resolves.

We print some more resolves this week—this time of the Mono Republicans. They are good enough so far as they go, and they go a little further than the reversible institutions promulgated by our little local ring here. At first glance one would think it would worry Sneden and Rogers, who are both endorsed, mightily to straddle over all the ground of these and the reversibles and Gorham and monopolis at the same time—but the worry won't amount to much if they get elected They can take Gorham and "not another acre to a corporation" and "inquire" how fares are all at the same time, and without any trouble "whatsumdever." They know an attorney is bound to do the best he can for his client, so the "inquiring" and "not another acre vote" requirement is bound to give serious offence to the client. We rather admire the position these seven by nine "Conventions" (!) take on the only issue of general importance, that concerning United States Senator and grabs and steals. "The least said the soonest mended," is the axiom of the nominees, so they don't admire conventions that talk too much on disagreeable subjects; all that's needed to woolwind voters is a few innoxious resolves, and these we have are very innoxious indeed, considered in relation to their ostensible object, and forgetting all about the antecedents of the intended enterpreters.

Neither of these so-called Conventions nor their legislative nominees dared, nor do dare, to emphatically touch the paramount issue; hence the woolwinding process.

Announcements.

District Judge A. C. Bradford announces himself as a candidate for re-election to the position of District Judge, subject to the decision of the Democratic District Judicial Convention. Hon. J. Burckhalther is announced as an independent candidate for re election to the Assembly from Tulare and Kern counties.—Tulare Times.

IN A BAD WAY.

If we are to accept the facts and figures presented, after due investigation, by The San Francisco Bulletin, the Central Pacific Railroad is in a bad way, indeed. Its aggregate debts are presented at $108,618,000. Its aggregate debts upon which annual interest must be paid foot up $107,000,000, of which, including accumulated and unpaid interest, $35 000,000 is owing to the United States. Independent of this sum, its other liabilities are $72,000,000 on which the interest must be promptly paid. Six millions have been borrowed from San Francisco capitalists at not less than one per cent per month. The annual interest on this foots up $720,000. The liabilities of what the Bulletin calls the "Vallejo system" of the company's railway property are $10,000,000 in mortgage bonds, bearing interest at eight per cent, and requiring $800,000 a year. Reckoning the interest on the $62,000 of other debts at the low rate of six per cent per annum, it will require $3,720,000 a year to pay it. Altogether the figures of annual interest payments required from the company amount to $5,240,000, not including the $28,000,000 of second mortgage Government bonds, the interest on which, if the next Congress does its duty, the company will have to square up every year. This amounts to $1,680,000. The grand total of interest payments is therefore $6,920,000. The net earnings of the system for the year ending June 30, 1872, are set down at $5,056,433, or $1,863,467 less than the interest on the company's liabilities.

In searching for the cause of so enormous a debt, The Bulletin can find none but in "the Credit Mobilliers" of the managers of the road. "The Contract and Finance Company," it says, "was in reality nothing more than the Credit Mobillier of the Pacific Slope." In proof of this it is instanced that "while the liabilities of the company have been steadily increasing, its managers, as members of the Contract and Finance Company, have been amassing colossal fortunes. They have grown rich just in proportion as the debts of the company have increased. When it is considered that the United States is a part of the company, interested to the extent of $35,000,000, it is not difficult to see why these members of the Contract and Finance "ring" are now so actively working to carry the next Legislature of this State, defeat Booth for the Senate and make Gorham Senator If they succeed in this they may possibly stave off the investigation into their affairs for a year or two more, and evade a suit in equity like that now pending against the Credit Mobilier, to make them account for the moneys they have rung from the Government and other stockholders by fraudulent contracts. It is but fair to state, however, on the other hand, that The Sacramento Record, in commenting on The Bulletin's figures pronounces them so wide of the truth as to be absurd. But The Record, though the railroad organ, does not offer to substitute the real figures in detail. It don't matter whether The Bulletin is right in every particular or not, it is certain that this road, notwithstanding its enormous earnings over and above its legitimate expenses, is many millions in arrears both to the general Government and to capitalists, and therefore it is evident the honest, helpless stockholders—or the company proper—have been most foully dealt with by the managing ring. Acting thus with respect to lawful partners in interest, what is it such men would not do to ring every available cent out of the people, who are by this corporation only regarded as peons? Brigham Young only tithes his people one tenth If we give them the power, this railroad will tithe us, every one, nearer nine tenths.

Stocks.

The stock reporter of The San Francisco Chronicle takes on in this style:

"'There is no balm in California street,' exclaim the stock operators; 'we have waited from day to day; we have soaked all our collaterals; we have pawned all our personal valuables—our jewels, our shirts, our clothes, and yet the cry goes up, 'mud—more mud.' All our efforts are in vain. Verily, these lamentations are worse than those of Jeremiah. Jeremiah was a doggoned fool—he dealt not in stocks. Job was an ass—what patience would he have had, boils or no boils, with stocks at present figures?'"

Fresno County.

We are informed that R. E. Hyde, of Visalia, has consented to become an independent Democratic candidate for Senator from this district. Mr. Hyde is a man of progressive ideas, and if he is sound on the "No-fence," will be the man who will receive the popular support.

We have received letters from different parts of the county expressing great disgust at the result of the Senatorial Convention at Visalia, and announcing a determination to defeat Fowler. No consistent no-fence man can support him.—Expositor, July 23.

Letter from Wallapai.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

CERBAT, A. T., July 13.

MR. EDITOR: Since my last we have had a marriage, birth, horse-stealing, mining sales and a killing.

On the evening of the 9th instant Joseph Bernard shot and killed one Charles Ford, at Chloride, which makes a total of four men killed at that quiet village. From the evidence, it appears that the cause and circumstances of the shooting were as follows: Ford and one George Sterling, two rough customers, called on Bernard for whisky Bernard refused, saying he had no license, and that they both owed him old bills, etc., when they called him all the vile epithets in their extensive vocabulary, and topped off by firing six shots at him through the door and window. Presently Bernard let Ford have one right where he lived, and as the ball closed Ford was a dead man. After a fair examination and a strong prosecution, Bernard was discharged. This makes eight violent deaths in fourteen months; eight were leaded and two steeled.

Wm. Francis, formerly of Ivanpah, is supposed to be lost, in the vicinity of the Hope mine or Cedar Valley, and to have perished, as he started for camp fifteen days ago and has not been heard of since.

As for mining news we have nothing very exciting. The Hope is developing slowly but surely. The ore is as good as ever, and will, I think, fairly average $500 per ton. The ledge is now traceable for 23 miles. We have had two green spectacled gentlemen among us for some weeks past—a Mr. Green and a Mr. Durand. The former says the ores of this camp will have to be smelted, as they are very base, carrying lead, iron, zinc and a little of all the rest. The furnaces are not doing much at present, as the lead mines are not developed and are rather "scace." Mr. Elder has been doing good work; on the 3d instant in small batches he run a ton of bullion in six hours, worth over freight and on the ground $269. He could have kept up his lick but for the fire-brick giving out, they melting about as easy as some of the ores. He has just made an arrangement with Mr Daniels to furnish him ore and coal, and says that he will now make the thing go, sure. I Hope so, anyhow.

An immense body of lead has been found in Box Canyon, 100 miles northeast of this place, which assays 80 ounces of silver to the ton and 65 per cent. lead There is in sight $5,000 tons of splendid carbonate ore. Charles Spencer is the fortunate discoverer.

Eastern News.

Baltimore was visited by a great fire on the 25th, instant. Ten blocks were burned, and the loss is about $800 000.

A convention of railroad officials, representing twenty roads which was held at St. Louis July 25th, resolved that no more free passes or half fare tickets shall be issued after the 1st of August next.

The Missouri State Temperance Alliance declares in favor of a civil damage liquor law for that State.

St Louis police think the robbers who made the raid upon the railroad train at Adair recently are the same band that committed the bank robberies in Missouri two years ago, having their rendezvous in Jackson county.

Forest fires on Long Island have destroyed a large tract of timber and some farm houses, also one small town.

Republicans of Massachusetts held a meeting at Boston on the 25th to protest against the nomination of General Butler, author of the back pay steal, for Governor of that State. The meeting was well attended and an executive committee was appointed to draw up an address to the people of the State.

Groesbeck refuses the nomination of the Democracy for Governor of Ohio.

Arizona News.

[From The Arizona Miner, July 19]

Capt. Bemis' command, after suffering great hardships in marching through deserts, succeeded in corraling 200 Apaches in the Castle Dome Mountains, and marched them all to the Camp Verde Reservation. This closes out that hostile band.

In Chloride, Wallapai, Joe Burnaud shot and killed Charles Ford.

Elder's furnace, in Cerbat, is being remodeled, the inferior quality of the fire brick used being the only obstacle to a perfect success in smelting.

The mill at Mineral Park, same district, is running and doing well.

The usual milling, arastraing, placer mining and prospecting are being carried on around Prescott and Wickenburg.

"First Lieutenant Charles P. Egan Twelfth Infantry, arrived at Department Headquarters on Monday evening in company with Lieut Bourke. Lieut. Eagan has been on duty with the troops operating against the Modocs and will be remembered as an officer who was badly wounded while gallantly leading his company in one of the actions in the Lava Beds. He goes to Camp Mohave for duty.

Hanged.

Charles A. Russell was hanged in San Francisco Friday, July 25, for the murder of James Crotty. An extraordinary pressure was brought to bear on Gov. Booth for a commutation of the sentence but to no purpose except a temporary delay in the time of execution. He was executed at 25 minutes past 2. He met his death with remarkable coolness, consoled in his last moments by Rev. Dr. Carpenter. His neck was broken by the fall, and his death seemed to have been speedy and painless.

ANOTHER GREAT LAND GRAB.

There will doubtless be a new and strenuous effort made at the next session of Congress to pass the bill for establishing a territorial government over the Indian Territory. "There are," says The New York Sun, "millions of acres of the finest lands in the world in this territory, belonging to different tribes who own the lands under a clear title from the Government of the United States, which two or three railroad companies expect to grab if the proposed Territorial Government should be established. Last month the railroad companies gave some ninety Congressmen, Senators and Representatives a free pass through the Indian Nations to Galveston, Texas. On the way there they were provided with all the delicacies of the season, in the way of eating and drinking, champagne being a great deal more common on the Congressional train than water. Porters made regular trips through the cars with cigars, brandy and whisky. Due care was taken to impress it on the minds of the excursionists that the country they were passing through was too fair to be given over to barbarism; and the result of all this we shall see next Winter.

"It will be interesting to note how many of the junketing Congressmen who were on this grand spree arrive at the conclusion that the progress of civilization requires that the Indians in this Territory shall be robbed of their property. If the railroad companies only get their 12,000,000 acres of land they want there, the whisky, champagne and other luxuries which they produced will indeed have been placed where they would do the most good."

Tacoma.

This little village on Puget Sound has been selected as the terminus of the Northern Pacific Railroad. It is on an inlet five miles from the Sound, some forty miles northeast of Olympia. Although it has but a few hundred inhabitants, it managed to outbid its rival, Seattle, for the desired boon. The company secures its entire water front. It is in the center of an immense lumbering region, surrounded at some distance by a good grazing country, but in its immediate vicinity the farming region is quite limited. It will probably be a large manufacturing center, and a maratime city of some importance.

Reckless.

Alf. Doten is certainly a reckless man. With all his past trials and tribulations and the experience of others to warn him, he has deliberately on the 24th of July, in the middle of Lake Tahoe, dared the squalls and tempests of the matrimonial sea, and then and there took unto himself a wife. Mary Stoddard was her name, and now its her own Doten' husband, and not the devil, that will "carry The News to Mary."

—An Albany ten-year-old stole out a can of his mother's blackberry jam, and divided it with a little girl upon whom he was particularly sweet. The little girl, after eating it, was so exceedingly grateful as to go and tell on Charlie and get him licked. He now says he won't ever throw any more jam into that mean girl.

ALL subscriptions and transient advertisements must invariably be paid for in advance. Advertisements, to insure insertion, should be handed in on or before 6 o'clock P. M. of each Friday.

To Central Committees and Whom it May Concern.

We wish to give timely notice to all whom it may concern—Central Committees and Independent candidates—that we do not propose to print any of the ballots at this office for the ensuing election. The reason for this is that a specified quality of paper is required by law for the ballots, and to obtain this in time, it will have to come by express at a cost which entails a double cost for the printing here over San Francisco rates, or a loss to ourselves—and we don't want either one or the other. Fix up your tickets and send them below for printing in time. In regard to the publication of tickets in these columns, we wish it understood that all, independents and regulars, can find a place and on exactly equal terms of course. Furthermore, we will publish free of charge any respectfully worded communication from any one upon any current issue or topic, the real name of the writer in all cases to accompany every such communication, and to be published at the bottom of the same if especially prepared in its application.

The Cottonwood Flume.

This important undertaking is progressing finely. Last week about one mile of the flume, from the head, had been laid. This is over the heaviest incline and the ruggedest portion of the entire route. As fast as completed in short sections the flume is used in sending down material for the next succeeding, and thus its efficacy is being tested at every step. In this essential point it is a success in every respect, and Col. Stevens is delighted accordingly. The saw mill, at the head of the flume, besides the main saw is fitted with an edger and cross cut, used in preparing flume timbers, and altogether is considered the best mill in the county. An accident occurred a short time since which will delay its work a short time. This was by twisting off the shaft of the turbine, which has to go to San Francisco for repairs. There is enough lumber already out, however, to keep the work going ahead on the flume until the wheel is in place again

For County Surveyor.

Mr. C. E. Krause, in this issue, at the solicitation of numerous friends, announces himself as an independent candidate for the position of County Surveyor. We have good reason to believe Mr. Krause abundantly well qualified for the duties of that office. For several years past he has in various places on the coast been engaged as United States Deputy Mineral Surveyor. In this capacity he last Spring made the San Felipe survey in Cerro Gordo. At present he is engaged in Panamint district, which, by the way, he thinks will soon prove itself the richest and most attractive of any in this State—a view in which he is corroborated in that of others acquainted out there.

More of It.

From various places in the county we are hearing complaints of drunken Indians and threatening demonstrations in consequence. Unless some decisive step is taken soon to put a stop to selling whisky to these Indians we will certainly have some serious results to chronicle. Two or three promising prospects of this kind recently were only averted by mere accident. A coat of tar and feathers and a free ride on a rail, if administered to the proper cutthroats who furnish the Indians the whisky, would doubtless have a most salutary effect.

Rumored Murder.

It is currently reported that a young woman well known here as Miss Howard, or Mrs. Fly, divorcee, was deliberately murdered while sitting in the stage at Los Angeles ready to start for Visalia, and by a former resident of Lone Pine, with whom she was traveling. The name of the reputed murderer we cannot now give. The story goes that he insisted on her accompanying him to Salt Lake; she refused, and got in the stage as above, when he stepped up and shot her through the head. We give the story as we hear it, but do not vouch for its authenticity.

Lida Valley.

Times are very quiet in Lida Valley since Hiskey & Walker's mill shut down. This result was caused, not by any failure of the mines or mill, but that of the San Francisco firm, Parker, Wattson & Co., whose property, including an interest in this mill, is under attachment, hence the stoppage. It is thought an early arrangement can be effected so that the mill and work will soon start up again, a consummation most ardently desired out in that region.

Quiet.

Everything is quiet and serene hereabouts these warm days. Except the bread and butter question, there is nothing to excite anybody or create any stir, which is very fortunate sweltheringly considered in connection with the thermometer at 107 in the shade.

Regular Term.

A regular term of the Board of Supervisors begins on Monday next.

Photographing.

We understand that Mr. Addis is doing a fine business in Lone Pine taking landscape and building views and pictures. We have a little interest in these views, inasmuch as we have in contemplation a work connected with the history of this country, in which, when carried out, we hope to present engravings, copied from these photographs, of every object of interest that would in the least tend to perfect it as a history. The publication of such a history will be a big undertaking, and may not be attempted at all, but on the chances that it will be, we hope to secure the above means of perfecting it. Anyhow Mr. Addis takes very fine views and is worthy of patronage. He goes to Cerro Gordo this coming week.

Quiescent.

Local politics are extremely quiescent about these times—no buttonholing, no speech making, no "walk up and have something, boys," no fears, hopes nor scares manifest, though candidates are thicker than fiddlers in Vienna. So far we know of but one in the whole gang making the least effort at a canvass, but no doubt as the dog days draw near we'll hear them pipe on every side. As Chauncer elegantly remarks, "toot your horns if you don't sell a clam"—or corral a vote, otherwise it will be monotonous and lethargic like.

Vamoosed the Ranch.

Messrs. Wilson & Gage, painters, honored our town for several months with their presence and our merchants and others with their patronage, but a few days since they, very suddenly, though not unexpectedly, withdrew from the anxious gaze of the aforesaid merchants and others. Now, these have better sense than to lift up their voices in wailing or gnashing of gums at this late period. Cause why: Every evil has its compensation. Let us Gage our sorrows according to loss.

Still Running.

Notwithstanding the report to the contrary, which, by the way, was based on good authority, both the Cerro Gordo furnaces will continue in operation. At least Beaudry's is now, while Belshaw's is undergoing repairs no doubt with a view of a steady run. The Swansea furnace is and has been running steadily, except a few days in the beginning of last month, when work was suspended to rebuild.

Obnoxious.

Some gentlemen in blue from up the country, occasionally make our streets the arena for a display of horse and mulemanship, and in doing so, render themselves very obnoxious to ladies and children passing along. We want items, but if they are to consist of broken limbs, we want them to belong to those better able to stand it than women or children.

Contested Land Case.

A considerable amount of evidence is being taken before the land officers here to determine the right of possession to a certain quarter section of land on Bishop Creek, adversely claimed by J. N. Doyle and W. T. Wiswall. The evidence will not be closed before Monday next, to which day the hearing was adjourned from yesterday.

In the Field Again

By his advertisement, elsewhere in this issue it will be seen that Mr. E. Olinghouse, the popular Los Angeles forwarding agent, is again in the field, and prepared to forward all goods marked to his care immediately after arrival at the depot.

Gone to Aurora.

P. Reddy, Esq., has gone to Aurora in connection with some law matters of considerable importance to the parties in interest. He will be absent for a week or two yet.

Arm Broken.

Piute Jim, or Jack, or something, while engaged last week in hauling a load of hay for George Collins, on Bishop Creek, fell from the wagon and broke his arm.

Preaching.

Rev. A. Clark will preach at George's Creek to morrow at 11 A. M., and in this place at half past 7 in the evening

Recruits.

A detachment of sixteen recruits for Camp Independence are on the way hither from San Francisco.

The Steal.

A Washington correspondent, writing under date of July 15th, says:

Up to-day forty-eight Senators have drawn their back pay and kept it. The list of those who have drawn theirs and returned it remains steady at fifteen, leaving ten who as yet have not drawn their money. Notwithstanding the reports to the contrary, the positive statement is made at the Capitol that no one in ten has sent in any notification that he does not intend to draw his money. All, except those are now abroad. Messrs Edmunds and Schurz, have drawn four months' ($2,500) advance pay under the new law.

Los Angeles.

In Los Angeles on the 24th instant a gang of hoodlums made a raid on a Chinese school and pelted the windows with stones, one of which hit the teacher, Miss Belle Swift. One or two heathens received slight injuries. Mr. J. Banks shot a Mexican named Domingo Ayella, in a quarrel about Government land. The ball passed through his arm and body inflicting a dangerous wound. Banks was arrested.

—A Portland man, caught fishing for trout on another man's land the other day, completely silenced the owner, who remonstrated, with the majestic answer, "Who wants to catch your trout? I am only trying to drown this worm."

POLITICAL.

Proceedings of the Mono County Republican Convention.

The Republican Convention of Mono county convened at Bridgeport, July 23, 1873, and organized by electing F. K. Bechtel, Esq., as Chairman, and W. T. Elliott Secretary. The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The Union Republican party of Mono county, by its representatives in Convention assembled, believing that it is their right as well as duty to set forth their views upon certain questions now being agitated by the Republican party, have

Resolved, That while we do not seek to proscribe or persecute any association or body of people, whether corporate or otherwise, so long as such association or corporation shall keep within the sphere of its legitimate pursuits, we yet see the necessity of sending a warning word to our people west of the Sierras, begging them to set out efficient guards against the encroachment of all monopolies.

Resolved, That it is a duty the Legislature owes to the people to carefully inquire into the matter of freights and fares on our railroads, and, if necessary, enact such laws regulating the same as may be wise, judicious and equitable.

Resolved, That we are opposed to granting another acre or giving another dollar to any corporation or individual, and that the public lands be kept for actual settlers to the end that each may have a homestead.

Resolved, That we are opposed to the taxation of growing crops, and in favor of taxation of money, and inasmuch as the law as at present constructed enables the owner of money to escape taxation, we favor a law compelling all persons on a certain day to account to the Assessor for all moneys owned by him at a certain time, and that taxation of solvent debts should be regulated by law so as to avoid double taxation.

Resolved, That we are in favor of a reduction of the fees of officers, both county and State, to take effect at the earliest practicable moment, the better to prevent the sale of nominations for the sake of the spoils, and believing that the great Republican party is identified with these, it is further

Resolved, That we renew our plighted faith in the integrity of the people composing that party.

Resolved, That we heartily indorse the nominations made by the Republican County Conventions of Tuolumne and Inyo counties, of E. A. Rogers for Senator, and W. G. Long and Seth G. Sneden, for Assembly, and pledge them our united support.

Resolved, That the action of our County Central Committee in nominating Hon. Theron Reed for District Judge of the 16th Judicial District is also fully indorsed and approved.

Resolved, That the nominees of this Convention pledge themselves to a faithful support of the foregoing principles.

NOMINATIONS:

Assembly, Lloyd Goodnow.
County Judge, J. W. Kingsley.
Clerk, J. W. Towle.
Sheriff, J. J. Welch.
District Attorney, A. W. Crocker.
Treasurer, A. F. Bryant.
Assessor, J. W. Stewart.
Surveyor, J. G. Thompson.
School Superintendent, E. R. Miner.
Coroner, Clark Sinclair.

New Rule.

The Washington Star gives notice of a new rule governing the patronage of the departments. It says:

A movement will be made at an early day by the proper officials of the Treasury Department to enforce the rule prohibiting the employment of two persons of the same family in the department. It is known that in many cases man and wife hold Government positions, the marriage being kept secret for the purpose of retaining places. There are at least five instances of the kind in the Treasury, and it is the intention of Secretary Richardson to enforce the rule strictly. He evidently does not believe in fostering whole families at the expense of the army of meritorious applicants for position, nor does he mean to depress the marriage market, but on the contrary, is inclined to help it along, inasmuch as marriages of female department employes usually create vacancies.

Wheeler's Expedition.

From a private letter to a gentleman in this city, dated at Richfield, July 16, we gather the following information: Lieut. Hoxie, of Lieut. Wheeler's expedition, has just arrived from the Colorado. He found it impossible to get west from the Dirty Devil river to the Prairie river. He had a hard trip of it, living on coon for several days and suffering from thirst. He reports that part of Northern Arizona is the roughest and most inaccessible country in the world. Since his arrival here Lieut Hoxie has ascertained from the Indians that none of them have ever been able to cross the ridge to the west of the Dirty Devil. Notwithstanding their rough trip and the hardships they endured, Lieut. Hoxie and his men are in good spirits. We are promised fuller details in a few days.—Pioche Record

Only Two.

The contest for Senator on the Democratic side seems to be narrowing down to Casserly and Wallace, with the chances in favor of Casserly. Wallace's friends are struggling hard, but they find supporters only among the chivalry end of the Democratic party, and that end is now whittled down to a very fine point. If the railroad cannot elect Gorham, Wallace is their next choice.—S. F. Chronicle.

—A New York paper says those men who place a $10 bill on the desk of a Government clerk as they go to make inquiries have their questions answered with promptness and dispatch, and go out feeling that the stories of red tape are malicious lies and slanders.

Pacific Coast News.

In Lower Gold Hill, Nevada, some workmen have been recently clearing out an old shaft, known as the Brown shaft. Two dead bodies, evidently the victims of murder, have been found at different points in the debris and it is thought more will be found. These murders were committed some five or six years ago.

Forest fires are raging in Santa Barbara county, causing extremely warm weather there. We thought something was wrong, it is so warm here.

A Salt Lake dispatch of the 24th says: A frightful tragedy occurred at North Bingham Canyon to-day. A ranchero named Cotton and two sons were killed by another ranchero named Butcher, with a rifle. The cause is probably an old feud. The remains of the deceased were carried home by the widow and daughter in a lumber wagon. Great excitement exists in Bingham over the affair. It is not known whether Butcher has been arrested.

In Los Angeles the entire local press favor the Independent movenment.

Dewey, of The Visalia Delta office, received a bad wound from the kick of a horse over on Kern river. The bones of one leg are much injured.

H. M. Garvey was shot and instantly killed by William Sullivan in Salt Lake a few nights ago. The trouble originated about some mining ground.

The anti monopoly Republican ticket was carried in Santa Clara county on the 24th at the primary election, by a vote of two to one, and the monopoly voted a large number of Democrats.

The Governor of Oregon has called a special election, to be held October 13, to enable the people to choose a successor to their late Congressmen, J. G. Wilson, deceased.

A company now engaged in the canal enterprise on the Fresno river are now about to send a force to the mountains with a view of endeavoring to turn the waters of some of the various mountain streams into the Fresno river.

The Gold Hill (Nevada) News of July 23 says: Water is retailing at present in Gold Hill at the rate of one bit per bucket. Beer is worth two bits per quart.

The California Bank building at Virginia City is being most substantially reconstructed. The roof and upper story will be much better and stronger than before the late explosion and fire.

VARIETIES.

—"Why do they call the people who live in some of the South Sea Islands, cannibals?" asked an old man of a sailor. "Because they live on other people," answered the sailor. "Then," said the old man pensively, "my sons-in-law must be cannibals, for they live on me."

—A bald-headed man says he can,t sleep a wink after daylight any more, owing to the flies and misquitoes that get on top of his head, where they skate and slide around so recklessly as to give him the fidgets all the time they are taking their recreation.

—At a candy-pull recently the two-gallon pot full of blazing liquid was put out in the yard to cool, while the jolity went on inside. The cat's corpse was removed and the candy given to the poor.

—Not to be behindhand with farmers, the ice companies have increased their charges this year on the plausible ground that, like all other crops, the ice crop, too, was seriously affected by the frost last Winter.

—Upon the arrival of a train, an old lady affectionately greeted a stylish young lady as follows: "Well, how'd do, Mariar? Why, how funny ye look! Didn't hardly know ye! Got yer false teeth, ain't ye?"

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE, FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.

No Person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittant Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most Wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

PRIVATE HOSPITAL.

THE SUBSCRIBER TAKES PLEASURE IN announcing to the people of Inyo county that he has purchased and fitted up as a hospital the Beaudry Hotel Building, adjoining the military post at Camp Independence. All the adobes have been removed and their place applied with lumber; the grounds are handsomely laid out with shade trees and clover, and have a pure running stream of mountain water.

There is an excellent bath room and dispensary attached. One room is set aside for the county's sick, leaving ample room for private patients. The Northern Stage Line passes the door, and the place is easy of access from the town of Independence. The charges for board and lodging do not exceed those of any hotel or boarding house, offering equal accommodations, and the establishment has the advantage of having competent help and medical advice always at hand, being close by the house of the post surgeon at the camp.

A Great Aqueduct.

[From The Eureka Sentinel.]

A dispatch published in The Sentinel announces the completion of the great aqueduct which is to convey water from the vicinity of Lake Bigler to Virginia City and Gold Hill, a distance of something near fifteen miles. The water is conducted for a considerable distance down the Sierra Nevada Mountains by means of an immense flume. We find in The Gold Hill News a lengthy description of the aqueduct, from which we extract some of the more important facts. "The pipe," says that journal, "which is the main and most difficult feature of the entire enterprise, commences on a spur a little over two miles west of the Lake View toll-gate, at a perpendicular elevation of 1,885 feet above the track of the Virginia and Truckee railroad; thence follows in an easterly course to the crest of the spur, and crosses the valley at the Lake View toll-gate, and gradually ascends to its easterly or outlet end at a point five miles east of the toll-gate, thus making the entire length of the pipe seven miles and 134 feet. The perpendicular elevation of the inlet is 465 feet, but for the present only 300 feet is to be used, as this head will give a supply amounting to about ten times the quantity Virginia and Gold Hill have been using thus far. The quantity that this head will convey into Virginia City every 24 hours equals 1,900,000 gallons, which amount, by increasing the head to 465 feet, will be increased to 2,350,000 per diem. The pressure which the pipe will be compelled to sustain, including the head of 300 feet, i. e., when the water is in full motion on its way forward to Virginia, will be 1,720 feet, a pressure which no engineer in the wide world, to our knowledge, has ever yet attempted to overcome in conducting water through pipes. The highest pressure so far known in the history of hydraulic engineering was borne by the Cherokee pipe, in the construction of which the Chief Engineer of this work held the position of Consulting Engineer. The Cherokee pipe sustains a pressure of 930 feet, which was regarded at the time (in 1871) as a great triumph in engineering enterprises. The amount of rolled iron used in the construction of the pipe was 1,150,000 pounds; number of rivets, 1,000,000. The amount of lead used in laying the pipe was 52,000 pounds. Contiguous pipes were connected by a lead joint so constructed that the greater the pressure the tighter becomes the joint—the only one, in fact, which is capable of withstanding the enormous pressure."

The total cost of the work, including the purchase of land needed by the company, aggregated nearly $750,000. Messrs. James Flood, W. O'Brien, John Skae, James G. Fair, John Mackey and Senator Hobart are the principal owners. We congratulate our friends on the Comstock on the success of this great enterprise, which will doubtless afford them in the future an inexhaustible supply of pure mountain water.

Sarah Winnemucca Explains.

The Carson Appeal has aroused the ire of the Piute nation by calling their favorite Princess, Sarah Winnemucca Bartlett, a Digger or a descendant of Digger Indians. Mrs. Bartlett is at present residing in this city, and sends us the following note dated Saturday last: Editors Chronicle—Some of my people are very angry because I have been called by The Carson Appeal a Digger, or descendant of Diggers. They will not give me any rest until I refute the slander. The truth is I am full Pahute blood, descending from the Truckee and Winnemucca families, and was born at Humboldt Sink. What little schooling I have I got at San Jose Convent.

SARAH W. BARTLETT.

—Virginia Chronicle, July 21.

—It is a remarkable fact that the moment a woman writes a letter she is frantic to put it into the postoffice, although she may have been putting off the writing for six months.

—A Danbury woman who is the mother of seven children, all boys, and does her own work, was recently asked why she didn't get a girl. She blushed painfully.

What Public Men Owe to Newspapers.

[From The St. Louis Democrat.]

Col. Forney complains, in a well written article in The Philadelphia Press, that public men are, as a class, ungrateful to the newspapers and the journalists to whom they, in many instances, owe their position. Nobody is more competent to speak on this subject than Col. Forney himself. He has made more statesmen out of small material than any man in America. He has taken a more active part in the personnel of American politics in the last twenty years than almost any other man. Much of his work has been that of a politician rather than that of a journalist, but in either capacity he has always been able to serve his friends well, and he has always served them faithfully. His reward has been very small. If he had left politics alone and devoted himself exclusively to journalism, he might have made a greater name than Greeley's and a greater fortune than Bennett's. But he was always very fond of helping some friend to an office, and always had a taste for political intrigue with a purpose of this kind. His experience, has, no doubt, been that of a hundred others who have operated in the same way on a smaller scale. Make a governor out of an alderman to-day, and to-morrow he'll tell you that he owes his elevation to his own superior merits. Forney made a President of the United States out of James Buchanan—but before the old public functionary had taken his seat he repudiated his patentee and manufacturer in the most ungrateful manner. Congressmen are made by country newspapers—yet when they go to Washington it wouldn't be safe to tell them so.

Garfield, as an M. C., was invented by a seven by nine sheet, the editor of which had probably never seen a five dollar bill in his life, and Garfield would certainly be indignant now if asked to give five dollars of his back pay to that man. Trumbull was first heard of, we believe, through a little paper at Alton; and he was last heard of drawing his $5,000 grab. Ben Butler says he was not made by the newspapers; but it must ever remain one of the mysteries of nature where Ben Butler came from, and what object was in view in producing him. If the grievance of which Col. Forney complains is a sore one, it is the fault of those who are aggrieved.

There is too much puffery of small men in the newspapers newspapers now a days—too much disposition to exalt gentle dullness and amiable imbecility into intellectual greatness and real ability. Every chuckle-head in Congress gets more praise from the press of his party now than could truthfully have been bestowed upon Daniel Webster in his palmiest days.

Mendocino Politics.

Following is the ticket nominated by the Democrats of Mendocino on the Crawford county plan: Assemblyman, T. H. Bond; Sheriff, S. J. Chalfant; Clerk, H. J. Abbott; District Attorney, S. J. Haile; Treasurer, John Taylor; Recorder, W. W. Cunningham; School Superintendent, J. H. Seawell. The Mendocino Democrat hoists the Independent ticket, and says of the Democratic nominees: "We find the nominees of the so-called Democratic primaries those who formed a combination between themselves for mutual success, and who believed, backed by their inordinate demands upon the county treasury, that they could eke out in corruption where they fell short in partisan feeling. In this they did not hesitate to invoke the aid of political opponents, so that the result would be favorable to their individual candidacy. The success of the party, or the principles it represents, had no influence with them further than as they served their individual purposes. To be nominated was the first point in their game, and they hoped by shrewd management, presuming upon the blind infatuation of the Democrats, combined with aid of Republicans whose pecuniary interest they are willing to consult, to win the whole game. We knew of their purpose a long time ago, and aware of the power of such a cabal within a party, and the almost hopeless task of fighting it, we carefully refrained from taking any part or interest in the primaries. To oppose such 'rings' has been our rule of action for the past ten years in this county, and we intend to pursue the same course in this canvass."

An Aurora correspondent of The Sacramento Union, writing under date of July 27, says: "The July term of the District Court commenced here last Monday. Judge Seawell impaneled a grand jury the first day. They found a true bill against Stewart for the murder of Frank Durand, and indicted Rooney, Laurie, Culverson and McCoy for horse stealing. They have examined other cases and adjourned to the 11th of August, as the trial jury are to meet on the 8th. They have also indicted Collins for an assault with a deadly weapon."

—A father in consoling his daughter who had lost her husband, said, "I don't wonder you grieve for him, my child; you will never find his equal." "I don't know as I can," responded the sobbing widow, "but I'll do my best!" The father felt comforted.

STATES HIS POSITION.

Shortly after our last week's issue appeared, Mr. Sneden, so-called Republican candidate for the Assembly, honored us with a call. He assured us on his word that he was not a Gorham-railroad man, and further, that under no circumstances would he vote for that individual, or any other monopoly man of that ilk for United States Senator. On the following day he repeated this statement very emphatically, and thought we had done very wrong in classifying him as a railroad and monopoly man, because he had defined his position on those points definitely in his address in the nominating Convention, and which address was listened to by the junior of this paper, who was present as a spectator on the lugubrious occasion. We accepted Mr. Sneden's late definition of his position as true, and on both the occasions referred to, conveyed to him not only our willingness but desire to set him right on the record, so far as the the same might be done editorially, or in any statement he might wish published over his own signature, and there let the whole matter rest as conclusive on the only issue or combination of issues that existed between himself and this paper, which at no time did or does propose to interfere in any mere partisan questions between himself and opponent. But he declined both propositions; why, we can very well surmise from what follows. Except in the awkwardness of not having his consent to relieve him of the false imputation which he said we had put upon him in regard to his real sentiments on the main question, we felt no desire to say anything more upon the subject, and preferred to let the canvass go as it might. But it is evident that Mr. Sneden is not afraid to publish his sentiments to at least a small portion of the sagebrush world as may be seen from this

"NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

In an article in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, an independent paper, of August, '73, in an article under the head of 'Some More Resolves,' and said article classes me as a railroad-Gorham man. I pronounce the same false and refer to the late junior as proof, who was present when I explained myself before the convention. SETH G. SNEDEN."

To appreciate the full value of this effort it should be understood that it was written shortly after our last conversation with its author, when we tendered him the free use of our columns as above stated, and in the office of, and doubtless, in the cognizance of the "Chief" of the Land Office "ring" and the only pronounced railroad-Gorham-swamp land monopoly, and anti-Booth under-all-circumstances Republican (so-called) that we know of in this county, and the very man of all others to whom Mr. Sneden owes his nomination—the very man who insisted that the Legislative nominee could not have his support without giving positive assurance that he would not vote for Booth—the very man who, by introducing this element into the Convention, made it the most passive, lukewarm affair that ever occurred probably in the State—who succeeded in making it a party machine for putting a set of excellent candidates (barring the single issue here made with one) in the field, all without opposition, or a dissenting vote, but yet with the implied or assumed understading on which Mr. Sneden, the head of the ticket, and Josiah Earl, the gentleman referred to, are publicly acting, and that is to slaughter other nominees on the same ticket. In this manner these gentlemen propose to use party machinery for their own purpose, and in the interest of one who has repeatedly (but privately) asserted his Democracy when talking to Democrats, and yet go boldly to work to induce Republicans to kill off their truest representative on the ticket, and also to question the party fealty of others who presume not to indorse them as party men. All this is very fine, viewed from a politician's stand point, but not half so forcible or fine as the requiem it will cause to be sounded over the political graves of those who thus hope to accomplish their ends. But to return to this "notice."

Bolder than any sheep that ever bearded a cayote in his den, was that stuck up on Tom May's door, right under the nose of the "chief" himself, and thus published to the world. We don't like to have a thing like that to waste its sweetness on the desert air; if "them's my sentiments," in Inyo, they ought to be the same in Mono and Tuolumne; if we have mislead some of the anti-monopoly voters over there in our previously mistaken assumptions regarding Mr. Sneden's political status, and with or without permission, and in the full knowledge that certain fears will be realized and our "circulation will be increased" thereby; also because we don't choose to have it asserted around that we had made it necessary, by closing our columns, for anybody to resort to the poster system of setting himself right before the public, and especially after we had in good faith accepted the explanation as true, and to so state it—we feel as though we wouldn't be doing quite right if we didn't air this thing and the attending circumstances, so far as our limited "circulation" will permit. Mr. Sneden, as a private citizen and man, is a most excellent gentleman; that far we cheerfully indorse him—but as a politician he's a bad egg, we're much afraid; this much can't be denied, and that is that, like old dog Tray, he is caught in terrible bad company—for a first rate Booth man, anxious to let people know all about it.

Those "resolves" give, in substance, all that the late junior heard said on the occasion in which he is referred to as a witness; just so far as those innoxious institutions explain the monopoly and Senatorial questions, which are one and the same, that far Mr. Sneden went and no further. The same day, during a personal interview, we stated that our only reason for not supporting him, rested on this very question, but he did not state his position upon it in any manner whatever. This was probably a wise thing for a would-be local candidate, and federal office holder, just from the railroad offices of Sacramento or Stockton, where the appointing, but not yet the legislative power of the coast rests, and wherein and its purlieus, are many local tickets fixed up. These things, put together, naturally tended to a confusion of mind on the part of an innocent searcher for truth, and that is how we made the mistake which that notice to the public (around May's saloon), now, together with an expression of a decided preference for Booth, makes all right once more, and with only one regretful resnlt—the gloomy pall it has thrown over the Gorham ring of one; but time sets all things even, and this pall may slide off without disaster. We think it will.

A Mining Decision.

The Secretary of the Interior recently rendered a decision, of which the following is the substance:

The Secretary of the Interior has decided in the case of the Eureka Mining Company, that the sixty days allowed for filing adverse claims includes both the first and the last days. This decision has the effect of ruling out the claims of squatters to lands located by the company.

The Eureka mine referred is located in Tintic District, Utah Territory. It appears the Eureka had made application for a United States Patent, and on the last day of publication, after office hours, several adverse claims were filed, which are declared null and void by the decision of the Secretary of the Interior. As stated in the above extract "the sixty days allowed for filing adverse claims includes both the first and the last days of publication." This is a matter of some importance to all mining companies throughout the country.

Would only Aggravate.

An Englishman has offered to subscribe fifty or one hundred pounds toward the completion of a telescope that shall be powerful enough to discover human beings—if existing—in any of the spheres. It would be aggravating for our noble race to see anybody walking around there without being able to put them on a reservation.

Another Conflagration.

The city of Portland, Oregon, was nearly destroyed by fire, August 2. At least twenty-five blocks were utterly burned up, and over two hundred families are rendered homeless. The loss foots up to over $1,500,000. It is thought this is the work of an organized band of incendiaries.

A Hint to Candidates.

An effort is being made to place the names of Indians on the Great Register of Los Angeles county, with a view of enabling them to vote. Those of the noble red man not taxed may find it difficult to obtain the right of franchise in this way.

Suicide.

From The Guardian of the 2d we learn that Dr. E. B. Haslett, of San Bernardino, committed suicide in his office on the Saturday previous. Domestic trouble was the cause.

Earthquake.

Valparaiso, Chili, was visited by a terrible earthquake on the morning of July 8. Though considered as serious as that of 1837, but comparatively few lives were lost, and these from falling walls, one woman dying from fright.

Out of the Fight.

Mr. Sneden says he stands upon the anti-monopoly, anti-Gorham platform; that has ever been Mr. Parker's position; it is also that of the Independent candidate, Mr. Goodale. As all are in accord, no matter whether "sweetly" or otherwise, on the only issue this paper has raised or advocated in this canvass, and that being no longer an obvious point of difference, from and after this date we have nothing more to say for nor against any man in the field. We expect, judging from the animus that induced Mr. Sneden to take the poster method of setting himself right on the record before the people on the main question, and after he knew that it was wholly unnecessary and gratuitous after what had occurred but an hour previous, and also from his subsequent remarks at Big Pine, that he hopes for political effect by cultivatiing a feeling of animosity against this paper. Although the editor of this paper is not a candidate for any office, and has not the slightest idea he ever will be, yet he would not for any ordinary consideration, deprive Mr. Sneden or anybody of any pleasure or profit to be derived in adopting Mr. Sneden's tactics in working up foreign issues. It may be politically legitimate, so we shall editorially raise no particular objections to anything that may be said in political matters before the 3d of September—certain contingencies excepted. Trot along, candidates, and Mephistopheles for the lot.

NOTICE OF CHANGES MADE IN TOWNSHIPS, ELECTION, AND SUPERVISOR DISTRICTS.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT A NEW Township has been ordered and formed out of Township No. 3, said new township to be known as Township No. 6, and bounded as follows to wit: commencing north, at the township line between United States Townships Nos. 17 and 18, and extending therefrom to the southern boundary of Inyo County, and bounded on the east and west by said county boundary lines

Notice is hereby given that a new Election District has been formed out of Election District No. 3, to be known as Election District No. 8, or George's Creek District; said District bounded as follows, to wit: commencing south, on the township line between United States Townships Nos. 14 and 15, and extending north to the township line between United States Townships Nos. 13 and 14, and bounded on the east and west by the boundaries of Inyo County.

Notice is hereby given that the whole of the newly formed Township No. 6 be and hereby is established as Election District No. 10, or Big Owens Lake District, bounded as follows: commencing north, on the township line between United States Townships Nos. 17 and 18, and extending therefrom to the southern boundary of Inyo County, and bounded on the east and west by said Inyo County boundary lines.

Notice is hereby given that the election District formerly known as election District No. 8, or Deep Spring Valley District, is hereby abolished, for the reason that no election was held during last election, and that it does not contain sufficient electors to form a separate election district; wherefore it is here adjoined to and connected with the Big Pine Election District or Election District No. 9; said election District No. 9 being now bounded as follows: commencing north, on the township line between United States Townships Nos. 8 and 9, extending southerly to the township line between United States Townships Nos. 9 and 10, and bounded on the east and west by Inyo County boundary lines.

Notice is hereby given that the boundary line between supervisor Districts Nos. 1 and 2 of Inyo County is hereby changed from the former boundary line to the township line between United States Townships Nos. 9 and 10, which said line is hereafter to constitute the boundary line between said Supervisor Districts Nos. 1 and 2.

By order of the Board,

M. W. HAMMARSTRAND, Clerk of the Board.

Title IV, Part 1, Penal Code.

SECTION 41. Every person charged with the performance of any duty under the provisions of any law of this State relating to elections who wilfully neglects or refuses to perform it, or who in his official capacity knowingly and fraudulently acts in contravention or violation of any of the provisions of such law is, unless a different punishment for such acts or omission is prescribed by this Code, punishable by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the State Prison not exceeding five years or by both.

SEC. 42. Every person who wilfully causes, procures or allows himself to be registered in the Great Register of any county, knowing himself not to be entitled to such registration, is punishable by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the County Jail or State Prison not exceeding one year, or both. In all cases where, on the trial of a person charged with any offense under the provisions of this section, it appears in evidence that the accused stands registered in the Great Register of any county without being qualified for such registration, the Court must order such registration to be canceled.

SEC. 43. Every person who, after being required by the Board of Judges at any election, refuses to be sworn, or who, after being sworn, refuses to answer any pertinent question propounded by such Board, touching his right or the right of any other person to vote, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 44. Every person summoned to appear and testify, before any Board of Registration, who wilfully disobeys such summons, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 45. Every person not entitled to vote, who fraudulently votes, and every person who votes more than once at any one election, or knowingly hands in two or more tickets folded together, or changes any ballot after the same has been deposited in the ballot box, or adds, or attempts to add any ballot to those legally polled at any election, either by fraudulently introducing the same into the ballot box before or after the ballots therein have been counted, or adds to or mixes with, or attempts to add to or mix with, the ballots lawfully polled, other ballots, while the same are being counted or canvassed, or at any other time, with intent to change the result of such election, or carries away or destroys, or attempts to carry away or destroy, any poll list, or ballots, or ballot box, for the purpose of breaking up or invalidating such election, or wilfully detains, mutilates, or destroys any election returns, or in any manner so interferes with the officers holding such election or conducting such canvass, or with the voters lawfully exercising their rights of voting at such election, as to prevent such election or canvass from being fairly held and lawfully conducted, is guilty of felony.

SEC. 46. Every person not entitled to vote, who fraudulently attempts to vote, or who, being entitled to vote, attempts to vote more than once at any election, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 47 Every person who procures, aids, assists, counsels or advises another to give or offer his vote at any election, knowing that the person is not qualified to vote, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 48. Every officer or Clerk of Election who aids in changing or destroying any poll list, or in placing any ballots in the ballot box, or taking any therefrom, or adds, or attempts to add, any ballots to those legally polled at such election, either by fraudulently introducing the same into the ballot box before or after the ballots therein have been counted, or adds to or mixes with, or attempts to add to or mix with, the ballots polled any other ballots, while the same are being counted or canvassed, or at any other time, with intent to change the result of such election, or allows another to do so when in his power to prevent it, or carries away, or destroys, or knowingly allows another to carry away or destroy, any poll list, ballot box, or ballots lawfully polled, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for not less than two nor more than seven years.

SEC. 49. Every Inspector, Judge, or Clerk of an election, who, previous to putting the ballot of an elector in the ballot box, attempts to find out any name on such ballot, or who opens, or suffers the folded ballot of any elector which has been handed in to be opened or examined previous to putting the same into the ballot box, or who makes or places any marker device on any folded ballot with the view to ascertain the name of any person for whom the elector has voted, or who, without the consent of the elector, discloses the name of any person which such Inspector, Judge or Clerk has fraudulently or illegally discovered to have been voted for by such elector, is punishable by fine, not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars.

SEC. 50. Every person who forges or counterfeits returns of an election purporting to have been held at a precinct, town, or ward where no election was in fact held, or wilfully substitutes forged or counterfeit returns of election in the place of the true returns, for a precinct, town or ward where an election was actually held, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for a term not less than two nor more than ten years.

SEC. 51. Every person who wilfully adds to, or subtracts from, the votes actually cast at an election, in any returns, or who alters such returns, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for not less than one nor more than five years.

SEC. 52. Every person who aids or abets in the commission of any of the offenses mentioned in the four preceding sections, or who, being present at or cognizant of the commission of either of such offenses, does not give information thereof as soon as practicable to the District Attorney or Grand Jury of the proper county, or to some Justice of the Peace of such county, is punishable by imprisonment in the County Jail for the period of six months, or in the State Prison not exceeding two years.

SEC. 53. Every person who, by force, threats, menaces, bribery, or any corrupt means, either directly or indirectly attempts to influence any elector in giving his vote, or to deter him from giving the same, or attempts by any means whatever to awe, restrain, hinder or disturb any elector in the free exercise of the right of suffrage, or furnishes any elector wishing to vote, who cannot read, with a ticket, informing or giving such elector to understand that it contains a name written or printed thereon different from the name which is written or printed thereon, or demands any elector at any such election, by deceiving and causing such elector to vote for a different person or any office than he intended or desired to vote for; or who, being inspector, Judge, or Clerk of any election, while acting as such, induces or attempts to induce any elector, either by menace or reward, or promise thereof, to vote differently from what such elector intended or desired to vote, he is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 54. Every person who, with intent to promote the election of himself, or any other person, either:

1. Furnishes entertainment at his expense to any meeting of electors previous to or during an election;

2. Pays for, procures, or engages to pay for any such entertainment;

3. Furnishes or engages to pay or deliver any money or property for the purpose of procuring the attendance of voters at the polls, or for the purpose of compensating any person for procuring attendance of voters at the polls, except for the conveyance of voters who are sick or infirm;

4. Furnishes or engages to pay or deliver any money or property for any purpose intended to promote the election of any candidate, except for the expenses of holding and conducting public meetings for the discussion of public questions, and of printing and circulating ballots, handbills, and other papers previous to such election;

—Is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 55. Every person who, being a candidate at any election, offers or agrees to appoint or procure the appointment of any particular person to office as an inducement or consideration to any person to vote for, or procure or aid in procuring the election of such candidate, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 56. Every person not being a candidate, who communicates any offer made in violation of the last section to any person with intent to induce him to vote for, or to procure or aid in procuring the election of the candidate making the offer, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 57. (§84, 85, 86). Every person who gives or offers a bribe to any officer or member of any legislative caucus, political convention, committee, primary election, or political gathering of any kind, held for the purpose of nominating candidates for offices of honor, trust, or profit in this State, with intent to influence the person to whom such bribe is given or offered to be more favorable to one candidate than another, and every person, member of either of the bodies in this section mentioned, who receives or offers to receive any such bribe, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison not less than one nor more than fourteen years.

SEC. 58. Every person who by threats, intimidations, or unlawful violence wilfully hinders or prevents electors from assembling in public meeting for the consideration of public questions, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 59. Every person who wilfully disturbs or breaks up any public meeting of electors or others, lawfully being held for the purpose of considering public questions, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 60. Every person who makes, offers, or accepts any bet or wager upon the result of any election, or upon the success or failure of any person or candidate, or upon the number of votes to be cast either in the aggregate or for any particular candidate, or upon the vote to be cast by any person, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC 61. Every person who wilfully violates any of the provisions of the laws of this State relating to elections is, unless a different punishment for such violation is prescribed by this Code, punishable by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars or by imprisonment in the State Prison not exceeding five years, or by both.

By order of the Board,

M. W. HAMMARSTRAND, Clerk of the Board.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO BECOME A SOLE TRADER.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT MARY HOPPER, wife of John Hopper, a resident of Mono county, California, intends to make application to the County Court of said county, at the September term thereof, on MONDAY, THE FIRST DAY OF SEPTEMBER, 1873, for a judgment of said Court to authorize her to carry on in her own name and on her own account the business of farming and dealing in mining stocks, in the county and State aforesaid. Dated Bridgeport, July 15, 1873. MARY HOPPER.

MASONIC NOTICE.

THE STATED MEETINGS OF INYO LODGE, No. 221 F. & A. M., will be held at the Masonic Hall, Independence, at 8 o'clock P. M., on the evening of the third Saturday of each month. Members and visiting brethren are cordially invited to attend.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Local Agents.

Cerro Gordo—JAMES KAYS; Lone Pine—S. V. STEVENS; Big Pine—D. NAYLOR; Bishop Creek—I. P. YANEY; Lida—L. WICK; Benton—A. MACK; Aurora—J. M. MEREDITH.

Special Notice.

ALL subscriptions and transient advertisements must invariably be paid for in advance. Advertisements, to insure insertion, should be handed in on or before 6 o'clock P. M. of each Friday.

The Land Case.

The contested land case between Doyle and Wiswall, before the Register and Receiver here, closed on the 5th, but it being a double-headed court no decision w s arrived at, so the whole matter goes to Washington for a decision. It was argued by counsel, Gregg for plaintiff, Snelling for defendant, and they both acquitted themselves remarkably well. The evidence adduced amounted to 136 pages of legal cap. Being a portion of the aforesaid double-headed court, we forbear any comments on the merits of the case.

Lone Pine.

We are told times are quite lively now in Lone Pine compared to the staid quietness of this burg. Salooners don't growl, but the hotel men do, particularly Ball of the Union who cusses largely because his house don't cover an acre of ground, more or less. Justice Bob Peterson is doing a fine business, but he has arrived at the conclusion, based on recent instances, that the verdicts of petit juries are inscrutable—but Robert ain't a Judge, though he is said to be a first rate Justice.

Another Richmond.

By reference to the proper column it will be seen we have two more candidates for legislative honors in the field in this district—Mr. Goodale of this county on the anti-monopoly, Independent ticket, and Mr. Hays on the same for Mono. Of the former we can say that we are satisfied he will do his duty if elected, and doubtless the same may be looked for inthe latter, but we cannot speak from a personal acquaintance.

Arrival.

The detachment of recruits we mentioned last week as being en route to Camp Independence, for Capt. MacGowan's command, arrived on Sunday last, one man having deserted on the journey. They were in charge of Capt. Arthur Morris, 4th Artillery, and M. Soule, A. A. Surgeon, U. S. A. The officers started on their return to San Francisco, Tuesday evening last.

Wants Damages.

W. A. Fox reports that he has entered heavy damage suits against his late partner, Jas. Kays, Mr. Kallish, of San Francisco, and the proprietors of this paper. We observe that Mr. Fox loves to "arrive" at the San Francisco hotels, and most always from Cerro Gordo. He is quite right: Cerro Gordo is a good place for him to "arrive" from.

Peaches.

Mr. J. B. White, by the presentation of a lot of fine peaches fresh from his orchard, has afforded us the finest treat of the season. Notwithstanding the remarkably late and severe frosts and freezes last Spring, he has succeeded in raising about 3,000 pounds of good peaches, so we don't see but that is a pretty sure crop here after all.

Editorial Visit.

Yesterday there happened a very unusual circumstance for this sagebrush region; this was a call at this office by a newspaper man, Mr. Dewey of The Visalia Delta. Though crippled up by a hurt received some time since, he is traveling through the country quite extensively.

Casualty.

On Monday last, while managing a young horse, Wm. Callahan of Big Pine, had his right leg broken below the knee. He was brought down to Dr. White's hospital, and is doing so well that he will probably in a month hence be on his legs again.

Ballots.

By special request, and on reconsideration, we have decided to prepare ourselves to print all the ballots for the coming election that anybody or party may require, and guaranteed to conform to law and copy and in ample time for the election.

New Election Precincts.

The total number of election precincts in the county is ten, two new ones having been set off by the Board of Supervisors at their last meeting. One of them is at George's Creek, the other at Olanche, at the foot of the lake.

New J. P.

Peter Van Kleek has been appointed Justice of the Peace in Cerro Gordo, vice the immaculate Fox, ran away. Peter is clear headed, and will make a number one Justice.

Finished.

The Lone Pine school house has received the finishing touches, and is a good looking and well arranged building.

Land Agent.

Parties having land matters needing attention in Washington are referred to the card E. O. F. Hastings, Esq.

Santa Barbara College.

Read the notice of the Santa Barbara College.

Proceedings of the Board of Supervisors.

Board met in regular session Monday, August 4, 1873. Full Board present.

The first business in order was some changes in election districts, a report in full of which will be found in the election proclamation in this issue.

Peter Van Kleek was appointed Justice of the Peace to fill vacancy in Cerro Gordo township.

A petition to erect a new school district embracing Big Pine, was granted. The district includes all the territory from the north line of Township 9 to the south line of Township 10, the east and west boundaries being the State line and the summit of the Sierra Nevada mountains respectively.

Report of viewers for a road from Sneden's to Owens river was accepted.

Ordered, that the Court House be insured for the sum of $15,000 for one year in the Liverpool, London and Globe Insurance Company, Harris & Rhine local agents, to whom the premium, $480, was ordered paid out of the Contingent Fund.

Half-yearly report of County Treasurer Isaacs accepted and ordered printed.

Ordered, that the boundary line between Supervisor Districts Nos. 1 and 2 be changed from the line between Township Nos. 8 and 9, to Nos. 9 and 10.

FRIDAY, Aug 5.

Ordered, that the rates of toll on the Deep Spring Toll Road be fixed as follows: Wagon and pair of animals $1; each additional pair, 50 cents; horse and rider, 25 cents; pack animals each 12½ cents; loose stock, per head, 10 cents; sheep, goats and hogs, per head, 5 cents.

On the Swansea toll road the rates were fixed as follows: Wagon and one pair of animals, 50 cents; each additional span, 12½ cents; horse and rider, 12½ cents; pack animals each, 5 cents; loose stock per head, 5 cents; sheep, goats and hogs each, 2 cents.

On the Cerro Gordo toll road the rates are in the above order respectively, 87½, 37½, 25, 12½, 10 and 5 cents, with empty wagon one way free.

Report of County Physician C. B. White accepted.

Ordered, that the road from George's Creek to Lone Pine, built by Darrah & Shepherd, be declared a public highway.

On petition A. Wayland was appointed a Justice of the Peace for Independence, 2d Township.

WEDNESDAY, Aug. 6.

Pursuant to proclamation from the Governor of the State, the Board ordered an election in this county on the 3d of September next, and a publication of the same.

Ordered, that a warrant in favor of Assessor Dillon for one years' salary be drawn to the amount of $1,000 on the County General Fund. Also on the same fund an advance warrant of $1,000 to P. P. Gerrish for Court House furniture.

The following bills were allowed and ordered paid:

General Fund—J. W. McMurry, filling in approaches to Big Pine bridge, $200; M. W. Hammarstrand, County Clerk, $245; H. Stevens, Constable, $125; Challant & Parker, county printing, $152; C. Mulkey, Sheriff, $1,418 35; A. K. Briggs, stage fare for indigent sick, $31; B. L. Brown, same, $12; R. L. Peterson, J. P., $51 25; J. L. Darrah, building road from George's Creek to Lone Pine, $300; J. A. Lank, acting Sheriff, $69 75; A. C. Hanson, extra painting on Court House, $760; J. F. Dillon, Assessor, extra services, $420; F. K. Miller, attorney's services in Justice Court, $15; S. V. Stevens, work in Assessor's office, $506; E. H. Van Decar, District Attorney, $15. Contingent Fund—M. W. Hammarstrand, County Clerk, for books, stationery, stamps, etc., $72; H. Stevens, Constable, care of prisoners, $53; J. B. White, Deputy Assessor, $165; C. B. White, rent of county offices three months, $150. Hospital Fund—R. Molini, digging grave for J. B. Wofford, indigent sick, $8; J. Didac, moving same, $36; Dr. Colleau, medical attendance indigent sick, $476; W. M. Hart, board and lodging for same, $264; Dr. White, medical attendance on indigent sick, $445, board and lodging same, $1,003 50; extra expenses for same, $245; S. A. Densmore, taking indigent sick to hospital, $5.

Board adjourned till Monday, September 8, 1873.

Installation of Officers.

At the regular installation meeting of Oases Lodge, No. 362, I. O. G. T., at Bishop Creek, Cal., August, 1873, the following officers were installed for the ensuing three months: John Mills, W. C. T.; Miss M. A. Clark, W. V. T.; Thomas Clark, W. T.; Willie Clark, W. M.; H. G. Plumley, W. I. G. No election for W. S. and W. F. S., the present incumbents having previously been elected for six months. After the installation the W. C. T. delivered a stirring address, which was received with much applause and satisfaction.

Bear Meat.

A. K. Briggs, A. Parker and others, who went over to King's river fishing, returned this week, but didn't seem to brag much of their success or general enjoyment. Billy Lake, who remains over there, had "slewed" several denizens of the forest, among the rest a brown bear, a portion of which he sent over here, some consigned to this establishment, for which he will accept our thanks, although something happened to prevent it from reaching its proper destination.

Threshing.

The threshing machines are all busy now threshing out the new crop of barley and wheat, which is turning out very well. The Indian squaws on some of the ranches take contracts to thresh grain at a certain rate per sack, and do a good business.

Derrick Forks.

[COMMUNICATED.]

MR EDITOR: Why don't the threshermen of Owens Valley, like those of other valleys, have derrick forks to accompany their threshing machines? When a grain stack is large and has been awkwardly stacked, there will be ten or twelve men digging and scratching for dear life, trying their best to hush up the feeder, when the machine is cracking the grain, and said hombre is shouting "more straw." A good derrick fork, a plug of a horse, a boy to lead or drive him and a man to handle the fork would accomplish more than the aforesaid crowd and give the machine straw more regularly. The following reasons prove that a derrick fork is necessary and will pay: With derrick forks but few men are necessary to run the machine; abundance of straw will be furnished the machine, and thus prevent, to a certain extent, grain cracking; the machine could be started earlier in the morning, but now it does not start, frequently, until 9 or 10 o'clock A. M. because of the non-arrival of the requisite number of stack hands; heavy winds prevail often in the afternoon, consequently threshing should commence early; it would cause less expense and trouble in the way of cooking, etc. If our threshermen don't get derrick forks, some good man ought to purchase one or two (with ropes and pulleys enough so they will not be breaking continually and thus cause delays), and run said forks by the day or by the ton.

FARMER.

Busy.

At this particular crisis THE INDEPENDENT force have their hands more than full in printing the Great Register and other work incidental to the election, all of which has to come out "on time." Therefore it is quite probable we shall be compelled to run a "short" paper for a week or two—but we fancy our readers will survive the loss.

Fine Colt Dead.

One of Mulkey's blooded colts died a few days since in the White Mountains, where his band is ranging. This colt is one purchased jointly by Bennett and Mulkey. He was a Norfolk and considered very valuable. It was affected with something like paralysis.

The Code and Assessors.

H. J. Haswell, Assistant Secretary of the State Board of Equalization, some time since wrote to Assessor Dillon as follows. We do not see, however, that it sheds any new light upon the constitutionality of the law upon which it treats, and it is only on that point that a question has been raised. Mr. Haswell says:

Section 4109 of the Political Code continues all the Assessors now in office until Jan. 1, 1876, that portion applicable I will here quote: "Every Assessor now in office must hold his office and exercise the duties thereof until his successor is elected at the General Election in 1875," see said section in said Code, now published. Your term extends to Jan. 1, 1876. Section 3820 of the Political Code is in force only so far as the old law heretofore made the Assessor a collector of the class of property mentioned in said section. If under the old law you collected no tax on any class of property, then Section 3820 gives you additional power. Section 3830 permits the present incumbent to do the collecting. In most cases Assessors desiring to collect the tax mentioned in Section 3820, get deputized by the Collector.

Section 3840 of the Political Code designates when the Assessor may collect poll taxes. After the second Monday in October the Collector collects, and all uncollected is lost to you, as next year you would have no right to collect a delinquent poll tax of this year.

Stage Robbery.

A bold stage robbery took place near Grass Valley, Nevada county, recently. There were a number of passengers aboard, among the rest Senator Sargent, all of whom were made to sit cross-legged in a row on the ground while the robbers proceeded in the most business-like manner to unhitch the team, unload the stage and finally blow up with powder the stage safe. They succeeded in getting away with about $11,000 of Wells, Fargo & Co., money. This was the up stage, and it is supposed that the robbers must have been well acquainted with the unusual circumstance that it was carrying up a large amount of coin, or probably presumed that its passengers, all Gorham men, would naturally enough have plenty of railroad money with them to be used for electioneering purposes.

Tipton Lindsey.

The above well known resident of Visalia has been nominated by the Republicans of that Senatorial district as the man to beat Fowler, and the indications are that he will do it. Lindsay is a Liberal Republican, and will receive the united support of the party which nominated him and all the Democrats opposed to the fence law, of which Fowler is the especial champion. Save one, The Tulare Times, Lindsey receives the heartiest support from every newspaper in the district, among the rest The Fresno Expositor, the leading Democratic newspaper in that section.

The Transportation Question.

THE INYO INDEPENDENT is very severe in its comments on the Central Pacific Company for raising the price of freight on bullion over the Los Angeles and San Pedro Railroad, accusing the design of forcing it northward, or in other words increasing the already large percentage in favor of the route via. this place. As we have before explained, we believe the action of the Company in this matter arose from the fact that the previous price of freight left no margin of profit. But this change shows the methods by which the trade is kept in a channel that has ceased to be the natural one, and which, when not persevered in at a positive loss, will all have a tendency to force the trade in the direction THE INDEPENDENT is so much afraid of. Why a journal so much alive to the interests of its section should view this matter in the light it does is rather surprising. A glance at the map shows the distance is less by two thirds, and the difference in time to San Francisco is still greater, without the liability of certain extraordinary delays that occur on the other route. This means quick returns for their exports, and prompt responses to their orders for goods. The Company would no doubt do the people of Inyo a favor could they force these advantages on their attention, and if it raised a storm of indignation at first, this feeling would soon change to gratitude, and ere long they would be esteemed as public benefactors.—Bakersfield Courier.

When the Bakersfield route was first proposed THE INDEPENDENT advocated its advantages in every way it knew how, as The Courier should remember. After the stagnation of business resultant from the complete failures of the Kern and Inyo Company, our people were rejoiced at the resumption of the forwarding trade over any route—and that's what's the matter with Inyo.

The Surveyor-General.

Surveyor General Hardenburgh has forwarded to the General Land Office, in pamphlet form, an answer to the charges preferred against him. In this he asserts that W. S. Chapman and other swamp land grabbers had, in various ways, attempted to bribe him, in one case offering him $100,000 to appoint a relative of Chapman's as surveyor, and a one-fourth interest in their lands in Sierra Valley for a decision from him declaring it swamp land and for like services in similar schemes of robbery. Failing in this their next move was to procure his removal. Hardenburgh in this defense paints Chapman and others of the genus land grabber, as most nefarious scoundrels. From the proofs adduced in support of his counter-charge against these men, ordinary people would deem it a wise thing to keep a close watch on their pocket books when in such company, rich men as they are.

San Diego.

At Guatay Valley some twenty Indians and about thirty Mexicans got into a general fight while drinking and gambling, July 31. Knives were freely used, and a number were badly or fatally wounded. The Mexicans were beaten and fled, leaving one of their number a prisoner in the Indians' hands, who were going to kill him or have ransom. A horse or two and a small sum in cash served to ransom him.

Still Lives.

Fowler's nomination in Tulare caused the death of The Tulare Times, but it didn't stay dead but one week. Its return to life is not particularly strange, but it is strange that with the same editor it should wake up a strong fence and Fowler institution. Its first issue after the resurrection was decidedly "unanimous" on these points, although Adams, the editor, has prided himself on being a "people's man."

One of Their Grabs.

In Minnesota one Mr. Franklin Steele, has by means which his name suggests, been paid by the Government $120,000 for consenting to receive 6,000 acres of land as a free gift. He sold off the land last month, the valuation placed upon it in settling up his accounts with his partners being only $500,000.

Arbitration.

Two farmers living in this vicinity, having a little business difference between them, have agreed to settle the same by arbitration, instead of taking the matter into the courts. This principle is taught by the Grange, of which organizarion one of the above mentioned parties is a member. These men had doubtless seen the illustration in which two farmers are quarreling over a cow, one holding it by the horns the other by the tail, while a lawyer was quietly securing the milk. Litigation is expensive business at best, and the costs of a suit frequently exceed the sum in dispute, while arbitration just as effectually meets the ends of justice and costs little or nothing.—Healdsburg Flag.

—The St. Louis Republican is going to publish a list of itemizers who give credit when they clip anything, and will entitle it "The Laurel Wreath," The String of Pearls," "The Chiefest Among Ten Thousand," or some thing of the kind.

—The human remains found in a shaft in Lower Gold Hill proved to be those of a member of the "Lo" family.

Los Angeles News.

A Los Angeles dispatch of August 1 says: Prominent business men of this city met last evening and organized a Board of Trade, Gov. Downey presiding. Committees on Membership and Incorporation were appointed. Diversion of the trade with Owens river and Cerro Gordo by way of San Buenaventura were among the important subjects discussed. Up to noon to-day fifty-three names were enrolled as members.

At Drum Barracks yesterday the Government sold at auction twenty-two buildings for six thousand four hundred dollars currency. They cost Uncle Sam over a hundred thousand dollars.

—A contemporary, speaking of the difficulty of a newspaper editor pleasing everybody, says: "Even if one sounded the praises of his Maker the devil would be offended."

—The Utica Herald says men will never know what effect it would have had on Job if eleven little girls had called on him, one after another, and tried to sell him pic nic tickets.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE, FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.

No Person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittant Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most Wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

MEDICAL.

PRIVATE HOSPITAL.

THE SUBSCRIBER TAKES PLEASURE IN announcing to the people of Inyo county that he has purchased and fitted up as a hospital the Beaudry Hotel Building, adjoining the military post at Camp Independence. All the adobes have been removed and their place applied with lumber; the grounds are handsomely laid out with shade trees and clover, and have a pure running stream of mountain water.

There is an excellent bath room and dispensary attached. One room is set aside for the county's sick, leaving ample room for private patients. The Northern Stage Line passes the door, and the place is easy of access from the town of Independence. The charges for board and lodging do not exceed those of any hotel or boarding house, offering equal accommodations, and the establishment has the advantage of having competent help and medical advice always at hand, being close by the house of the post surgeon at the camp.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY

CHALFANT & PARKER.

JAS. E. PARKER | P. A. CHALFANT

P. A. CHALFANT, : : EDITOR.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.;

Saturday,.....August 16, 1873.

The "Borax Miner."

This is the peculiar name of our new neighbor, the newspaper lately started over at Columbus, Nevada, Wm. W. Barnes, editor and publisher. The Miner is a five column weekly, and typographically presents a very bright and neat appearance. "Politically," says Mr. Barnes in his salutation, "we claim no status. There is no other paper in Esmeralda, and it would be rather tame business to fight alone on either side of the political questions which keep agitating the minds of office-holders and office-seekers more than anyone else." But he does not propose to ignore politics entirely, whenever there is an occasion for a free expression of opinion concerning either men or measures. THE INDEPENDENT is glad to have the assistance of another paper in bringing to the world's attention the fact that this vast region, from the Sierra Nevadas in this State eastward far beyond Columbus in Nevada, is not the barren waste that popular fancy has painted it whenever popular fancy has deigned to notice it at all, but that it possesses every natural essential in soil, climate and minerals to afford happy homes and profitable employment to thousands and tens of thousands of people. We hope that our neighbor (the State of Massachusetts wouldn't fill the intervening space, but we are close neighbors, nevertheless) may prosper and far more than fulfil the hope expressed of it by the editor—"afford him a fair livelihood." If the paper is appreciated according to its cost and value it will do this and more; but we wouldn't be surprised if the editor, if sufficiently able-bodied to run a square, fearless paper could accomplish the main object much easier by mauling rails, or some other similar comparatively light and profitable labor.

The Breyfogle Mine.

It will be a relief to some of the papers, as well as many prospectors, to learn that at least one man has satisfied himself as to the whereabouts of this colebrated lead. A correspondent of The Pioche Record professes to have found it at Salt Springs, on the Armagosa Desert. There was once a mill there and there is now a party of Mexicans prospecting for the main ledge, which was never found by the mill party. He says: "It was at the Salt Spring mines that Breyfogle got the rich specimen of gold mixed with reddish oxydized iron ore and red quartz, for I saw the pieces he had in Austin in 1865. I have never seen any ore before, nor since, like it until I saw the Mexicans with the same quality of rich ore at Salt Springs, and if any others, who have seen the piece he had, will go to Salt Springs they will not prospect the Arizona mountains any more for the Breyfogle mine, for they will immediately recognize the similarity of the ore. There was a party in the Armagosa country looking for Mr. Breyfogle's mine as I came through. So this information ought to set at rest the Breyfogle swindle."

The Back Pay Swag.

The New York Tribune continues to denounce the back pay steal, and calls upon voters to rise superior to party and show by their acts and votes that they believe yet in common honesty. We wish all the newspapers in the country would do the same thing. There is not a person in the whole country, not one of our forty million of people, who has not been robbed by this unparalelled act of treachery. If such acts are to be indorsed, what guarantee has the country for the future? Because this robbery was committed four or five months ago, is it therefore not to condemned any longer? We have yet to learn that a criminal is to be freed from responsibility and allowed to go unpunished because of the lapse of time. And if we indorse that act, the next Congress, or any succeeding assemblage of Congressional thieves, may fix their "pay" at any rate they please.

Another Outbreak.

The Lousiana troubles have not yet come to an end. At Grant Parish the Conservatives have perfect charge of Colfax, and have torn up all communications of the Opposition. Except for the presence of the military there would have been a great deal of bloodshed. Great excitement exists in New Orleans in consequence of the state of affairs at Grant, and more military have been sent up from that city. Gen. McDowell is in New Orleans. It is thought the troops will be able to avert any bloody collisions between the factions.

THE COLORADO DESERT.

If the half that is told about the wonderful fertility of the Colorado "desert" is true, the day is not far distant when it will be considered the garden spot of the coast. Capt. Bailey of the James surveying expedition, sent out by private parties to determine the feasibility of turning the waters of the Colorado into this desert, with some four others returned to San Diego a few days ago. He informs the San Diego World that they surveyed one little patch, and it is only a "patch" upon the available desert lands, which contained 153,000 acres of the richest land on earth—the soil is wonderfully deep, and formed by the sediment deposited by the Colorado river during hundreds of years. When the flood arising from the overflow of the Colorado recedes, the Indians of the desert plant corn, peas, beans, pumpkins and other vegetables. The vegetation is wonderfully luxuriant. Capt. Bailey saw stalks of wild mustard which were as thick as his leg and fourteen feet high, and rag and pig weed of a like size. Hay was lying on the desert, which had grown from the overflow of New River last year, that was four feet long. Mesquite beans, of several varieties, grow in the utmost luxuriance all over the desert. The Indians are at present engaged in gathering these beans for their Winter supply. The fruit of one variety remarkably resembles a corkscrew in appearance; it is honey-sweet, and cattle fatten upon it as upon no other food. There is a fact about the growth of cotton on the desert, says The World, which is of pregnant significance. About nine years ago Gus Knight planted some of that staple at Martinez, on the road between San Bernardino and Ehrenberg. It has demonstrated itself to be perennial, and, without replanting, the Indians every year gather this cotton and make from it rude cloths and blankets

THE RAILROAD INTEREST MONEY.

A question of considerable importance to the Pacific railroad companies has been decided by the Acting Second Controller. Last Congress enacted a law providing that the Treasury should receive one-half of the compensation due the road for services until the annual interest on the bonds was paid, and authorized the road to go to the Court of Claims with the question. The War Department has annually paid the road some $800,000 for transportation, and the Quarter-master-General has decided to have the question settled whether this reserved one-half might not be considered as an additional appropriation, in view of the probability of a termination of the pending litigation. During this year the question has been formally propounded to the Second Controller by the Navy Department Controller, who decides that these reserves of one-half earnings must be held by the Secretary of the Treasury, as assignee in trust, until the suit authorized by Congress to be brought in the Court of Claims by the road shall have been determined or the claimants have been barred by statutory lapse of six years. Under this decision those reserved earnings must therefore lie idle in the Treasury for six years. Possibly the ultimate solution of the disposition of these reserved earnings comprehends the construction of the original granting act of July 7, 1862. The roads insist that insomuch as the annual interest is specifically mentioned, simple interest can alone be collected at the expiration of thirty years. Legally the issue turns upon the question whether compound interest can be collected when it is not specifically mentioned.

MAKING CRIME ODIOUS.

When the murderer Russell was hung in San Francisco lately, the Rev. Mr. Carpenter bemoaned himself most fearfully at the untimely fate of the murderer, especially at the manner of his taking off, pronouncing it, as the drop fell, "murder most foul." He wept over the lifeless body and made an egregious ass of himself generally; and the same remark—with a plural added—applies to numerous ladies who, before the execution, slobbered over him as a heroic human lamb led to slaughter merely to satisfy man's craving for blood. And so it is with Stokes and young Walworth, in New York. Also, the other day in Pioche, when Courtney, a blood-thirsty ruffian with scarcely a saving attribute, met a deserved fate at the hands of another of his own kind, the citizens of that peaceful burg turned out en masse, with music and streamers and dolorous visages, to pay such as he funeral rites more honorable than their best citizen may hope to receive when his time comes for similar attentions—unless he thirsts for glory and honors and finally murders darkly some innocent man or woman.

Proceedings of the Mono County Democratic Central Committee.

BRIDGEPORT, Mono Co., Cal., August 1, 1872.

At a meeting of the Democratic County Central Committee of Mono county, held at Bridgeport on the 31st day of July, 1873, the Committee was organized by electing A. J. Severe temporary Chairman, and R. G. Watkins Secretary. The Committee then proceeded to transact business, and on motion it was Resolved, to nominate one Assemblyman from Mono county to represent the counties of Mono, Tuolumne and Inyo in the Legislature.

The name of D. D. Bowen, of Antelope Valley, being placed in nomination for the Assembly, and there being no further nominations, Mr. Bowen was declared unanimously nominated.

On motion it was resolved by the Committee that J. T. Poe be indorsed as a candidate for County Judge of Mono county, and George N. Whitman be indorsed as a candidate for District Attorney; that R. G. Watkins be indorsed as a candidate for Assessor, and that John Hopper, of Antelope Valley, be added as a member of the County Central Committee.

On motion, it was resolved by the Democratic County Committee of Mono county that the Democratic County Committee or Legislative Convention of Tuolumne county be earnestly requested to indorse the nomination of D. D. Bowen as a candidate for the Assembly from this Senatorial and Assembly District.

On motion it was

Resolved, by the Democratic County Central Committee of Mono county, That Thomas Laspeyrebe and is hereby unanimously indorsed as the Democratic candidate for District Judge of the Sixteenth Judicial District of the State of California.

Resolved, That a copy of the proceedings of this Committee be transmitted to THE INYO INDEPENDENT and The Sonora Democrat, with a request that the same be published.

Meeting adjourned, subject to call of the Chairman.

A. J. SEVERE, Chm'n.

R. G. WATKINS, Sec'y.

Pacific Coast Items.

A New Candidate.

From Indiana comes the rumor that a quiet movement is progressing among Democrats to bring out Gen. Jeff. C. Davis as a candidate for the Presidency.

LETTER FROM BENTON.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

HOT SPRINGS, Aug. 2, 1873.

MR. EDITOR: As, comparatively speaking, but little is known of the general resources of this part of country to many of your readers, and thinking that a few items would be acceptable to them, I take the liberty of giving a brief outline.

Leaving your pleasant and thriving town of Independence and taking Ullrick's stage line, we journey through the Bishop Creek country and several other places of note, and arrive the following morning at the thriving little town named

PARTZWICK.

Here there is a 10-stamp mill in constant operation, crushing quartz from the Comanche, Eureka and Rockenham claims, said mill being owned by Mack & Powning. At a distance of half a mile is Benton, better known as Hot Springs; this name being given on account of a boiling spring oozing out of the ground within a short distance of the town, and flowing off in a constant stream, which for a long distance continues warm. At the head of this stream the temperature of the water is 143°. Hightower & Co. have a fine store about finished, well stocked and quite prepossessing in appearance The village boasts of two hotels, a blacksmith shop and the usual number of saloons, together with a drug store, shoemaker shop and numerous dwelling houses. Three miles from Benton is a very rich paying mine owned by Mr. Williams. Hightower & Co. have a valuable mine, called the Yellow Jacket, upon which, however, work is suspended for a short time. Wm. Wetherill, at Hutch's Canyon, is now erecting a fine 8-stamp mill, with White's improved roaster, preparatory to crushing a large amount of ore, which is said to be very rich, and which but awaits the completion of the mill to yield the owner untold remuneration for his outlay. At the little town of Montgomery, eight miles distant, there is also an 8-stamp mill kept in constant operation. Ullrick's stages leave Benton for Carson tri-weekly.

ON THE ROAD TO COLUMBUS.

The following day we clamber in the coach owned by Mr. Rascoe, and which connects with the Carson City stages north, and with the Independence stages south, and which leaves after their arrival for Columbus, 22 miles from Benton. We reach this place after 8 hours pleasant staging, the ribbons being handled by the accommodating owner himself, who knows full well how to be entertaining to his passengers and how to throw the lash. We visited a number of borax claims, among them the Pioneer Pacific Borax Co., Morton Piper, James Kain, Herm Steam Refinery Co., Chicago Co., Blanco Veil Co. (Roode's crude material), and a number of others.

The yield of refined borax is estimated as follows: Pioneer Pacific Co., 75 tons; Morton Piper Co., 10 tons; James Kain, 10 tons; Steam Refining Co., 20 tons; Blanco and Chicago each 12½ tons. There are several others not mentioned, but it will be safe to estimate the quantity of borax now being manufactured at 150 tons per month.

THE MINES.

As to the mines, there is the Monte Diablo, Northern Belle, Columbia, Gen. Thomas, Belle Wharte, Black Metallic, Platina and a number of others, all at present being worked. Two mills, situated in the town, are kept constantly crushing quartz—the Sweetapple & Hazletine, running five stamps, and the Columbus Mining Co., running ten stamps with a White improved roaster.

COLUMBUS.

This town consists of three stores thirteen saloons and hotels, two blacksmith shops, a photograph gallery, a good public school, shoemaker shop, tin and hardware store, a watchmaker and several livery stables, and a number of minor establishments.

The inhabitants, or I should say the voting population, taking in the surrounding little camps and borax fields, will not fall short of one thousand. Silver Peak, Gold Mountain, Lida Valley and Fish Lake Valley are all tributaries to Columbus. There is a new road under way making Columbus some 45 miles nearer from Carson City, upon which quite a number of Chinamen are at work.

CHARLEY.

Tuolumne Nominations.

We collate from the Tuolumne papers the political tickets as now in the field in that county. It will be seen that both the Republican and Democratic legislative nominees of Inyo and Mono have been officially indorsed, and now that all the party candidates are regularly before the people, the ball is fairly opened:

Republican County Ticket—For State Senator, E. A. Rodgers, of Tuolumne; for Members of Assembly, Wm. G. Long of Tuolumne, Seth G. Sneden of Inyo and Lloyd Goodnow of Mono; for Sheriff, J. A. S. Trout; for County Clerk, Dan. Diamond; for County Treasurer, D. M. Kenfield; for County Assessor, M. B. Harriman; for County Surveyor, A. B. Beauvais; for County Superintendent, John York, Jr.; for Coroner, C. Burden.

Democratic County Ticket—For State Senator, W. A. Eakin; for Members of Assembly, James W. Summers of Tuolumne, James E. Parker of Inyo and D. D. Bowen of Mono; for Sheriff, David F. Baxter; for Clerk, Isaac J. Potter; for Treasurer, Josiah Hall; for District Attorney, Edwin R. Galvin; for Assessor, Thomas C. Birney; for Superintendent Common Schools, John Murnan; for Coronor, Frederick A Freund.

Columbus and Vicinity.

We condense the following items from No 1 of The Borax Miner, the new Columbus paper:

In company with Mr. Hightower, of Benton, we paid a flying visit to Mack's mill while on our journey to Columbus, and were much pleased to see so much fine machinery as is in use here. The mill has evidently been constructed with a view to permanence, and everything about the premises shows first class mechanical work. A beautiful Corliss engine gives the motive power. There are ten stamps employed on the dry-crushing plan. The reverberatory furnaces, which had not been started to work at the time of our visit, will compare favorably with any piece of masonry in the State. In The Carson Appeal of July 23d we noticed a statement of bullion coined at the mint into the new trade dollars, amounting to $1,500. This was the first issue of the new coin, and to Mr. Albert Mack and the mill in question is due the credit of furnishing the bullion. The ore was from his own mine, and worked by himself. Mr. Mack is a practical miner and mill superintendent and an energetic citizen.

We made a short visit to Sweetapple & Hazeltine's mill during last week. An engine of eight inch cylinder and twenty-four inch stroke occupies the most prominent position upon entering the mill. From the engine room the visitor ascends to the battery floor, where the quartz is reduced, by the dry crushing method, to a fine powder, after which it is taken to the roasting furnaces and subjected to a treatment more like the puddling of iron than anything we can think of. The furnaces are constructed upon the same plan as puddling furnaces—the fire passing over the material. The pulp is stirred and worked from place to place with long iron hoes, and when sufficiently roasted it is dragged out upon what is called a "cooling floor." This cooling floor is one of the hottest places upon which cooling was ever performed. The coolers, or workmen engaged in this operation, wear wet sponges over their mouths to prevent the hot dust from entering the lungs, and thus equipped, they work the roasted ore over and over until it is somewhat cooler than when it left the furnaces; after this the roasted pulp is put into the Stevenson pans, where it is ground and amalgamated for a sufficient length of time, when it is drawn off into the settlers, where it is stirred until amalgamation is completed. After this the waste portion of the pulp is run off into reservoirs, dried and thrown up into heaps to be again worked at some future time. After the amalgam is taken from the pans and settlers it is put into a large retort where the quicksilver is separated from the crude bullion. After this it only remains for the millman to cast the bar and ship the bullion to market. There is an accumulation of several thousand tons of tailings in the rear of this mill, and at the front there is about a thousand tons of quartz ready for the stamps. The successful working of the Sweetapple & Hazeltine mill has done much toward the development of the quartz mines of this district.

The Pacific Borax Company is the only incorporated company engaged in the manufacture of borax in Esmeralda county and we believe the only one in the State of Nevada, and indeed, so far as we are informed, the only one on this continent. The company is incorporated under the laws of the State of California, with the principal office in San Francisco. The Board of Trustees for the present year consists of Francis Avery, President; Justinien Caire, R. Morrow, M. M. Tompkins and I. Lawrence Pool. The lands now owned by this company were surveyed in December, 1871, for the original locaters by Wm. McBride, then deputy County Surveyor of this county, and consists of ninety-five quarter sections or 15,200 acres. The locations were made under the act of the Nevada Legislature approved Feb. 24th, 1865, entitled "An Act to provide for the location of lands containing salt," and the company since acquiring possession from the original owners have been in constant occupation and complied with the provisions of the above mentioned law. Their lands are located partly in Fish Lake Valley and partly on Columbus Marsh; and some of them are of great value, containing deposits of borate of lime and borate of soda in variable quatities and of like variation in quality. The company has been successfully and continually manufacturing borax at their works—located five miles from Columbus—since June, 1872; and now employ eighteen men. They keep two boilers of an aggregate capacity of about seventeen hundred gallons running day and night; have thirty-six crystalizing tanks of a capacity of near 1,200 gallons each.

Mr. Ned Barker is erecting a building on Main street, to be occupied as a billiard saloon. The walls are eighteen inches thick; the lumber used is very heavy, and all the work is being done in a substantial manner. The saloon will have a frontage on Main street of thirty feet, and a depth of sixty-five feet, with a store room in the rear. When completed this will be one of the best structures in town.

Last week the building on B street, below Main, kept by Sing Lee, as a restaurant, was totally destroyed by fire. Loss about $2,000. The building adjoining, occupied as a residence by Mrs. M. A. Barry, escaped a like fate only through the fearless and untiring labors of her friends, as their burned hands and faces too well attest.

Judge I. N. Farwell, our local Justice of the Peace, on the evening of July 24, took to himself a bride, Miss Mollie E. King.

Don't Want It.

President Grant informs the President makers of the third term order that all he asks of them is to be let alone, so far as another term is concerned. He is not on it.

—Experience pays. Widowers never commit suicide on account of love.

The Killing of Courtney.

Rick Moriarty, alias Morgan Courtney, the noted ruffian who so extensively flourished in this county some three years ago, has met his quietus in Pioche. The Record of the 2d instant has the following particulars of the mournful event:

Last night about 9:20 o'clock another horrible murder was committed in the streets of Pioche. The facts in the case are as follows: Morgan Courtney, the Superintendent of the Kentucky mine, stepped out of the Mint saloon and walked down the street a distance of about ten paces, when a man named George McKinney, said to be of the lower order of gamblers, shot him in the back with a pistol, firing two shots in rapid succession. Courtney then ran away a short distance in order that he might be able to defend himself. This, however, he was not able to do, on account of the rapid firing of McKinney. McKinney discharged six shots, being arrested by officer J. R. Hoge just as he fired the last shot. Even after he had discharged the whole six charges and his victim lay on the ground, he continued to snap his pistol, which is a self cocking one. Courtney was carried into the drug store of Dr. D. L. Deal, where his wounds were examined by Dr. Bergstein. When our reporter entered the drug store the man lay upon his back on the floor. Four bullet wounds were visible, on his breast, neck and stomach, from which the burning clothes had been torn and cut. He was afterwards turned over in order that he might feel easier, and five wounds were found in his back. The most fatal one was between the shoulders, about three-fourths of an inch to the left of the spinal column, going obliquely to the left and coming out through the breast bone. Another, which would probably have killed him, went in about ten inches lower down and about an inch to the left of the spinal column, coming out a little lower down on the left side. Three other shots were fired. Dr. Bergstein told Courtney that his case was utterly hopeless, and if he had any statement to make then was the time to make it. He shook his head. Afterwards, however, when Deputy District Attorney McDonald came in, he made, in substance, the following statement, part of it being elicited by questions: Jim McKinney shot me; he shot me in the back; I started to run away in order to defend myself, but he shot so fast—— [Here he vomited a quantity of blood. Just then Rev. Father Monteverde came in, and the rest having withdrawn he administered to Courtney the last sacrament.] Frank Cleaveland gave him the pistol—George Syphers told me. I did not get my pistol out until he shot six shots.

Mrs. Brigham.

Mrs. Brigham Young, No. 17, is prosecuting her divorce suit in Judge Emerson's court, Salt Lake. Her first papers were not properly served, and she has to begin again.

—Laura Fair has at last settled up her accounts, and she finds it cost her $11,100 to shoot her victim.

Panamint.

Mr. C. E. Krause at Lagunita, writing of Panamint affairs, says: "Panamint prospects are improving daily; most exceedingly fair ores are now being taken out, samples of which will be forwarded to San Francisco and to your office. Messrs. Jacobs and Nieswander, with Dr. Stearns agent for the Argus Mining Company, are going to arrange matters on a grand scale, and Panamint District will soon be no more a prospect, but a mining camp A. No. 1, where liberal inducements will be held out to all new comers, workingmen and prospectors. R. Stewart, one of our largest owners, has made such arrangements as will enable him to immediately start work on his claims. I think we have in this camp the most intelligent and liberally inclined miners that perhaps ever got together. I may mention in particular Scobie, Gibbons and Tipton.

Accidental Shooting.

Monday evening last, at one of the dance houses of Cerro Gordo, occurred an accidental shooting that came near ending the earthly career of one of the frail inmates of the institution. The partner of her joys in the dance had become superabundantly active from the effect of frequent promenades to the bar; and during his gyrations his pistol became disengaged and fell to the floor, striking, of course, on the hammer, the bullet coursing its way into the body of the frail one mentioned, inflicting a bad flesh wound. She sank to the floor, but will in due time recover and "on with the dance." The episode has caused a new light to enter the head of a certain young man in regard to the proper manner of carrying fire-arms, however.

The Lida Law Suit.

The decision in the case of John D. Teller vs. the Lida Milling and Mining Company, tried last week at Aurora, before Judge W. M. Seawell, was to the effect that one mining partner cannot bind his co-partners in a promissory note. The upshot of the matter is that Hiskey & Walker now own the Lida mill and will run it, without interference by the creditors of Mr. Conklin or Parker, Wattson & Co. One of our local legal limbs of the law, P. Reddy, Esq., went boldly up there and met the enemy single-handed, and didn't get "slewed" at all, but won his client's case, against odds.

A "MILL"

Over in Lida, the other day one "Big Ike" and W. B. Harbin enjoyed a regular old fashioned mauling, much to the detriment of Isaac's mug. The difficulty arose about some ore, which was in the possession of Harbin. "Ike" went for his man with a Henry rifle, which missed fire six times. Harbin took possession of the gun, threw it away and with his fist gently began operations on Exaggerated Isaac's front ispiece, leaving it in a truly deplorable condition. No arrests reported.

The Surveyorship.

The Democratic County Central Committee have placed upon their ticket the name of M. H. White, of Bishop Creek, for County Surveyor. Mr. Grissell, Republican nominee for the same position, has withdrawn and removed to Nevada. Mr. Jo. Seely, of this place is to be put on in his place. Besides these, both of whom are practical surveyors, we have an independent candidate, Mr. Krause, of Panamint. He is a professional surveyor, having made it his business for many years past.

The Great Register.

The Great Register of this county will be delivered to the County Clerk on Tuesday next—some six days in advance of the time allowed the printers by law. The work is gotten up in nearly the same style as that of last year, new type ordered in ample time expressly for the purpose being still somewhere en route. We now trust that it may get safely and permanently lost.

Well Along.

A well known gentleman of this county, himself 48 years of age, has living in the East, a mother 70 years of age and a grandmother, who is 103 yeats old. Newspapers are stating that there are now only four or five known centenarians in the Union.

Another Nominee.

D. D. Bowen, Esq., of Antelope Valley, Mono county, has received the nomination for the Legislature, on the regular Democratic ticket—thus being completed the Legislative ticket of Eakin, Summers, Parker and Bowen.

Waxing Wealthy.

Our "late" junior is indebted to Mr. Leeke, of the Mint saloon, San Francisco, for one of the beautiful new trade dollars. The coin is a beauty, and refreshing to the eye.

Rain.

We were favored with quite a rain on Tuesday last, and during the night preceding. Farmers, whose grain was exposed, didn't consider it much of a favor, however.

Political Visit.

E. A. Rodgers, Republican nominee for State Senator, and Wm. G. Long, the Tuolumne nominee of the same party for Assemblyman, of this Legislative district, paid our valley towns a flying visit during the present week, the former making two or three political speechifyings. Mr. Rodgers is a lawyer of considerable note, a forcible and ready conversationalist, while Mr. Long is well calculated to make friends everywhere. He was, it will be remembered, one of the defeated "victims" of the last campaign. We are glad to chronicle the visit of these gentlemen, as in the event of their election to the Legislature the knowledge gained of this county may ultimately result to our advantage.

Tri-Weekly.

We are well pleased in the fact that Ulrick now enters on his contract to run tri-weekly stages on the northern route, connecting with Wilson's stages at Aurora for Carson. Tommy Burns, one of the most reliable and popular drivers on anybody's stages, came in yesterday morning for the first trip on the new programme. The departures hence will now be on Sundays, Wednesdays and Fridays, at 1 P. M.

Business Change.

"Curt" Harvey, the well known horseshoer of the long established firm of Burroughs & Harvey, Lone Pine, has become the sole proprietor of the business, and elsewhere calls the attention of his friends throughout the county to the fact that he will continue at the old stand, and invites a trial from all having work in his line. Curt is conceded to be one of the best shoers on this side of the ridge.

Running.

The Bessie Brady, Belshaw & Ferguson's steamer, plying on Owens Lake, is now making regular trips with bullion from Swansea to Olanche. A new wharf is soon to be constructed at a point on the eastern shore of the Lake, directly at the foot of the Belshaw grade, for the better accommodation of the Cerro Gordo bullion.

Gone a Fishing.

V. A. Gregg, Esq., finally concluded he would go a fishing too, for a few days—we don't mean it was "days," literally, he was going to fish for—so he started off in a gang by himself yesterday for Kern river, in the hope of a grand success with some bright, new flies just received from a friend in San Francisco.

The Refugees.

Dr. Ward, recently returned from a trip across the mountains via Kern river, reports the big fishing party still staying with the delights of the mountains, fish, frosty nights, soda and other advantages; and that most of them intend to stay there until they get ready to come away.

For Waucoba.

Joe. Schalten, Lafe. Gill and one or two others, fully equipped with blankets and grub, sailed out for Waucoba last Thursday, on a general prospect. The Waucoba company have a few men at work driving tunnels, etc., but it is rumored that they will undertake some important operations before long.

Withdrawn.

P. W. Bennett, Esq., wishes us to state that he will not be a candidate for the office of District Attorney. This leaves a clear field for the remaining candidate, Judge R. B. Snelling—who is thoroughly competent and qualified to fill the position.

Papers Wanted.

Will some Postmaster in the county favor this office by obtaining and forwarding to us immediately three copies of THE INDEPENDENT of Saturday, June 21st?

From Wallapai.

C. L. Perkins, ex-State printer of Nevada, Thos. McDonald, of Nevada, Capt. L. C. Welburn, President of the Lone Star Mining Company, J. M. Munn, Supt. Lone Star Mine, James Maloney, Fred. Hunsaker, Wm. Freeborn and Silas Atchison arrived at Los Angeles on the 9th from Wallapai district. They bring good news from the mines of their well known and surprisingly rich district. A good deal of work is being done and many new companies are preparing to commence operations. Several mills have been arranged for and will be erected this Fall. The furnace at Cerbat has been thoroughly overhauled, and has started up on good ore. Perkins and McDonald have been out to the district to examine some mines for themselves and a party of capitalists they represent, with a view to purchase if found as represented. They appear to be well pleased, and speak in the highest terms of the prospects of Wallapai district. They will probably erect a mill at Mineral Park as soon as the machinery can be made and transported to Wallapai. Incoming parties from the Wallapai mines report the road pretty well lined with teams bound to that and adjoining districts.—Star, Aug 10.

For District Judge.

The Democratic Judicial Convention for the Thirteenth District met in Fresno August 1st, to nominate a candidate for Judge of that District. Hon. S. A. Sheppard, of Tulare, R. H. Ward, of Merced, Hon. J. M. Corcoran, of Mariposa, and Hon. A. Bradford, of Fresno, were put in nomination. After balloting fifty times, Bradford received the nomination. His friends over here were much in hopes Judge Sheppard would have been the choice.

—Frank Walworth's imprisonment is said to be a farce. He does very much as he pleases.

PRIVATE HOSPITAL.

THE SUBSCRIBER TAKES PLEASURE IN announcing to the people of Inyo county that he has purchased and fitted up as a hospital the Beaudry Hotel Building, adjoining the military post at Camp Independence. All the adobes have been removed and their place applied with lumber; the grounds are handsomely laid out with shade trees and clover, and have a pure running stream of mountain water.

There is an excellent bath room and dispensary attached. One room is set aside for the county's sick, leaving ample room for private patients. The Northern Stage Line passes the door, and the place is easy of access from the town of Independence. The charges for board and lodging do not exceed those of any hotel or boarding house, offering equal accommodations, and the establishment has the advantage of having competent help and medical advice always at hand, being close by the house of the post surgeon at the camp.

NOTICE OF CHANGES MADE IN TOWNSHIPS, ELECTION, AND SUPERVISOR DISTRICTS.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT A NEW Township has been ordered and formed out of Township No. 3, said new township to be known as Township No. 6, and bounded as follows to wit: commencing north, at the township line between United States Townships Nos. 17 and 18, and extending therefrom to the southern boundary of Inyo County, and bounded on the east and west by said county boundary lines.

Notice is hereby given that a new Election District has been formed out of Election District No. 3, to be known as Election District No. 8, or George's Creek District; said District bounded as follows, to wit: commencing south, on the township line between United States Townships Nos. 14 and 15, and extending north to the township line between United States Townships Nos. 13 and 14, and bounded on the east and west by the boundaries of Inyo County.

Notice is hereby given that the whole of the newly formed Township No. 6 be and hereby is established as Election District No. 10, or Big Owens Lake District, bounded as follows: commencing north, on the township line between United States Townships Nos. 17 and 18 and extending therefrom to the southern boundary of Inyo County, and bounded on the east and west by said Inyo County boundary lines.

Notice is hereby given that the election District formerly known as election District No. 8, or Deep Spring Valley District, is hereby abolished, for the reason that no election was held during last election, and that it does not contain sufficient electors to form a separate election district; wherefore it is here adjoined to and connected with the Big Pine Election District or Election District No. 9; said election District No. 9 being now bounded as follows: commencing north, on the township line between United States Townships Nos. 8 and 9, extending southerly to the township line between United States Townships Nos. 9 and 10, and bounded on the east and west by Inyo County boundary lines.

Notice is hereby given that the boundary line between Supervisor Districts Nos. 1 and 2 of Inyo County is hereby changed from the former boundary line to the township line between United States Townships Nos. 9 and 10, which said line is hereafter to constitute the boundary line between said Supervisor Districts Nos. 1 and 2.

Title IV, Part 1, Penal Code.

SECTION 41. Every person charged with the performance of any duty under the provisions of any law of this state relating to elections who wilfully neglects or refuses to perform it, or who in his official capacity knowingly and fraudulently acts in contravention or violation of any of the provisions of such law is, unless a different punishment for such acts or omission is prescribed by this Code, punishable by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the State Prison not exceeding five years or by both.

SEC. 42. Every person who wilfully causes, procures or allows himself to be registered in the Great Register of any county, knowing himself not to be entitled to such registration, is punishable by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the County Jail or State Prison not exceeding one year, or both. In all cases where, on the trial of a person charged with any offense under the provisions of this section, it appears in evidence that the accused stands registered in the Great Register of any county without being qualified for such registration, the Court must order such registration to be canceled.

SEC. 43. Every person who, after being required by the Board of Judges at any election, refuses to be sworn, or who, after being sworn, refuses to answer any pertinent question propounded by such Board, touching his right or the right of any other person to vote, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 44. Every person summoned to appear and testify, before any Board of Registration, who wilfully disobeys such summons, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 45. Every person not entitled to vote, who fraudulently votes, and every person who votes more than once at any one election, or knowingly hands in two or more tickets folded together, or changes any ballot after the same has been deposited in the ballot box, or adds, or attempts to add any ballot to those legally polled at any election, either by fraudulently introducing the same into the ballot box before or after the ballots therein have been counted, or adds to or mixes with, or attempts to add to or mix with, the ballots lawfully polled, other ballots, while the same are being counted or canvassed, or at any other time, with intent to change the result of such election, or carries away or destroys, or attempts to carry away or destroy, any poll list, or ballots, or ballot box, for the purpose of breaking up or invalidating such election, or wilfully detains, mutilates, or destroys any election returns, or in any manner so interferes with the officers holding such election or conducting such canvass, or with the voters lawfully exercising their rights of voting at such election, as to prevent such election or canvass from being fairly held and lawfully conducted, is guilty of felony.

SEC. 46. Every person not entitled to vote, who fraudulently attempts to vote, or who, being entitled to vote, attempts to vote more than once at any election, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 47. Every person who procures, aids, assists, counsels or advises another to give or offer his vote at any election, knowing that the person is not qualified to vote, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 48. Every officer or Clerk of Election who aids in changing or destroying any poll list, or in placing any ballots in the ballot box, or taking any therefrom, or adds, or attempts to add, any ballots to those legally polled at such election, either by fraudulently introducing the same into the ballot box before or after the ballots therein have been counted, or adds to or mixes with, or attempts to add to or mix with, the ballots polled any other ballots, while the same are being counted or canvassed, or at any other time, with intent to change the result of such election, or allows another to do so when in his power to prevent it, or carries away, or destroys, or knowingly allows another to carry away or destroy, any poll list, ballot box, or ballots lawfully polled, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for not less than two nor more than seven years.

SEC. 49. Every Inspector, Judge, or Clerk of an election, who, previous to putting the ballot of an elector in the ballot box, attempts to find out any name on such ballot, or who opens, or suffers the folded ballot of any elector which has been handed in to be opened or examined previous to putting the same into the ballot box, or who makes or places any marker device on any folded ballot with the view to ascertain the name of any person for whom the elector has voted, or who, without the consent of the elector, discloses the name of any person which such Inspector, Judge or Clerk has fraudulently or illegally discovered to have been voted for by such elector, is punishable by fine, not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars.

SEC. 50. Every person who forges or counterfeits returns of an election purporting to have been held at a precinct, town, or ward where no election was in fact held, or wilfully substitutes forged or counterfeit returns of election in the place of the true returns, for a precinct, town or ward where an election was actually held, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for a term not less than two nor more than ten years.

SEC. 51. Every person who wilfully adds to, or subtracts from, the votes actually cast at an election, in any returns, or who alters such returns, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for not less than one nor more than five years.

SEC. 52. Every person who aids or abets in the commission of any of the offenses mentioned in the four preceding sections, or who, being present at or cognizant of the commission of either of such offenses, does not give information thereof as soon as practicable to the District Attorney or Grand Jury of the proper county, or to some Justice of the Peace of such county, is punishable by imprisonment in the County Jail for the period of six months, or in the State Prison not exceeding two years.

SEC. 53. Every person who, by force, threats, menaces, bribery, or any corrupt means, either directly or indirectly attempts to influence any elector in giving his vote, or to deter him from giving the same, or attempts by any means what ever to awe, restrain, hinder or disturb any elector in the free exercise of the right of suffrage, or furnishes any elector wishing to vote, who cannot read, with a ticket, informing or giving such elector to understand that it contains a name written or printed thereon different from the name which is written or printed thereon, or defrauds any elector at any such election, by deceiving and causing such elector to vote for a different person or any office than he intended or desired to vote for; or who, being Inspector, Judge, or Clerk of any election, while acting as such, induces or attempts to induce, any elector, either by menace or reward, or promise thereof, to vote differently from what such elector intended or desired to vote, he is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 54. Every person who, with intent to promote the election of himself, or any other person, either:

1. Furnishes entertainment at his expense to any meeting of electors previous to or during an election;

2. Pays for, procures, or engages to pay for any such entertainment;

3. Furnishes or engages to pay or deliver any money or property for the purpose of procuring the attendance of voters at the polls, or for the purpose of compensating any person for procuring attendance of voters at the polls, except for the conveyance of voters who are sick or infirm;

4. Furnishes or engages to pay or deliver any money or property for any purpose intended to promote the election of any candidate, except for the expenses of holding and conducting public meetings for the discussion of public questions, and of printing and circulating ballots, handbills, and other papers previous to such election;

—Is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 55. Every person who, being a candidate at any election, offers or agrees to appoint or procure the appointment of any particular person to office as an inducement or consideration to any person to vote for, or procure or aid in procuring the election of such candidate, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 56. Every person not being a candidate, who communicates any offer made in violation of the last section to any person with intent to induce him to vote for, or to procure or aid in procuring the election of the candidate making the offer, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 57. (§84, 85, 86). Every person who gives or offers a bribe to any officer or member of any legislative caucus, political convention, committee, primary election, or political gathering of any kind, held for the purpose of nominating candidates for offices of honor, trust, or profit in this State, with intent to influence the person to whom such bribe is given or offered to be more favorable to one candidate than another, and every person, member of either of the bodies in this section mentioned, who receives or offers to receive any such bribe, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison not less than one nor more than fourteen years.

SEC. 58. Every person who by threats, intimidations, or unlawful violence wilfully hinders or prevents electors from assembling in public meeting for the consideration of public questions, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 59. Every person who wilfully disturbs or breaks up any public meeting of electors or others, lawfully being held for the purpose of considering public questions, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 60. Every person who makes, offers, or accepts any bet or wager upon the result of any election, or upon the success or failure of any person or candidate, or upon the number of votes to be cast either in the aggregate or for any particular candidate, or upon the vote to be cast by any person, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 61. Every person who wilfully violates any of the provisions of the laws of this State relating to elections is, unless a different punishment for such violation is prescribed by this Code, punishable by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars or by imprisonment in the State Prison not exceeding five years, or by both.

MEDICAL.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE, FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittant Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most Wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

A GREAT SPEECH.

Governor Booth delivered an oration at Platt's Hall, San Francisco, on the night of August 12, which, in a literary point of view, will rate as the most magnificent speech ever delivered on this coast. The occasion was a meeting of the Independent Taxpayers, the so-called bolting faction of the Republican party. On this account the monopoly newspapers and leaders have pronounced the Governor a bolter and beyond the sympathy or support of the party. It don't matter how much such treacherous leaders as they may rule him out, the true party men will follow sooner or later, and make the sentiment of that speech their fighting platform for the winning party of the future, no matter by what name it may be known.

These false leaders may deny, and rule out, and possibly succeed by chicanery in accomplishing their ends for the time, but Governor Booth, with a master's hand, has painted in this speech, without a shadow of doubt, the exact feeling of the great majority of the people of this State. The truthfulness and striking ability with which he sketches the real living issues of the new irrepressible conflict between political railroad monopolists on the one hand and the rights of the people on the other, foreshadows a contest that will never end until complete victory rests with one or the other. And it only requires a proper appreciation and understanding by the people, in time, of the real dangers they have to meet to insure the victory to them. No better statement to produce such an understanding is required than is afforded by this speech.

As the speaker himself puts it, the new conflict is to affirm the right of every man to own and control his own dollar, whether that dollar stands alone or is one of millions. If one man owns a million in coin or railroad stocks and another but a single one, the rights of the respective owners is just as perfect and absolute in the one case as the other, and equally worthy of protection by both law and usage, and to affirm and maintain this right is the issue now involved. The contest virtually is not only that the poor man's one dollar shall not be taxed in a proportion ten times greater than the rich man's million, but that the last shall not absorb the other in toto. That is what this railroad fight means. With the political control of the State in the hands of a centralized railroad interest, and all legislation is thenceforth to the benefit of that interest, though all others all but perish. We attempt not even a brief synopsis of this speech; it needs to be read at length, for every sentence conveys a truth worthy the consideration of every man anxious to preserve his rights as a freeman.

Following are the concluding words:

I have done. Standing in this presence—loving order as I love life, sworn to maintain it and ready to redeem the oath with my life—conscious of my responsibilities, and weighing my words—looking the future earnestly in the face, I solemnly believe that the choice of the American people is between reform now and revolution hereafter! And I adjure these corporations, for their own sakes, as well as ours, not to involve us all in the common ruin which their madness threatens. Justice is the only sure foundation upon which our feet can stand.

Death of Dr. F. C. Smith.

Dr. Smith, so well known to the people of this county, and especially of this place, where he made his home for several years, died quite suddenly at Columbus, Nevada, his late place of residence, on the 14th instant. As a physician and as a kind hearted man and gentleman, Dr. Smith had few superiors. But for one great failing, the same that has blasted so many bright intellects, and the same that doubtless hurried him into his grave, Dr. Smith would unquestionably have stood at the head of his profession, as he did, even with this, in the hearts of numberless friends wherever known. There are hundreds along the eastern slope of the Sierras, where for the past eleven years he has made his home, to testify to his many excellent traits of character, his generous heart and useful deeds, and all will bear of his demise with real sorrow. He was but a young man in years, being only 47 at the time of his death. He was born in the State of Virginia, from which at an early age he removed to Philadelphia, where, in 1847, he graduated in medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, in which for some time he served as adjunct Professor of Anatomy and Surgery.

THE POST CEMETERY.

We wish here to address a word or two to the citizens of this place in relation to a cemetery. As every one knows, the plot of ground devoted to burial purposes for the town, though much the easiest of access, is ignored in favor of the Post cemetery. The reason for this may be explained in a word: The desert locality of the one, together with its utter sterility of soil, renders futile every effort to beautify the grounds in memory of dear friends buried there, while, on the other hand, the Post grounds are susceptible of improvement and adornment. And, besides, there is a feeling of a duty fulfilled towards departed friends in leaving their remains under the care of those—the soldiers—who make it their duty to see that no harm befalls their last resting place. In the fulfilment of this especial duty in respect to the memory of those of his own profession gone before, Capt. MacGowan, of the Post, proposes to inclose the Post cemetery with a neat fence, to grade the ground, plant trees, and affix permanent tombstones at each grave, and effect other improvements, so that when the post is abandoned by the troops, the graves of those left behind will not be a standing reproach for his and the Government's want of care. In carrying out this plan, the ground has been laid out under his direction, according to regulations, platted, and each grave recorded and numbered in a record book, so that if all were leveled down the exact location of any grave can always be ascertained to a certainty.

Capt. MacGowan has applied to the Department for an appropriation to carry out his designs. He has received instructions to enclose and improve, as above, sufficient ground for a soldiers' cemetery, and no more. If only that much is fenced, then no citizens can be buried there. But the Captain is anxious to have it made large enough for the accommodation of all. To accomplish this some assistance from the people of this town is absolutely necessary. The additional cost will be but small; merely the addition of less than 400 feet of fencing all told, so that the entire enclosure will be 200 feet square instead of 60x160; to this must be added the cost of leveling the extra ground. The cost of this addition above the means at his command will not exceed $300, and perhaps will not amount to one-third of that sum. The citizens will be required to make up the deficiency, what ever it may be, after the appropriation is expended. With this guaranteed, the extension will be made as mentioned, and citizens can consider it as their own cemetery, subject to these conditions: That none but respectable persons can be buried there, and each grave is to be provided with a suitable tombstone. So long as Capt. MacGowan or the troops remain at Camp Independence the grounds will be his or their especial charge, and in case of their withdrawal the charge will be handed over to the citizens Of course it is understood that citizens will at all times have all desired privileges to bestow any attentions or adornments they may see proper upon their respective lots, and Capt. MacGowan will take pleasure in affording them all the facilities for such purposes as may be in his power. All that he asks is to have the extra labor performed. It would be well for those of our public spirited citizens to give this matter immediate attention, and if agreeable to their ideas of needs and proprieties, as we doubt not it will generally be considered, to delegate some one or more to confer with the Post commander and offer him the conditional guarantee required, so that he may commence his work understandingly.

Columbus and Vicinity.

We condense the following items from The Borax Miner, of August 16:

Mack & Powning's mill at Partzwick was to start up last Monday. It has been shut down for a few weeks preparing furnaces and for a general overhauling.

John Gorrall, a native of England, was killed in the Comanche mine, by a falling rock, on the 8th instant.

Eugene Roscoe, sub-contractor, has received an order from J. M. Meredith, Postmaster at Aurora, discontinuing the mail service to Silver Peak.

Last Tuesday a week ago quite a large amount of rain fell at Columbus. On the previous day Benton was similarly favored.

Court Matters in Aurora.

A friend from Aurora furnishes us the following items of proceedings in Judge Seawell's Court:

People vs. Culverson (and McCoy). nol. pros. entered and prisoners discharged.

John Colling, intent to commit murder, acquitted.

John Roney, three years in the penitentiary for horse-stealing, and one year additional for breaking jail.

On the Situation and Altitude of Mount Whitney.

BY W. E. GOODYEAR, C. E.

[From the Proceedings of the California Academy of Sciences, August 4, 1873.]

On the 27th day of July, 1873, Mr. M. W. Belshaw, of Cerro Gordo, and myself rode our mules to the highest crest of the peak southwest of Lone Pine, which, for over three years now, has been known by the name of Mount Whitney, and which was ascended and measured as such by Mr. Clarence King, in the Summer of 1871. A full account of Mr. King's ascent of this peak is given in his "Mountaineering in the Sierra Nevada," pp. 264–281.

I know this peak well, and cannot be mistaken as to its identity. As seen from Lone Pine, it appears perhaps the most prominent peak in the whole Sierra; and during the Summer of 1870, when, in company with Mr. C. F. Hoffman and Mr. Alfred Craven, I made a trip for the State Geological Survey through Owens Valley and the Inyo Mountains, this peak was the object of constant observations by us for a month or more, under the name of Mount Whitney—which we then supposed it to be. Moreover, since Mr. King's ascent of it in 1871, the half dollar which he left on the summit has been found there, with his name inscribed upon it. There can, therefore, be no mistake as to the identity of this peak with the one ascended and measured by Mr. King in 1871.

I do not mention the fact that Mr. Belshaw and myself reached the summit in the saddle as being one of any new or special interest; for Mr. Sheriff Mulkey, of Inyo county, accomplished the same thing on the 6th day of August, 1872, with his family (i. e., his wife and daughter), and since that time it has also been done by several other parties.

But there is some interest in the fact discovered by Mr. Belshaw and myself when we reached the summit—that this peak is not Mount Whitney.

It is by no means the highest among the grand cluster of peaks which form the culminating portion of the Sierra Nevada; nor is it the peak which was discovered by Prof. W. H. Brewer and party, in 1864, and then originally named by them Mount Whitney.

For the truth of such a statement as this, after the mountain has become so famous, I shall of course be expected to produce my evidence.

How then, in the first place, do I know that this so-called Mount Whitney is not the highest peak in this vicinity?

First, because on reaching its crest the fact is at once not only apparent, but very striking, even to the unaided eye alone, that a peak which bears N. 67° W. magnetic, distant between five and six miles from the observer, is considerably higher than the one on which he stands.

To this it will, perhaps, be objected that it is extremely difficult to judge of relative hights with the eye alone; and that, in so judging, the best observers are liable to be deceived. But while, of course, admitting the truth of this statement, as a general fact and within certain limits, I still reply that no good eye is ever deceived as to which is the higher of two culminating peaks among such a mass of mountains, when the observer is standing on the lower peak, with a perfectly clear atmosphere between, and nothing to obstruct the vision—the distance between the peaks not exceeding half a dozen miles, and the actual difference of altitude between them being anywhere in the vicinity of a hundred feet to each mile of the distance.

My second proof of the relative altitude of these two peaks is the following:

I had no spirit level with me; but I did have this miner's compass, 3¾ inches square, with a clinometer attached. On setting the index of the clinometer at zero, and sighting along the upper edge of the plate, the line of sight struck far below the summit of the other peak. Then, on reversing the instrument end for end, setting the clinometer again at zero, and sighting along the upper edge of the plate as before, the line of sight, though it struck a little higher than before, (thus showing a slight error in the instrument), nevertheless still struck far below the peak. This, if the sighting along the edge of the plate was correctly done, is proof positive that the distant peak is the higher.

But we applied still a third test. While I was busy with my notes, Mr. Belshaw improvised a still more perfect level by taking a pint cup, four inches in diameter, and filling it heaping full of water—i. e., so that the water stood higher than the edge of the cup all around the rim, yet without overflowing When this was done it become at once evident, on sighting across the smooth surface of the water, that the other peak was higher than the one on which we stood by an amount which we both of us estimated to be not less than 500 or 600 feet.

As to the proofs that the peak which we climbed is not the one originally named Mount Whitney by Prof. Brewer and party in 1864, they are numerous; and among them are the following:

In the first place, Mr. Clarence King, in 1864, on reaching the summit of Mount Tyndall, remarks as follows, in the Geological Survey Report (Geology, vol. 1, p. 386):

"On setting the level, it was seen at once that there were two peaks equally high in sight, and two still more elevated—all within a distance of seven miles. Of the two highest, one rose close by, hardly a mile away; it is an inaccessible bunch of needles, and we gave it the name of Mount Williamson. The other, which we called Mount Whitney, appeared equally inaccessible from any point on the north or west side; it is between seven and eight miles distant, in a south-southeast direction, and, I should think, fully 320 feet higher than our peak." (Further investigation showed that it was really 600 or 700 feet higher than Mount Tyndall.)"

Now, the peak which we climbed is certainly not 350 feet higher than Mount Tyndall, but very nearly the same altitude. In fact as closely as we could judge by our water level at such a distance, Mount Tyndall appeared a trifle the higher of the two. Moreover, this peak, instead of being between seven and eight miles distant in a south-southeast direction, is between twelve and thirteen miles distant from it, in a direction about S. 37° E. true course; while the genuine Mount Whitney (i. e., the highest peak), is actually distant from Mount Tyndall only about seven and one quarter miles in a direction about S. 26° E.—thus corresponding exactly with this remark of King's in 1864. It is evident enough that this difference between seven or eight and twelve or thirteen miles of air-line distance involves an error which Mr. King would have been by no means likely to make in his estimate of the distance in 1864. While the direction S. 26° E. also corresponds far more nearly to Mr. King's words, "a southeast direction," than the course of S. 37° E. does.

Again, after Mr. King's ascent of Mount Tyndall and the return of the party to Visalia, Mr. King made another excursion into the mountains, leaving Visalia, July 14, 1864, for the purpose of making an attack on Mount Whitney. He followed from Visalia a trail, which appears, so far as his description and my information give the means of identifying it, to have been the present Hockett trail, to a point where it crosses the main Kern River. From this point Mr. King followed some route among the upper branches of Kern river, which he has not described with sufficient clearness to enable it to be accurately traced on any map with which I am acquainted in the Geological Survey Office, or elsewhere, to the base of Mount Whitney. In his attempt to scale the summit of the mountain, he did not at that time succeed. But the highest point which he reached, as indicated by his barometric observation, was "according to the most reliable calculations, 14,740 feet above the sea level." And "at the point where this observation was taken, he was, as near as he was able to estimate, between 300 and 400 feet lower than the culminating point of the mountain, which, must therefore, somewhat exceed 15,000 feet in hight."

Now, although I do not recollect the exact figures which Mr. King's observations in 1871 gave for the hight of the peak which he then measured for Mount Whitney, and to whose summit Mr. Belshaw and I rode the other day in the saddle, I do recollect, with certainty, that these figures were a little less than the altitude of the point actually reached by him in 1864, when he was still, according to his own estimate, "between 300 and 400 feet lower than the culminating point" of Mount Whitney.

Here, then, there was a discrepancy of at least 300 or 400 feet, and probably somewhat more, between Mr. King's barometric results in 1864 and his results in 1871. A discrepancy hitherto utterly unaccounted for, and, if the two peaks were identical, unaccountable, except by supposing the existence of errors of a magnitude, which is to say the least extremely improbable, in the whole method of computing high altitudes from barometric observations. This strange discrepancy vanishes at once when the fact is recognized that in 1864 Mr. King was attempting a different and a higher peak than the one he climbed in 1871.

Moreover, the shape of the peak and the surrounding country, fully justifies me in making the statement that neither Mr. King, nor any other good mountain climber, would ever have reached a point within three or four hundred feet of the summit of the peak which he measured in 1871, and then have given it up in despair. If he approached this mountain from anywhere on the north or northwest sides, he could never have reached a point so near the summit; for the precipices in these directions are tremendous, for at least a thousand or fifteen hundred feet below the crest; and on the other hand, if he had approached it anywhere from W. S. W., around by south to southeast, he would have gone directly to the summit with no difficulty whatever; for in all these directions the slopes are comparatively smooth and easy.

The following remarks from the Geological Survey Report (Geology, Vol 1, pp. 390 and 391), and for which Mr. King's notes of 1864 also furnished the material, will be sufficient additional proof, I think, of the fact that the peak which for three or four years has borne that name, is not the one originally named Mount Whitney:

"Mount Whitney is a ridge having somewhat the outline of a helmet, the perpendicular face being turned toward the east. There is snow on the summit, which indicates that there must be a flat surface there. The mountain is the culminating point of an immense pile of granite, which is cut almost to the center by numerous steep and almost vertical canyons, ending in high-walled amphitheatres. Southward of the main peak, there is a range of sharp needles, four of which are over 14,000 feet high. The general aspect of the ground is much like that of Mount Tyndall. This mountain has been approached on all sides except from the east, and found to be utterly inaccessible. Mr. King thinks it possible, however, that some route may yet be found by which the summit can be reached."

Now, this description corresponds in every respect, so far as Mr. Belshaw and I could see and judge, with the grand peak to the northwest of us—the original Mount Whitney; and it does not correspond at all with the one we were on, and which by mistake has borne the name so long.

Mount Whitney, having "its perpendicular face turned toward the east," looks from Lone Pine like a pretty sharp conical peak. The other peak shows the "helmet outline" from Lone Pine, and its perpendicular face is turned toward the north and northwest instead of the east; while the true Mount Whitney, as seen from the summit of this peak, assumes again the "helmet outline," with the steepest bluff to the eastward.

Again, the peak we climbed is not cut anywhere near to the center by canyons, either numerous or steep, on the south or southwest sides. Furthermore, there is no vestige of a range of "sharp needles" to the south of it, or of anything that could suggest such an idea; while immediately to the south of the towering peak, northwest from the one we climbed, there is precisely such a range of tremendous and utterly inaccessible crags and turrets, and sharp and lofty pinnacles.

The mountain which we climbed also, instead of being inaccessible "on all sides except from the east," is, as already stated, very easy accessible from anywhere from W. S. W., around by south to southeast.

In the face of all these facts, though it may be possible, yet it certainly seems hardly credible, that Mr. King, familiar as he was, or at least ought to have been, long previous to 1871, with the general appearance of the whole region of country immediately to the north and northwest of Mount Whitney should, on reaching in 1871 the summit of the peak to whose crest Mr. Belshaw and I lately rode our mules, have failed to recognize at once the fact that he was on a lower and a different peak from the one he had attempted in 1864. And yet, on the other hand, if he did not recognize this fact, then why, on his return from the trip which he made in the Summer of 1871 for the special purpose of climbing and measuring Mount Whitney, did he not make it known and give it publicity?

In any case the fulness of detail with which Mr King, in "Mountaineering in the Sierra Nevada" (pp 277 and 278)—while standing, in reality, on a peak over five miles distant from the one which he says was under his feet—appears to recognize all the topography of the scenes of his earlier struggles, and of his attempts to reach the summit of Mount Whitney in 1864, is something interesting.

Certain it is, however, that the peak which for over three years has borne the name of Whitney, has done so only by mistake, and that a new name must be found for it; while the name of Whitney must now go back to the peak to which it was originally given in 1864, and which is in reality the highest and grandest of this culminating cluster of the Sierra Nevada.

Furthermore, it appears that Mount Whitney not only retains its claim to being the highest point of land in the United States of America, but that its claim to over 15,000 feet of absolute altitude above the sea is still indisputable; while, up to the present time, it also retains the prestige of the fact that, in all probability, no human foot has ever trodden its summit.

If Mr. King's descriptions, in 1864, of the appearance and surrounding of this mountain on the north and northwest can be relied upon, it is safe to say that no man will ever ride a horse or mule to the summit of that peak, unless it be by a costly as well as a dangerous trail.

Whether the peak is utterly inaccessible or not, is still a question. I am disposed to think that it can be climbed; but it will certainly involve a great deal of hard and, possibly, some dangerous work for anybody who shall attempt to reach its gigantic crest.

San Francisco, Aug. 4. 1873.

NOTE.—Aug. 6: I have just received from Mr. Belshaw the results of a rough triangulation made by him from Cerro Gordo to the summits of the two peaks in question, since my return.

The figures given by this triangulation, though not to be relied on as very accurate, are still sufficiently so to show clearly the relative situation of things, and to furnish additional confirmation of the facts as stated in the above paper.

He makes the air-line distance from Cerro Gordo to the peak measured by Mr. King in 1871, in a course S. 72° W. magnetic, 25 miles, and the altitude of this peak 14,033 feet. The distance to the genuine Mount Whitney he makes 30.18 miles, in a direction S. 80° 5′ W. magnetic, and its altitude 14,930 feet.

Both these altitudes are probably too low; but there can be no question as to which is the higher peak.

Pacific Coast Items.

The telegraph company has determined to build the telegraph line from San Bernardino to Los Angeles, and not connect at Anaheim, as was its first intention.

Lieut. Cragie is now en route to Yuma, via San Diego, to take command of a detachment of the Twelfth Infantry, to escort the fourth party of telegraph line builders from Yuma west.

In this year's report the Central Pacific Railroad appears to show profits of $7,400,000, but leaves out of view the sum owing to the United States on interest account. The debt is $89,700,000.

Nash, the man who murdered Gersbeck, assisted by the wife of the murdered man, a short time since in Contra Costa county, has been arrested. Both he and the woman acknowledge the foul deed, but each charges it upon the other. Nash was arrested at Winnemucca, Nevada.

The three Colfax stage robbers have been arrested. Two of them, N. A. Stover and Jos. Myers, have acknowledged complicity in the robbery, and the latter has turned over some of the stolen money, which he had hid away in his saloon. A gold bar and coin, together amounting to about $1,000, have also been captured with another of the robbers named Dribblesbie.

The trial of Geo. N. Bennett for the murder of Collector Wilkins at Stockton some months ago, is now going on, and is the all absorbing topic in that city. The wife of Wilkins stands accused of being a party to the murder and as Bennett's paramour, and both are likely to be convicted by the evidence of her own little daughter. The evidence relating to the connection of these two is said to be so extremely filthy that no respectable newspaper dare publish it.

Carlists are reported to have captured Berga.

Cholera is increasing in Germany.

The distribution of diplomas and medals is being made at Vienna. The Americans are receiving a full share of them.

Don Carlos is marching into the province of Arragon at the head of 5,000 soldiers, with Generals Elis and Dorregarray. He does not appear to meet with much resistance.

One thousand Spanish insurgents are robbing the rich towns on the coast of Alicante.

Carthagena, Spain, is completely in the hands of the insurgents, and a hard fight is preparing there to conquer them and recover the city.

Eastern News.

A man named Henry Lyon has been arrested in Omaha on suspicion of his being one of the robbers that robbed the Rock Island train a few weeks ago. He has been held in $5,000 bail.

A terrible storm raged along the Atlantic coast for the three days preceding August 5, on which day it reached its culminating point. A great deal of damage was done in the suburbs of Philadelphia and other points in Pennsylvania.

Some thirty cases of well defined Asiatic cholera are reported in Chicago.

Tuolumne Voters.

The Great Register of Tuolumne county, as we learn from The Union Democrat, in which office it was printed, contains 2,460 names, a falling off from the Register of 1872 of forty-three names.

A Grand Ball.

The citizens of this place, and all who choose to attend from far or near, are next Wednesday evening to have an opportunity to attend one of the best balls that we have yet had. It is given by Mr. T. S. Harris as an introduction to a series of dancing schools to be given one night in each week thereafter in each locality in the valley desirous of having such a school. As a musician Mr. Harris is hard to excel, and by a great deal of work and practice has organized a most excellent quadrille band, consisting of four instruments—violin, piccolo, double bass viol and piano, the latter played by Mrs. Judge Gunnison. We hope that all who like an occasional relief from the humdrum of every day life, through a social dance, as well as those who wish to educate themselves or others in the terpsichorean art through the organization of a dancing school, will take occasion to attend this one on Wednesday evening next. For this occasion the new court room will be used for a dancing hall. Supper will be given at the Blaney house.

More of It.

On Wednesday evening last some miscreant, whose name and occupation is said to be known, bartered some whisky to some Indians camped near town. The result was they got on a fighting drunk, during which they cut and slashed each other with a will. In the melee one of them got a cut in the neck which is likely to prove fatal. Sheriff Mulkey and Under Sheriff Moore were called upon at a late hour of the night to go down and settle the row which they done by arresting four of the Indians and placing them in jail, but they have since been released. The one that done the cutting, according to what one of them tells us, escaped the officers and is yet at large. The first man caught selling whisky to the Indians will probably get a bullet through him without further ceremony. That is the only effectual way of putting a stop to a practice that if permitted to go on will surely end in the murder of some innocent white person, to say nothing of Indians themselves.

"Good Licks."

Elsewhere will be noticed an item concerning drunken Indians. The Indians stated that one Warren Fairchild and a Chinaman, also a soldier, had furnished them the whisky. The two former were brought before Justice Gunnison to test the right of Indian testimony under the Code. Every lawyer in town—Bennett, Snelling, Gregg, Reddy, Van Decar—was of the opinion that under the Code such testimony was admissible for what it was worth. As that of these four Indians confirmed a charge morally sustained in the knowledge of almost every white person in town, Judge Gunnison gives Mr. Fairchild 100 days in the county jail and work on the streets, and Mr Ah Sin 75 days with the same perquisites. So this community rejoices in the belief that we have at last a solution of this much vexed question. "Good licks;" but there are others to be nipped yet.

Had to Come Home.

All the Kern river fishing party, both ladies and gentlemen, finally came to the conclusion that they had better tear themselves away from their sylvan felicities and come and see after home affairs awhile. We are told that, besides the sun burn, every one has gained several pounds more or less in avoirdupois, and so they ought, since the aggregate daily consumption of fish by that party was something frightful to tell about—besides venison and bear meat, it took two hundred pounds of fish daily to enable them to eke out an existence. Farmers can come on now with their loads of truck.

Horses Dying.

We learn that numbers of horses in this valley are dying from a disease supposed to be a secondary result of the epizooty, long since supposed to have passed away. The horse attacked by the new disease never lasts over three days, becoming helplessly paralyized by the second day and bleeding slightly at the nose just before death. It was this disease which carried off Mulkey's thoroughbred colt, as mentioned by us a week or two since.

Another Mining Suit.

The San Felipe Mining Company has entered suit against Rafael Diaz for a decree compelling him to convey to said company the title to 115 feet in the San Felipe lode. It will be tried in the November term of the District Court. P. W. Bennett for plaintiffs, P. Reddy for defendant.

Political.

As set forth in the announcement elsewhere there will be political speaking at Bishop Creek and Independence at the places and on the dates mentioned. See advertisement.

Opening Out.

The San Felipe load is developing into one of the finest silver lodes in Cerro Gordo, showing that it is something more than a mere "deposit."

Biographical Sketches.

Last Wednesday we finished printing and binding another edition of the Inyo County Biographical Sketches, M. W. Hammarstrand editor and compiler. This work, which is the second of the kind by the same compiler, gives a brief but comprehensive sketch of the lives of some 726 of our citizens, all of the male gender; that is twenty-one more than in his former or last year's edition. The editor treats his numerous subjects with perfect impartiality, necessarily being rigidly terse in his remarks upon each. He only aims to show where each man was born, how old he is, where he lives and what business he is supposed to follow for a livelihood—he makes no mention of how any of them are making it in this last particular, which omission militates somewhat against the value of the book in neighborhoods where everybody likes to know all about everybody else's business; neither does he throw any light upon the matrimonial status or intentions of any of his numerous characters, but this is compensated partially by giving the date of each one's birth, thus indirectly showing who ought to to be married, if nothing more, and also enabling young ladies of an inquiring turn of mind to approximate within at least ten years of the actual age of their admiring Augustuses, and to determine with a tolerable degree of accuracy whether their apparent gray hairs are due to the lapse of years only or wholly to early piety. Notwithstanding that the author adheres throughout to a mere matter-of-fact style, nowhere indulging in original or selected poetry, gushing or otherwise, rhetorical flourishes or flights of eloquence or fancy, except occasionally in regard to ages and occupations, his work will be read with interest generally, and especially by the young ladies on the account above mentioned, and also by married ladies desirous of finding a real pretty name for their new babies. On these accounts alone Hammarstrand's work becomes, next to the Bible, one of the most useful books published, although no genealogies are given at all, except now and then a brief allusion to some subject's natural father who unselfishly forswore allegiance to kings and potentates and other foreign puddingheads, and crossed the raging main merely that his off-spring might vote any ticket his party leaders told him was right so long as it was in conformity with the exigencies of the case and the New Code. Without wishing to detract from the love of free institutions and patriotic intentions which caused the sires of these to take the step referred to, it is fair to presume that the bread and butter question also had something to do with it, although this book don't say so. We do not suppose anything derogatory is intended by the author, but we observe he never fails to give the names, in connection with the respective localities, of those born in Missouri and New Jersey, except when he has due regard for the subject and substitutes the generic title, "United States" as the birth-place. This is done, no doubt, out of respect for the unfortunate's family and relatives. By referring to this book every citizen on it will find a corresponding number by which he will be required to identify himself on certain occasions, in effect pretty much the same as that on John Brown's knapsack. These numbers have no other use, and are not intended as any indication of any man's social standing; otherwise, vulgar fractions of several figures would of necessity often have been expressively substituted. We close our review of this book by remarking that it has one peculiar feature which commends it to all classes of readers—it is ever changing in its topics and consequently never prosy; without trenching on the marvellous, it has an occasional reference that will mildly excite the admiration of all lovers of Paul de Koch's works of fiction. Published by Chalfant & Parker, and to be had at the County Clerk's office and of all respectable Election Boards in the county.

Andrew Culverson.

As this young man is well known here, and as a good many persons have felt an interest in the out-come of the ugly scrape he has just come fairly out of, we think a brief statement of the circumstances may have a tendency to place him in a just light before the public. As is well known he and one James P. McCoy were put on trial before Judge Seawell, of Aurora, for horse-stealing, Judge M'Clinton of that place and Mr. Reddy of this appearing in his behalf. The case was given to the jury, which on the following morning rendered a verdict of guilty. This verdict was a surprise to all acquainted with the circumstances. When brought up for sentence, M'Clinton moved for a new trial, which the Judge immediately granted, saying in effect that the verdict was not justified by facts nor evidence, and for him to sentence a promising young man to the Penitentiary for an act which was not a crime, and thus ruin him forever, would be an outrage on justice and certainly his own feelings. While the evidence went to show that Culverson had, in order to save his companion and himself from great suffering, if not actual death, in the desert, taken possession of and ridden horses that belonged to other parties—while in possession and at the time he got them at the station, he explicitly informed a number of persons as to the self evident exigencies of the case, and that the horses would be returned from the next station, where he expected to obtain assistance for his disabled companion, who, by the way, had actually lain down on the desert and there would have died but for Culverson's assistance. While it was evident he had committed a trespass on the property of others, every circumstance went to prove that it was from good motives and not with felonious intent. The verdict was unjustifiable, and could not be sustained without additional testimony. The prosecuting attorney stated that he had not nor would not have additional testimony to offer, and moved a nol pros., so the case and charge was dismissed, as it undoubtedly ought to have been.

Fine Pictures.

We are indebted to Mr. A. S. Addis, who is now taking pictures in Cerro Gordo, for two views of the mountain scenery immediately west of Lone Pine and also one of that town. One of these views was taken just as the rays of the morning sun had spread a sheen of gold from summit to base of Mt. Whitney and the neighboring lofty range while yet the town was in the shade; and the other, of the same scene, while the blue sky was dotted over with flying clouds. Considered for mere artistic effect no master painter ever drew prettier pictures, while the scenery itself is grand beyond the descriptive power of words. Mount Whitney, though the highest point on the continent, and in plain view in these pictures, is yet something of a failure, surrounded as it is by a range so nearly approaching its own altitude. In simple "looks" Whitney cannot begin to compete with the solitary grandeur of looming Lassen Peak.

Sylvania District.

A friend in this new district, located some twenty miles south of Piper's Ranch, gives us, under date of August 21, the following encouraging account of its prospects:

"We are just opening up a new mining district which, I think, will soon speak for itself, for we have some very good mines; at least they appear to be such on top, and the boys are going to know what there is under ground soon. Shafts are down from five to fifty feet. Most of the mines produce smelting ore, and assay from fifty to five hundred dollars per ton. The veins are from four to ten feet wide, and situated in a finely timbered country. * * TOM.

The Big Mining Suit.

On the 18th instant notice was filed in the District Court for a new trial in the case of the San Felipe vs. Union. The question will come before Judge Belden in his court at San Jose, Sept. 4. The grounds of this application consist of nine affidavits, eight of which are based on Bennett's statements in reference to the status of the jury anterior to the rendering of their verdict at the late trial, and one on the statement of a juror before he was impanneled that he would like to get on that jury as he could make $500.

Quite Sick.

While down at Los Angeles with his team, Mr. David Stubblefield of this place was, over a month ago, taken very sick. His wife started to his assistance at once, and this week succeeded in getting him home, after a seventeen days journey from Los Angeles here. He is improving, but still is far from well.

Habeas Corpus.

Judge Hannah, of the County Court, will render a decision on a writ of habeas corpus, heard yesterday in the case of Antonio Alverbretrio, the Mexican committed on a charge of horse stealing several weeks since.

Hiskey & Walker's Mill.

We are pleased to state that this Lida Valley mill is again pounding away, and has an abundance of splendid ore on hands.

--Why is a fool like twenty hundred weight?--Because he's a simpleton.

PRIVATE HOSPITAL.

THE SUBSCRIBER TAKES PLEASURE IN announcing to the people of Inyo county that he has purchased and fitted up as a hospital the Beaudry Hotel Building, adjoining the military post at Camp Independence. All the adobes have been removed and their place applied with lumber; the grounds are handsomely laid out with shade trees and clover, and have a pure running stream of mountain water.

There is an excellent bath room and dispensary attached. One room is set aside for the county's sick, leaving ample room for private patients. The Northern Stage Line passes the door, and the place is easy of access from the town of Independence. The charges for board and lodging do not exceed those of any hotel or boarding house, offering equal accommodations, and the establishment has the advantage of having competent help and medical advice always at hand, being close by the house of the post surgeon at the camp.

NOTICE OF CHANGES MADE IN TOWNSHIPS, ELECTION, AND SUPERVISOR DISTRICTS.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT A NEW Township has been ordered and formed out of Township No. 3, said new township to be known as Township No. 6, and bounded as follows to wit: commencing north, at the township line between United States Townships Nos. 17 and 18, and extending therefrom to the southern boundary of Inyo County, and bounded on the east and west by said county boundary lines.

Notice is hereby given that a new Election District has been formed out of Election District No. 3, to be known as Election District No. 8, or George's Creek District; said District bounded as follows, to wit: commencing south, on the township line between United States Townships Nos. 14 and 15, and extending north to the township line between United States Townships Nos. 13 and 14, and bounded on the east and west by the boundaries of Inyo County.

Notice is hereby given that the whole of the newly formed Township No. 6 be and hereby is established as Election District No. 10, or Big Owens Lake District, bounded as follows: commencing north, on the township line between United States Townships Nos. 17 and 18, and extending therefrom to the southern boundary of Inyo County, and bounded on the east and west by said Inyo County boundary lines.

Notice is hereby given that the election District formerly known as election District No. 8, or Deep Spring Valley District, is hereby abolished, for the reason that no election was held during last election, and that it does not contain sufficient electors to form a separate election district; wherefore it is here adjudged to and connected with the Big Pine Election District or Election District No. 9; said election District No. 9 being now bounded as follows: commencing north, on the township line between United States Townships Nos. 8 and 9, extending southerly to the township line between United States Townships Nos. 9 and 10, and bounded on the east and west by Inyo County boundary lines.

Notice is hereby given that the boundary line between Supervisor Districts Nos. 1 and 2 of Inyo County is hereby changed from the former boundary line to the township line between United States Townships Nos. 9 and 10, which said line is hereafter to constitute the boundary line between said Supervisor Districts Nos. 1 and 2.

By order of the Board,

M. W. HAMMARSTRAND, Clerk of the Board.

Title IV, Part I, Penal Code.

SECTION 41. Every person charged with the performance of any duty under the provisions of any law of this State relating to elections who wilfully neglects or refuses to perform it, or who in his official capacity knowingly and fraudulently acts in contravention or violation of any of the provisions of such law is, unless a different punishment for such acts or omission is prescribed by this Code, punishable by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the State Prison not exceeding five years or by both.

SEC. 42. Every person who wilfully causes, procures or allows himself to be registered in the Great Register of any county, knowing himself not to be entitled to such registration, is punishable by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the County Jail or State Prison not exceeding one year, or both. In all cases where, on the trial of a person charged with any offense under the provisions of this section, it appears in evidence that the accused stands registered in the Great Register of any county without being qualified for such registration, the Court must order such registration to be canceled.

SEC. 43. Every person who, after being required by the Board of Judges at any election, refuses to be sworn, or who, after being sworn, refuses to answer any pertinent question propounded by such Board, touching his right or the right of any other person to vote, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 44. Every person summoned to appear and testify, before any Board of Registration, who wilfully disobeys such summons, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 45. Every person not entitled to vote, who fraudulently votes, and every person who votes more than once at any one election, or knowingly hands in two or more tickets folded together, or changes any ballot after the same has been deposited in the ballot box, or adds, or attempts to add any ballot to those legally polled at any election, either by fraudulently introducing the same into the ballot box before or after the ballots therein have been counted, or adds to or mixes with, or attempts to add to or mix with, the ballots lawfully polled, other ballots, while the same are being counted or canvassed, or at any other time, with intent to change the result of such election, or carries away or destroys, or attempts to carry away or destroy, any poll list, or ballots, or ballot box, for the purpose of breaking up or invalidating such election, or wilfully detains, mutilates, or destroys any election returns, or in any manner so interferes with the officers holding such election or conducting such canvass, or with the voters lawfully exercising their rights of voting at such election, as to prevent such election or canvass from being fairly held and lawfully conducted, is guilty of felony.

SEC. 46. Every person not entitled to vote, who fraudulently attempts to vote, or who, being entitled to vote, attempts to vote more than once at any election, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 47. Every person who procures, aids, assists, counsels or advises another to give or offer his vote at any election, knowing that the person is not qualified to vote, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 48. Every officer or Clerk of Election who aids in changing or destroying any poll list, or in placing any ballots in the ballot box, or taking any therefrom, or adds, or attempts to add, any ballots to those legally polled at such election, either by fraudulently introducing the same into the ballot box before or after the ballots therein have been counted, or adds to or mixes with, or attempts to add to or mix with, the ballots polled any other ballots, while the same are being counted or canvassed, or at any other time, with intent to change the result of such election, or allows another to do so when in his power to prevent it, or carries away, or destroys, or knowingly allows another to carry away or destroy, any poll list, ballot box, or ballots lawfully polled, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for not less than two nor more than seven years.

SEC. 49. Every Inspector, Judge, or Clerk of an election, who, previous to putting the ballot of an elector in the ballot box, attempts to find out any name on such ballot, or who opens, or suffers the folded ballot of any elector which has been handed in to be opened or examined previous to putting the same into the ballot box, or who makes or places any mark or device on any folded ballot with the view to ascertain the name of any person for whom the elector has voted, or who, without the consent of the elector, discloses the name of any person which such Inspector, Judge or Clerk has fraudulently or illegally discovered to have been voted for by such elector, is punishable by fine, not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars.

SEC. 50. Every person who forges or counterfeits returns of an election purporting to have been held at a precinct, town, or ward where no election was in fact held, or wilfully substitutes forged or counterfeit returns of election in the place of the true returns, for a precinct, town or ward where an election was actually held, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for a term not less than two nor more than ten years.

SEC. 51. Every person who wilfully adds to, or subtracts from, the votes actually cast at an election, in any returns, or who alters such returns, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for not less than one nor more than five years.

SEC. 52. Every person who aids or abets in the commission of any of the offenses mentioned in the four preceding sections, or who, being present at or cognizant of the commission of either of such offenses, does not give information thereof as soon as practicable to the District Attorney or Grand Jury of the proper county, or to some Justice of the Peace of such county, is punishable by imprisonment in the County Jail for the period of six months, or in the State Prison not exceeding two years.

SEC. 53. Every person who, by force, threats, menaces, bribery, or any corrupt means, either directly or indirectly attempts to influence any elector in giving his vote, or to deter him from giving the same, or attempts by any means whatever to awe, restrain, hinder or disturb any elector in the free exercise of the right of suffrage, or furnishes any elector wishing to vote, who cannot read, with a ticket, informing or giving such elector to understand that it contains a name written or printed thereon different from the name which is written or printed thereon, or defrauds any elector at any such election, by deceiving and causing such elector to vote for a different person or any office than he intended or desired to vote for; or who, being Inspector, Judge, or Clerk of any election, while acting as such, induces or attempts to induce any elector either by menace or reward, or promise thereof, to vote differently from what such elector intended or desired to vote, he is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 54. Every person who, with intent to promote the election of himself, or any other person either:

1. Furnishes entertainment at his expense to any meeting of electors previous to or during an election;

2. Pays for, procures, or engages to pay for any such entertainment;

3. Furnishes or engages to pay or deliver any money or property for the purpose of procuring the attendance of voters at the polls, or for the purpose of compensating any person for procuring attendance of voters at the polls, except for the conveyance of voters who are sick or infirm;

4. Furnishes or engages to pay or deliver any money or property for any purpose intended to promote the election of any candidate, except for the expenses of holding and conducting public meetings for the discussion of public questions, and of printing and circulating ballots, handbills, and other papers previous to such election;

—is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 55. Every person who, being a candidate at any election, offers or agrees to appoint or procure the appointment of any particular person to office as an inducement or consideration to any person to vote for, or procure or aid in procuring the election of such candidate, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 56. Every person not being a candidate, who communicates any offer made in violation of the last section to any person with intent to induce him to vote for, or to procure or aid in procuring the election of the candidate making the offer, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 57. (§84, 85, 86). Every person who gives or offers a bribe to any officer or member of any legislative caucus, political convention, committee, primary election, or political gathering of any kind, held for the purpose of nominating candidates for offices of honor, trust, or profit in this State, with intent to influence the person to whom such bribe is given or offered to be more favorable to one candidate than another, and every person, member of either of the bodies in this section mentioned, who receives or offers to receive any such bribe, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison not less than one nor more than fourteen years.

SEC. 58. Every person who by threats, intimidations, or unlawful violence wilfully hinders or prevents electors from assembling in public meeting for the consideration of public questions, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 59. Every person who wilfully disturbs or breaks up any public meeting of electors or others, lawfully being held for the purpose of considering public questions, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 60. Every person who makes, offers, or accepts any bet or wager upon the result of any election, or upon the success or failure of any person or candidate, or upon the number of votes to be cast either in the aggregate or for any particular candidate, or upon the vote to be cast by any person, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 61. Every person who wilfully violates any of the provisions of the laws of this State relating to elections is, unless a different punishment for such violation is prescribed by this Code, punishable by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars or by imprisonment in the State Prison not exceeding five years, or by both.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE, FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.

No Person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittant Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most Wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

COURTING IN A COW YARD.

Sweet Emma asked, with pleading eyes,
"Dear Charlie, teach me, will you,
The way I've heard you talk to cows—
I should so like to help you!"

"What, little one, you take a hand?
Well, Emma, it is all right,
In such company as yours
I would like to milk all night.

Take this pail and sing out clear:
"So, now, Spot, stand still at ease—'"
"Oh, Charles, you'll have Tom out here,
Don't speak so loud, dear, please."

"Now, Emma, watch me closely—
You are sure, dear, it don't bore you—
So, so, now, Spot, put back your foot,
There, now, I'm right before you.

"Put down your stool—it does look odd,
Though you don't seem to suck it,
We hold our arms out like this,
To milk without the bucket.

"Now I have got you cornered—"
"Oh, Charles, for shame, how can you?
I thought you were at some trick,
You bad, deceiving man you!"

Here Charlie closed the lesson, then
She smoothed her ruffled hair,
Pouted, frowned, blushed and
Then said softly, "I don't care."

TO MISS NELLIE W—, OF SWEETWATER.

Among Sweetwater's sage-brush hills—
That land of health and honor—
Straight on the way to Bridgeport town,
And close by Walker river,
There lives a girl whom I love dear,
The flower of flowers so bonny,
And spotless as a snow white dove
Is charming little Nellie.

'Tis true she's poor, but what of that?
She's rich in worth and pleasure.
For fickle fortune I'll not fret,
If Nellie be my treasure.
'Tis true that I have got no lands,
No. Neither have I money;
All I've got to give is my heart
To pretty little Nellie.

I heed not what some folks may say
About her being dark,
For she's an angel above price,
And still my only spark.
Then who could say it would be wrong
To take her from 'mong the many?
I'd wed that girl if she'd wed me—
I mean my little Nellie.

Give me my head, my hands, my health,
I'm not afraid of wanting.
Though poor I am at the present time—
Chaste Heaven kindly granting—
My whole delight shall be to tend
The girl I love above any,
And live in peace and rapture sweet
With dark eyed little Nellie.

[We are told that the authors (there must be more than one) of these sweet-scented "pomes" are yet in the land of the living, but it is only a question of time as to their ultimate fate. We purpose a critical review of the next thing of the sort we give place to.—ED.)

A Devoted Wife.

The person who, next to Schussler himself, seems most interested in the successful completion of the Water Company's new aqueduct was the Chief Engineer's wife. While the great work was being prosecuted, this devoted woman was able to converse intelligently with her husband about the details of the enterprise, and to offer valuable advice. When the news of an accident or disaster to the pipe reached her ears the wife was not contented unless she could be near her husband to cheer and encourage him in his arduous duties. Their little child, also, was intensely interested in the success of the undertaking, and when she heard that the water had reached Virginia City, she uttered the ejaculation, "God bless papa's pipes!"—Gold Hill News.

—A wealthy New York man of an original turn of mind is going to have his stables built upon grounds after the model of the pyramids of Egypt. He contends that the pyramid form is the proper one for dwelling houses, also, and has the advantage of putting a stop to the eternal discussions about Mansard and other roofs.

—Here is richness—and a slander, too. At the close of a religious service, in Wyoming, not long since, the circuit preacher said: "I hope all the congregation will be here by 10 o'clock for precisely at that hour we will pass to the creek, where I shall baptize four adults and six adulteresses."

—The young lady who refused to go into a rifle factory because some of the guns had no breeches is spending a few days in the country. Let her stay.

—The question whether girls should marry young depends upon whether Brigham is the Young they want to marry.

TRIP TO SALINE VALLEY

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

Saline Valley is situated about twenty-five miles from Cerro Gordo, in a northerly direction, and about twenty miles from Waucoba Camp in a southwesterly direction. I had the pleasure of traveling to this valley in company with the gentleman who acted as guide to Lieut. Wheeler in his perilous expedition some two years ago, and I can assure you, Mr. Editor, that it was very interesting to hear from this gentleman an account of one of the most dangerous and daring expeditions of modern times.

On approaching the Salt Marsh in the evening the weather was getting warmer, and the heat continued to increase until our arrival at the Indian camp. Here a person was forcibly reminded of the ancient Britons as described by Julius Cæsar. These children of the wilderness, as Cæsar's formidable foe, wore as little clothes about their persons as decency would permit; they were about fifteen in number, including mejeles and papooses. On our arrival their forces of observation were strained to the utmost, and I arrived at the conclusion that but few white men visited this solitary group of noble red men. However, they did not demur to fetch us cold water from a creek not far off, and finding food for our horses, and acquitting themselves like "good Injuns."

By the time we got seated (on a rather solid and permanent sitting place, which was to be found ere chairs and stools were invented), to our great comfort, the sun was disappearing, and the much welcome cool evening followed. After quenching our thirst, and in turn using our powers of observation, we found these braves were engaged in consuming a considerable quantity of green water melon, and after a short and interesting talk we were conducted by Mr. Tom (Deputy Chief) to the garden. After very close search to our great disappointment we only found one ripe water melon. These hungry people take very good care not to let them spoil by getting too ripe, but being that our visit was entirely unexpected, we did not criticise their conduct but retired in peace.

So far so good, and our visit would have easily been forgotten if it was not for what followed. On the approach of night we found ourselves busily engaged in making war with the mosquitoes, and although very successful in our work of destruction, we found ourselves completely outnumbered—say, a thousand to one—and after the display of a great deal of activity, we resorted to our blankets with the full intent and purpose of going to sleep, but as soon as we thought ourselves comfortable the foe attacked us with large reinforcements, which kept us in constant action. I kindled a large fire and succeeded in keeping them away pro tem, but as soon as my fire burned down I was attacked with renewed vigor. One of my friends took to smoking vigorously, and the other to the most patient use of his pocket handkerchief, while happy me succeeded in going to sleep. I believe their imagination led them to the Egyptian plagues, and believed themselves the victims of the most tormenting of them while in a state of unconsciousness.

When daylight came we departed well satisfied with our trip to this land of salt and borax.

PROSPECTOR.

The Wild Man Seen Again.

The Tulare Time gives the following queerly told story:

The wild man who has been so often seen in the mountains east of here for the last few years, and who has incorrectly been stated to be a species of gorrilla, was seen again recently by Mr. William Downing, near Squaw Valley. He was engaged in picking thimble-berries and was perfectly naked. He was covered all over with long black hair and had long grey whiskers. He is a white man. He is large and powerful and at least six feet high. His finger nails have grown out several inches in length. Mr. Downing was within twenty feet from him when he raised up from picking berries. He stood perfectly still and looked at Mr. Downing some time and then turned and started to run. Mr. Downing was sitting down, picking berries at the time, himself, when this wild creature raised up out of the low bushes near him. He had not seen him before. Mr. Downing was out hunting and was well armed. He is a gentleman of undoubted veracity. Many other of our citizens have at different times caught sight of this monster. Mr. Wm. Arnold, an old and well known citizen, saw him some time ago, sitting on top of a large rock engaged in the highly romantic and to him no doubt delightful occupation of scratching himself. He is the constant terror of the Indians in the mountains eastward, who all have either seen him or know of his existence. They tell the most marvelous stories of his performances. They think he is either the devil or some dead white man whose ghost has returned to annoy them. There can be no doubt of the reality of this wonderful wild man, as he has been seen so often by the most credible witnesses.

The Los Angeles Fair.

We acknowledge the receipt of a most beautifully printed card of admittance to the next exposition of the Southern District Agricultural Association, beginning in Los Angeles on the 10th and closing on the 15th of November next. The Association, of which L. J. Rose is President and Ben. C. Truman Secretary, propose to make this fair the very first of the season, and we much hope they will succeed. Though not exactly one of the counties of the Southern District, Inyo is invited by special invitation. This is a fact that our miners ought to take advantage of to advertise their mines. Very liberal premiums are offered on fine stock. There will be races every day. There are premiums also for specimens of all industries, agricultural or mechanical. Racing men may find it to their interest to call at this office and examine the immense poster sent out by the Association.

Is It the Climate.

We always thought that Sacramento county was remarkable for the number of young children within her limits. In the city especially are they numerous—so much so that is difficult while walking on the streets on a cloudy day to avoid stepping upon them. Los Angeles county, however, can double discount Sacramento in this particular. The United States census of 1870 gives Sacramento county a population of 26,830 and Los Angeles but 15,309; but the Superintendent of Public Instruction in making up his report this year of children entitled to draw school money, found that there were in Los Angeles county 6,173 and but 5,622 in Sacramento!—Sacramento Union.

It is the climate, the same as it is here, and that is what aggravates—the climate can't be changed, so there is nothing to do for it; but the School Census Marshal, in order to keep up, ought to make semi-annual reports, and strike balances as often as he can.

Good-bye, Modocs.

The War Department promulgates in general orders the findings and sentences in the case of the Modoc captives—Capt. Jack, Schonchin, Black Jim, Boston Charlie, Barncho alias One-eyed Jim, and Sloluck alias Cox, who were tried by a Military Commission for the murder of Gen. Canby and Commissioner Thomas, and for assault with intent to kill other Peace Commissioners. They are found guilty of the specifications and charges and sentenced to be hanged. The proceedings have been approved by the President and Secretary of War, and the Secretary of War has ordered that the sentences be duly executed under the direction of the General commanding the Department of the Columbia, at Fort Klamath, Oregon, on Friday, October 3, 1873.

The San Francisco Chronicle.

This popular paper has increased its circulation so rapidly that the stereotyping process has become necessary to supply the demand. By this process and its lightning press it can now turn off twenty thousand copies an hour, every edition printed from new type. To every one of its subscribers a complete map of all the country west of the Missouri is to be presented; by the single copy these maps actually sell at $7, so this of itself is something of an inducement to subscribe for one of the most enterprising and complete newspapers on the coast.

Booth or Casserly.

It is charged that the friends of Booth and Casserly in San Francisco have made some arrangements by which, in case the former fails to receive the Senatorial nomination, the latter will receive the support of Booth's friends for the same position. They might do worse. This is the people's fight against partisan knavery. We must secure an honest man for Senator, and Casserly's record in Congress has been commendable on all home issues so far as we have learned.

The Los Angeles Daily Star.

This paper, under the editorship of Ben. C. Truman, is now one of the most sensible and yet the liveliest dailies in the southern part of the State. As it only costs $12 per annum, and gives full reports of all freight consignments, and soon will of the proceedings of the new Merchants' Exchange of Los Angeles, with which place our trade interests are so largely identified, it is the very paper that all our merchants and traders ought to have.

H. N. Bolander, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, was elected a corresponding member of the Buffalo (N. Y.) Society of Natural Sciences at its last meeting.

THE POLITICAL OUTLOOK.

According to the Sonora, Tuolumne county, papers the several legislative candidates, Independents particularly, are making that county their battle ground. Goodale, Hays and Weidekind, all Independents, are all mentioned as being there and trying to convey the impression that each, in his own county, is making it especially warm and uncomfortable for the Regulars. The first named thinks he will get away with many of Parker's votes, while he will outdo Sneden not less than five or six to one. Hays expects to do about the same in Mono, while Weidekind—well, it will occupy the clerks till daylight to count his votes and strike a good balance.

We have not a word to say against either one of these gentlemen, and still less against the abstract issue upon which they take their stand. But unfortunately for their chances, the antitude of at least a sufficient number of the regular nominees on the only issue that would now justify an independent movement, is such as to entirely take the wind out of their sails and leave them naught but the merest personal grounds on which to base a claim for support. And however powerful such claim might be in favor of each or any Independent in his own locality there is no possible chance to make it effect anything whatever over an area so vastly beyond the personal sphere of any one in this district, unless he is backed by the advocates of an all important and distinct issue which finds no representative in either regular party candidate. But we have a sufficient number of regular candidates now in the field to represent the peoples' desire quite as ably and more effectively than any Independent, if elected, can hope to do unsustained by party influence—and, further, as no fraud or trickery is or can be alleged as to the manner in which these nominations were brought about, it is self-evident that the independent movement is at this time wholly without a mission, and can present no claims for separate support and will receive none at all except an occasional vote on purely personal grounds or by virtue of a previous pledge. It is absurd for any of them, under present circumstances, to expect anything more, and so far as any good to inure to them is concerned, might just as well haul off to-day as to wait until Wednesday evening next.

While such are the undoubted facts to govern votes for the purely political offices, and especially as conjointly affecting the three counties, the conditions to rule in choosing local officers are wholly different. So far as the election of any solid ticket is concerned, there might as well be none such in the field. Party lines were ignored to a material extent in the original get up of at least one of the regular tickets, and whatever was lacking in this respect in regard to either then will be more than made up with both by the vote on election day. The cross-firing on these tickets is likely to be unexampled, with at least an even chance with all for some candidates outside of both. It is safe to say that, to all intents and purposes, there will hardly be a straight ticket voted that day. The total vote in the county will not be much in excess of 500, certainly not over 600, and for the use of these there will be not less than 10,000 ballots divided up into seven or eight combinations, which, by pen and pencil, will each again often be re-arranged, so the election clerks will have a good time indeed. We pass without remark the numerous candidates for the Assembly.

Of the Senatorial aspirants we are led to believe that Eakin is honest enough but not very capable, while Rodgers is capable enough but not very honest. One is able to lead into mischief, the other is liable to be lead into it. "You pays your money and takes your choice." The game is made, and ere our next issue, 100,000 men will give the big wheel of fortune another roll. It don't follow that those rolled under are necessarily to consider themselves entirely dead, however. The next turn may give them a chance to stand on top and crow, and whether it does or not, no matter whose turn it may now be, the world will wag along pretty much the same in one case as the other—a circumstance worthy the consideration of those prone to spasms and conniptions at the supposed importance of the turn of these events.

Los Angeles Board of Trade.

For some time past the merchants of Los Angeles have been endeavoring to organize a Board of Trade for their city. The movement meets with the greatest favor among the citizens, and its final success is an admitted fact It works a great and favorable revolution in the commercial status of the city without the slightest doubt, and the wonder is, as The Express states it, that such a movement has been so long delayed.

Panamint District.

We find this in a late number of the Havilah Miner, and will say, for the information of several parties who addressed us in relation to the character and prospects of Panamint, that it accords with the opinions of numbers of persons we have seen who have visited it:

The new district of Panamint is situated in what is known as the Telescope range of mountains in the southeastern part of Inyo county, about 130 miles northeast of Havilah, by the route traveled. It is represented by experts, who have visited it for speculative purposes, as being one of the very richest and most prolific districts on the Pacific Slope in silver ores. Some one hundred silver lodes have been discovered and located, which for body and richness stand, at least in the State of California, unrivalled—the lodes running from two to thirty feet in width, and assaying from $200 to $1,200 per ton of ore. It is nearly all what is termed "milling ore." There is plenty of water in the district, and several mill sites are already located and the water rights secured; there is wood in abundance, of the nut pine species. We have seen and conversed with many persons who have visited these mines, and without an exception they speak in glowing terms of the wealth of the Panamint District, and whilst we are disposed to make all due allowance for the excitability and exaggeration of the average California mining prospector, as a class, from what we have been enabled to learn from men of experience and good judgment in such matters, and of cautious temperament, we have no doubt that this district is all that has been claimed for it, and is sure to be one of the wealthiest and most noted mining districts of our State. Those wishing to visit Panamint will make Havilah the initial point, thence take stage to Little Owens Lake, and on the Havilah and Independence stage route, seventy miles distant from Havilah; from there a good mule trail leads to the district. a short two day's ride of fifty-five miles.

Laws of Piute District.

A meeting of the miners was held at Antelope Springs in the White Mountains, Inyo county, California, July 28, 1873, for the purpose of organizing and defining the boundaries of that mining district, and to adopt local regulations governing the same. It was

Resolved, That this mining district be known as "Piute District."

Resolved, That its boundries be fixed as follows; Beginning at Birch creek, running thence south along the base of the White Mountains to Silver canyon; thence east to the summit of the mountain; thence north along said summit to point of intersection with Birch creek, thence down said creek to place of beginning.

Resolved, That the standard of dimensions for lode claims in this district shall be the same as allowed by the laws of the United States—not exceeding 1,500 feet in length, or 600 feet in total width.

Resolved, That a notice of location of any lode shall hold good for thirty days only without being properly recorded in the record book of the district; when so recorded, followed by the amount of work required by the laws of the United States, such claim shall hold good one year.

Candidates in Tuolumne.

Mr. Goodale, of Inyo, who announces himself an Independent candidate for the Assembly, came to this county this week. He is a farmer by occupation. a Republican in politics, and seems to think it would be better for the interests of Inyo for him to go to the Legislature than either of the political nominees. What local causes may exist to produce such an opinion we know not. The family differences of Inyo will have no effect in Tuolumne, and at this late day the chances for Mr. Goodale getting votes over here is more than slim. He's too late altogether.—Tuolumne Democrat.

The following is from The Independent of the 23d: Dave Hayes, Seth G. Sneden, Lloyd Goodnow and Thomas J. Goodale, candidates for the Assembly, from Mono and Inyo, have been in Sonora during the week—the two latter paying their respects at this office.

The Colorado Expedition.

Word has been received here by Mr. A. James from the James Colorado expedition. The party are all well; but on short rations. They are in camp among the Cocopah Indians, near the Colorado river, in Lower California. They have sent a man to San Diego for provisions, and until his return are dependent on the hospitality of the Indians. The results of the exploration are satisfactory and of the most interesting character. The party now consists of only three men, having been reduced on account of the scarcity of forage for the teams, and the overflowed territory over which the party had to pass.—Los Angeles Express, Aug. 21.

Alfalfa.

Many of our farmers are busily engaged in making alfalfa hay. They all complain that it grows so fast that they can hardly manage it. No sooner is a field mown than it is ready to cut again, and this, together with the hauling that has to be performed with the greatest expedition, make lively work.—Bakersfield Courier.

—A youth of nineteen lately fled from Dodson, Ohio, to escape the clutches of an enamored girl of twenty-two. At Rockfield, Indiana, he received this telegram: "Get up and dust; Sal's on your track close." He "dusted" his best forthwith, but she came up with him in an obscure Illinois town and led him back home and to the altar.

A CARD.

TO THE VOTERS OF INYO COUNTY: I understand that while I have been absent at the Kern river fishing ground, some persons unknown to me have circulated reports calculated to injure me in your opinions, and influence your votes at the coming election. Not being able to see you all personally, I now address you through our county newspaper for the purpose of contradicting these damaging reports, and placing myself right before you.

It has been asserted in my absence that I have withdrawn from the contest and will not be a candidate for the office of Sheriff. This is not true. I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff and shall be so until the election is over. I have not withdrawn and have no intention of withdrawing from the contest. If you wish me for Sheriff, and elect me, I will serve you. I do not intend to electioneer much for the office—I have not time to do so. You know me sufficiently well, and know whether you wish me re-elected or not

The law requires all tickets to be uniform in size and printed on the same kind of paper. I shall provide tickets in each precinct. The tickets will be the regular Democratic and Republican tickets with no alteration except the substitution of my name for Sheriff in the place of the regular party nommee. I do this not for the purpose of claiming anything from either party—I stand now as I did when the conventions were held, claiming no support from either party as a party—but believing that many persons in both parties intend voting for me, I will provide these tickets for the convenience of voters so that those who may wish to vote for me may do so without having to scratch their tickets.

I have also been informed that it has been reported that I belong to a land ring with Mr. Earl, of the Land Office, at its head, and believing this report has been circulated for the purpose of injuring me, I proclaim this report to be an absolute, unqualified and contemptible falsehood. I have no knowledge of any land ring in this county. I have never had any conversation with Mr. Earl in reference to the matter. I am no part of any land ring or any other ring; I am not in any way concerned in any ring or monopoly, and do not intend to be. As you have found me in the past, so shall I be in the future. I have so far pursued an independent course, uncontrolled and uninfluenced by any one. I intend to pursue the same like course in the future. If you are satisfied with the manner in which I have performed the duties of the office of Sheriff of this county, and think proper to re-elect me, I shall be pleased to serve you another term, and shall, as heretofore, personally conduct and control the business of the office. I am your obedient servant,

SUMMONS.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE SIXTEENTH Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the county of Inyo. John C. Morrison, Jr., plaintiff, against W. G. Squires, defendant. Action brought in the District Court of the Sixteenth Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the county of Inyo, and the complaint filed in said county of Inyo, in the office of the Clerk of said District Court.

The People of the State of California send greeting to W. G. Squires. You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff in the District Court of the Sixteenth Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the county of Inyo, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons—if served within this county; or, if served out of this county, but in this district, within twenty days; otherwise, within forty days—or judgment by default will be taken against you, according to the prayer of said complaint. The srid action is brought to recover the sum of Eight hundred and fifty-seven 72-100 dollars in gold coin of the United States, for goods, wares and merchandise sold and delivered to said defendant by said plaintiff, at defendant's special instance and request, on the ninth day of September, A. D. 1872, together with interest thereon from said date at the rate of ten per cent. per annum. And you are hereby notified if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint, as above required, the said plaintiff will take judgment by default against you, in accordance with the prayer of said plaintiff's complaint.

Given under my hand and the seal of the District Court of the Sixteenth Jucicial Distrtct of the State of California, in and for the County of Inyo, this Sixteenth day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand sight hundred and seventy three.

Stage Accident.

Passengers by the last Northern Stage down bring reports of a very serious accident on Wilson's line, which probably resulted in the death of James Thompson, the driver. As near as we can learn, among the passengers was an old driver, who took the reins and was driving down the "Elbow Joe" hill, while Thompson was on the inside enjoying a lunch with the passengers. By some means the stage was upset, and Thompson, in attempt to jump out, had his skull so badly crushed that it was thought impossible for him to survive. Tom May and George Shedd of this place, and a Dr. Cole of Virginia city were among those on board, but all escaped with only slight injuries. May and Shedd remained over to care for the wounded man, but are expected in to-morrow.

Stock Troubles.

Since our last issue a number more of horses have died with the paralytic epizoo, or whatever the disease may be called. A portion of those attacked recover, but as a rule they do not last over one or two days, no matter how fat or sleek they may be. Mulkey and Bennett have a band running on first-rate pasturage in the White Mountains, out of which nine have died, and south of this place a large number are reported dead. Stock men of Bishop Creek are driving their cattle out from Coyote Valley, where a great many of the animals have died from the effects of eating wild parsnep.

Public Speaking.

Seth G. Sneden, Esq, Republican nominee for the Assembly, is announced to speak at the Court House on Sunday evening next. Mr. Sneden thinks that he has been unfairly treated, and asks for an impartial hearing. On Tuesday evening a host of partisans on the other side—including the Democratic nominees for the same position, Messrs. Parker and Bowen—are billed for a general speechifying. The interest felt in the matter will, it is to be hoped, attract a full attendance.

Major Egbert.

We are gratified to note the return of Major Harry Egbert, who comes, we believe, with the view of making this his permanent abode. We have no authority for this statement, but still that's the impression we derive from his citizen dress, and previously expressed desires. He reports the boys of Co. B, at San Diego, all well, and not very much pleased with the change of stations.

More Candidates.

By reference to the proper column it will be seen that T. Passmore is a candidate for Supervisor for the Third District, and C. L. Jackson for County Superintendent. Both gentlemen are well known to everybody in the county, and need no introduction from us.

Personal.

We acknowledge a visit from Mr. D. D. Bowen, the Mono nominee of the Democratic legislative ticket. Mr. Bowen is a sensible, solid farmer, and should an obstreperous lobbyist ever approach him we fancy somebody would get hurt.

New Firm.

"Boston" and John Broder have effected a partnership in the butchering business in Cerro Gordo, Mr. Broder taking the interest of Sam Crane in the old shop. The firm is now Broder & Freedman, and it carries a good deal of weight, too.

New Butcher Shop.

Mr. John Broder announces in this issue that he has opened a new butcher shop in his fine new shop on the old original location. There is no doubt but that Mr. Broder will keep the best of meats on hand and a man to serve it out in good style.

Another Dance.

By general request Mr. T. S. Harris will assist at another dance, to be given at the court room on Wednesday evening next. The price of tickets, not including supper, is fixed at $2 50. See card in another column.

Trout.

Mr. Kitchen has been very successful in stocking the streams in this vicinity with trout. The enterprise promises to be a complete success, and we would call attention to his offer elsewhere to fill all orders for fish to stock private ponds.

Mining Men.

Mr. George Hearst, a widely known mining operator, and Mr. James Brady paid a business visit to the Silver Sprout and Kearsarge mines this week, and have since gone on a similar one to Waucoba.

Another Candidate.

A. K. Briggs is out independent for Coroner and Public Administrator. If elected, Al. would undoubtedly attend to the business square up and up.

Will Continue.

Louey Schneider informs us that he is making every preparation to continue his butchering business in his present stand.

The Ball.

The number in attendance at the ball on Wednesday evening was not so great as might reasonably have been expected even under the generally unfavorable, existing circumstances; but notwithstanding that, it was a most neat and well enjoyed affair. The music was most excellent, both in style and execution, and everybody pronounced the supper, at the Blaney House, No. 1. Thanks are especially due to Mrs. D. D. Gunnison who, as a pianist has few superiors, for her volunteered services on this occasion. Financially the ball was not a success, we regret to say, as both Mr. Harris and Mr. Thompson had been led to believe the attendance would be quite large, and made preparation accordingly. They both executed their part of the implied contract to the letter, and now there is a general desire expressed—not only by ball-goers, but others—to have another opportunity to prove their efforts, particlarly of Mr. Harris', who is unquestionably a gentleman most deserving in his aims, which are to introduce intellectual musical culture and amusements in this community. It is a fact that don't speak well for the gallantry of the so-called young gents of this town that the ladies, almost all, had to be their own esquires. But then our young men ain't to blame, because the ladies, comparatively few as they are in numbers, always have to take the lead in the social affairs in Independence and keep it, in that respect, from falling into the slough of despond. Those young men mean well enough; no Spanish mule that ever had an aperejo slung on him was ever any fuller of good intentions than they, as a rule. Its not their fault that their names never figure in a marriage license, nor their wish that at the several gatherings, as was the case this time, the ladies should outnumber them or lack for beaux; not at all. The facts are, as actions indicate, that they consider the social duties of life to be a most serious affair, and that it is better to eschew as many such as possible. The melancholy days of the Black Hawk war, during a lull in which they seem to have been born, has tinged their lives with a feeling of gloom such as to pretty effectually bar out the frivolities of the day as they exist in other localities. They feel bad, our young men do, when they reflect on the differences between themselves and those of other places in the way of social ambitions, but hope by a strict attention to the substantial affairs of life to compensate for their short-comings in the mere frivolities. People must remember that the weather has been very warm this summer and has produced a languid state of the nerves which will require more than one frosty night to remedy, especially when complicated with constitutional affections as before mentioned. They mean well enough, and if they could only shake off some of this lethargy, they would not only attend balls once in awhile but occasionally lead out and get one up, and then they wouldn't think of allowing the ladies to be their own partners; they'd have too much spirit for that. Altogether, as some eight or ten of them were out of town on this occasion, the ladies must excuse them this time. Never was anybody fuller of good intentions than they. They mean well enough, and it's mean to think they don't, and we wouldn't be surprised if the day would come when the County Clerk will soon be able to sell some of them a marriage license. Cold weather might induce such a result.

Crippled.

The "Gordon" and other similar job presses are prolific sources of accidents to the operators, but it is not often that the old Washington hand-press does any damage in that way; ours, however, proves an exception, for on Thursday last, by an accident not easily explained, it lacerated our right hand so severely that we find it extremely difficult to write an editorial even with the scissors, while type-sticking is quite out of the question. This last is something of a "pull back" in a short-handed office as this is, while the junior, as one of the candidates for the Legislature, is scattering himself through the country trying to explain the true cause of Braddock's defeat and other constitutional questions.

The Election.

We think the public would deem it a favor if the clerks or some member of each and every one of the County Election Boards would take the small trouble of sending a statement of their repective polling places, so as to enable us to present a complete table of results in our issue of the following Saturday. As "Deep Spring" is not to be heard from this time it is a perfectly easy matter, by a little promptness on the part of the above mentioned, to send these statements to us on Thursday or Friday, and we much hope it will be done.

Not So General.

The presumed failure of the peach crop in this county proves to be not near so general as was supposed. Most all the orchards produce fair quantities of good fruit. That of Mr. John Martin near the Post, as we have occasion to know, will yield a ton or more of very fine ones, and we hear similar reports of others.

Spouting.

The Democratic whales will spout some here on Tuesday evening next. Subject: "Protection for Sardines; How to loosen the folds of the Anaconda." Everybody, with his wife and babies—not the squallers—is invited to be present. There being no beaux the young ladies can come with the old folks.

Naylor's Store.

David Naylor has refitted and enlarged his store at Big Pine until it looks as well and is as well filled up with good goods as anybody's. See what he has to say on the subject.

LETTER FROM ARIZONA.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

CERBAT, A. T., Aug. 10, 1873.

MR. EDITOR: I thought not to write you again, as after offering to pay for THE INDEPENDENT, and writing besides, times must be pretty rough if I cannot get it, and if mailed to me some P. M. is worthy of being hauled over the coals head foremost for thirty days, without intermission, and many of these southern routes need it badly. No paper has arrived since July 12, and a donkey ought to travel the road in twelve days. Who is to blame? [We assure our correspondent that THE INDEPENDENT has been mailed to him with unfailing regularity, and if it does not reach its destination the fault is certainly not ours. The address is printed on the wrapper in full, including the words, "via Prescott," according to order.—ED.]

In my last I mentioned that Wm. France, of John Moss' party, had been missing for some days, and was supposed to be lost, and sure enough his life paid the penalty. His remains were found a few days since as though asleep, with his blanket spread over a mesquit bush and his head carefully laid in the shade. His saddle and bridle were hard by; his pistol six feet distant, taken by cayotes; both eyes were gone, and there was a hole in his temple. There is some talk of foul play, but as yet there is little said. From all appearances he laid down in his usual way, attending to things in a proper manner, but never awoke. As for myself I doubt any foul play in the case.

Since my last there has been a marked improvement in the county. W. H. Raymond, of Raymond & Ely, has bought the Hibernia mine on the Hope ledge; price, as I understand it, $35,000. This, considering the amount of work done and time since discovery, is the most that has been paid for a mine in any district since the Comstock was discovered, and the best judges say the mine is well worth $500,000. The ores are strong in lead, far above the average in silver and to all appearance full of quartz, but it is not quartz but heavy spar. It is fine smelting ore. The Dean mine, 14 miles from here—fine milling ore—has also been sold; price about $10,000. Wm. Sterns, Wm. Stanafor and Jas. Dunlap, of Havilah, are the fortunate purchasers. The Dean is situated just about as Washoe Lake is as regards wood and water for milling purposes—supposing that everybody knows how that is I will not describe it.

About two months since there was talk of two mills coming to the district. So far only one has arrived—a gin mill—the other, a coffee mill, has not put in an appearance, nor do we need it, as coffee is both high and scarce, and the machine would not be a success.

There has been an order issued from the powers that be to abandon Camp Beale Springs Indian Reservation, eight miles from here; they are Wallapais. The chief says they will not go, and so say Sherum and Charlie, two active young men and both hard cases. Since the talk of moving they signify their willingness to be co-tenants with the white man thus, "White man takem silber, Wallapai ketchum buckskin, labit and maguay, purty good, but on reservation with Apache Mojave all time shootem." The tribe numbers 2,000 souls. SHERUM.

MEDICAL.

PRIVATE HOSPITAL.

THE SUBSCRIBER TAKES PLEASURE IN announcing to the people of Inyo county that he has purchased and fitted up as a hospital the Beaudry Hotel Building, adjoining the military post at Camp Independence. All the adobes have been removed and their place applied with lumber; the grounds are handsomely laid out with shade trees and clover, and have a pure running stream of mountain water.

There is an excellent bath room and dispensary attached. One room is set aside for the county's sick, leaving ample room for private patients. The Northern Stage Line passes the door, and the place is easy of access from the town of Independence. The charges for board and lodging do not exceed those of any hotel or boarding house, offering equal accommodations, and the establishment has the advantage of having competent help and medical advice always at hand, being close by the house of the post surgeon at the camp.

NOTICE OF CHANGES MADE IN TOWNSHIPS, ELECTION, AND SUPERVISOR DISTRICTS.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT A NEW Township has been ordered and formed out of Township No. 3, said new township to be known as Township No. 6, and bounded as follows to wit: commencing north, at the township line between United States Townships Nos. 17 and 18, and extending therefrom to the southern boundary of Inyo County, and bounded on the east and west by said county boundary lines

Notice is hereby given that a new Election District has been formed out of Election District No. 3, to be known as Election District No. 8, or George's Creek District; said District bounded as follows, to wit: commencing south, on the township line between United States Townships Nos. 14 and 15, and extending north to the township line between United States Townships Nos 13 and 14, and bounded on the east and west by the boundaries of Inyo County.

Notice is hereby given that the whole of the newly formed Township No. 6 be and hereby is established as Election District No. 10, or Big Owens Lake District, bounded as follows: commencing north, on the township line between United States Townships Nos 17 and 18, and extending therefrom to the southern boundary of Inyo County, and bounded on the east and west by said Inyo County boundary lines.

Notice is hereby given that the election District formerly known as election District No. 8, or Deep Spring Valley District, is hereby abolished, for the reason that no election was held during last election, and that it does not contain sufficient electors to form a separate election district; wherefore it is here adjoined to and connected with the Big Pine Election District or Election District No. 9; said election District No. 9 being now bounded as follows: commencing north, on the township line between United States Townships Nos. 8 and 9, extending southerly to the township line between United States Townships Nos. 9 and 10, and bounded on the east and west by Inyo County boundary lines.

Notice is hereby given that the boundary line between Supervisor Districts Nos. 1 and 2 of Inyo County is hereby changed from the former boundary line to the township line between United States Townships Nos 9 and 10, which said line is hereafter to constitute the boundary line between said Supervisor Districts Nos. 1 and 2.

By order of the Board,

M. W. HAMMARSTRAND,
Clerk of the Board.

Title IV, Part I, Penal Code.

SECTION 41. Every person charged with the performance of any duty under the provisions of any law of this State relating to elections who wilfully neglects or refuses to perform it, or who in his official capacity knowingly and fraudulently acts in contravention or violation of any of the provisions of such law is, unless a different punishment for such acts or omission is prescribed by this Code, punishable by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the State Prison not exceeding five years or by both.

SEC. 42. Every person who wilfully causes, procures or allows himself to be registered in the Great Register of any county, knowing himself not to be entitled to such registration, is punishable by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the County Jail or State Prison not exceeding one year, or both. In all cases where, on the trial of a person charged with any offense under the provisions of this section, it appears in evidence that the accused stands registered in the Great Register of any county without being qualified for such registration, the Court must order such registration to be canceled.

SEC. 43. Every person who, after being required by the Board of Judges at any election, refuses to be sworn, or who, after being sworn, refuses to answer any pertinent question propounded by such Board, touching his right or the right of any other person to vote, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 44. Every person summoned to appear and testify, before any Board of Registration, who wilfully disobeys such summons, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 45. Every person not entitled to vote, who fraudulently votes, and every person who votes more than once at any one election, or knowingly hands in two or more tickets folded together, or changes any ballot after the same has been deposited in the ballot box, or adds, or attempts to add any ballot to those legally polled at any election, either by fraudulently introducing the same into the ballot box before or after the ballots therein have been counted, or adds to or mixes with, or attempts to add to or mix with, the ballots lawfully polled, other ballots, while the same are being counted or canvassed, or at any other time, with intent to change the result of such election, or carries away or destroys, or attempts to carry away or destroy, any poll list, or ballots, or ballot box, for the purpose of breaking up or invalidating such election, or wilfully detains, mutilates, or destroys any election returns, or in any manner so interferes with the officers holding such election or conducting such canvass, or with the voters lawfully exercising their rights of voting at such election, as to prevent such election or canvass from being fairly held and lawfully conducted, is guilty of felony.

SEC 46. Every person not entitled to vote, who fraudulently attempts to vote, or who, being entitled to vote, attempts to vote more than once at any election, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 47 Every person who procures, aids, assists, counsels or advises another to give or offer his vote at any election, knowing that the person is not qualified to vote, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC 48. Every officer or Clerk of Election who aids in changing or destroying any poll list, or in placing any ballots in the ballot box, or taking any therefrom, or adds, or attempts to add, any ballots to those legally polled at such election, either by fraudulently introducing the same into the ballot box before or after the ballots therein have been counted, or adds to or mixes with, or attempts to add to or mix with, the ballots polled any other ballots, while the same are being counted or canvassed, or at any other time, with intent to change the result of such election, or allows another to do so when in his power to prevent it, or carries away, or destroys, or knowingly allows another to carry away or destroy, any poll list, ballot box, or ballots lawfully polled, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for not less than two nor more than seven years

SEC. 49. Every Inspector, Judge, or Clerk of an election, who, previous to putting the ballot of an elector in the ballot box, attempts to find out any name on such ballot, or who opens, or suffers the folded ballot of any elector which has been handed in to be opened or examined previous to putting the same into the ballot box, or who makes or places any marker device on any folded ballot with the view to ascertain the name of any person for whom the elector has voted, or who, without the consent of the elector, discloses the name of any person which such Inspector, Judge or Clerk has fraudulently or illegally discovered to have been voted for by such elector, is punishable by fine, not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars.

SEC. 50. Every person who forges or counterfeits returns of an election purporting to have been held at a precinct, town, or ward where no election was in fact held, or wilfully substitutes forged or counterfeit returns of election in the place of the true returns, for a precinct, town or ward where an election was actually held, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for a term not less than two nor more than ten years.

SEC. 51. Every person who wilfully adds to, or subtracts from, the votes actually cast at an election, in any returns, or who alters such returns, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for not less than one nor more than five years.

SEC. 52. Every person who aids or abets in the commission of any of the offenses mentioned in the four preceding sections, or who, being present at or cognizant of the commission of either of such offenses, does not give information thereof as soon as practicable to the District Attorney or Grand Jury of the proper county, or to some Justice of the Peace of such county, is punishable by imprisonment in the County Jail for the period of six months, or in the State Prison not exceeding two years.

SEC. 53. Every person who, by force, threats, menaces, bribery, or any corrupt means, either directly or indirectly attempts to influence any elector in giving his vote, or to deter him from giving the same, or attempts by any means whatever to awe, restrain, hinder or disturb any elector in the free exercise of the right of suffrage, or furnishes any elector wishing to vote, who cannot read, with a ticket, informing or giving such elector to understand that it contains a name written or printed thereon different from the name which is written or printed thereon, or defrauds any elector at any such election, by deceiving and causing such elector to vote for a different person or any office than he intended or desired to vote for; or who, being Inspector, Judge, or Clerk of any election, while acting as such, induces or attempts to induce any elector, either by menace or reward, or promise thereof, to vote differently from what such elector intended or desired to vote, he is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 54. Every person who, with intent to promote the election of himself, or any other person, either:

1. Furnishes entertainment at his expense to any meeting of electors previous to or during an election;

2. Pays for, procures, or engages to pay for any such entertainment;

3. Furnishes or engages to pay or deliver any money or property for the purpose of procuring the attendance of voters at the polls, or for the purpose of compensating any person for procuring attendance of voters at the polls, except for the conveyance of voters who are sick or infirm;

4. Furnishes or engages to pay or deliver any money or property for any purpose intended to promote the election of any candidate, except for the expenses of holding and conducting public meetings for the discussion of public questions, and of printing and circulating ballots, handbills, and other papers previous to such election;

—Is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 55. Every person who, being a candidate at any election, offers or agrees to appoint or procure the appointment of any particular person to office as an inducement or consideration to any person to vote for, or procure or aid in procuring the election of such candidate, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 56 Every person not being a candidate, who communicates any offer made in violation of the last section to any person with intent to induce him to vote for, or to procure or aid in procuring the election of the candidate making the offer, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 57. (§84, 85, 86). Every person who gives or offers a bribe to any officer or member of any legislative caucus, political convention, committee, primary election, or political gathering of any kind, held for the purpose of nominating candidates for offices of honor, trust, or profit in this State, with intent to influence the person to whom such bribe is given or offered to be more favorable to one candidate than another, and every person, member of either of the bodies in this section mentioned, who receives or offers to receive any such bribe, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison not less than one nor more than fourteen years.

SEC. 58. Every person who by threats, intimidations, or unlawful violence wilfully hinders or prevents electors from assembling in public meeting for the consideration of public questions, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 59. Every person who wilfully disturbs or breaks up any public meeting of electors or others, lawfully being held for the purpose of considering public questions, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 60. Every person who makes, offers, or accepts any bet or wager upon the result of any election, or upon the success or failure of any person or candidate, or upon the number of votes to be cast either in the aggregate or for any particular candidate, or upon the vote to be cast by any person, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC 61. Every person who wilfully violates any of the provisions of the laws of this State relating to elections is, unless a different punishment for such violation is prescribed by this Code, punishable by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars or by imprisonment in the State Prison not exceeding five years, or by both.

MEDICAL.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE, FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.

No Person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittant Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most Wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

How Texas and Kansas Desperadoes Settle Their Quarrels.

A correspondent of The New York World gives an account of one of the most ferocious duels ever fought. It occurred on the evening of July 4, in the Indian Territory, at Medicine Lodge, a point which is a great resort for hunters during the colder months. The parties engaged in this desperate fight were Hugh Anderson of Texas, and Arthur McClusky of Kansas, both desperadoes well known on the frontier for their recklessness of life. Anderson had killed a brother of McClusky in a dance house fracas, and the latter sought him out for the express purpose of taking vengeance upon him. A Texan guide named Richards acted as second for McClusky, a huge Kentuckian of the name of Harding fulfilling a similar office for Anderson.

By the terms agreed upon between Richards and Harding the antagonists were to fight with revolvers and bowie knives—to be placed back to back at an interval of twenty paces—to wheel and fire at a given signal, and after the interchange of shots to conduct the fight as each one should deem it best to his advantage. The spot selected for the encounter was the open prairie. The grass had been closely cropped by the cattle, leaving the turf firm, yet elastic and just the thing for rough and tumble business. The men met long after sunset in the presence of a crowd of hunters, trappers, railroad surveyors, gamblers and Indians. The combatants were duly placed, and the crowd awaited with breathless interest the result.

The giving of the signal had fallen by lot to Harding. Stating to the principals, who by this time began to show signs of impatience, that this would be the report of a pistol, he drew his own weapon and discharged it, first asking the question and receiving the usual answer that both were ready.

McClusky was the first to fire, wheeling as he did so, though the smoke had scarcely curled up from his pistol before the report of Anderson's weapon followed. A momentary pause ensued, each of the antagonists closely scanning the other to note the effect of the shot. Across Anderson's cheek a deep furrow, from which the blood slowly began to trickle down, told the work of his antagonist, while McClusky remained standing in his original posture, to all appearances unharmed. But this was not the fact. Those nearest to him fancied they saw a sudden spasm, as of pain, pass through his frame, and his face certainly blanched to a death-like pallor, but just where the ball had taken effect they could not tell. At the second fire McClusky again anticipated his opponent, and taking a more deliberate aim succeeded in breaking his left arm. Anderson uttered a sharp cry and sank on one knee; but quickly recovering himself returned the fire, and this time with horrible effect. The ball passing through McClusky's mouth, carrying away with it several of the clenched teeth and a portion of the tongue, finally lodging in the base of the skull. McClusky staggered forward wildly a few steps, and made desperate efforts to steady himself. The blood poured in torrents from the wound, and stained his hunting shirt and dripped from the muzzle of his pistol; but with heroic courage he continued to advance, spitting out mouthfuls of blood and teeth at every step.

During the interval thus gained Anderson, who in his crippled state had every reason to shun a hand to hand encounter, had not been idle, but fired another well aimed shot which broke McClusky's left shoulder. As if this was not enough, he sent still another ball after him, which, striking him in the pit of the stomach, caused him to fall forward heavily on his face. McClusky was now mortally wounded and momentarily growing weaker from loss of blood. Tearing open his shirt in his agony a crimson spot in his left side indicated the place where Anderson's first shot had taken effect. He still, however, retained his grasp of his pistol, and by an effort superhuman in its coolness and deliberation fired at his antagonist his third shot. The latter had been closely watching for this, and endeavored to save himself by suddenly dropping on the ground. Too late, however. McClusky's finger was already on the trigger and his eye along the sights, and when his adversary's body reached the earth it was heavier by a Colt's pistol ball. A scream of pain followed, and the spectators saw the figure of a man clutching wildly with his hands at the grass and writhing and twisting in horrible contortions. The bullet had struck him full in the abdomen, and like his antagonist, Anderson was now a fast dying man.

At this juncture it seemed as if the crowd would interfere, but Harding sternly bade them keep back, and leave the men to settle the matter in their own way. As none cared to dispute with the gigantic hunter, the mandate was obeyed, though a universal expression of horror ran through the spectators, a number of whom were engineers and attaches of our party. Still, horrible as was the scene, no one thought of leaving the spot. An irresistible fascination to see it out bound one and all alike to the blood stained locality. But the finale was at hand—the curtain almost ready to drop.

McClusky, summoning by supreme effort his remaining strength, drew his knife and began to crawl feebly in the direction of his antagonist. The latter, who had raised himself to a sitting posture, saw the movement and prepared to meet it. Both had dropped their revolvers, leaving to the cold steel the completion of the work.

By this time it had grown quite dark, and to distinguish the movements of the combatants required the closest attention. Anderson was clearly unable to move any portion of his body save his right arm. With this he raised his knife aloft, and as McClusky crawled up to within reach, dealt him a terrific blow in the neck, cutting muscles and tendons and veins, and half severing the head from the body. But the effort was too much for him, and leaving the weapon sticking in the wound, he pitched heavily on his face. Every one supposed that this blow would have instantly killed McClusky, but, strange to say, it did not, for so great was his vitality that before falling he twice plunged his knife into the body of Anderson. The tale is soon told. McClusky lived a minute longer than his antagonist. The dead bodies, firmly locked in each other's embrace, were taken to the house of Harding and laid out side by side on the gaming table. A crimson trail marked the path of those who carried them indoors, and pools of blood indicated the scene of the late conflict.

There was no gambling that night. The hunters and Indians appeared to find excitement enough in talking over the events of the day without having to resort to their usual pastime. About 11 o'clock the moon rose, and the bodies were taken out for burial. There were no funeral ceremonies, but Job Harding remarked as the muffled forms were lowered into the grave, "There go two as brave men as ever lived." They were buried deep to keep the wolves and coyotes from digging them up, and the earth was heaped up in a little mound to mark where they slept.

The Wilkins Murder Case.

A Stockton dispatch of the 21st instant says:

"The Bennett trial is drawing to a close. N. Greene Curtis spoke over four hours in defense to-day, reviewing the evidence in the keen, analytical manner for which he is noted, and throwing all his magnetic force into a most brilliant closing apotheosis; he probably never made a more ingenious, certainly never a more eloquent argument. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon District Attorney Pillsbury commenced the closing argument for the prosecution, and will conclude to-morrow morning. The manner in which the prosecution has marshaled the testimony and managed the case throughout is highly spoken of by the people. More interest seems to be felt in the argument than was manifested in the testimony, much of which was of so pernicious a character that the local press would not refer to it. The social developments have been the distinguishing feature of the case, and probably, in the scale of immorality, it stands without a parallel in the criminal records of this or any other State. The degree of the crime will probably be determined by to-morrow night."

One's Hand.

It is a profound study. No instrument devised by man compares with it for complication. It is a hammer, a vice, a forceps, a hook, a spring, a weight; it pushes, draws in, and the fingers alone contain elements of chisels, gouges, and all the tools a sculptor requires in moulding. From the elbow to the digital extremities its movements are produced by nearly fifty muscles. So complicated is the cordage of the human hand, expert anatomists can hardly keep in remembrance its intricate mechanism. With it all the emotions of the mind may be both manifested and intensified. How could a Frenchman talk with his hands tied? The hand is the prime minister of the brain. It is the soul's agent in the accomplishment of its designs. It is a wonder of wonders.

—Yu will alwus notis one thing; the devil never offers to go into partnership with a bizzy man; but yu will often find him offer to jine the lazy, and furnish all the capital.—Josh.

VERY CURIOUS.

The result of the election, or motives governing voters, present the greatest anomalies ever seen in this county. As a rule party obligation, if such it can be called, were directly reversed or entirely ignored—Republican votes centering on Democrats and vice versa. For Sheriff the regular nominees of both parties were ruthlessly slaughtered in favor of an Independent who, aside from personal considerations, received a heavy support from different individuals on grounds as directly antagonistic thereto as they well could be. The combination of these opposing forces, together with his acknowledged efficiency as an officer heretofore, gave him an unprecedented majority. Differences, apparently the most irreconcilable, were jointly made to bear in favor of more than one candidate and against others. When the smoke clears away a little more we propose to devote a little space to the consideration of the causes of some of theses curious results, and the false issues to which they are attributed. The manner in which this election was conducted, as well as in the results, show conclusively that both regular parties, in this county at least, are "busted" so wide open that both will have to be reconstructed from the very ground ever to be of any practical use. As effective organizations both are very dead indeed. There are many who can say, with great unction, "save me from my friends."

Conductor Arrested.

A few days since two trains on the Chicago and St. Louis railroad rushed together at the very hight of their speed, at a point not far distant from Chicago. One of them was a well-filled passenger train running to make up time, and the other a coal train rushing through to make a switch just left by the passenger train. The conductor of the latter knew that the former had the right of the road, and that he was violating rules to leave his last station in the hope of making the next with but a half a minute's time to spare at the very most. Against the earnest advice of the station-keeper he started out with the throttle wide open, and with the result stated. It was a most horrible crash; a car full of passengers was run on top of a fractured locomotive boiler, and a large number of helpless passengers were literally cooked alive, besides many others that were mangled in the ruins. The conductor of the coal train escaped the wreck and fled. The company offered $10,000 for his arrest, which was effected by a merchant named Simon Miller. The conductor's name is Edward Beane.

Andrew Johnson.

It is now generally understood in the West and Southwest that ex-President Andrew Johnson is to be a candidate for Governor of Tennessee and that he intends to stump the State, or tread the circle in advocacy of his claims. The Memphis Appeal says that his chief aim is to secure a seat in the Senate of the United States in order that he may reinvest "my policy" with perhaps new interest and additional charms. We are among those who think that Andy's political days are over, and that he will serve his State and country better by acting the part of Cincinnatus at the plow, rather than that of Cicero on the floor of the Senate.

A Horrible Crime.

Up near Austin, Nev., a few days since, the dead body of a new born babe was found in the road. Subsequently an old man and his daughter, the latter not over 15 years old, were arrested for the supposed infanticide. They were traveling through the country in a wagon, and while on the road the girl gave birth to this child, while the old man, her own and, possibly, the babe's father, threw it into the road to perish. The girl, it is thought, will soon die from the effects of her confinement.

Water Cut Off.

The hopes of the people of Virginia City, Nevada, that their immense siphon would now furnish them an abundant supply of pure water, are now dashed to the ground. It seems that Hobart & Marlette own the water right in the creek tapped by the siphon, and are now using all its waters, except about three inches, in a wood flume, thus cutting off the city's supply almost entirely. A 20-mile flume has to be built before the difficulty can be remedied.

[illegible] AND OVERFLOWED LANDS.

[illegible]ents have tended to give t[illegible] and Overflowed Land" q[illegible] material degree of im-p[illegible] the settlers in this valley, it [illegible]t a little better understanding [illegible] real nature and probable effe[illegible] be had.

The United States, by a law passed in 1850, gave to the several States in which they were located all the swamp and overflowed lands, on the express condition "that the proceeds arising from the sale thereof should be applied to their reclamation." This State has sold all these lands at the uniform price of $1 per acre, twenty per cent. of which is paid into the County Treasury, and the remainder bears interest at the rate of seven per cent. until the work of reclamation is commenced. At the completion of that work the fund is to be returned to the purchasers. It is an express requirement of the law that the State can sell none of these lands except on condition of their reclamation. This work of reclamation is being carried out quite extensively around the bays, about the junction of the San Joaquin and Sacramento Rivers, and in the tules bordering those streams. These reclaimed lands are now rated as the most productive and valuable in the State, and no doubt have added to the taxable wealth.

To effect this result through the reclamation of these tule lands was the primary object of the original law, which, limited to this class of land—i. e., to such as necessarily required a heavy outlay before any returns could be received; literally "swamp and overflowed"—was a good law. But being general in its terms, it was found a very easy matter by the land grabbers to pervert its intent, and under it to cover hundreds of thousands of acres of the best lands in various localities from tide-water to the summit of the Sierra Nevadas. Wherever running or standing water was found, at certain periods of the year, in sufficient amount to give even a temporary abiding place to a tadpole, there the swamp lander has been found surveying, segregating and locating from a quarter section to whole townships. With a title secure the speculator could well afford to pay 20 cents an acre cash down, and give a promise of 80 cents more at some future period, to be returned to him when the work of reclamation was ended. Except in rare instances the work of reclaiming these moist lands would never be commenced, and, of course, never completed, until sold in small lots, at several hundred per cent. advance, to the actual settlers, whose irrigating and fencing ditches would be accepted as the work of reclamation in full.

In the meantime the per centage paid into the hands of the County Treasurer would, by the interest privately received for its use, afford an effective corruption fund in the way of securing reliable Deputy Surveyors and "segregating opinions" from the Surveyor General's office. At the present time this fund in our neighboring county of Kern amounts to $30,000. This would give 150,000 as the total number of acres of swamp land located in that county. It does not appear that one dollar has ever been expended in reclamation, and for four years the whereabouts of this fund has remained a mystery which no Grand Jury or official has yet been able to clear up. Enough is known to assert that the County Treasurer has been receiving one per cent. per month, or $3,600 per annum, on it as a private deposit. Neither the county or State receives one cent's worth for its use, nor is it likely either ever will. Except where a small owner has made his quarter or half section his home, the tax on the land is merely nominal, as they ever have been on the uncultivated tens of thousands of acres in the San Joaquin and elsewhere belonging to Chapman, Friedlander and other grabbers, whose boast two years since was that they controlled every Land Office in the State. The value of these lands in the tax lists was ten cents an acre; the selling price of the same $10.

The effect of this swamp land law, as it is now perverted in application, is to rob the United States of the total Government price of every acre located as State Lands; to rob the State in turn in like manner and to the same extent, and to lessen the taxable values of every county in which they are located. None but speculators having influence in the Surveyor General's office and an intimate acquaintance with Land Office maps, can, as a general thing, succeed in getting hold of these lands, for the reason that to procure their segregation, and before the public are aware of such segregation, their applications for every acre are placed on file. Being held in large areas as unimproved, unreclaimed, wild lands, the tax value is merely nominal. Neither State nor county nor the United States receives a cent nor has the use of a cent of the purchase money, but twenty per cent. of which is paid in. Being held in large bodies, actual settlers—small farmers—are kept out in order that the owners may rent ranges for herds and flocks, or if sold at all at double and quintuple the nominal cost price.

After notice of segregation is given, settlers on any quarter or half section, holding by pre-emption or homestead, one or both, are given six months in which to re-instate their title. A United States patent is no security. If re-pre-empted as State lands the settler will receive back his original purchase money, and make a saving of 25 cents on each acre, less the bonus paid the speculator and expenses of entry at the State Land office. When, as is often the case, the settler fancies himself secure in the possession of a half section, a homestead and pre-emption, and both are covered by a swamp land entry, as they often are, he can save his title to one in the manner above mentioned, and to both by paying the required bonus to the grabber.

By the decision of the Commissioner, in the Sierra Valley case, full two-thirds of the land in this valley can be covered as swamp land. It requires no capital other than influence in the proper quarters, and the collateral security afforded by the acres themselves, to throw all the lands of this class from Owens Lake to Round Valley in the hands of one, two or a half dozen owners. It then being private property the right of the range will rest with these owners, of course, but as they are always magnanimous the small owners who escape being swamped can no doubt either buy or rent on satisfactory (?) terms.

This is and has been supposed to be the real issue at stake in the late election. We do not know that there is anything to be done about it except to await developments. We have here presented but an imperfect statement of this swamp land law and possible perversions in its application, but since we now cannot be accused of doing it for electioneering purposes, we shall present it from time to time in every bearing that can be sustained by facts.

Postal Cards.

Among the latest rulings made by the Postoffice Department, is one to the effect that "a postal card reaching its destination, and having been delivered to the party named in the address, cannot be again mailed except as a letter at letter rates." This decision renders void any former decision of the Department not in accordance therewith. There have been so many depredations upon the mails by persons who are not duly authorized to travel in railway postal cars, that the Postoffice Department has issued a stringent order that no person except those connected with the Department and the train, necessarily in the performance of their duty, shall be permitted to remain in the postal cars.

Was it Murder?

A young Chinaman for several years past has been living with a family at San Jose named Dubois. He fell greatly in love with a young lady of the family named Alice, and after various troubles connected therewith, tried to shoot her in the presence of the whole family, and supposing he had succeeded, after firing two or three shots at her, shot himself through the head. Such is the story told by the family, but it was not believed, so the girl's parents, her sister and herself were arrested for the murder. Circumstances were suspiciously against them, but after due investigation the charge was dismissed.

The Modocs.

All of the Modocs held for crime, and not included in the order of execution, are to be handed over to the Oregon authorities for trial—and condemation. It is said that Captain Jack and the others to suffer death don't object to that, but they worry mightily to see Scar-Faced Charley trotting around free. Charley and another were sent out to catch two deserters, and succeeded, so it is thought the soldiers will make short work of them at the first opportunity.

Storm in Nova Scotia.

The province of Nova Scotia was visited by a very damaging storm on the 26 ultimo. Houses, barns, fences and everything capable of being moved by the wind are scattered ever the country in various localities, particularly in the county of Pictou. About one hundred vessels have been driven ashore along the coast near Cape Breton.

Its Effect.

The Sacramento Union says that since Gov. Booth's speech has been read and digested at New York, Central Pacific Railroad gold-bearing interest first mortgage bonds have fallen below par in currency.

A Most Horrible Tragedy—Murder and Robbery.

A dispatch to The San Francisco Chronicle, dated August 28, gives the following account of the most fiendish outrage since the days of Joaquin, the bandit and murderer:

About 7 o'clock on Tuesday evening two Mexicans rode up to Snyder's store from the direction of Panoche valley and the New Idria mine. Dismounting, they entered and engaged in conversation with John Utzerath, Snyder's clerk. In a few moments five more rode up and dismounted. Three of the men—one of them being the noted Tiburcio Vasquez—remained on the outside, while the four others entered the store, leveled their pistols at the inmates and compelled them to lie down, after which all were securely tied. Two little sons of L. C. Smith, coming in at this juncture, were ordered to lie down. One of them was tied, but the other was allowed to remain untied. The robbers then went through the store, appropriating all the cash and considerable clothing, provisions and tobacco. The parties on the floor, five or six in all, were searched, and the money, watches and rings taken. While this was going on in the store Vasquez was inaugurating a carnival of blood on the outside. A Portugese sheep herder, known as Martin, not knowing the character of the new comers, attempted to enter the store, but was ordered to stop at the threshold by Vasquez. The Portugese, who could not speak English, paid no attention to the order, and reached the steps, when Vasquez fired a pistol ball which took effect in the herder's mouth, causing him to fall. Attempting to rise he was shot again through the left side of the neck, and death instantly put an end to his sufferings. Mr. Haley, a teamster who was on the road, was ordered to lie down, and on attempting to argue the question was knocked down by a powerful blow from Vasquez' revolver, and remained in a state of insensibility for some time. George Bedford, another teamster, at the time of the initiation of the shooting was occupied in attending to his team, which stood in front of the store, Vasquez, the leader of the gang, who did all the shooting and guarded the approach to the store, approached Bedford and ordered him to lie down. The unfortunate man, who was troubled with deafness, did not hear the order, but apparently realizing his danger, started for the stable on a run. Just as he reached the building a shot from Vasquez, pistol passed through his heart, killing him instantly. When found afterwards, he lay near the stable door, his hands clutching tightly a wisp of hay; his face was horribly distorted by the agonies of the death struggle.

When the shooting commence L. Sherrer, a blacksmith, was in front of Snyder's store on the road. He started to run and Vasquez fired at him, but the shot whistled harmlessly by and Sherrer gained entrance to Davidson's hotel. Mr. Davidson, his wife and brother-in-law were inside, and Sherrer urged them to instantly shut the door, which was then open, as their lives were in deadly peril. Just as Mrs Davidson was about to do as he requested, one of the gang stationed at the door of the store yelled out, "Close that door and keep it closed, and you shan't be harmed." Mrs. Davidson had got the door partly closed when Vasquez, who must have been infuriated by drink, rushed up and fired through the door, the bullet passing through Mr. Davidson's heart and causing instant death. His wife, who stood, directly back of him, received his falling body in her arms and together they fell to the floor. Sherrer then started for the second story, and from a window anxiously observed the further movements of the outlaws, who were now devoting themselves entirely to robbery. Mr. Snyder was one of the men bound in the store, and was ordered, under penalty of death, to produce all the available cash and notes on his premises. He gave the robbers $500 in coin and a number of drafts, after which he was again bound and placed upon the floor.

Having secured all the provisions, clothing and tobacco that they wanted, the robbers started for the stable and stole seven horses, three belonging to Ezra Beech, two to Campbell and two to Snyder, after which they decamped in the direction of the New Idria mines. Then one of the Smith boys, the one left untied on the floor, arose and liberated the others in the store, and all simultaneously started for the outside. The scene that met their gaze was calculated to strike horror to the stoutest heart. The Portugese lay dead on the threshold; Bedford's lifeless body lay stretched before the barn door, and the wails of the widow were borne from the hotel door. Mrs. Davidson, the loving and faithful wife, lay senseless upon the floor. She has since been confined to her bed, and her condition now is exceedingly precarious.

Utzerath, Snyder's clerk, immediately rode into Hollister and spread the appalling news, and yesterday at 5 P. M. Sheriff Adams of Santa Clara county and Sheriff Wasson of Monterey county, with a strong posse, which has since been augmented by recruits from Tres Pinos and San Benito, started in pursuit of the assassins.

Nothing has yet been heard of their movements, though the gang was reported to have halted yesterday in the Hernandez Valley, forty miles southeast of Hollister, at the headwaters of the San Benito. They are probably making for their old rendezvous in Cantua canyon, twelve miles south of the New Idria mines, a wild and almost inaccessible place in the mountains, and where a few bold men could hold their ground successfully against a small army of pursuers. Cantua canyon has been the camp of Vasquez and his gang for years, and was formerly the principal and safest camp of Joaquin Murietta and his murderous outlaws.

The Sutro tunnel is now in 4,275 feet.

A Bilk.

Ernest A. Erlandson, who styles himself "General Commission Merchant and Real Estate Agent, San Francisco, California," issues a verbose and windy proclamation to the "People of Idaho Territory," announcing that he has returned from New York to his former place of business in San Francisco. He solicits public patronage, of course, and has the brazen effrontry to say to those to whom he sends his proclamation that their confidence and business is expected by return mail. Ernest also says that he is from Norway, Europe, just as though that would stamp him an honest man. We happen to know something about Mr. Erlandson and unhesitatingly pronounce him a bilk of the first water; he bilked The Avalanche out of an advertising bill when he was doing business in San Francisco several years ago, and he who will bilk a printer will lose no opportunity of bilking anybody else. We therefore advise our readers to beware of Ernest A. Erlandson, the Norway bilk.—Owyhee Avalanche.

We also happen to know something about this Norway bilk, who advertised himself and business a year or two since as the Swedish or Norway Consul, and we take this opportunity of saying that we have no doubt Mr. Ernest. A. Erlandson, General Commission, etc., will steal.

Wonderful Discoveries.

Professor Hayden, of the Geological Survey, writes to Washington from a point among the Rocky Mountains, one hundred miles from the nearest postoffice, that the Expedition is now among waters that flow in a grand river into the Colorado. He adds that they are in the grandest mountain scenery in the world, and are close to two of the highest peaks in the United States. They have named them "Capital" and "White House." They have named the great range on the upper Arkansas river the "National Range," as it is the largest in the United States. They were 12,000 feet above the level of the sea, and fifty peaks can be seen 14,000 feet high. Professor Hayden will reach Washington by the first of October.

Texas Politics.

Advices from Texas indicate the almost certain defeat of Davis, Republican nominee for Governor. It is stated that the Davis faction is unable to conciliate the German vote, as they had expected, and that the Germans, who control some 14,000 votes in the State, are very likely to become the balance of power. The nature of the disagreement between the Germans and Davis is not indicated in the news received.

Steamboat Explosion.

SUMMONS.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE SIXTEENTH Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the county of Inyo. John C. Morrison, Jr., plaintiff, against W. G. Squires, defendant. Action brought in the District Court of the Sixteenth Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the county of Inyo, and the complaint filed in said county of Inyo, in the office of the Clerk of said District Court,

The People of the State of California send greeting to W. G. Squires. You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff in the District Court of the Sixteenth Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the county of Inyo, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons—if served within this county; or, if served out of this county, but in this district, within twenty days; otherwise, within forty days—or judgment by default will be taken against you, according to the prayer of said complaint. The srid action is brought to recover the sum of Eight hundred and fifty-seven 72-100 dollars in gold coin of the United States, for goods, wares and merchandise sold and delivered to said defendant by said plaintiff, at defendant's special instance and request, on the ninth day of September, A. D. 1872, together with interest thereon from said date at the rate of ten per cent. per annum. And you are hereby notified if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint, as above required, the said plaintiff will take judgment by default against you, in accordance with the prayer of said plaintiff's complaint.

Given under my hand and the seal of the District Court of the Sixteenth Jucicial District of the State of California, in and for the

The Result.

We can only give the full vote for Parker and Sneden, for the Assembly, and that of the candidates for Sheriff and Clerk. We are very sorry that not a man could be found in either Fish Springs, Big Pine, Bishop Creek or Round Valley willing to take the trifling trouble to send us or some one else a copy before they were sealed up of their respective returns, as it will now be impossible to determine how the joint Legislative ticket stands until the votes are officially canvassed. We made, as was supposed, all necessary arrangements to secure these reports, besides publishing an earnest request to the same effect, in order that the public desire here and elsewhere might be fully satisfied at as early a date as possible. But in the localities named no attention was given to the matter by those upon whom dependence was placed, or anyone else, so that we are under no obligations to any of them for the figures contained in the following report—which is complete in nearly all respects save the points of most importance to outsiders, Tuolumne and Mono. The total vote for local candidates for Assembly is 526, in which Parker, Democrat, receives a majority of 56 over Sneden, Republican. Goodale, Independent, gets a total of 92. Summers and Bowen, Democrats, have so far as reported, a majority of 17 and 43 respectively, with prospect of a slight increase. Eakin, Democrat, for Senator, has a majority of 4 over Rodgers in a total of 478. Mulkey, Independent, for Sheriff, beats Clark, Republican, and Coburn, Democrat, together 102 in a total of 484. For Clerk, Hammarstrand, Republican, beats Moore, Democrat, 4 votes in a total of 486. Of the other officers, it is known that Snelling for District Attorney, Wayland for Coroner, Kingsley for Assessor and Jackson for School Superintendent, are all elected. In the First District McCrosky is elected Supervisor, and Hunter in the Third. Upon the official canvass of the votes we shall publish a table of the returns. We have no figures complete to give in relation to County Treasurer, but Isaacs is elected without doubt.

Homeward the Swallows Fly.

Jeems Perham and Tom May got tired of high living in the East, so they returned here this week and have settled down to business precisely as if nothing had happened. They wouldn't have been back quite so soon, it isn't likely, except for the conventional restraints they felt themselves under there, the first, in regard to wearing a hat, the other a coat—which, it is said, they did do, once in awhile. We infer both received many advantageous matrimonial offers back there, but preferred not to jeopardize any lovely female's prospects in life, so they declined them all. It is a little doubtful about the wisdom of this course, but perhaps it was far the best after all.

Man Shot.

A probably fatal and inexcusably careless accident occurred in Cerro Gordo on Thursday last. One John Eddy, standing in the bar-room of the American House, was handling a large-sized Wesson six-shooter, cocking and uncocking it, when the hammer slipped from his thumb and discharged the weapon. The ball passed through the window and struck James Murphy in the back and passed through his left lung. Dr. Grant was at once called and on examination found the air rushing from the wound at every breath, so that the prospects for the recovery of the wounded man may be considered hopeless.

The Vote at Benton.

We are indebted to E. R. Miner, Esq., for the following statement of the vote at Benton, Mono county: Senator,—Rogers 26, Eakin 8; Assemblymen—Long 24, Goodnow 12, Sneden 6, Summers 11, Bowen 12, Parker 7, Wiedekind 0, Hays 14, Goodale 18; Clerk—Towle 22, Mack 17; Sheriff—Welch 13, Obenchain 22; District Attorney—Crocker 12, Whitman 23; Treasurer—Bryant 13, Hughes 22; Assessor—Stewart 23, Watkins 12; Superintendent of Schools—Miner 27; Surveyor, Thompson 24; Coroner—Sinclair 11, Lewis 21, Taylor 11.

School.

Mr. Hardy will begin an eight-months term of the public school on Monday next, at this place, so all desiring to send pupils, from this or any other district, will govern themselves accordingly. Mr. Hardy is, without question, a most excellent teacher.

Returns Lost.

By some accident Mr. David Olds lost the package of sealed ballots accompanying the election returns from Round Valley precinct. As the sealed transcripts of the vote are yet safe, we suppose the loss of the ballots is not material.

The Lone Pine Hotel.

Mr. W. M. Hart has re-opened this favorite hotel in Lone Pine, and holds himself in readiness to accommodate all favoring him with a call, in the best manner possible.

Are They Legal?

A written protest was entered before the Independence Election Board against the counting of certain ballots, as it is held that they do not comply with the requirements of the law. The tickets were procured from San Francisco, by the Republican County Central Committee. The grounds of objection are principally technical, and are as follows: That they are printed with type of small pica and not long primer; that the matter is alternately double and single leaded; that words other than the names of the offices and candidetes are printed on the tickets, and "leaders" are used in connecting the names of the candidates with their respective counties; that the names of the different offices are begun in each case with capitals instead of small caps. As an evidence of the carelessness with which these tickets have been gotten up, we may observe that the word "Tuolumne" is twice used and once misspelled. The general form and appearance of the printed matter on the ticket from top to bottom is different from all those printed in strict conformity with the Code. Had the printer strained a point to make an illegal ballot, and at the same time one that would be used, he could scarcely have improved on the ones in question, even if they did come through the Republican State Central Committee. If the words alluded to are admissible in this case, any others of any signification may in like manner be placed upon the ticket, with a view of giving it distinctive characteristics. Although no intent of fraud is shown in this instance, the admission of the principle involved will render it a perfectly easy matter to mislead voters as to the true character of the ticket, and effectually nullify the law made expressly to guard against that identical possibility. The whole matter will be submitted to the proper judges, so we pass it without further remark, except to state that the probable number of these ballots polled appears to be about 45 or 50.

Personals.

Hon. Theron Reed and lady arrived here a few days since, and will remain several days. Major Egbert has an extended leave of absence, and will probably remain here several months. His lady, now on a visit to the East, is expected to return here in a few weeks. Lieut. Haskel has been relieved from duty at Camp Gaston, and will report for duty at San Diego, paying this section a visit en route. Lieut. Dove, the only officer now with Co. B., at San Diego, has been promoted to a Captaincy, and will probably take command at Gaston. Mr. James Brady, with his family, proposes to take up his residence in San Francisco, for which place they will start in a week or two. Mr. Brady, however, will prosecute his mining operations here according to the former programme, which will necessitate frequent returns. Mr. Beaudry has taken up his residence at Paso Robles Springs, San Luis Obispo County. The "Chief of the Swamplanders," has obtained leave of absence, and goes below for a few days, we suppose, to explain the nature of his political victory (?) here.

The Stage Accident.

It appears that Dr. Cole was the most seriously hurt of any one in the stage accident at Elbow Joe's, his leg being broken, besides receiving other severe hurts. He was thrown a distance of over forty feet down the hill, upon the rocks. Thompson, the driver, reported dangerously hurt, is but slightly injured. Col. Bob. Graves, a fast man who drives fast horses, is by the Virginia papers held primarily responsible for the whole thing. Jas. Perham and Tom May, of this place, were most fortunate in their escape; Perham was outside with the driver and May inside, and though the coach was literally mashed to pieces, both got off with scarcely a scratch.

The Ball.

The ball on Wednesday night was a success in every respect, except, perhaps there might have been more present without detriment. The proportion of young folks was greater than usual, and in truth there were some very good-looking ones too, but it wouldn't be a safe undertaking to attempt specifications. There were five pieces of music, and the music itself was, without question, the best we have yet had, and with two good prompters and a most excellent floor manager, everything passed off most satisfactory indeed, dancing being kept up until early dawn.

Good Beef.

Louey Schneider gives notice in another column that he intends to supply his customers with the best meats of all kinds that this country affords. We observed one specimen there a day or two since that beats anything of the kind we have seen very lately. It was a three year old, the surplus fat of which weighed over one hundred pounds.

Church Matters.

Rev. M. L. Pratt, in conjunction with the present incumbent, Rev. E. H. Orne, has received from the State Conference the pastoral charge of the Owens Valley district for the ensuing year. It is expected that Elder Nims will soon pay us a visit, accompanying Mr. Pratt, who is reported to be a very effective preacher.

Auction.

We wish to call attention to the advertisement of Coroner Lank in relation to the sale, on Friday next, of the effects of the late Wm Callahan. The sale will certainly come off as advertised, as a portion of the grain lies exposed on the ground, and it is likely the rates for everything will be quite low.

Will Meet.

The County Court, a Grand Jury and the Board of Supervisors, the latter as Election Canvassers, will meet on Monday next.

Hoe's Last Lightning Press.

A New York correspondent gives this information: "Mr. Hoe has completed a new and 'perfecting press,' which is to 'knock the spots off' the Walter machine. The new press, which is now being tried and perfected, prints 24,000 copies, on both sides, in one hour. The London Telegraph is to have the press as soon as perfected. The circulation of The Telegraph is really immense. Its daily sale is never less than 170,000—it has reached on more than one occasion 270,000, and even 275,000; and 230,000 is its ordinary sale during the busy season. I really don't know much about the circulation of journals at home, but if I am not mistaken these figures exceed those of any American daily. Some very valuable improvements have recently been made in the rapidity of the process of stereotyping the plates for newspaper presses. The Edinburgh Scotsman, which is now printed on two Walters' presses at a very great speed, has its plates stereotyped in the almost incredibly short time of twelve and a half minutes for the first plate and two minutes for the subsequent ones; and for its Hoe presses it beats even this time, turning out the first plate in only eleven minutes.

Suicide.

Of late there is a sort of a mania for suicide manifesting itself among bank officials in the East. On the 28th ultimo the President of the National Bank of Lynn, Masrachusetts, and the Cashier of the Gold Bank at Tarrytown, New York, both committed suicide.

Earthquakes.

Nottingham, England, was shaken up by an earthquake on the 29th ultimo. In this State Sacramento and San Jose got a similar dose a few days ago.

—A noble historic scene—the surrender of Gen. Pillow to Gen. Smith—is thus described by The Newark Advertiser: Pillow came into Montgomery afoot and alone, sat down on a curbstone and shook the gravel out of his rough army shoes, and then walked into Smith's office. The ceremony was simple. He said, "How are you, Jack?" The reply was, "Good God, Gid! is that you? Have you had your breakfast?" To which Pillow responded, "No; and I haven't a dollar to pay for one."

—A policeman propounded the following to a lawyer in the Police Court-room: "If a man is sentenced to the State Prison for life, how many days per annum are deducted from his term for good behavior?" The lawyer refused to anwser, as he always exacts a fee in advance for his opinion.

Prospectus for 1873—Sixth Year.

THE ALDINE,

An Illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative and Champion of American Taste.

NOT FOR SALE IN BOOK OR NEWS STORES.

THE ALDINE, WHILE ISSUED WITH ALL THE regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light, and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of the THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT.

Notwithstanding the increase in the price of subscription last Fall, when THE ALDINE assumed its present noble proportions and representative character, the edition was more than doubled during the past year; proving that the American public appreciate, and will support, a sincere effort in the cause of Art. The publishers, anxious to justify the ready confidence thus demonstrated, have exerted themselves to the utmost to develop and improve the work; and the plans for the coming year, as unfolded by the monthly issues, will astonish and delight even the most sanguine friends of THE ALDINE.

The publishers are authorized to announce designs from many of the most eminent artists of America.

In addition, THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success, and greatest general interest; avoiding such as have become familiar, through photographs, or copies of any kind.

The quarterly tinted plates, for 1873, will reproduce four of John S. Davis' inimitable child-sketches, appropriate to the four seasons. These plates, appearing in the issues for January, April, July and October, would be alone worth the price of a year's subscription.

The popular feature of a copiously illustrated "Christmas" number will be continued.

To possess such a valuable epitome of the art world, at a cost so trifling, will command the subscriptions of thousands in every section of the country; but, as the usefulness and attractions of THE ALDINE can be enhanced, in proportion to the numerical increase of its supporters, the publishers propose to make "assurance double sure," by the following unparallelled offer of PREMIUM CHROMOS FOR 1873.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE, who pays in advance for the year 1873, will receive, without additional charge, a pair of beautiful oil chromos, after J. J. Hill, the eminent English painter. The pictures, entitled "The Village Belle," and "Crossing the Moor," are 14 x 20 inches—are printed from 25 different plates, requiring 25 impressions and tints to perfect each picture. The same chromos are sold for $30 per pair, in the art stores. As it is the determination of its conductors to keep THE ALDINE out of the reach of competition in every department, the chromos will be found correspondingly ahead of any that can be offered by other periodicals. Every subscriber will receive a certificate, over the signature of the publishers, guaranteeing that the chromos delivered shall be equal to the samples furnished the agent, or the money will be refunded. The distribution of pictures of this grade, free to the subscribers to a five dollar periodical, will mark an epoch in the history of Art; and, considering the unprecedented cheapness of the price for THE ALDINE itself, the marvel falls little short of a miracle, even to those best acquainted with the achievements of inventive genius and improved mechanical appliances. (For illustrations of these chromos, see November issue of THE ALDINE).

THE LITERARY DEPARTMENT

Will continue under the care of Mr. RICHARD HENRY STODDARD, assisted by the best writers and poets of the day, who will strive to have the literature of THE ALDINE always in keeping with its artistic attractions.

TERMS.

$5 per annum, in advance, with Oil Chromos free.

THE ALDINE will, hereafter, be obtainable only by subscription. There will be no reduced or club rate; cash for subscriptions must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local agent, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given, bearing the fac-simile signature of JAMES SUTTON & Co.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:..
Saturday,....September 6, 1873.

—Mr. H. O. Houghton, of the prosperous Riverside Press, tells how, nearly fifty years ago, a little, pale-faced man came into a Vermont printing office where he was learning his trade, and handing him a printed slip, said: "My lad, when you use these words spell them as here, theater, center," etc. It was Noah Webster, traveling on foot and visiting country printing offices to persuade people to spell as he did. The apprentice little thought that time that he should ever be head of an establishment which would manufacture a thousand tons of Webster's Dictionaries.

—Ourself and friend dined down town other day. Our friend ordered roast lamb. We, roast mutton; the former eighteen pence a cut, the latter one shilling. Both plates looking very much alike, we hinted the fact to the waiter. "Mum's the word," said he "both off the same leg." Conclusion arrived at—That there is something in a name after all.

—The latest method of spending the honeymoon is reported from Italy. An American recently met an old school-fellow, whom he had not seen for years. "You here?" "Yes, my dear fellow; I have just been married, and am come to pass the honeymoon in Italy." "And your wife?" "My wife? Oh! I left her in New York."

"My dearest uncle," said a humorous writer, "was the most polite man in the world. He was making a voyage on the Danube and the boat sank; my uncle was just on the point of drowning. He got his head above the water just once, took off his hat and said, 'Ladies and gentlemen, will you please excuse me?' and down he went."

—There is a young lady in Milford who has been taking music lessons for the last eight years. The other day she sent an order to a music store in New Haven, and fearing her spelling might not be just right, added this postscript: "You must exkews this letter, as I pla bi noat, but spel bi ere."

—"Is Mr. Snarley at home?" "No, sir." "Do you know where he is gone?" "Let me see—ah! I saw him washing himself to-day. I guess he must have been invited to a party."

—What grows bigger as you contract it? Debt.

MEDICAL.

PRIVATE HOSPITAL.

THE SUBSCRIBER TAKES PLEASURE IN announcing to the people of Inyo county that he has purchased and fitted up as a hospital the Beaudry Hotel Building, adjoining the military post at Camp Independence. All the adobes have been removed and their place applied with lumber; the grounds are handsomely laid out with shade trees and clover, and have a pure running stream of mountain water.

There is an excellent bath room and dispensary attached. One room is set aside for the county's sick, leaving ample room for private patients. The Northern Stage Line passes the door, and the place is easy of access from the town of Independence. The charges for board and lodging do not exceed those of any hotel or boarding house, offering equal accommodations, and the establishment has the advantage of having competent help and medical advice always at hand, being close by the house of the post surgeon at the camp.

SUMMONS.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE SIXTEENTH Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the county of Inyo. John C. Morrison, Jr., plaintiff, against W. G. Squires, defendant. Action brought in the District Court of the Sixteenth Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the county of Inyo, and the complaint filed in said county of Inyo, in the office of the Clerk of said District Court,

The People of the State of California send greeting to W. G. Squires. You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff in the Disteict Court of the Sixteenth Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the county of Inyo, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons—if served within this county; or, if served out of this county, but in this district, within twenty days; otherwise, within forty days—or judgment by default will be taken against you, according to the prayer of said complaint. The srid action is brought to recover the sum of Eight hundred and fifty-seven 72-100 dollars in gold coin of the United States, for goods, wares and merchandise sold and delivered to said defendant by said plaintiff, at defendant's special instance and request, on the ninth day of September, A. D. 1872, together with interest thereon from said date at the rate of ten per cent. per annum. And you are hereby notified if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint, as above required, the said plaintiff will take judgment by default against you, in accordance with the prayer of said plaintiff's complaint.

Given under my hand and the seal of the District Court of the Sixteenth Jucicial Distrtct of the State of California, in and for the [SEAL.] County of Inyo, this Sixteenth day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand sight hundred and seventy-three.

MEDICAL.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE, FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.

No Person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittant Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Eryspelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most Wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Letter from Wallapi.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

CERBAT, A. T. Aug. 24.

ED. INDEPENDENT: On the morning of the 19th instant we had a man for breakfast in the village of Mineral Park, some six miles north of this place. One Peter Hertz had a wife, who was fond of drink, and one Jack Dolan kept a saloon, or as they call them in Arkansas, a "grocery." The madam called on Dolan and Dolan called on her, and it is the talk that improper relations existed between them. At 6 o'clock A. M. Peter called on Dolan and commenced shooting—fired and missed; Dolan fired and dittoed; Peter fired again with the same result; Dolan fired and kenoed. His shot missed Peter's heart but an inch, and in twenty minutes Peter Hertz, the ninth man, was gone. Dolan was examined before Justice E. F. Gallager of this place and discharged. This little episode occupied but two days, altogether.

Mining is quiet. The Hope ledge is still foremost. One of the claims, the Hibernia, is considered the biggest mine in the land, and worth a million. Mr. Elder's furnace has been running at what he calls a moderate success, producing $350 worth of bullion in 24 hours at a cost of $400—an Erin-like dividend of $50. But you know how it is yourself; there is money added to commerce if not to the proprietor's pocket.

July, August and September are the rainy months here. The rain has come, and after it the finest of grasses. I will name a few of them: Guayete, alfilarilla, grama, sacaton and nine other varieties which I can't spell, as I have lost four teeth already. We are enjoying pleasant weather for this time of the year; as I write, at 11 o'clock A. M., the thermometer indicates 80°; the nights are much cooler. On the Colorado, 40 miles distant, they have it warmer, ranging from 100 to 120°. The altitude here is 4,000 feet; that of Fort Mohave, 613 feet.

If I may judge from the character of freights that arrive per steamer at Hardyville, this community is largely Democratic. There was 60 barrels of the poorest whisky and 20 barrels of flour, the camp being nearly out of the latter article at the time. If a merchant had been here and offered as much per pound for the flour as they asked for the whisky—say 60 cents—he could not have found that number of barrels in the county, and our population is nearly 1,000 souls, not including transients. Of Interest to School Trustees.

[From The California Teacher.]

In deciding a question lately submitted to us, our attention has been called to the necessity of trustees keeping separate accounts of the State school fund and county school fund. In drawing an order on the County Superintendent, the trustees must state out of which of these two school funds said order is to be paid. Except this is done, County Superintendents are authorized to decline to recognize an order. In cases where the amount of an order drawn against a specified fund is in excess of the money on hand in such fund, the order should be returned to the trustees with the request to reduce the amount on said order to the amount on hand in the fund against which it is drawn, and to draw a second order for the balance due against the other school fund. If, for instance, an order is presented calling for $185, to be paid out of the State school fund, in which only $167 are on hand, the amount of the order must be reduced to the latter figure in order to exhaust the State fund; the balance of the original order, $18, must be drawn against the county funds.

In order to enable trustees to draw orders in accordance with the above, County Superintendents must send them written notice of the amount placed to the credit of the district, whenever an apportionment is made, whether of State or county school money. Many County Superintendents neglect to do so, but simply publish the apportionment in the county papers. This cannot be considered sufficient notice as regards trustees.

In the County.

[From The Tuolumne Independent Sept. 6.]

The election passed off quietly and decisively. The general public appeared to have taken the bit in its teeth, and bursted parties to eternal smash. The general opinion now appears to be that party nominations hereafter, in Tuolumne, will go for nix, and that an indorsement by a political convention will be love's labor lost. In some instances the nominees of one party receive large majorities, and again several of the opposite party candidates receive as decisive endorsement—party lines proving ropes of sand in binding men to organized nominations. We are glad that this fact stands out bold and distinct, and from it we hope much in the future. Let every one run on merit alone, untrammeled by party odor or party punishment for party shortcomings, and we shall be more fortunate in our selections for public office. Until that time comes we can not hope for a permanent and radical reform.

In the legislative ticket, Mr. Eakin carries the county by 337 majority over Mr. Rodgers for Senator. For the Assembly, Messrs. Summers, Long and Parker are ahead, and the probabilities are that the returns of Inyo and Mono cannot defeat their election. We are as well pleased with the success of Long and Parker as we are at the defeat of Sneden. We much prefer Summers to the latter, but would rather have seen Goodale, the independent candidate, successful than either. Mr. Long has a majority over Bowen of 218, and Parker beats Sneden 544. Goodale comes within 28 votes of Sneden, and with a little more time would have left Seth hull down to leeward.

In the county offices we find that Baxter has 107 majority over Trout for Sheriff; Kenfield, for Treasurer, has 167 majority over Hall; Murnan, for School Superintendent, 77 over York; Burden, for Coroner, 192 over Freund. As we said before the election, it was hardly possible to go astray in selecting good officers, so far as capability was concerned, and we are not at all dissatisfied with the result. We believe the gentlemen selected will well and faithfully discharge their duties, and that the people of the county will never have cause to regret the confidence they have reposed in the officers elect.

The Yellowstone Expedition.

Gen. Rosser, in charge of the Railroad Survey of the Stanley Yellowstone Expedition, has submitted to the authorities of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company his official report of the results thus far accomplished by the expedition. He finds the new and final route across Western Dakotah from the Missouri to the Yellowstone river entirely practicable and satisfactory, it being greatly superior to those of former days. The distance, 205 miles, is 21 miles shorter than the survey of 1871. The gradients are moderate, the average of work per mile is considerably less, the number of important bridges is reduced nearly two-thirds, and the Little Missouri river, which former surveys crossed seven and eleven times, is crossed once on the line so located. The route runs immediately through only one mile of the "bad" or clay lands, just east of the Little Missouri. With few exceptions, the country is a rolling prairie, sometimes rising into low hills, the grass being excellent and soil good. Good water was found the entire distance. Coal outcrops at various points in veins several feet in thickness, and timber is more abundant than on former routes. The report states that the main body of Gen. Stanley's expedition accompanied the scientific corps, and most of the press correspondents did not accompany the engineers who were escorted by Gen. Custar's department, but followed the old abandoned route south of Heart river, hence descriptions of the region traversed by the main command do not apply to the country traversed by the new route for the railroad. The directors of the company have accepted the new line recommended by Gen. Rosser from Bismarck, the present end of the track, to the Yellowstone crossing, and have called for proposals to grade and bridge this section of 205 miles. The expedition is now prosecuting the survey westward up the left bank of the Yellowstone to Pompey's Pillar, where it will join the survey made last year from the west, and thus complete the surveyed line across the continent. The entire command is expected to return to Fort Rice about October 1st.

—Pioche District Court-room scene: Judge—"Have you any conscientious scruples against telling a good, big North American lie to avoid your duty as a citizen of this county?" Juror—"No, sir." Challenged for habitual bias. Judge—"Have you formed an unqualified opinion in this case?" Juror—"Mr. Judge, I am ready to tell a lie of any magnitude to get from serving as a juror; so asking me fooling questions and hard conundrums is only a waste of time for all present. So help me God." Challenged for lacking the first principles and attributes of manhood, and challenge not traversed.

—An exchange very truthfully remarks: "If an editor makes his newspaper always say what is right, that paper will have lots of enemies; and if he does otherwise he will hardly have less enemies and ought not to command the respect of anybody."

The European Balloon Voyage.

The New York Graphic of August 30 publishes the following facts regarding the coming aerial tour to Europe: In all human probability the Daily Graphic trans-Atlantic balloon expedition will set sail from the Capitol grounds, Brooklyn, on Wednesday, September 10th. There is some uncertainty regarding the precise time, as the weather may not be favorable and the gas company not be able to spare the 400,000 cubic feet of gas required; but it is hoped that the ascension will not be later than the 10th. The great air ship is now well advanced toward completion, and a large force of men is now engaged in finishing the various aparatus. All the parts will be completed and got together in a few days, when the balloon will be publicly exhibited until the day of ascension. It was at first intended that the ballon should start without any preliminary public exhibition, but in consequence of the earnest desire manifested by the public and the press, the Graphic company have decided to make the exhibition. The following is a description of the balloon: The nine great sections are each 176 feet wide and 37 feet high; when inflated, 116 feet; diameter when inflated, 110 feet, circumstance when inflated, 335 feet; extreme length from crown of balloon to keel of boat, 160 feet; hight of car, 15 feet; length of life-boat, 24 feet; cloth required, 4,310 yards, in sewing 10 miles of rope was used; gas required to fill balloon, 400,000 feet; weight of entire apparatus, 7,000 pounds; cost, nearly $15,000.

How to Harden Steel Drills.

It is not generally known that steel can be made so hard that it will pierce any known substance but a diamond. Many jewelers and lapidaries have great trouble in getting the points of their drills hard enough to pierce an amethyst. For the benefit of miners and others using drills that require a hard point, we recommend the following manipulation. The drills should be held, if small, by hot pinchers or tongs, while tempering. First heat the tool to a white heat, and then press it into a stick of sealing wax; leave it but a second there, and then stick it into the wax in another place. The operation is rapidly repeated until the graver is too cool to enter the wax. In turning or drilling the tool is moistened with oil of turpentine.

—The St. Louis Democrat says it is a notable fact that first victim of cholera in Indianapolis was a bar-tender who wore a diamond pin and had taken other precautions against the plague.

TITLE IV, PART I, PENAL CODE.

In due course of law we again present a few chapters of the Political Code for the edification and government of the Inyo sovereigns at the pending judicial election. We don't want to be misunderstood as to our motives in giving them this class of reading. We don't do it because it is either novel, romantic or particularly interesting, nor merely for the fun of the thing, but because the law requires it, and because we hope to realize divers pesos in depreciated county scrip, with an under current belief that by some means or other we may be able to hypothecate this evidence of the county's obligations for bread and meat and sich. That explains it so far as we are concerned. But to tell the real, conscientious truth about the matter, we think the law requiring this printing ought to be amended so that none but the most salient and governing points of the election law need be published in newspapers, and preceding every election.

It is true it is much cheaper in the long run to be at the expense of publishing such important rules for the government of voters, than not to it do it and be at the expense of punishing frequent infractions, due in the main to consequent ignorance of the law's requirements. But the desired end can be attained, perhaps, by having the law, which is now printed under proclamation, shorn of all unnecessary verbiage. The election expenses are doubled by the separate election for judicial officers, for which separate election there is no essential need, or good purpose subserved. The cost of the late election in San Francisco was 81 cents to each voter. In this county it is not a cent less than $4 60 per voter—which is pretty costly for such a trifling amusement.

The Members Elect.

Not having received a statement in detail of the vote for Senator in Mono, or for Representatives in this county, we are only able to state the general fact, without giving the figures for it, that W. A. Eakin, for the Senate, Jas. W. Summers and Wm. G. Long of Tuolumne and Jas. E. Parker of this county are the members elect, each by large majorities. All are Democrats save Long, Republican. The majority of our junior, in the entire district, is 594 over Mr. Sneden, the Republican candidate of this county. Accidents will happen, so for once in a long time the sage brush region gets a representation, but not as much as we should have had by rights, for Mono is left out in the cold, and we are very sorry for it.

No Details.

As nobody had energy enough to send in a detailed statement of the vote at any of the northern precincts, and as there is a dead-lock in the official canvass, we find it impossible to fulfil our intention of giving a tabular statement of the Inyo vote. By the time such a table is possible now it will be very stale news indeed, so all who have any curiosity to know how any particular precinct voted on the several candidates can institute personal inquiries and arrive at a proximate result. We may publish it a month or two hence, but as we don't like to present a lazy exception to all of the counties in the State, we shall do it, if at all, merely for local circulation. You perceive?

Tuolumne Legislative Returns.

The Sonora Union Democrat gives the following unofficial returns of the vote in that county for the respective legislative candidates:

DEMOCRATS.		REPUBLICANS.
Eakin	1,052	Rodgers	715
Summers	1,073	Long	911
Parker	866	Sneden	319
Bowen	693	Goodnow	610

The votes received by the Independents stand: Goodale, 291; Hays, 281; Weidekind, 142.

Mono County.

A friend at Benton furnishes us the following statement of the result in Mono, but unaccountably omits the vote for Senator:

Bowen	53	Long	98
Summers	65	Goodnow	95
Parker	47	Sneden	53
Hays	56	Weidekind	1
Goodale	39

—A sarcastic young lady, speaking of one of her aversions, said the severest thing on record: "He's almost a perfect brute—he only lacks instinct."

—A local paper in Indiana records the accidental shooting of a doctor, and has "strong fears of his recovery."

—A man owns a pair of horses forty years old. He calls them 2—40's.

A DEAD LOCK.

The Board of Supervisors met on Monday last, pursuant to law, to canvass the returns. Mr. Burroughs is not in the county, so but two members were present, Mr. Bell and Mr. Hutchison. It being alleged that there had been some material irregularities in conducting the election at Bishop Creek, Mr. Reddy, in behalf of a certain contestant, submitted and argued a motion to throw out that vote. Mr. Gregg appeared for respondents, and the war of words waxed long and warm. The two principal points of objection recited in Reddy's complaint were in effect as follows: That the polls were not opened at the place ordered by the Board of Supervisors, but at another selected by the Election Board, several hundred yards distant from the one named in the election proclamation. That the Election Board was selected and sworn in by a person who was one of the candidates to be voted for at said election. Therefore, Mr. Reddy contended, the vote at that precinct was irregular, contrary to both the letter and spirit of the law made to protect and preserve the purity of the ballot box, and should not be counted The whole question turned upon the powers of the Board of Supervisors, Mr. Reddy claiming that their functions were quasi judicial, and it appearing that the conditions of the election law had been disregarded in important particulars it was their duty and right to take testimony, and if the allegations were sustained, to throw out the vote. That the vote being irregular and illegal, they could not admit it in the canvass as a basis for issuing certificates of election without a violation of their oath of office. The question of these irregularities as affecting the legality of the vote must be decided upon before the vote could or should be canvassed, and that the right of this decision came clearly within the jurisdiction of the Board.

Mr. Gregg, for the respondents, contended that, as nothing appeared in the manner of or on the face of the returns showing any irregularity; that, as the powers of the Board were purely ministerial and not judicial to any degree that would justify an inquiry into any irregularities not shown on the face of the returns themselves; and further, that the alleged irregularities could not be considered fatal if submitted to a court of law—the returns should be at once canvassed and certificates of election issued in accordance therewith, which could be done without prejudice to the rights of contestants, since they could then bring their case before the only tribunal having a proper jurisdiction, and before which it must come sooner or later if the contest was persisted in, no matter what the present decision might be.

Mr. Hutchison determined that the vote should not be canvassed without a decision on the merits of the allegations. Mr. Bell took the opposite view, and it being a double-headed court, where one vote counted as much as the other, and there being nothing in the statutes allowing a difference commensurate with the respective avoirdupois of the voters in such contests, the thing is blocked; the returns are still sealed up and are likely to remain so until a mandate of court brings the question up for settlement on its merits.

The contestants are anxious to waive all rights as to limits of time, and respond to a mandate at once; but the other party claim that a mandate will not lie, as it affects the discretionary powers of the Board. Our own opinion (which is not very valuable, however) is that a mandate would lie, since the powers of the Board are merely ministerial so far as the simple canvass of the vote is concerned. On this point it strikes us that the law is clear and imperative. We can not see where such a canvass, followed by the contingent certificates of election could affect the rights of the contestants; the case must be decided finally on its merits and by a court of law. In other words, it is certain that a decision of the Board of Canvassers, no matter upon which side, is not necessarily final, except it might be in a case of transparent fraud; but even then, we are inclined to think the fraud must appear on the returns themselves, rather than as to the manner of polling the votes, or as to the character of the ballots or any question raised upon the latter point. It is an issue hinging upon the construction of points of law. Allegations of a violation of its intent would have to be sustained by proof as to the act if the act was denied; but the act is not denied further than that it was not illegal. In the nature of the case we think it goes beyond the jurisdiction of the Board, and that the vote ought to have been counted.

But, though no one in fact may have sustained a wrong by reason of these irregularities, yet there remains good grounds for contesting the election. It has been for years a leading object in legislation to devise an election law to insure the purity of the ballot box. That of this State is sufficient, if its requirements are rigidly maintained. If a fixed rule is relaxed, and allowed to pass unchallenged in one instance because no fraud is apparent, it only opens the door to actual fraud in another. To concede the right of even a regularly appointed Election Board to select a polling place at their own pleasure is to concede more than the law intends, except it be shown that a change is absolutely necessary, in which case a regular method of proceeding is laid down, the requirements of which were totally ignored in the instance under consideration. To allow such changes is to acknowledge a dangerous prerogative, even though no harm was intended—as no doubt was the fact in this instance—because courts of law must pass on such cases according to abstract facts, paying but little or no regard to the possible fact that no fraud ensued or was intended.

CONCERNING PRE-EMPTION AND HOMESTEAD CLAIMS.

As the requirements of the homestead and pre-emption laws are but imperfectly understood by many persons interested therein, we present a synopsis of the rulings of the Commissioner as given in his report for 1869.

The object of the pre-emption and homestead statutes is to secure the development of the public lands by actual and permanent settlement Therefore claimants under either of these statutes must show actual and continuous residence from the inception of the claim to its final consummation. He must clearly identify himself with the premises by actual improvements and cultivation (this last condition may, in certain cases, be waived for a period of time not less than six months). An occasional visit to the claim while living elsewhere, following some calling or profession for a livelihood, is not considered a fulfillment of the law, even when a few acres are cultivated or other improvements made. Nor can a claimant have other parties to effect these improvements and maintain his own possession by occasional visits, merely to prove his occupation of the premises.

The pre-emptor must prove six months actual and continuous residence on his claim before he can be permitted to prove up his pre-emption or commute a homestead. An exception may be made when he can prove an extent of actual improvements sufficient to establish the fact that he is a permanent and bona fide settler. The local land officers are particularly enjoined not to permit any entries not in compliance with the first named requirement, unless the exceptional condition is proven by at least two responsible witnesses. To recapitulate:

No entries or commutations can be permitted under these statutes unless a six months' continuous residence and bona fide settlement is satisfactorily established.

To permit an entry before the expiration of the limited time (six months) would practically nullify the law intended to give the land to actual settlers only, and not to speculators. To permit "short" entries would be to simply throw unoffered lands open to private entry, and a decided violation of the law.

Any person, otherwise qualified, has the right, if not previously exercised, to secure land under the two statutes to the extent of 320 acres, viz.: one quarter by homestead and one by pre-emption entry. But for the information of numbers who think otherwise, it must be distinctly understood that both rights cannot be exercised at one and the same time. An actual residence of not less than six months is required to perfect a pre-emption or to commute a homestead, and as one person cannot reside on two different quarters at the same time, he must, in order to exhaust his rights and obtain 320 acres of land, first consummate or commute his homestead before he can take a pre-emption claim, or prove up on the latter before an application for a homestead can be entertained.

By keeping these facts in mind and governing themselves accordingly, settlers desiring to obtain titles to public lands in the shortest possible period, will not only save themselves useless trouble and expense, but secure the desired object.

State Fair.

The California Agricultural Fair will open at Sacramento on the 15th instant and continue six days. The indications are that it will be the largest and most satisfactory exhibition that has ever taken place in the State. The grounds have been enlarged on the east side of the park. There will be an abundance of room for all who may attend to witness the races from any point on the track.

CONTESTED LAND CASES.

One A. G. Dallas has brought suit before the Register and Receiver of the Land Office in San Francisco, against thirty-three pre-emptors who have made settlement upon the "Albion Grant," which was originally claimed as a grant by said Dallas, but which was finally rejected. He now claims 10,785 acres under the act of Congress which provides that where persons, in good faith and for a valuable consideration, have purchased lands of Mexican grants, etc., which grants have been subsequently rejected, such person has the first right of purchase at Government price. The pre-emptors have made extensive and valuable improvements on their 160 acre claims, and Dallas claims to have expended $75,000 on the tract for the same purpose. The case has been on trial since the 18th of August, and after the land officers have passed upon it, an appeal no doubt will be taken, and in the nature of all these contested land cases months may and probably will elapse before a final decision is reached.

All the evidence is written down in long hand, and after the Register and Receiver render a decision, the evidence and conclusions of the Register and Receiver are transmitted to the Commissioner of the General Land office for his determination. When a case is decided by the Commissioner an appeal can be taken to the Secretary of the Interior, and this is the course pursued in nearly all contested cases. It would be too much to expect that either the Commissioner or the Secretary could find time to fully examine the mass of testimony presented in the numerous cases brought before them, therefore such examinations, except in cases of great magnitude, are entrusted to the clerks in the respective offices. For these and other reasons the Supreme Court of the United States has frequently determined that decisions rendered by the Register and Receiver, the Commissioner or the Secretary are not final or absolutely binding upon the parties; but if these officers err in their judgment or otherwise, by which error the rights of one contestant is taken away from him, the rightful claimant may go into the State Courts and litigate that which has already been determined by these officers. This often results in great hardships to land litigants, which Congress could obviate by the passage of a law similar to that in mining cases, allowing contestants or claimants the right to transfer contested cases, in the first instance, to the United States or State courts for adjudication, with the right of jury trial of disputed facts. Such a law would curtail the circuitous routine of the Land Department, which seems illy adapted as now managed to determine important land questions, save valuable time, and relieve litigants of the great expense attending the present practice.

Satisfactory.

The result of the election is eminently satisfactory in these particulars: First, that it is a disastrous defeat to the monopolists in general. Second, that Bully Fowler, of Tulare, with all his selfish arrogance and anti-progressive doctrines, is elected by a large majority—to stay at home. Third, that Henry Edgerton "gets away" with the railroad fraternity right in their own stronghold.

Butler Ahead.

The latest news in relation to political affairs in Massachusetts is to the 9th instant, and to the effect that Butler has 275 delegates to 269 for Washburne. This count, however, gives all doubtful and contested delegations to Butler, so the final result may be in favor of Washburne.

Vasquez and his Gang.

This gang of murderers and robbers have been traced to Elizabeth Lake. Sheriff Adams was in close pursuit and expected to be joined by Sheriff Rowland, of Los Angeles, on the 6th instant. The day after Vasquez was seen at the lake, Adams was within six miles of the lake then.

Title IV, Part I, Penal Code.

SECTION 41. Every person charged with the performance of any duty under the provisions of any law of this State relating to elections who wilfully neglects or refuses to perform it, or who in his official capacity knowingly and fraudulently acts in contravention or violation of any of the provisions of such law is, unless a different punishment for such acts or omission is prescribed by this Code, punishable by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the State Prison not exceeding five years or by both.

SEC. 42. Every person who wilfully causes, procures or allows himself to be registered in the Great Register of any county, knowing himself not to be entitled to such registration, is punishable by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the County Jail or State Prison not exceeding one year, or both. In all cases where, on the trial of a person charged with any offense under the provisions of this section, it appears in evidence that the accused stands registered in the Great Register of any county without being qualified for such registration, the Court must order such registration to be canceled.

SEC. 43. Every person who, after being required by the Board of Judges at any election, refuses to be sworn, or who, after being sworn, refuses to answer any pertinent question propounded by such Board, touching his right or the right of any other person to vote, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 44. Every person summoned to appear and testify, before any Board of Registration, who wilfully disobeys such summons, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 45. Every person not entitled to vote, who fraudulently votes, and every person who votes more than once at any one election, or knowingly hands in two or more tickets folded together, or changes any ballot after the same has been deposited in the ballot box, or adds, or attempts to add any ballot to those legally polled at any election, either by fraudulently introducing the same into the ballot box before or after the ballots therein have been counted, or adds to or mixes with, or attempts to add to or mix with, the ballots lawfully polled, other ballots, while the same are being counted or canvassed, or at any other time, with intent to change the result of such election, or allows another to do so when in his power to prevent it, or carries away, or destroys, or knowingly allows another to carry away or destroy, any poll list, ballot box, or ballots lawfully polled, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for not less than two nor more than seven years.

SEC. 46. Every Inspector, Judge, or Clerk of an election, who, previous to putting the ballot of an elector in the ballot box, attempts to find out any name on such ballot, or who opens, or suffers the folded ballot of any elector which has been handed in to be opened or examined previous to putting the same into the ballot box, or who makes or places any mark or device on any folded ballot with the view to ascertain the name of any person for whom the elector has voted, or who, without the consent of the elector, discloses the name of any person which such Inspector, Judge or Clerk has fraudulently or illegally discovered to have been voted for by such elector, is punishable by fine, not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars.

SEC. 50. Every person who forges or counterfeits returns of an election purporting to have been held at a precinct, town, or ward where no election was in fact held, or wilfully substitutes forged or counterfeit returns of election in the place of the true returns, for a precinct, town or ward where an election was actually held, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for a term not less than two nor more than ten years.

SEC. 51. Every person who wilfully adds to, or subtracts from, the votes actually cast at an election, in any returns, or who alters such returns, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for not less than one nor more than five years.

SEC. 52. Every person who aids or abets in the commission of any of the offenses mentioned in the four preceding sections, or who, being present at or cognizant of the commission of either of such offenses, does not give information thereof as soon as practicable to the District Attorney or Grand Jury of the proper county, or to some Justice of the Peace of such county, is punishable by imprisonment in the County Jail for the period of six months, or in the State Prison not exceeding two years.

SEC. 53. Every person who, by force, threats, menaces, bribery, or any corrupt means, either directly or indirectly attempts to influence any elector in giving his vote, or to deter him from giving the same, or attempts by any means whatever to awe, restrain, hinder or disturb any elector in the free exercise of the right of suffrage, or furnishes any elector wishing to vote, who cannot read, with a ticket, informing or giving such elector to understand that it contains a name written or printed thereon different from the name which is written or printed thereon, or defrauds any elector at any such election, by deceiving and causing such elector to vote for a different person or any office than he intended or desired to vote for; or who, being Inspector, Judge, or Clerk of any election, while acting as such, induces or attempts to induce, any elector, either by menace or reward, or promise thereof, to vote differently from what such elector intended or desired to vote, he is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 54. Every person who, with intent to promote the election of himself, or any other person, either:

1. Furnishes entertainment at his expense to any meeting of electors previous to or during an election;

2. Pays for, procures, or engages to pay for any such entertainment;

3. Furnishes or engages to pay or deliver any money or property for the purpose of procuring the attendance of voters at the polls, or for the purpose of compensating any person for procuring attendance of voters at the polls, except for the conveyance of voters who are sick or infirm;

4. Furnishes or engages to pay or deliver any money or property for any purpose intended to promote the election of any candidate, except for the expenses of holding and conducting public meetings for the discussion of public questions, and of printing and circulating ballots, handbills, and other papers previous to such election;

—Is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 55. Every person who, being a candidate at any election, offers or agrees to appoint or procure the appointment of any particular person to office as an inducement or consideration to any person to vote for, or procure or aid in procuring the election of such candidate, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 56. Every person not being a candidate, who communicates any offer made in violation of the last section to any person with intent to induce him to vote for, or to procure or aid in procuring the election of the candidate making the offer, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 57. (§84, 85, 86). Every person who gives or offers a bribe to any officer or member of any legislative caucus, political convention, committee, primary election, or political gathering of any kind, held for the purpose of nominating candidates for offices of honor, trust, or profit in this State, with intent to influence the person to whom such bribe is given or offered to be more favorable to one candidate than another, and every person, member of either of the bodies in this section mentioned, who receives or offers to receive any such bribe, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison not less than one nor more than fourteen years.

SEC. 58. Every person who by threats, intimidations, or unlawful violence wilfully hinders or prevents electors from assembling in public meeting for the consideration of public questions, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 59. Every person who wilfully disturbs or breaks up any public meeting of electors or others, lawfully being held for the purpose of considering public questions, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 60. Every person who makes, offers, or accepts any bet or wager upon the result of any election, or upon the success or failure of any person or candidate, or upon the number of votes to be cast either in the aggregate or for any particular candidate, or upon the vote to be cast by any person, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 61. Every person who wilfully violates any of the provisions of the laws of this State relating to elections is, unless a different punishment for such violation is prescribed by this Code, punishable by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars or by imprisonment in the State Prison not exceeding five years, or by both.

The Highest Yet.

We published a short time since Mr. Goodyear's account of his own and Mr. Belshaw's conclusions in regard to Mount Whitney, showing conclusively that a neighboring peak overtopped Whitney by several hundred feet. Mr. Goodyear thought an ascent of the high peak impracticable, or nearly so, but A. H. Johnson, C. D. Begole and John Lucas, of Lone Pine, have demonstrated the fact that its summit can be attained. On the 17th of August these gentlemen were on the summit of Mount Whitney. The other peak was evidently the highest, and they resolved to go to its top. The next day they started, and passing over two deep canyons, spending the entire day in the labor, they finally succeeded in reaching its highest point, and have the honor of being the first to stand on the greatest elevation in the United States. They gave it the name of "Fisherman's Peak," which is better than some of those far-fetched, worn out classical cognomens, but hardly as elevated in character as the loftiest peak in Uncle Samuel's dominions would seem to deserve. There is much in a name after all, and if one distinctive of something in Inyo county had been selected for this mountain it would have done more to introduce the county in which it stands to the notice of the world than a—four line newspaper advertisement. The summit is of granite and flat-topped. Water was found in a natural basin in the rock and ice and snow around about. The party built a monument to commemorate what there is good reason to believe was the first visit ever made by white men to the spot. The ascent was made from the southwest and the descent nearly west. Both routes were very steep, not to say dangerous, and most laborious, as the party had to climb along the sharp, serrated crests of the rocky "ribs" on the mountain side. But the trip was made without accident, and is well worth recording. We understand that W. L. Hunter, of Cerro Gordo, and another gentlemen of science, sent out by Prof. Whitney, have started to make the ascent with the view of making instrumental observations.

Sudden Death.

Lee Rodgers, a young man well known in this vicinity, died very suddenly and unexpectedly at about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He had been complaining of a general soreness throughout his body, and chest particularly, for a day or two, but was around town as usual. About noon he bought some apples at Rowley's store, and remarked, "I guess these will finish me." He went to the Headquarters Saloon and laid down on a long seat next the wall and apparently went to sleep. In about an hour W. J. Lake and G. W. Brady, the only parties present, observed him breathe and make a noise as if from nightmare. He made no response to one or two calls intended to wake him up, and going to him Brady found that he was dying. He started immediately for Dr. Ward, just across the street, but when the Dr. reached the saloon Rodgers had ceased to breathe or move. Coroner Lank held an inquest, during which the Dr. gave it as his opinion that death was occasioned by apoplexy, and a verdict was rendered accordingly. Deceased was a native of Texas, and, as shown by the Great Register, was nearly 26 years of age. He has been a resident of this county for about three years.

A Suggestion.

In the absence of a better plan, suppose that the few remaining members of Independence Engine Company use the money in their hands in purchasing the hand fire engine now lying dismantled at Aurora? If our property owners will agree to furnish a place to house it and pay for repairs on the machine, say $75, we think the matter can be arranged. The works of the engine—a third-class Button & Blake—are of such nature that they must be as good as new, and if the machine were properly handled it might save our town from destruction—at any rate it would undoubtedly lead to the organization of a strong company which would in time become able to purchase a more complete apparatus.

Will Celebrate.

The Mexican population of Lone Pine and vicinity are making preparations for a grand celebration of the 63d anniversary of Mexican Independence, which occurs on the 16th instant. Besides the usual proceedings we understand there is to be a bear and bull fight, a rooster pulling and other vacquero displays, to be followed by a ball in the evening. For all fond of such displays, this occasion offers greater inducements than anything of the kind we have yet had in this county. If circumstances permit, this establishment will have a representative there, and a number of others in this place will attend.

Under Steam

The Lida Mill has been under steam constantly since the settlement of the law suit, and is shipping bullion at an encouraging rate.

That Accident.

We are in receipt of a couple of letters from Cerro Gordo complaining of our mention of the recent shooting accident as being "inexcusably careless." By the writers these words seem to be contorted into something else than meaning the affair was accidental, and the following correct account is given to show that it was an accident, we suppose: "John Eddy is my barkeeper; he has been with me for ten months, and there is no better man than he in the State. The accident happened in this way: I have a Smith & Wesson pistol, which is kept in the room where Eddy sleeps. A man who came from Columbus has one like it, and the two went into the room to examine the pistols. The one that Eddy had in his hand went off, and the ball passed through a partition and into another room, where it struck the hoop of a barrel; glancing off, it passed through a window, making a perfectly round hole in the glass. Murphy was sitting on a bench outside the house, and received the ball in his back—that is to let you know that it was purely accidental. There was another man sitting beside of him, and if the ball had not struck the barrel I have no doubt but that it would have killed him, from the direction it took. I am happy to say that the wounded man is recovering, and will be up in a couple of days."

Personals.

John Simpson, who for several years helpedt to put Cerro Gordo in its present shape, arrived here just before election day, coming from Mokelumne Hill, where for several months past he has been engaged in a hydraulic enterprise. Thos. Laspeyere, Esq., candidate for District Judge, has gone to Kern. Judge Reed, the present popular incumbent, and candidate for re-election, starts northward in a day or two. Eph. Harrington has ganged awa' to Arizona. W. H. Van Arsdale, Rockwell Loomis, Loney Munzinger, and divers other persons from the lower end of the county, and not on the Grand Jury, also W. A. Baker and J. W. McMurry, from the other direction, have been among us in the past few days. As an offset in full, Bennett and Mulkey have gone to take a look at the folks about Bishop Creek, and "Boss" Earl has gone to Oakland and headquarters to explain how the thing really did happen; that it was the bull that got the best of the locomotive after all, the last being left much the nastiest, if it was occasioned by an error of judgment on the part of the other.

Insurance.

Mr. John Fowler, agent for the Continental Life, and State Investment Fire and Marine, Insurance Companies, is paying this section a visit. We consider the Continental one of the most reliable and worthy life insurance companies doing business on this coast. We have no personal knowledge of the State Investment, but from the character of the agent, have no doubt it is all right. Mr. Fowler is taking observations in the interest of himself and others desirous of starting a smelting operation in some of our galena districts.

New Store for Lone Pine.

Messrs. R P. Serrano and R. Bilderrain, of Los Angeles, are preparing to commence an extensive merchandising business in Lone Pine. Mr. Serrano is a brother-in-law of our old friend Dr. Gelcich, and from all accounts he and his partner, both young men, will prove a real acqusition both to the business and social affairs of Lone Pine, and the county. They have an extensive assortment of goods soon to arrive, and when fairly opened out they will proffer inducements sufficient to justify a call from all classes of customers.

The Largest Yet

Mr. M. S. Clark has placed us under obligations for a box of the very largest peaches we have seen this season. Twelve of average size weighed just four pounds and a half. If all the Salt River candidates would come to the center in this manner, it would relieve some regrets for the neccessity of their saline trip.

In Luck.

Henry M. Isaacs, who has just been re-elected County Treasurer, was the recipient a few days ago of a very handsome present from "hold Hengland" in the shape of a sight draft on the Bank of California, San Francisco, for some thousands of dollars. The bequest of some bloated relative, we presume.

Opened Out.

Louis Cohen has purchased the interest of L. Wood in the Wood & Cohen store, and now proposes to restock it with everything in the way of general merchandise that the market demands. Mr. Cohen has established a reputation as a most liberal dealer, and deserves a full share of patronage.

Dentistry.

Dr. Allison, late of San Francisco, has located himself for a few days only at the Blaney House, where he holds himself in readiness to perform all dental operations in the very best style and at satisfactory rates.

The Orleans Hotel.

Mr. J. P. Taylor has re-opened this favorite hotel, and invites a share of patronage. The Orleans is one of the pioneer institutions of Lone Pine, and has always rated as one of the best.

Fencing Material.

G. W. Todd, at his place in the foot hills west of town, has a lot of fencing posts and rails for sale.

Los Angeles.

With but one or two unimportant exceptions, the People's ticket carry the day in Los Angeles city and county.

Camp Independence—Meteorological Record.

The post of Camp Independence was selected and established July 4th, 1862, in conformity with the Act of Congress of March 3, 1853. The troops were temporarily withdrawn August 6th, 1863, but it was reoccupied in March, 1865, and is at present garisoned by Company "D," 12th U. S. Infantry, commanded by Captain Alexander B. MacGowan. The opinion of the United States Attorney General, George H. Williams, as published in General Orders No. 65, dated War Department, Adjutant General's Office, Washington, June 12th, 1873, might be interesting to those claiming land within one mile of the military reservations, which no doubt the Post Commander will show to anyone interested therein. We will add here that the Commissioner of the General Land Office has instructed the local land officers to permit no homestead or other entries within the prescribed limits, except where settlement dated prior to the military selection

We are under obligations to Captain MacGowan for the following meteorological record, compiled from the Post records, giving the daily average temperature, by months, for a period of several years:

Report of Grand Jury.

To the Hon. the County Court of the County of Inyo, September Term, A. D. 1873: We the undersigned, Grand Jurors of the county of Inyo for the term of Court aforesaid, beg leave to submit our final report as follows:

We have found one true bill of indictment for grand larceny. We have ignored two cases, there not being (in our opinion) sufficient evidence to justify a trial by jury.

We recommend that the outhouse near the Court House be removed from its present location, it now rendering the occupation of two of the principal rooms of the Court House intolerable. We also recommend that the prison cells of the Court House be more thoroughly ventilated. We further recommend the Hon. Board of Supervisors to take such measures as may be requisite to secure the trees now planted in the Court House yard from destruction by animals running at large.

We find that there are now confined in the County Jail three prisoners, to-wit: One held on a charge of grand larceny, and two under sentence of a court of a Justice of the Peace.

We have examined the County Hospital, and find that the patients therein are properly attended. Yet we respectfully suggest that the Board of Supervisors exercise more care in ascertaining the claim of persons to the benefit of this public charity. While we do not object to any justly entitled thereto, we do insist that it should be extended to no others.

We have examined the official transactions of the several county officers, and find each and all of them to be correct, so far as we are able to ascertain.

WM. L MOORE,
Foreman of the Grand Jury.

Its Complexion.

The indications are that our next Legislature will have a political complexion about as follows: Senate—Republicans, 21; Democrats, 13; Independents, 6. Assembly—Republicans, 27; Democrats, 26; Independents and doubtful, 27. On joint ballot—Republicans, 48; Democrats, 41; Independents, 31. The next U. S. Senator will doubtless be either Booth or Casserly, with the chances decidedly in favor of the former.

Result in San Francisco.

All of the "Dolly Varden" (Peoples') candidates for the Legislature were elected in San Francisco, except Washington Bartlett for Senator. Cockerill defeats Crowley for Chief of Police Otis, Dolly Varden, is elected Mayor. McKibben, ditto, ditto, for Sheriff. Ryan, Democrat, beats Murphy for District Attorney. Roach and Hallidie are the Senators elect.

—There's a poor fellow at B——who says, "It's working between meals that is killing me."

Desperate and Fatal Shooting.

Andy Fueget, a carpenter, and Jack White, a miner and prospector, both former residents of this city and Gold Hill, shot and killed each other at Truckee, about 9 o'clock last night. The immediate cause of the bloody conflict is not known. Fuguet was standing on the sidewalk near an alley way between two houses opposite the Depot Hotel, when White came out from the alley. It seems the shooting commenced on both sides almost simultaneously, and, as far as yet known, without a word from either. White fell from the effects of the first shot and rolled off the sidewalk into the gutter. His first shot, however, had taken effect in the body of his antagonist, and after firing four shots Fuguet fell to the sidewalk. Raising up he fired two more shots into the seemingly lifeless body of White, when the latter, by a desperate effort, raised himself upon his elbow, took deliberate aim, and shot Fuguet through the stomach. The latter remarked in a quiet, subdued tone: "That settles it," and fell over dead. White had previously fired four shots after falling. He was still alive but was dying when our informant left, having been shot through the lungs, bowels, liver and bladder.—Virginia Chronicle, Sept. 6.

His Life for Money.

Prof. Ballerer, who was advertised to walk across Niagara river, below the falls, on a tight rope, and then jump from the rope into the middle of the river, a distance of 150 feet, performed the feat with success a few days ago. A boat was at hand to pick him up when he rose, which was done. He was not injured in the least, and proposes to repeat the feat two days each week during the season.

A Rough Gone Hence.

On the 6th instant, in a saloon on Kearny street, S. F., Dwyer, the well known pugilist, and Jack Harrington, alias Happy Jack, got into a fight. Blows were exchanged, when the proprietor of the saloon ordered them out. On the sidewalk the fight was resumed, when Harrington plunged a bowie-knife into Dwyer's breast and ran away. Dwyer died in a few minutes. Harrington has since been arrested, and after examination had, discharged from custody.

PRIVATE HOSPITAL.

THE SUBSCRIBER TAKES PLEASURE IN announcing to the people of Inyo county that he has purchased and fitted up as a hospital the Beaudry Hotel Building, adjoining the military post at Camp Independence. All the adobes have been removed and their place applied with lumber; the grounds are handsomely laid out with shade trees and clover, and have a pure running stream of mountain water.

There is an excellent bath room and dispensary attached. One room is set aside for the county's sick, leaving ample room for private patients. The Northern Stage Line passes the door, and the place is easy of access from the town of Independence. The charges for board and lodging do not exceed those of any hotel or boarding house, offering equal accommodations, and the establishment has the advantage of having competent help and medical advice always at hand, being close by the house of the post surgeon at the camp.

MEDICAL.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE, FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.

No Person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittant Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most Wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Extravagance in National Affairs.

[From The San Francisco Chronicle.]

It is the duty of the people to watch with jealous care the expenditures of the Government. The journal that will excuse extravagance because done by its party fails in its obligations to that party and the whole country. When Gen. Grant was a candidate for renomination, and after his nomination, when running for the second Presidential term, we heard a great deal of retrenchment and reform. Every month we were shown Treasury statements of enormous reductions of the public debt—from eight to twelve millions per month. We were retiring the principal and were promptly paying the interest. One hundred millions per annum was the rate at which our great debt was disappearing. Republican statisticians and party orators prophesied its payment in two decades, when we were to become a united, happy and untaxed people.

Gen. Grant had not entered upon his second term when the nation was informed that this rate of payment could not be maintained, and it is probable that the first fiscal year of Gen. Grant's second term will show no decrease of the national debt.

In fact—and it is a remarkable fact—the expenditures of the year 1873 exceed those of 1872 by over $25,000,000. The total expenditures of 1872 were $277,517,962, while those of 1873 were $290,345,245. The difference being $12,827,283 and the reduction of interest $12,607,141—the War Department cost about $11,000,000 more than last year; the navy over $2,000,000 additional, while the additional expenditure for civil and miscellaneous purposes was over $12,000,000.

The reduction of the debt in 1873 was $43,667,630 as against about $100,000,000 for the year 1872. The expenditures for civil and miscellaneous purposes exceeded the estimate made by the Secretary of the Treasury over $13,000,000. It costs over $180,000,000 to carry on this Government for a year. Another remarkable fact that while our expenditures have been increased our revenues have been decreased. The total receipts from customs, internal revenue, sales of public lands and miscellaneous sources were, in 1872, $374,106,867, and for 1873, $333,738,204. This is certainly a bad showing for the Administration—a difference of over $40,000,000 between this year and last. Such figures do not make a good showing for Gen. Grant to become a candidate for the third term.

American Inventions.

The cotton gin, without which the machine spinner and power loom would be helpless, is American. The power shuttle, which permits an unlimited enlargement of the breadth of the web, is American. The planing machine is American. Navigation by steam is American. The mower and reaper are American. The rotary printing presses are American. The hot air engine is American. The sewing machine is American. The machine manufacture of wool-cards is American. The whole india-rubber industry is American. The band saw originated, we believe, in America. The machine manufacture of horse shoes is American. The sand blast, of which the large capabilities are yet to be developed, is American. The gauge lathe is American. The only successful composing machine for printers is American. The grain elevator is American. The artificial manufacture of ice was originally invented by Prof. A. S. Twining, an American. The electro-magnet was invented and immediately after its invention was first practically applied in transmitting telegraph signals, by Prof. Joseph Henry, an American. The telegraphic instrument introduced a few years later into public use, which has since obtained universal acceptance, was invented by Samuel F. B. Morse, an American.—Boston Journal of Chemistry.

—Persons who are liable to be seasick are recommended, on the eve of a sea voyage, to take mucilage with their food to make it stick.

—Crusty says that the list of marriages in newspapers ought to be put under the head of "ring frauds."

Honolulu.

A Honolulu letter of a recent date gives some interesting items of news and gossip among the Sandwich Islanders. There is said to be little doubt but that a reciprocity treaty, negotiated on a purely commercial basis, would meet with great favor. But the native is frightened at the idea of ceding any portion of his territory to the white man. There are a great many political meetings being held throughout the Islands, and the native speakers are violent in their denunciation of any policy that looks to the cessation of Pearl river or any other harbor in these Islands to the American or any other Government. The Government having assumed entire control of the leper settlement, have done and are doing all they can to isolate there the poor victims of the scourge. The laws in that respect are well enforced, but as they do not go farther than to provide for the isolation of the well-defined cases, there are many infected subjects still at large who are capable of spreading the disease before they are finally branded with its outward symptoms. Indeed, there is one stage of the disease that is characterized by an increase of plumpness and smoothness of the skin, giving an agreeable lustre to the eyes, splendid color to the complexion, and an enhanced vivacity to the appearance that renders the subject, especially if it be a woman, very alluring. The prospects of a large sugar crop is said to be very good, this year's product being estimated at three million pounds. The treasury has plenty of money on hand just now, and the Minister of Finance is declining any more deposits. Already the estimates are being made up for the expenditure for the next two years, and a reduction of the military appropriation, $60,000, the doing away with several sinecures, and a decided tendency toward retrenchment is manifested.

A Brilliant Star.

A lady in Paducah was recently awakened from a sound sleep by a noise in her chamber. It was quite dark, but she could see an immense fire bug performing eccentric gyrations around the bed, accompanied by a noise which sounded altogether different from that made by any insect she had ever seen. She was startled at first, but soon recovering she watched her opportunity and made a sudden grab at the large, brilliant star as it approached. She caught something and held on to it, while at the same moment the familiar voice of her husband was heard muttering indistinct anathemas against bats and other vermin. The lady found it was her husband's nose she held. He had been out to the Lodge, and somehow fallen asleep, during which a mischievous brother had painted his nose with phosphorous, causing it to shine out in the darkness like a jack o' lantern.

A Ridiculous Mess.

A Keokuk, Iowa lady, while engaged in the pursuit of her domestic duties, encountered a mouse in the flour barrel. Now, most ladies under similar circumstances would have uttered a few feminine shrieks and then sought safety in the garret. But this one possesses more than the ordinary degree of female courage. She summoned the hired man and told him to get the shotgun, call the bull dog and station himself at a convenient distance. Then she climbed half way up stairs and commenced to punch the flour barrel vigorously with a pole. Presently the mouse made its appearance and started across the floor. The bull dog at once went in pursuit. The man fired and the dog dropped dead. The lady fainted and fell down the stairs, and the hired man, thinking that she was killed and fearing that he would be arrested for murder, lit out, and has not been seen since. The mouse escaped.

The Milky Way.

Eighteen million suns furnish the light for the milky way, which is the greatest feature of our heavens. How far separate these suns may be we know not, but they are so distant from us that light, traveling with its incredible speed, is ages in reaching the earth. One astronomer said he had gone back in the milky way so far as would require 330,000 years for the transmission of its light. Whether the telescope has allowed the human eye to gauge it more or less, the fact stands that the bounds of the Universe are unmeasurable.

A Problem.

The Professor of Natural Philosophy in a certain college gave the class a problem to think over during the night and answer the next day. The question was this: "If a hole were bored through the center of the earth from side to side, and a ball dropped into it, what motions would the ball pass through, and how would it come to a state of rest?" The next morning a fellow was called up on this philosophical problem. "What answer do you give this question," asked the Professor. "Well, really," said he, "I have not thought of the main question, but of the preliminary ones. How are you going to get that hole through?"

Where Is He?

Information is wanted of Albert Peterson, a native of Norway, aged about 35 years; last heard of at Northrup's, in this county, in June, 1873. Anyone knowing of his whereabouts will please communicate with Postmaster Street, of Sonora.—Tuolumne Independent.

RELIGION AND SCHOOLS.

Some Catholic clergymen in New York appear to be entering upon a crusade against our system of public schools. Two prominent priests have publicly and emphatically pronounced against the public school system, and their utterances are worthy of serious attention. Catholic clergymen are not in the habit of speaking thoughtlessly on any subject, and on so important a one as this it is safe to say that they spoke by direction of their superiors. Moreover, the arrival from Rome of a number of teachers who are to be disseminated throughout the country in institutions destined to supplant the public schools among our Catholic population, shows that an earnest and well matured scheme is on foot to enable the poor among the faithful to acquire a rudimentary education without coming in contact with the hated and condemned public schools.

If the public schools were used in any manner to inculcate any sectarian doctrines, whether Catholic, Protestant, Jew, Mohammedan or what not, any one in preference to another, there might be ample justification for an attempt to break the system. But as everything of that nature is explicitly prohibited both by law and usage, even to the extent of excluding the Bible, upon which the two most important religions in this country are based, this movement in opposition seems to have a deeper motive than the spiritual welfare of the rising generation. There is still another consideration to give weight to the belief that religion and politics are to be made synonomous terms, and that is the fact that while children of all sects and creeds are at liberty to attend public schools, and on a perfect equality, none are compelled to do so. It is their unquestioned privilege to choose their own school, public, private, secular or sectarian.

The chief argument advanced against the present school system by these priests is that they are taxed for the support of a system that is inimical to their peculiar religious teachings. This latter point may be well taken, but certainly not because any other peculiar religious devotions are inculcated. In regard to the other, all sects are taxed alike for the support of a Government which in its principles of law and administration of the same, is constitutionally precisely the same as those governing public schools. If objectionable in the one case it must be in the other, and any movement made on religious grounds to subvert one, must have for an object the ultimate subversion of the other, and will be so considered by nine out of ten of the so-called heretics of all beliefs, very few of whom care one straw what paths others may choose to reach heaven, or, not to put too fine a point on it, whether they choose any at all. They want no predominating religion of any sort, and this much may be set down as an absolute fact, that if force of arms can prevent it, nothing of the kind in governmental affairs will ever be permitted in these United States.

That objectionable features exist in connection with our public schools we have no doubt; but we do not believe they are sufficient to warrant a demand for their total suppression. The heterogeneous and polyglot character of the population of the United States makes it a matter of absolute necessity that a common ground should exist, upon which these diverse and frequently antagonistic elements should meet, and, forsaking all past allegiances and prejudices, unite in the common bond of American citizenship. The public schools as at present organized, are admirably adapted to this purpose. The Protestant, Catholic, and Jew children can there meet and receive an education which will qualify them to discharge the duties of American citizenship, without interfering with their religious belief, with which the teachers do not meddle. If the schools are sectarian, American nationality would be a vain and empty word. Instead of Americans we would have a gathering of Protestants and Catholics, Jews and heathens, without cohesion or mutual affection or sympathy.

Concerning Titles to Lands Adjacent to Military Reservations.

The following opinion of the Attorney General of the United States is published for the information and government of all concerned:

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE, May 24, 1873.

Hon. WM. W. BELKNAP, Secretary of War, SIR—From the letter of the Acting Secretary of War of the 24th ultimo, and its inclosures, relative to the military post of Fort Reading, California, it appears that the post was established May 26, 1852, and garrisoned until April 1, 1856, when the troops were withdrawn, and that from the latter date until June 13, 1867, it was occupied but a few months, and, without further occupation by troops, was finally abandoned on the 6th of April, 1870, when the buildings pertaining to it were sold in pursuance of an order of the Secretary of War; of which abandonment notice was duly communicated to the General Land Office.

It further appears that no record can be found of any order of the President reserving lands for military purposes at this post, or that a reservation was in any way formally declared. It does not appear what extent was actually occupied and used; whether only so much as was embraced within the lines of the works, or a larger tract.

The 6th section of an act approved June 12, 1852, 11 Stat., 336, provides (with an exception of certain reservations in the State of Florida) for the repeal of "all existing laws or parts of laws which authorize the sale of military sites which are or may become useless for military purposes," and that "said lands shall not be subject to sale or pre-emption under any of the laws of the United States," and it is asked whether the facts above stated "are sufficient to constitute the post mentioned a military site within the meaning of this provision, so as to require the consent of Congress prior to its relinquishment and sale."

It is added that there are many places occupied as military sites which, as in this instance, are such "only by occupancy," the War Department desires a rule for its guidance in such cases.

Before the enactment of this provision Congress had, by the act of 1819, 3 Stat., 520, and by various special acts, devolved upon the Secretary of War the duty of selling useless or abandoned military sites. There having been question whether the act of 1819 applied to any such sites except those undisposed of at the time of its passage, an act was passed March 3, 1857, 11 Stat., 203, extending the provisions of the former act "to all military sites, or such parts thereof which are or may become useless for military purposes."

Finally, in consequence of the complaints as to the manner in which this authority to sell had been exercised, the provision in the act of 1858 was adopted, by which all such sites are reserved from sale or pre-emption until otherwise ordered by Congress. There is no discrimination in its terms as to the value, situation, or extent of the sites; it comprehends all military sites or reservations, no matter what their extent, whether embraced within the actual lines of a post or fort, or including in addition more or less of the surrounding lands.

In Wilcox vs. Jackson, 13 Peters, 513, it is held "that whensoever a tract of land shall have once been legally appropriated to any purpose, from that moment the land thus severed becomes severed from the mass of public lands, and that no subsequent law or proclamation could be construed to embrace it or operate upon it, although no reservation were made of it."

Attorney General Bates, in the case of the Rock Island Military Reservation, 10 Opinions, 365, decides that it was not in the power of the President to relinquish that reservation, and thus throw the island back into the general body of the public lands, without the consent of Congress.

So far as concerns military posts in the State of California, a clause in the 7th section of the act of March 3, 1853, entitled "An act to provide for the survey of public lands," etc., 10 Stat., p. 247, rendered the reservation of land outside of the lines of a fort or post, by executive authority, unnecessary. The clause read as follows: "And no person shall make a settlement or location upon any tract or parcel of land selected for a military post or within one mile of such post."

This provision in the act of 1853 would seem to leave no room for controversy as to Fort Reading. All settlements and locations by private parties are excluded not only from what is properly the military post, but from all land within one mile of it.

My opinion, therefore, is that Fort Reading is of that character of military sites contemplated in the 6th section of the act of June 12, 1858, and that the consent of Congress is necessary to its relinquishment and sale. Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

GEO. H. WILLIAMS, Attorney General.

Instructions in conformity with the foregoing, received at the Land Office here from the Commissioner, prohibit all filings, entries or purchases of land within a mile of the Post, no matter at what date the settlement may have been made—that is, previous or subsequent to the military occupation.

Clarence King.

This gentleman, who has earned notoriety as the exploder of the diamond humbug, passed through Visalia on Sunday last for the mountains. He had a multitude of instruments with him; and intends, we are told, to settle the status of Mount Whitney. Some of his weapons are so formidable, that would seem, if he does not find the little hillock in the right place, and just the right hight, he intends to fix it so as to comply with science. Even the mountains must comply with the status now-a-days.—Visalia Delta, Sept. 11.

Postal Treaty With Japan.

The new postal treaty with Japan has been officially signed by the President. The following is an abstract of the more important provisions: The mails shall be carried by the present steamers between San Francisco and Japan, or by others which may hereafter be designated; letters, newspapers and samples of merchandise may be carried; San Francisco and Yokohama shall be the exchange offices; no accounts shall be kept, and each country shall retain its own domestic postage; single rate letter postage shall be fifteen cents the half ounce, prepayment peremptory; delivery shall be free to destination; the rate of postage for single letters shall be reduced to twelve cents after the treaty has been in operation one year, the Japanese desiring during the first year to secure some revenue; newspaper postage two cents; there shall be postal communication between Shanghai and Japan at six cents single rate postage; European closed mail may be sent by the United States for two cents additional; passenger letters may be exchanged between Pacific steamers at ten cents; so long as the United States continues the present subsidy to the Pacific Mail steamers Japan agrees to pay the cost of transportation if mails are sent by other steamers.

Should we Annex the Sandwich Islands?

The Sandwich Islands do not offer favorable inducements for the emigration of American farmers or mechanics. It is probable that capital will be drawn thither more abundantly in time, to be used in sugar planting, and it is quite certain that this industry, prudently managed, in good locations, can be made sufficiently profitable to reward the risk. But a sugar plantation needs, at most, four or five white workmen besides the manager. For farming, in the American sense of the word, the islands are entirely unfit. To annex them, therefore, would be a blunder; for it would be to burden ourselves with an outlying territory of no use or value to our people, and containing a population not homogeneous with our own. It is probable that the future population of the islands will be a mixture of Chinese and Hawaiians, and that these will live happily there, and produce sugar and rice for export. The present government is mild, just and liked by the people. The natives are very strongly opposed to annexation; they have a strong feeling of nationality, and considerable jealousy of foreign influence, and annexation to our own or any other country would be without their consent.—Harper's Magazine.

The Sea Serpents.

The steadily recurring sea serpent, true to its reputation, has appeared again, but has this time thrown its pursuers off the track by making Lake Champlain the point of its visibility. The Whitehall Times, describing it, says: "As he rapidly swam away portions of his body, which seemed to be covered with bright, silver-like scales, glistened in the sun like burnished metal. From his nostrils he would occasionally spurt streams of water above his head to an altitude of about twenty feet. The appearance of his head was round and flat, with a hood spreading out from the lower part of it like a rubber cap often worn by mariners, with a cape to keep the water from running down the neck. His eyes were small and piercing, his mouth small and provided with two rows of teeth, which he displayed to his beholders." But he left no card, and the mystery is not lifted.

Fishing.

LONE PINE, Sept. 16.

EDITOR INDEPENDENT: As nearly everybody has been fishing this Summer, perhaps you would like to know who were there and what they did.

In the first place, the camp is named "Soda Springs." It is situated on the west side of Kern river, about 35 miles from Lone Pine. The springs are in a very pretty meadow, of say 20 acres. High mountains wall it in upon the west and the river skirts it on the east—about as pretty a place as one can find for a two months' recuperating camp. When we arrived there one afternoon about sundown, we found Mr. and Mrs. Mulkey, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. H. B Stewart, Mr Rockwell Loomis and Mrs. F. K. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ferguson, Mrs. Dodge, Miss Mattie Mulkey, Miss Carrie Joslin, Charley (of course we mean Charley Begole), Johnny Lucas, Peter Peerson, Dave Gibson, Dan Woodside, Al Johnson and wife, "Al." Briggs and "Sher." Stevens. If there were any whom we havn't mentioned we beg pardon, but the pressure of so many names, if more, would render our chances for Stockton favorable.

The day after we got there, there was a fishing match between Al Briggs and Sher Stevens. Result: Stevens caught one and Briggs one, but Briggs borrowed one of Horace Mulkey in order to claim a bet of—cigars on having captured the greater number of fish. The joke of the thing on Al is that he told Bill Covington of the trick he had played on Sher, and Bill, thinking that the gallon of cigars had been paid, told Sher about it, and he refuses to deliver, claiming the match a draw. The fish that Sher brought in was not a large one; in fact, it was "quite different"—a sort of a miniature fish. Sher said that though they might say he had caught "very little," they couldn't accuse him of not catching "any."

Paul Bennett was the most active man in camp. Up every morning before sunrise and off to the soda springs in order to drink, we don't know how much. And then the excursions he used to take—fishing, mountain climbing, etc., were mere exercise to Paul. He may think possibly that we exaggerate a little, but can't we prove it?

Our worthy Sheriff proved himself a mighty Nimrod, with his little gun and ramrod, by killing two or three deer. Peerson and Woodsides, also, can brag of their skill with the rifle, having played old Harry with every deer in range of their Henrys. Charley Begole and Johnny Lucas did a great deal of fishing and more eating, and demonstrated one fact—that a man can't "bust" by eating; they tried it and failed. But if you think a man's pants can't "bust" up there in those high countries, ask any man who was there. Hardly a man was on the grounds who, when his back was turned toward you, didn't look like a dark lantern with the slide out. It was delightfully funny to see that nearly every man, while talking to the ladies, sat down to do it.

We had raspberries and elder or alderberries enough to make shortcakes and pies; the only accident that happened to Rockwell Loomis was that he undertook to eat a piece of raspberry shortcake about a foot square, and got dismally stalled.

Two cows furnished milk for all the babies in camp, including yours truly.

There are drawbacks to some day's sport, but you laugh at 'em afterwards. For instance, it isn't very exhilerating to walk six or eight miles, wade the river three or four times, slip off a rock and strike the back of your head, get twenty-three fish hooks in your fingers and some in the seat of your pants, nearly step on a dozen rattlesnakes and scare yourself out of eleven or twelve year's growth, and finally at night get home wet, hungry and tired, with only one small fish and that so dry and soft that you can't clean it and have to throw it away, and then find that your bread is all out and that you'll have to make your supper on bacon alone, owing to your want of luck or lack of skill at fishing.

Charley Begole, Johnny Lucas and Al Johnson took a trip to the summit of the highest mountain in the range, and christened it "Fisherman's Peak." Some people are now trying to take the credit of their being the first there away from them, but they won't succeed.

Prof. Whitney's agent has just returned from the mountain, and finds fault with the people here for their lack of romance in calling it "Fisherman's Peak." Ain't it as romantic as "Whitney?" The fishermen who found it looked mighty romantic on their return to Soda Springs. Wonder who the old earthquake sharp thinks is running this country, anyhow?

A day or two more and Charley couldn't have come in at all—in the day time. His breeches were principally composed of bale rope.

Take the Summer all through, we had a delightful time. The ladies all got brown and stout, although there wasn't a bit of brown stout on the grounds.

A proposition is now on foot that the whole county go up, including the Board of Supervisors—the latter in order to give them a chance to get strong. If County Scrip would "go up" too, old County Finances would be strengthened likewise.

Will you sign the petition and go with us? Yours, piscatorially,

FISHERMAN.

Contesting the Honors.

CERRO GORDO, Sept. 16.

EDITOR INDEPENDENT: Your paper of the 13th instant contains a paragraph to the effect that A. H. Johnson, C. D. Begole and John Lucas ascended Mount Whitney proper. According to their own statement, they never was on the mountain. Abe Leyda, Wm. Crapo, Mr. Rebe, W. L. Hunter and myself are the only persons that ever were on the summit of the present Mount Whitney. Mr. Rebe took the altitude and found it to be over 15,000 feet, several hundred feet higher than Clarence King's Mount Whitney. Yours,

The Cottonwood Flume.

Over one-third or nearly four miles of this important work is now in running order, and but a week or two will elapse before all of the rugged and most difficult portion of the canyon from the head down will be passed and the wagon road reached, after which it will be comparatively plain sailing. As the work progresses all the material is sent down through the flume from the saw mill at the head, and though the grades are very steep in places, the flume works to perfection. Timbers 24 feet in length go down without the slightest difficulty. Flume sections or boxes 12 feet in length are put together at the mill, put in the water and are often ridden down upon by the men. In places the flume has a grade of four feet to twelve, and as may be inferred, boxes and men go down with fearful velocity, at times throwing water like a cannon shot. The greatest risk is in making landings, for which purpose temporary sidings are constructed, but so far no accidents have occurred to spoil the boys' fun in this sort of coasting. Col. Stevens was very fortunate in obtaining the services of such an efficient and hard-working engineer as Mr. A. V. Brown, who not only understands how to do the work in hand, but in the face of difficulties goes right along and does it, leaving no mistakes to correct or amendments to make. The flume, at the present rate of progress, will be completed to the lake shore before the middle of December next.

Will Go On.

Capt. MacGowan has received orders to go on and complete the work at the Post, and has the sum of $15,000 placed to his credit for the purpose. The instructions are to complete the buildings now under way, to build one or two more, to bring water into all of them through pipes, and do various other things in the way of improvements—so that he will have to use the funds at his disposal with great economy, and do most of the work with soldiers in order to carry out the plans. He will depend on citizens here, without sending to San Francisco, for all the help he feels justified in employing. Among other materials required will be about 100,000 feet of home lumber, and 10,000 feet of redwood.

Passed for a Patent.

Judge Gunnison has had some difficulty in getting his claims allowed for a patent on his valuable farm east of town, but he is now all right and feels satisfied accordingly. J. G. Payne made a cash entry of the tract (S½ Sec. 17, T. 7, R. 35) in June, 1870, and then sold it to the present owner. After the land office was removed to this place, the claim for a patent was suspended, by reason of insufficient proofs on the part of Payne. The case was turned over to Bennett & Gregg, who sent it up to the Board of Adjudication at Washington, which, on the 4th instant, returned it as passed for a patent.

Acquitted.

Antonio Albertio, the Mexican who for several weeks past has been quartered in the county jail on a charge of horse stealing, was indicted for the offense by the late Grand Jury. The case came up before Judge Hannah on Monday last. It appearing to the jury that there was no criminal intent on the part of the prisoner in the commission of the alleged crime, they brought in a verdict of not guilty, and the accused was accordingly discharged.

Lida and Gold Mountain.

The Austin company have commenced work on their mines at Gold Mountain. The mines in Sylvania district are looking exceedingly well, all the mine owners being hard at work and in the highest hopes. At Lida, Hiskey & Walker's mill is constantly running to its fullest capacity. The prospects of that section generally are better than they have been for a long time.

Supervisor Appointed.

Judge Hannah, last Saturday, appointed W. L. Hunter, Supervisor elect from the Third District, as Supervisor ad interim, it appearing that the present incumbent, Mr. Burroughs, has permanently removed from the county. Mr. Hunter, we are sorry to say, is confined to his house with sickness, so there will be no meeting of the Board before November 6.

Returned.

Mr. P. P. Gerrish, who has a contract for fitting up the Court Room for occupation, has just returned from a trip to Los Angeles, where he went some two weeks since to procure the furniture and material. He will proceed at once with the work, and we will guarantee that it will be done in a ship shape manner.

Telegraph Stage Line.

The Southern stage line has had a new outfit of horses and wagons, and under Mr. Thom's management, is giving perfect satisfaction to all its patrons. The teams on both the Cerro Gordo and Bakersfield routes are No. 1, and there is plenty of them to make time all the way through.

The Celebration.

Until late in the afternoon, when the procession actually started, the prospects for much of a turn out at the Mexican celebration at Lone Pine looked rather slim. Those resident at Cerro Gordo had resolved upon a little time of their own, so that instead of a hundred or two from that place, there was to be none at all. The day was unusually warm—too much so to make anybody feel very patriotically enthusiastic, and if it had been an American occasion for turning out to celebrate, prophecies of a dead failure would have been strictly in order, if not fully realized. But not so when the Mexicans have such affairs in hand. They go into the business with a vim and spirit of enjoyment far ahead of our people, who celebrate as a duty and "enthuse" only as a matter of business.

At about 3 P. M. the procession took up its line of march from the Mexican Hall, half a mile below town. It marched and countermarched through the town, returning again to the hall, when, at a late hour, the indoor exercises began. The number in line was a matter of no little surprise. Where so many came from was the query, after considering the previously deserted appearance of the streets. At the head rode and Assistant Marshals A. Cervantes and Rockwell Loomis, gaily scarfed and mounted, followed by the Mexican and American flags carried on horseback, the last carried by A. C. Harvey, Esq. Then a wagon filled with musicians, after which came a lofty chariot, very tastefully gotten up, and with its load of bright eyed Misses presenting a really beautiful appearance. In form, it rose from the front seven steps high, on the topmost of which, under a cross arch, was seated Miss Jenovera Romero, the Goddess of Liberty, and on those below her numerous maids of honor. Then came a long string of vehicles of all kinds, all loaded to the guards with people of various nationalities, and then horsemen and footmen in surprising numbers.

The parade ended, the exercises began in the hall. Dons F. S. Romero (the President of the Day), Y. Abarca, R. P. Serrano and —— Villalobos each delivering an oration in a style to elicit many "vivas."

The little Goddess of Liberty, Miss Romero declaimed an ode to the Mexican banner most gracefully. This was followed by a poetical recitation by Miss R. Arambrila, addressed to Freedom. Misses Dolores, Lopez and Manaruta Solazar sang the Mexican National Hymn in a most admirable manner, the sweet strains of the string band in the accompaniment giving the whole a peculiarly sweet and pathetic impressiveness. It was sundown, and as the concluding exercise of the day, all stood around the staff, and the Mexican flag was repeatedly dipped in response to an address in song and chorus and music by the band as it came to the ground, as a token that the celebration in form had come to a close.

THE BALL

passed off to the perfect satisfaction of everybody. The attendance amounted almost to a crush, but notwithstanding its cosmopolitan composition, the utmost decorum and politeness was observed from the beginning till the close after daylight on the following morning.

NOT A JENKINS.

We are no Jenkins, and therefore can only say a few of the ladies were elegantly dressed and very handsome, many more only passably so, and some yet with no pretensions to either, but unexceptionably all ladylike in manners and excellent dancers.

HOW TO MAINTAIN ORDER.

Even at a public ball like this the Mexicans insist on the strictest observances of the proprieties. Being free to all, it would seem like a difficult undertaking to keep meanly disposed persons from interfering, but they do it effectually. They suppress every disorderly demonstration with suddeness and dispatch. The offender finds himself lariated to a wagon wheel or sage brush, with ample time and opportunities allowed in which to cool his fevered brain in the fresh night air, and without fear of interruption until his overstrung nerves and excited brain have settled below zero. Other remedies are brought in requisition, but this is the most common among themselves.

THE BULL FIGHT.

Everyone has heard of Spanish bull fights, but few comparatively, even on this coast, have ever witnessed one. To these a description somewhat in detail may be interesting. The fight at Lone Pine was to have taken place on the 16th, but as the other observances continued until dark it was postponed until the evening of the next day.

THE ARENA

is a perfect circle, about one hundred feet in diameter, strongly built of posts and boards to a hight of seven or eight feet. About half the circle is surrounded with an amphitheater of seats, the lowest being at the top of the fence. Surrounding the whole and reaching from the highest seat to the ground, canvass was stretched to prevent the eyes of the impecunious outsiders from gazing at the sights within. Directly opposite each other were two gates wide enough to easily admit the passage of a horseman. Near one of these was a boxed apartment intended for the accommodation of Taurus before he was turned into the arena. This had a trap door at either end, and was so narrow that once in the bull could not turn around or "rig a purchase" to tear it to pieces, as, with a fair chance, he could easily do. The inside of the ring was soft and sandy, and entirely clear of obstructions or means of protection for the capeadors, save the guard planks, one for each cardinal point of the compass. These guards are made of two inch plank. They are about two and a half feet wide and stand a little over a foot from the main fence, so that a man can stand behind them. As an additional means of security for the capeadors, strong cleats were nailed to the fence, at convenient hights, upon which they can step and climb out when hard pressed.

GETTING READY.

In due time some three hundred persons or more, ourself among the rest, handed the gate keeper a token of our esteem, amounting to one dollar for each, and with some misgivings on account of the flimsy construction of the framework under them took our seats, awaiting for the play to begin. The weather was cloudy and comfortably cool, and everything propitious. The music struck up, and stepped into the ring. He was a most gorgeously arrayed and fearfully painted clown, and such a nose! It was painted its whole length a deep red, and was long enough to serve as a handle to turn some of the most execrable jokes any of our intimate friends ever indulged in without a total loss of self respect. How that arena could accommodate the bull and that nose at one and the same time was a query, but it was solved at last, as we shall presently see. Don Nosey doffed his tinseled cap, and opened his mouth and declaimed aloud in the most fussy manner, and then with graceful step he pirouetted to sweet music over the sand, then sang and declaimed and danced again, and swung that nose the while. Four young capeadors, each with his red flag, or capote, dressed in red jackets and pants, stepped in the ring, and they were soon followed by a young Mexican mounted on a fat but very slow motioned old work horse.

With music playing they executed a short walk around, under the lead of Don Nosey, soon after which Don Nosey hunted his hole behind the plank guards, immediately in front of our position. The horseman, with the most nonchalant air, backed his horse's tail close to the trap door from which the toro was to emerge, and with a light pole, iron pointed at one end, calmly waited for the door to be raised. Here we will remark that the bull, a lithe, broad-horned and savage three year old, had been placed in the trap the day before, and owing to this treatment, without food or water, felt himself in a most wicked frame of mind. The trap was raised, and in an instant after and without hesitating a moment dove straight for the horse. The rider planted his pole in the bull's forehead, and with this help and some vigorous spurring, the old horse managed to get out of the way. But Toro was for war quick and vigorous, and turned his attention to the nearest capeador with his red capote. This one was a tall, active fellow, and though the bull captured his flag, he got out of the way without difficulty. Toro, without stopping to take an observation, went for every capeador in turn, and by the dust that was kicked up and by the flashing of red flags it was plain to see that he was giving them any quantity of exercise. Failing, however, to strike anything more substantial than deceptive capotes, he ended the round long enough to take a view of his surroundings. They were not encouraging for anything but fight, and his own voice was STILL FOR WAR.

Directly in his front stood that unexcitable old horse with his nonchalant rider, and there he proceeded to wake up. He made a bellowing rush, met the pole as before, but smashing it short off, struck the horse full in the flank and sent the rider whirling to the ground, and right in his front. But he didn't follow up his advantage, so the dismounted chap clawed sand until he reached the fence, when he got safely on top of it. The horse, apparently unhurt but bearing a sort of an injured look, moved across the ring and paused to cogitate. A moment later the bull, paying no attention to his biped enemies, took a run of forty feet or more and struck the pensive horse square behind, lifting his hind feet about three feet clear of the ground. Toro then drew off and engaged one of the carpeadors, during which the gate was opened and the horse, thoroughly disgusted with the whole proceeding, hustled out. Beyond the concussion and injured dignity, the horse was unhurt, the shape of the bull's horns rendering them harmless except in case of a side blow.

MORE HONORS FOR EL TORO.

About this time Don Nosey, standing near his guard, did a very unwise thing. Wishing to display his agility and gorgeous attire, he executed some caperings, to all of which Toro paid no attention until his eye fell up that wonderful red nose. He felt cramped for room at once, and made a terrific rush to remove it. The nose disappeared behind the guard, but as it still glared through the cracks, Toro sailed in with all his weight against the planks, mashed one through and came very near doing Nosey for good. By some means the blow from the broken plank missed the entire nose and fell upon one cheek. A moment after the nose was safely on top the fence, where it staid, and then there was room for the bull to get around.

EL TORO MAKES ANOTHER POINT.

Among the most daring but least active carpeadors was a chunky fellow, against whom the bull evinced a special animosity. Senor Chunky would flaunt his capote in the bulls face, and then in his efforts to get away, get directly in front of the animal. For a time this was all right, but finally with a fearful rush Toro caught him on the first quarter and knocked him sprawling in the sand, upon which the band struck up "Shoo, Fly; Don't Bodder Me." Again Toro failed to follow up his advantage, and the discomfitted Chunky scrambled to his guard. But in numerous instances afterwards he redeemed himself, never appearing, however, without exciting more or less anxiety on the part of the spectators. But this was not the case with the tall chap before referred to; he was so self-possessed and active as to excite no fears in his behalf. Another daring and agile fellow was one draped in white, who carried no capote, but some paper rosettes mounted on barbed points. This Don Blanco would watch his cance, and as the bull would dive for him, strike them at the animal's shaggy front, expecting to make them stick. For a long time this project failed, but with one he was finally successful, and was greeted with many "bravos." Soon after this he set another tall cockade perpendicularly between the horns, and the instant it struck a dozen fire crackers attached began to fizz and pop. The bull held his head high in stupid astonishent. There was a smell of burning hair, then an angry toss of the head and the cockade fell to the ground.

SCORES ONE MORE.

A young Mexican with butternut pants fancied himself a matadore of the first water, and stepping out from behind a guard, invited the bull's attention. Butternut was only a volunteer, but for a time done remarkably well in dareing and dodging. But his visions of a grand success were knocked out of time with such force and suddenness as to induce the belief that a permanent change of mind was experienced. He fell so flat that, in such dangerous proximity, he couldn't even get to his hands and knees, but for one length at least, swam or "scrabbled" out of trouble. Soon after this bull was turned out and another older and heavier one

LASSOED AND BROUGHT IN.

This one was used to the business, having appeared in the same role last year. But he didn't appear to take to it any the more kindly for all that, except that he wasted none of his strength in struggling with "lass ropes." The vaqueros soon had this old Toro stretched on the ground with men trying to tunnel under him for the purpose of passing a rope around his body. This plan not working satisfactory a quick movement of one of the horsemen rolled him completely over and on the rope. This was doubled, and passing both ends through the bight three men proceeded to cinch him, but with such force as to break the rope. This was knotted, hauled as taught as possible, and Joe Flores, a mere boy, stepped out to take a ride. Passing his hands with the greatest difficulty under the cinch rope, Joe straddled the bull as he lay. The lassoes were taken off his head and fore feet, leaving one noosed around both hind feet until the horsemen got outside. The flags were shaken in his face as a banter and with a bound and bellow Toro came to his feet sending Joe flying

HEAD FIRST INTO THE SAND!

Toro had gone for a flag, which he got, so Joe had a chance, which he well improved, to make cover. The horsemen came in, and soon had Toro down again. After several futile efforts Joe finally got his hands under the cinch rope; the others were cast off and the rig cleaned as before. This time the bull got to his feet and with fearful bounds sailed after Chunky and the others. But though he soon lost one of his spurs and the jerks he received was enough to dislocate his neck. When the old Toro had tried each capeador in turn with no gains in his favor except now and then a flag, he stood still, paying no regard whatever to his rider but angrily shaking his head and pawing sand over into the faces of people, even in the highest seats. The women and babies in the sand shower squealed, other people laughed and "bravoed" the capeadors waived their capotes, and with oft repeated invited him to come on, which he finally and frequently did with so much vehemence as to keep rider and capeadors in the liveliest kind of exercise. At last a rope was thrown around his neck and hauled taught when Joe loosened his hold and jumped to save his bones, which notwithstanding an ugly pass from the bull's head he succeeded in doing and the show was ended.

JOE STAID WITH HIM,

It was an exciting, interesting and novel sight to many, if not all present, and, except in the aggravation of spirit, no more cruel to the animals than their use for the same length of time in a hard-worked bull team.

New Wharf.

Mr. Belshaw is constructing a wharf for the accommodation of the steamer in shipping bullion and other Cerro Gordo freights across the lake to and from Cartago. This wharf is on the east side of the lake, about six miles south of the Swansea furnace. Some 150 feet of the piling is now completed.

Sad Death.

We are pained to learn of the death, this morning at Lone Pine, of Michael, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Reddy. The deceased was about five years of age, brilliantly smart and bright, and almost idolized by his parents and the community.

In Statu Quo.

Owing to the inability of Mr. Hunter to attend, the Board of Supervisors can take no action upon the contested election question, so the whole matter of canvassing the returns will have to remain at a dead standstill until the November meeting.

The Orleans Hotel.

"Dadual" Moore is second mate and chief Clerk of the above new establishment, which is now the stage house at Lone Pine.

Running.

Both the Cerro Gordo furnaces, as well as that of the O. L. S.-L. company, are in full blast, piling up bullion bars at their usual rate.

Another Celebration.

As is their custom, the Chileans of Lone Pine celebrated their natal day on the 18th instant, with usual vim and general eclat.

District Court.

As will be seen from the following, a heavy calendar of civil cases is to be disposed of by the District Court at the ensuing term, which begins in November. There are no criminal cases on the docket, so far. The following suits have been entered:

John Simpson vs. the Owens Lake Silver Lead company—action to recover $5,240 47. P. Reddy for plaintiff; Bennett & Gregg for defendants.

Victor Hoff and E. Pyzer, composing the firm of V. Hoff & Co. vs. Frank Dabeeny—to foreclose mortgage on promissory note for $500, and interest at three per cent per month from February 2, 1872 and costs of suit. Reddy for plaintiffs.

John W. Harrold vs James Brady—to recover the sum of $902 50 for services rendered as teamster in driving Wells' team, with interest at ten per cent per annum from date of filing complaint. Bennett & Gregg for plaintiff. Reddy for defendant.

John Baxter vs. Owens Lake Silver-Lead company—to recover $1,000 17. Reddy & Egbert for plaintiff; Bennett & Gregg for defendant.

J. L. Darrah vs Caroline Darrah—for divorce. Reddy for plaintiff; Bennett & Gregg for defendant; cross action by defendant.

Michael Levy and Joseph Coblentz vs. J. R. Hughes—to recover $1,055 22. Bennett & Gregg for plaintiff; Reddy for defendant.

John C. Morrison, Jr., vs. C. D. Begole—to recover $1,238 65. Reddy for plaintiff, Bennett & Gregg for defendant.

The San Felipe Mining company, a corporation, Galen M. Fisher and Alfred Wheeler, plaintiffs, vs. Rafael Diaz, defendant—to recover 115 feet in the San Felipe mine, and to set aside deed from Pedro Astorga to Rafael Diaz dated July 1, 1869. Bennett & Gregg for plaintiffs; Reddy for defendant.

James A. Vance vs. Joseph Williams—to recover possession of wood ranch at Cerro Gordo, also $250 damages. Reddy for plaintiff, F. K. Miller for defendant.

Mary Holland vs. David Holland—to obtain divorce. Reddy for plaintiff.

James Brady, as administrator of the estate of J. L. Wells, deceased, vs. J. L. Darrah and Omie J. Mairs, partners under the firm name of Darrah & Mairs—to recover $1,964 20. Reddy & Egbert for plaintiff.

John Simpson and his wife, Mrs. John Simpson vs. William H. Van Arsdale—to recover royalty on ore and $15,000 damages, and one undivided half of Omega tunnel. Reddy & Egbert for plaintiffs; Bennett & Gregg for defendants.

Love vs. Lewis: motion by plaintiff for new trial pending; Reddy and Bennett for plaintiff, Snelling and Gregg for defendant.

Rain.

There was a nice rain of several hours duration fell here on Thursday last.

—Jones bought a watch and afterwards discovered that it would not go. It went yesterday, however—to pay his debts.

PRIVATE HOSPITAL.

THE SUBSCRIBER TAKES PLEASURE IN announcing to the people of Inyo county that he has purchased and fitted up as a hospital the Beaudry Hotel Building, adjoining the military post at Camp Independence. All the adobes have been removed and their place applied with lumber; the grounds are handsomely laid out with shade trees and clover, and have a pure running stream of mountain water.

There is an excellent bath room and dispensary attached. One room is set aside for the county's sick, leaving ample room for private patients. The Northern Stage Line passes the door, and the place is easy of access from the town of Independence. The charges for board and lodging do not exceed those of any hotel or boarding house offering equal accommodations, and the establishment has the advantage of having competent help and medical advice always at hand, being close by the house of the post surgeon at the camp.

MEDICAL.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE, FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.

No Person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittant Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most Wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Compliments.

And in what consists of a compliment? Is it in high-sounding words, whose very hollowness, if known, would startle the trusting heart? or in soft, tender accents, breathed for some interested motive? The nature of compliments are so varied as to cause us to pause and ponder them a long time. Much depends on the person who utters the compliment. If a slight acquaintance, it is well to exercise some degree of caution ere we allow our feelings to be influenced; if an old friend, it is well to credit its sincerity, for in moments of despondency it is very pleasant to be encouraged by a true friend in a delicately-turned compliment. But a broad expression of flattery, from an almost entire stranger, is disgusting and revolting to all ideas of refinement. It is very pleasant, nay, highly agreeable, to merit the approbation of friends—they will not descend to flattery; but compliments from strangers, who can appreciate such? No sensible woman, certainly. Though the lips that give utterance appear guileless; though the eyes sparkle with the seeming light of truth; though the arms twine themselves around you at the time, still, perhaps, beneath all this soft and beautiful exterior, the heart may burn with the feelings of the deepest envy; the mind may conceive injurious things against your peace. Then be not too credulous; give not your ear to all that the lips of cold strangers may say, for even as they pay your a brilliant compliment, they may in heart despise you for possessing some loveable trait that they themselves are destitute of. But slow to admit new acquaintances into your friendship; cling to those friends you have tried, and found "not wanting;" cling to and love the old, for the love of a true friend is a most priceless gift in this world of lights and shades. Be not too willing, too eager, to place a new strange face among the old familiar ones that now dwell in the secret recesses of your heart's chamber; first, test them; then if worthy, give them your love; otherwise you may be disappointed, and the consequences may be that you feel a bitterness that was, until this moment, to you unknown. It is very unwise to have a great many intimates. Some may not prove all your heart had looked for; this will naturally cause you a pang, perhaps shadow some of your life's bright moments. A fond mother is the truest and best earthly friend to fly to. No one beats the same intense, absorbing and unselfish love for you as a mother. There is no one so well calculated (except it be a father,) to advise or counsel you in matters that to your young and inexperienced mind will, perhaps, be of a perplexing character; no one more competent to make clear all things that assume an indefinite form to the girl or boy-mind. And when the little griefs of life, that to youth seem as mountains, sweep over the mirthful heart and wrap the spirit in clouds, who so true as a mother? Whose voice so tender? Whose touch so gentle? Whose love so all-pervading, unselfish and powerful? Oh! fair maiden, with the gay smiles and untried heart, seek your mother; give to her all your love and confidence—not stingily—but full and entire. She will explain all that you deemed inexplicable; she will soothe the impetuous outbursts of your young heart; she it is that will lull the wayward spirit with words of tenderness and living smiles; she it is that will counsel you, and give sympathy, as only a mother can. It is her province. The Great Father of Hearts has blest her in this respect. It is the mother's office to impart sympathy—it is the child's to yield implicit, unbounded confidence and affection to that dear one, who has suffered and borne so much for you. Then, as you walk through life, and your ear catches all the bright and agreeable things said concerning you, let not such allure you too swiftly on; for there are many quick-sands—many adverse gales for you to encounter. In such times, if God has spared you your mother, then list to her. At such a time a mother's voice should be heard, and as her gentle accents of counseling float by, let the heart bow and render its obedience, for hath not our Father in Heaven said, "Honor thy father and thy mother that thy days may be long in the land of the living."

Suicide—Who Was He?

The S. F. Chronicle, of the 16th, has the following, relating, perhaps, to an Inyoite:

Two men, while hunting in the sand-hills to the south of Golden Gate Park yesterday afternoon, discovered the dead body of a man in the bushes. The deceased was lying on his left side. In the center of his forehead was an ugly wound, and beside his head lay a small deringer pistol. Word was sent to the Coroner, and Alexander Craig, of Craig & Son, undertakers, went after the body with the dead wagon. He drove up Haight street to a point opposite the spot where the body of the suicide lay, but could not get within a quarter of a mile of the exact locality. He proceeded on foot to the body. From indications, the man had been dead at least twenty-four hours, and decomposition had commenced. Two or three men were standing by. They refused to lend a hand in removing the corpse to the wagon, and Mr. Craig was obliged to take it up and carry it unassisted to the wagon, when it was taken to the Morgue. Upon searching the clothing of the deceased a small bottle, about half filled with laudanum, and a razor were found. In one of his pockets was a diary and a white envelope, addressed as follows: "Mr. B. Bellows, Hawai Meadows, Owens Valley." The diary contained memoranda of work done, and across one of the leaves was written in pencil: "Eunice, best and purest of women, forgive me You are avenged." This would seem to indicate that a woman was at the bottom of the unfortunate man's troubles. On another leaf was scrawled the following: "I will be 39 years of age on the 19th day of this month, but don't expect to see it. I must be constructed different from other men." [The writing then becomes illegible. It is apparently something about Grant, whether the President or not, cannot be made out—REP.] In another part it reads: "Grant will win the fight. I think I never did a good deed equal to this of to-day." There was nothing about the body to show the name of the deceased or his place of residence. He appears to have been about the age stated in the diary and rather a heavily built man with mustache and chin whiskers. He wore a brown checked woolen shirt and a dark suit of clothes. An inquest will be held by the Coroner to-day.

A Cure for Corns.

"John Paul" (Charles H. Webb) is responsible for the following in one of his letters to the New York Tribune:

Now, since corn-curers are looming up as public benefactors, I'll furnish a prescription that will cure the worst corn going, if it is faithfully followed, and I don't want a certificate from the cured, either. A ten cent stamp will do for me, if grateful convalescents insist on sending something. Listen: Pare all around the corn with a very sharp knife, and be careful to draw no blood It is better to soften the corn somewhat with warm water before beginning to operate. Prepare a salve of pure white wax, mutton, tallow and resin, in about equal parts, and anoint the corn well with this at intervals during the day On retiring to bed at night, draw the thumb of an old kid glove over the troubled toe, cutting a hole sufficiently large to permit the corn to protrude. Tie a piece of black silk thread around the corn. Now wrap the toe well up in a strip of red flanned, saturated with a mixture in equal proportions of turpentine and sweet oil. Then amputate the toe below the first joint, and if you set it on fire your corn will disappear at once. Or, if you throw it out of the window, toe and all, and Appleton's dog comes along and thinks he has got a good thing and chokes in endeavoring to swallow it, that is his misfortune and not your fault, and two nuisances are got well rid of at once.

Felon on the Finger.

The following simple prescription is recommended as a cure for felon on the finger. Take common rock salt, such as is used for salting down beef or pork; dry it in an oven; then pound it fine, and mix it with spirits of turpentine in equal parts; put it in a rag and wrap it around the parts affected, and in twenty four hours you are cured—the felon will be dead. It will do no harm to try it.

Pickled Peaches.

One half gallon sharp vinegar, four pounds sugar, two ounces cinnamon, two ounces cloves; put the spice in a bag; boil the mixture five minutes, then put in the peaches and boil them five minutes; take them out and put in more; put the peaches in jars and pour the mixture over them hot; when cold, cover tight.

More Mines.

A new mining district, reported to be equal in richness to the Panamint discoveries in Inyo county, has been located on the South Fork of Kaweah river. By-laws and boundaries have been established, and there is considerable excitement at Porterville.—Visalia Times.

—"One flesh was made two, a few days ago," is the way a Washington Territory paper announces a decree for divorce.

A Layman's Grace.

A young married friend tells a good joke on himself, perpetrated by a three-year old "pride of the family." She is the only pledge of love that has twined itself around the heart and affections of himself and wife. A few evenings since a minister visited the family and remained after tea. At the table the reverend visitor asked the blessing, and the little one opened her eyes to the fullest capacity in startled wonderment. She could not understand what had been done, and it was with great persuasion that her mother could keep her quiet during the time they were at the table. When they left it she walked up to the minister, for whom she had formed a great friendship, and said:

"What did you say at the table before we commenced eating?"

"My little darling, I thanked God for his goodness in giving us to eat, so that we might grow and be strong."

"Papa don't say that."

"What does your papa say?"

"Papa says, 'Goddlemighty what a supper!'"

The Narrow-Gauge.

If the managers of the Elko and Hamilton Narrow-Gauge have any idea of completing fifty miles of the road by the first of January, says the Eureka (Nev) Sentinel, as they assert they will, it is high time the work of construction was commenced. The following from The Humboldt Register of the 11th inst. is the latest we have seen or heard relative to narrow-gauge matters. That journal says: James Campbell, formerly Superintendent of the Central Pacific railroad, and the officers of the Elko and Hamilton Narrow-Gauge railroad are reported in Elko making arrangements to commence the work of grading the road. We very much fear the whole thing will end in preparation.

THE SENATORSHIP.

The Democratic Central Committee of San Francisco have published over their own names specific charges against Senator Casserly of having procured his former election by bribery, and invite or rather demand an explanation. This is done without doubt to kill him off as an available candidate to succeed himself to the senatorship, and it is possible the plan may be successful. There are numbers of legislative members elect who stand pledged to Casserly, and who will not go back of that pledge so long as he remains a candidate, or without specific instructions to that effect from their constituents in the event that this committee should sustain a plausible case against him. But it will require more than the pledged votes to elect him, and to prevent him from securing these is the object and will probably be the result of this move. The Independent movement in connection with the judicial election, is quite sure to militate against Booth's chances, who, like Casserly, has not, at the best, a large margin in his favor. So judging from present appearances neither of the people's candidates, as settled by the late election, first and second choice, will succeed, but instead we will have an entirely new man. Wallace, as the choice of the chiv element of the Democracy will hardly be able to reconcile enough of his opponents to give him the election in any contingency.

The Polaris.

Ten members of the Polaris crew have reached England in safety, and three others will soon arrive. After separation from Tyson and his companions about whose abandonment and wonderful voyage on the ice-floe so much has been said, the Polaris was finally abandoned in a sinking condition by the party just arrived. This party reached "Lone Boat Cove," when they built timber houses and passed the winter.

Plenty of It.

Hon. A. L. Greeley gives The Gold Hill News glowing accounts of the richness of the borax fields at Columbus. He says that to gather it all would require the services of a thousand men for one thousand years. To all of which like statements The Borax Miner has repeatedly requested the public to take cum grano salis.

That Desert Ship.

The ship in the desert story, which has heretofore been attributed to a traveler's lively imagination, is verified by the James expedition explorers. In the Colorado desert, fully twenty miles from the Gulf of California, they found the mast of a vessel, doubtless cast there by some terrible storm.

Democratic State Central Committee.

The newly appointed Democratic State Central Committee held a meeting on the 19th in Sacramento, and elected permanent officers. Colonel Joseph P. Hoge was elected Chairman; Henry Casey, Secretary and Thomas N. Wand, Treasurer.

The State Fair.

The display of fine stock, and productions of farm and garden at the State Fair, is said to have been unequaled by any former display in this or any other State. Financially the Fair was a success, the attendance having been much larger than before.

A Good Teacher.

Boss Tweed entertains the idea that the municipal officers of San Francisco have need of some instructions in the art of high thievery, and he is among 'em now explaining the way to do it. He will do well to keep an eye on his own pockets.

Occident.

Governor Stanford's noted horse, Occident, trotting against time during the State Fair, made his mile in 2:16¾, the best time ever made in the State, and equal to the fastest ever made anywhere.

Vasquez.

The pursuers of this notorious villain and his gang have given up the chase as hopeless. He is in the impenetrable chemesal mountains, not far from Elizibeth Lake. Three of the gang, however, have been captured.

Accepted.

The President on the 10th inst. accepted the 65 miles of the Northern Pacific Raiload, in Washington Territory, recently examined by the United States Commissioners.

THE JUDICIAL CONVENTIONS.

Both the Judicial Conventions came off in Sacramento as per announcement, and both have made excellent nominations. The Republicans have placed Judge Dwinelle of San Francisco in nomination for Chief Justice for the long term, and Judge Brunson of Los Angeles for the short term.

The Democrats, after a stormy time, nominated Judge S. B. McKee of the Third District, for the long term, but declined to make any nomination for the other, it being considered a matter of doubt as to whether that position can be legally filled by a vote of the people. It is a question yet to be decided by the Supreme Court.

Of the nominees none are more generally or favorably known than Judge Dwinelle. He was elected to his present position by Democrats and Republicans jointly, and, though put in nomination by the Republican Convention, has always been rated as belonging to the other party, but is not considered a politician or partisan.

Judge Brunson is highly spoken of by both the Los Angeles papers, The Star and Express, and will be warmly supported by both, more especially, we presume, as his election will supply a want long needed—a representative on the Supreme Bench from the southern portion of the State.

Judge McKee ranks very high as a judge and upright man, so that in point of fitness and general standing, the election of either of these nominees will be perfectly satisfactory to the people at large.

As a part and parcel of the anti-monopoly movement, however, a convention is to be called by the Independents with a view of making a nomination of their own. It does not appear that this movement is based on any well founded charge that either of those already nominated on either side have ever shown any bias in favor of, or identified himself with, the rail road party; the movement is actuated more by a desire to build up a new party in keeping with the results of the late election, rather than from dissatisfaction with the present candidates or want of faith in them as men.

It is certainly true that at least one of these conventions was largely composed of railroad men, and equally certain that their selections are not objectionable to the monopoly magnates. It is also true that to these magnates the election of a subservient judiciary from the Supreme Court down would now be a most important gain, scarcely second to a similar constituted legislature or United States Senator. But of all the candidates in the field there are none who can be classed as men suited for an especial railroad purpose, and without positive proofs to the contrary it will be hard to convince the strongest anti-monopoly voter that he is doing wrong in making a choice of one or the other of them now in the field. It is Judge Dwinelle's misfortune, in one sense, that some of his supporters in the convention were the most obnoxious Stanford tools on the coast, but it is equally true that these same individuals claim also to represent the Republican party. This last claim is a libel on the party; if it is not, then that party exists only in name, for certain it is that its rank and file of former days repudiate absolutely all such leaders as some of the more prominent workers in this convention. Those of this county find themselves represented there by Mr. Josiah Earl, who gave his proxy to Hon. S. O. Houghton. Now we will guarantee that this self-appointed delegate will be repudiated absolutely by nineteen of every twenty Republicans in Inyo county. But notwithstanding the fact that such men as Boruck, Felton, Coghlan and Houghton and a few more of that ilk were present and perhaps voted for Dwinelle, yet there were many others who also did the same, who, in partisan questions, railroad or otherwise, do not sail in the same boat with them at all. It was on this account that no political resolutions or motions were admitted or incorporated in the platform. As the judicial election is made separate with the especial view of raising it above ordinary political considerations, this convention done much better, whatever the motive, in excluding such trash than the Democratic, which in resolutions and platforms makes the issue essentially political.

The Sacramento Union, which is justifiable in its anxiety to build up a new party, advocates another convention. The same paper is also very anxious to elect Booth Senator. Accepting this as a non-political election, and taking all the facts into consideration, we think The Union and its supporters have selected a most inopportune occasion to establish its new party, and at the same time to hope to secure the United States Senator.

This is not an election to call out a vote or settle party issues, and in urging it The Union will defeat its own desires in more ways than one.

DECISION SUSTAINED.

A case relating to the powers of Boards of County Commissioners or Supervisors, was decided recently by the Supreme Court of Nevada, which, as pertinent to some of our own county affairs, not yet definitely settled, we deem worthy of notice. It will be found on page 359, 8th Nevada Reports, and refers to the acts of the Board of County Commissioners of Eureka county. A petition was presented to that Board praying an election for certain purposes, to grant which in accordance with the provisions of the statute, not less than 500 signatures of bona fide citizens or electors were required. The petition showed this number of names, but as appeared on examination and by evidence they were not all qualified electors, therefore the petition was rejected. To compel them to order this election on this petition, and as a trial of their judicial powers in taking their original action, a suit was brought, which, in the final action of the Supreme Court is introduced in the following words, less the technical references:

"When the Board of County Commissioners of Eureka county entertained petitions for the holding of an election * * and after hearing evidence determined that the requisite number of qualified electors had not petitioned, and thereupon refused to order the election: Held, That the action of said Board was within its jurisdiction and that, therefore, certiorari would not lie," and "If a Board of County Commissioners regularly pursues its authority and acts within its jurisdiction, there can be no error in its action which can be removed upon certiorari."

The above decision settles a point involved in the case of the People vs the Board of Supervisors of Inyo county, being an application for a writ of mandamus to compel the Board to order an election to decide the question of the proposed county seat removal. The point was: Had the Board the right to determine the status of the signers of the petition presented to them praying such election? and, Is the Board for that purpose invested with judicial functions? Judge Reed held that it was, and that the Board having determined that the petition was not signed by the requisite number of qualified electors of the county—or having determined that the proof of that fact was not sufficient—that mandamus would not lie to compel the Board to change its decision. The decision above quoted sustains Judge Reed in his opinion upon that issue, which was the turning or most salient point in the case.

As before intimated, the correctness of Judge Reed's decision is questioned by an appeal pending, but with such conclusive evidence as that thus presented by the highest tribunal of the State of Nevada in direct support of his rendering of the law, we have not the slightest doubt but that his decision was sound law and will be sustained. Such being the fact, it also vindicates Mr. Reddy in his "factious" conduct of the case before the Board, County and District Courts. And it further appears that a $5,000 election, based on that petition, would by no means have settled the mooted question.

Their Names and Politics.

We can now count party noses in the next Legislature. The State Senate will stand as follows: Democrats—McKay, Keyes, Beck, Pendegast, Graves Roach, Eaken, Farley, Tuttle, O'Connor Hendricks, Boggs, McMurry, Irwin—14. Republicans—Garratt, Oulton, Finney, Goodale, Evans, Andross, Hopkins Dyer, Frazer, McKusick, Dufly, Neff Kent, Turner, Spencer, Crane, Perkins, DeHaven—18. Independents—Bush, Lindsey, Bartlett, Laine, Gibbons, Edgerton, McKune, Martin—8. The next Assembly will stand as follows: Democrats—Stowers, Clark, Welch, Klotz, Davis, Tinnin, Escandon, Fahey, Simpers, Ingham, Williams, Gilmore, Murphy, Ferguson, Venable, Tully, Pelham Northrup, Hill, Griffin, Howe, McBride, Wright, Dixon, Northcut, Summers, Parker—27. Republicans—Ammerman, Gurnett, Miller, Gray, Byers, Peck, Gilmore, Simpson, Burt, Bowers, Byrnes, Rhea, Franck, Winchell, Morgan, Chandler, Long, Freeman, Bradley Knox, Carter—21. Independents—Hammitt, Hurlburt, Canfield, Higbie, Ables, Snyder, McCullum, Norton, Rousch, Russell, Coggins, Kercheval, Barton, Bryon, Pishon, Swift, Estee, Aldrich, Patterson, Wickware, Rogers, Hamill, Terrill, Vandall, Friedenrich, Myers, Cowdery, Paulzell, Hay, Thomas, Cressler, Head—32. Total in both Houses—Democrats, 41; Republicans, 39; Independents, 40.

Fifteen Years.

Harrington, the Pioche shootist, gets fifteen years in the Penitentiary at Carson, and may think himself in luck that it isn't thirty.

Acquitted.

At Pioche, September 20, McKinney, who shot and killed Morgan Courtney on the 1st of August, was acquitted.

The Yellow Jacket Mine on Fire.

In The Virginia Chronicle of the 20th we have an account of another terrible fire, explosion and loss of life in the Yellow Jacket mine, Gold Hill. At about 11 o'clock on the night of the 19th instant the timbers of the 1,300-foot level caught fire, it is supposed, from the blacksmith's forge in use on that level. A number of terrific explosions soon followed, causing the death of six men and badly wounding eight more. This is the same mine where so many lives were lost in the great fire of April 7, 1869. The announcement that it was again on fire produced the most intense excitement in Gold Hill and Virginia. All the dead and wounded were gotten out, and then the approaches to the fire were tightly banked up on all sides, so that no doubt is entertained but that it will be smothered out in a few days. The adjoining mines, all in connection for a length of 2,000 feet by this level, are considered out of danger, although the force of the explosions, numbers of which occurred, were sufficient to send fire through all of these, and in the immediate vicinity to knock men down and drive them along bodily for several rods. After the noxious gas was removed the floor of the level everywhere was literally covered with dead rats. All the killed and wounded men except one were on the 1,100 foot level when struck dead by the explosion and gas.

The Panic.

The failure of Jay Cook & Co., was supplemented by a number of others among leading houses. The Stock Exchange was, during the following day, or, until all business was suspended in consequence, the scene of the wildest excitement. If the stock operators had been veritable bulls and bears they could not by their excited bellowings and growlings, have created any greater noise and confusion. As a result the business of the Exchange had to be summarily closed as above stated. As many houses withstood the shock a better feeling began to prevail on Wall street on the following day; after consultation with the President, Secretary Richardson resolved to come to the relief of the market by ordering a purchase of $10,000,000 worth of bonds, so all fears of a general money panic have pretty much disappeared. Among other firms of note that went down is that of Fiske, Hatch & Co. Their embarrassment has been caused, it is said, by having their money locked up in the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad bonds, and are thus unable to respond to the demands of depositors in the existing and so-called unreasonable panic. Confidence is expressed that every dollar due by this firm will be paid.

A Good Law.

Under a new provision of the law of Iowa, the Governor of that State no longer has the power to pardon a person convicted of murder in the first degree. If he believes a criminal has been unjustly convicted, or is deserving a pardon, he is required to set forth his reasons, in full, and publish them for four successive weeks before the meeting of the Legislature, in two papers, one published at the Capitol of the State, and one in the paper where the criminal was convicted. On the assembling of the Legislature, he must then submit to that body his reasons for believing that such criminal should be pardoned, and the power to grant or refuse the pardon rests with the Legislature. Such a law should prevail everywhere in the United States, as the pardoning power is too great a responsibility to be intrusted in one man's hands. Several of the Eastern States have a pardoning law somewhat similar, where the power of pardon rests with what is termed a "Court of Pardons," being a commission consisting of several of the principal State officers, or of persons specially appointed by the Executive.

Another Steamer Lost.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Company's steamer Costa Rica, went ashore during a dense fog, on the rocks about three miles from the entrance of the Golden Gate, on the 17th instant. All the passengers, crew, (except possibly one Chinaman) mails and treasure were saved. The Costa Rica was from Honolulu. She was a propeller, and had lately been transferred from the Panama route.

Disturbed Finances.

The suspension of the great banking house of Jay Cooke & Co., of New York, which occurred a few days ago, created a tremendous crash in all kinds of stock in the East, and has a somewhat depressing effect on those of this Coast. Gold in New York went up to 112; greenbacks in San Francisco are quoted at 88.

Cultivate Habits of Observation in Children.

[From Hearth and Home.]

The boy who leaves school with a fixed habit of observation is really just beginning his education. He is passing from the tuition of imperfect teachers to that of instructors whose store of knowledge is boundless, and whose methods are always best. There is really no more curious study than that of men's habits in this particular. To ordinarily observant people it seems simply a marvel that some men and women can see so much and learn so little. We ourselves have known many curious cases of the kind. We have known, for instance, persons of fine ability, occupying editorial positions, who could never learn how to indicate a desired alteration on a proof sheet, and that, too, when they were called upon to so indicate their wishes every day on proof slips on which similar alterations were marked already. We knew a shipping clerk once, who, after dealing directly with steamboats for years, was astonished to learn that a part of every steamboat is under water. The tendency to this habit of observation, together with its consequent habits of comparison and reflection, nature implants in every human mind, and it is this that gives birth to the perplexing questionings of all children. When it is allowed to develop itself, it becomes the best and surest of all educators; but for the most part it is rudely in pressed in early childhood by reason of the indolence of parents, and so we find it existing very feebly, if at all, in half the people we meet. Your child wants to know the facts about everything he sees, and the reasons for them. He naturally asks his father or his mother, who to him are the repositories of all wisdom. It is not always easy to answer him; and as the average parent cares a good deal more for his or her comfort than for the future character of the child's mind, the matter is commonly disposed of by an injunction against questioning, which is as great an outrage upon the child as anything can be. He has a right to ask questions. The God who put it into his mind to question you, made it your duty to answer him to the very best of your ability. And your ability to answer depends largely upon your industry in trying to learn how. If you do not know the thing which he asks, and cannot find it out, or if it be something which you cannot make him understand, you have only to tell him so, leaving him free to ask about the next thing that interests or puzzles him. If you repel him with a mocking saw, or forbid his further questioning, you injure him for life, quite as really and quite as seriously as if you did him physical hurt.

The People's Party.

On Thursday evening some eighty gentlemen, representing the People's, Taxpayers' and Independent parties of the principal counties in this State, met in this city, and, after an interchange of opinion, adopted a plan for the organization of an Independent political party for the State of California. This initial step was followed up by a resolution for a State Judicial Convention on the 25th instant, to be held in Sacramento. We hope every county in the State that has an Independent organization will take pains to be represented in that convention, and that those counties which have not as yet organized will immediately on the receipt of this information proceed to organize. The plan is simple and easy. A dozen of the leading taxpayers of any county can create the local nucleus of a party in twenty-four hours, and elect the delegates to the State Convention to which the counties are respectively credited in the call printed in The Union of the 19th inst. —Sacramento Union, 20th inst.

Sylvania.

A gentleman from Sylvania says: This mining district, organized some two or three months since, is located some sixty miles south of Columbus; and within its boundaries are a number of fine veins—the ore improving in richness as depth is attained. Ore assaying as high as $550 in silver, and $25 to $100 in gold, per ton. The district is abundantly supplied with wood and water, and has a natural road to Fish Lake Valley. The mines are in a quartzite belt, from 500 to 1,000 feet wide, running through a granite country for about twelve miles. Rock taken out at different depths, from several veins will average about $200 in silver and from $25 to $100 in gold, per ton, and 40 to 50 per cent. lead. Von Schmidt's State line cuts the district, leaving about an equal number of mines in Inyo county, California, and Esmeralda county, Nevada. The ledges of this camp have all the characteristics of permanency, and all the natural advantages for economical working.—Borax Miner.

Men of Few Words.

Some men use words as riflemen use bullets. They say but little. The few words used go right to the mark. They let you talk and guide your hands and face until what you say can be answered in a word or two, and then they launch out a sentence, pierce the matter to the quick, and are done. Your conversation falls into their minds as a river into a deep chasm, and it is lost to sight from its depth and darkness. They will sometimes surprise you with a few words that go to the mark like a gun-shot, and they are silent again as if they were reloading. Such men are safe counselors and true friends where they profess to be such. To them truth is more valuable than gold; while pretension is too gaudy to deceive them. Words without a point to them, are like titles without merit, only betraying the weakness of the blinded dupes who are ever used as the promoters of other men's schemes.

—The Marshall County (Iowa) Times says: "Don't go back on your newspaper. A subscriber to The Times recently stopped his paper, and the next week was kicked by a horse so severely that his life is despaired of."

Jay Cooke & Co.

This firm, on the 16th instant, published a statement to the following effect in relation to their affairs: The immediate cause of the suspension of Jay Cooke & Co. was caused by large drafts upon them by their Philadelphia house, and their own depositors during the past fortnight. Both houses have suffered a large drain upon their deposits, in consequence of an uneasy feeling which has recently prevailed, and which has affected more or less all houses closely identified with new railroad enterprises. The Philadelphia house had previously been weakened by large cash advances to the Northern Pacific railroad, of which they are financial agents. The business of Jay Cooke, McCulloch & Co., in London, is entirely disencumbered. That house is perfectly solvent, so that it will meet all its outstanding debts and letters of credit without inconvenience to travelers, and have a large cash surplus to apply to American house. The firm of Jay Cooke & Co., and its members, have a large amount of real and personal property, upon which, however, they cannot immediately realize. They are confident depositors will be paid in full.

England's Attitude.

England's attitude toward Spain is very clearly defined. She has made a declaration of her policy by seizing the insurgent vessels and holding them until they can be delivered safely to the Republican Government. We suppose her policy is approved by the other great powers, for none of them will make any sort of protest to her action.

—An article in an exchange asks "What should be a parent's aim?" The answer to this, it appears to us depends somewhat upon what the parent wishes to do. If he wants to kill his boy with a gun, he should aim at his head or bosom. If he desires merely to shatter the child's leg, manifestly the proper course to pursue is to aim at the leg. It is likely, however, that most parents will prefer to operate with a slipper or a trunk strap, in which event the portion of the trowser which touches the chair is obviously the point to aim at.—Max Adeler.

—The Treasury Department now holds, under a recent ruling, that supervisors of internal revenue may receive, in addition to their salary of $3,000 fixed by law, their board bills at their headquarters, when allowed and approved by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. The question originated in the case of Supervisor Hawly, whose home is at Buffalo, while his office is in New York city. So that supervisors who have to board away from home will have their board bills paid by that accommodating relative, Uncle Sam.

—Pittsburg rejoices in the possession of a woman so faithful and loving that she always kisses her husband "good bye" when he goes into the back yard to feed the chickens.

—A Nashville man, in a paroxysm of anti-Modoc enthusiasm, attacked a wooden Indian in front of a tobacco shop.

On the Mountain High.

It is an indisputable fact that that portion of the Sierras included in the Tulare and Inyo lines contains the highest peaks and more of them than any other portion of the United States. Scores of them tower over 14,000 feet high, and numbers very nearly approach 15,000. It is an open question which of these predominate, all being so nearly of the same altitude, although the award in this respect has generally been given in favor of the original Mount Whitney. There is some doubt as to which name properly attaches to several of these peaks, all standing so close together that an ordinary map with the respective names marked affords no reliable guide. One of these peaks, supposed to be the Mount Williamson of the maps, stands a few miles southwest of this town, its base extending to the valley edge. Its northern and eastern faces near the summit are sheer precipices of hundreds of feet, but it is thought its pinnacle is accessible from the south or west, and also that this pinnacle extends as far skyward as Mount Whitney itself. To determine this matter, four gentlemen—S. P. Moffat, Thos. May, W. J. Lake and T. F. A Connelly—started out yesterday morning intending to boil water at its highest point, and we doubt not, if not utterly impracticable, that they will do it—but they will have a good, healthy sweat before they get there.

A Big Strike.

Superintendent Wingard of the Silver Sprout is convinced now that he has as valuable a mine as there is in the Sierras. They struck on a superb body of ore, full six feet thick in the lowest workings of the Silver Sprout, the other day, and this, in connection with previous developments in that and adjoining ledges is deemed amply sufficient to justify immediate and systematic working of the mines and reduction of the ores at the mill belonging to the Company at the foot of the canyon, or its removal to a more accessible location near the mines. It will effect a most desirable improvement in times here when these plans are carried out, as no doubt they soon will be.

The Horse Disease.

Mr. Bennett, lately returned from a visit, in company with Sheriff Mulkey, to their band of horses, reports that several more of Mr. Mulkey's have died with the mysterious disease. The range, both grass and water, is excellent, and the stock all fat, but in consequence of the disorder it was deemed advisable to move them to another range. We are informed that Mr. Isaac Hitchcock, on George's Creek, has recently lost a number of horses by the same disease.

Is Satisfied.

Professor Clarence King came all the way from New York to satisfy himself on the Mount Whitney question, and informs us that the new Mount Whitney is the right one after all. His barometrical observations and notes of the trip will be published soon. The Professor, in company with Major Egbert, has been on a visit to Waucoba District, and will probably return today.

Doing Well

By the aid of his Justice's Court prisoners, or "chain-gang," Judge Van Decar is doing a first rate business in beautifying the Court House grounds. They are nicely smoothed down, after being dug up and sowed in alfalfa, and with the trees, all kept well watered With the help of Under Sheriff Moore, the Judge makes these prisoners earn their grub without discount.

Notables Arrived.

Captain Joseph Eudey, the original Superintendent of the Eclipse Company's works, and his brother, late of New York, are now here taking a look at the different mines. Capt Eudey, since his departure from this county has been superintending some extensive mining operations at Grass Valley, and as a mining engineer, ranks high.

In Operation.

Messrs. Hill & Stecker started up their new shingle mill, located just north of the Black Rock saw mill, a few days ago, and find that they can cut 2,000 shingles an hour the day through, and judging by the samples we have seen, of a quality equal to the best in the market.

Lost.

We wish to call attention to the notice of $10 reward, advertised in this issue, which sum will be paid to the finder of the watch chain, or the lost portion rather, there referred to, on delivery at this office.

Departed.

Mr. T. S. Harris, "print" and musician, returned to his home in Sacramento last week He thinks he will return here in the course of a few months.

Bullion Shipment.

Per Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, September 24, from Lida Reduction Works, 18 bars fine bullion, valued at $2 422.

Fire in Aurora.

The following is an extract from a letter received at this place from a well known citizen of Aurora:

Yesterday morning (the 14th instant) at half past 10 o'clock the cry of "fire" reached our ears. On looking out I saw lurid flames leaping from "Nigger John's" restaurant. I presume you know where he held forth—next door to the old Gem saloon, the corner opposite where C. Navacovich now keeps. In less than five minutes the fire spread toward the back part of Baldwin's drug store (fire proof), consuming all the shanties in the neighborhood, including three little houses belonging to Fred Bechtel, the jail and McBride's dwelling. Damages may be summed up as follows: To the drug store, from smoke and water, $200; Kimball & Meredith's store, from like cause, $200; Wingate's Hall, $200; value of shanties consumed, nominal. The greatest praise is due everybody for the energy displayed in fighting the fire; men, women and even children worked like Trojans. The faithful old fire engine, so long in disuse, was soon got in working order, and rapidly put a quietus on the whole affair."

Horse Thief Arrested.

There is a man (and a dirty looking object he is, too) in the County Jail here, placed there on a charge of horse stealing. He gives his name as Charles Roon. He arrived in Lone Pine on the 16th with a valuable horse and rig, all of which he sold to Robert Arnold for the sum of $35. A few days since Officer Green arrived here from Virginia City, Nevada, on the lookout for the horse, which had been stolen in that city, and finding Roon, who it was known had taken the animal, arrested and put him in the jail here for safe keeping. After placing his prisoner in jail, Green returned to Lone Pine to get the horse. On applying at Arnold's house, he not being at home, Mrs. Arnold at once pointed out the animal and rigging, and being satisfied that Green was the rightful owner, told him to take him. As she acted with so much courtesy Green made her a present of the $35, the amount Arnold had paid to Roon, and yesterday morning started on his way rejoicing with prisoner and property to Virginia.

The San Felipe vs. Union Suit.

The hearing of the application for a new trial in the above case began before Judge Belden of the 20th District on the 20th instant. Several days will elapse before the arguments are closed, but we may expect news of the decision within a day or two. The chances are that a new trial will be granted, and in view of all the facts and later developments, we are sure the next trial will have a different result from the first. It is certain, according to the knowledge of a large number of persons, including one member of this firm, and most of which knowledge is sustained by affidavits, that there is no connection between the Union and San Felipe mines, and that the distinct nature and different characteristics of the latter are shown for a distance of over two hundred and fifty feet. This settled, the question will turn on which of the two was intended for the original San Felipe. On this point we have good reason to believe the chances are all in favor of the Union.

Couldn't Agree.

In Lone Pine, on the 18th inst., James Bridger said that W. Malson had nipped the sum of $20 from him in a game of seven-up and without just cause or provocation. Malson was arrested and given a jury trial in Justice Peterson's court. The jury worked at the case from 5 in the evening until 7 the next morning, and then concluded their differences of opinion were irreconcilable, so both they and the prisoner were discharged from custody and further punishment; but Bridger mourns for his double eagle and won't be comforted.

Matters at San Diego.

A private letter from "Snorkey" gives us the following items relating to affairs at San Diego:

The building of the telegraph line has been in progress from here ever since the 28th of last month. They have between 18 and 19 miles built already, which is very good fast work, considering the small amount of men that are employed there. There are eleven soldiers and four citizens at work, besides a superintendent in charge of the affair. For the first 8 or 9 miles the road was pretty clear of brush or obstacles, but as soon as they turned east and left the sea coast the road became rough. They have to build over hills and through large patches of cactus, which is pretty pointed work I can tell you. They use mules to uncoil the wire and drag the poles to their proper places. It is astonishing to see how much life a mule has when he gets into a bunch of cactus—he never looks to starboard or port, but with head up and tail over the dashboard he breaks for safer quarters We have to build 145 miles from this end to a place called Burke's Station. There are 25,000 poles to build it with. Expect to get done some time in October The men are now building through a mountain range where they sometimes have to carry the poles up a hill at an angle of about one degree above perpendicular. They have to hang on with both hands and climb with the other, which is rather difficult for new hands. They have not started to work at Yuma, according to last accounts. Lieut. Dove starts to-morrow for the scene of action, where he will make his headquarters.

—A lost umbrella has been advertised by the finder in a New York paper. This is doubtless the first case on record.

New Mode of Lead Assay.

Mascazzini heats the ore to be valued with twice its weight of ammonia sulphate: the metals present are thereby converted into sulphates. By boiling with a mixture of diluted hydrochloric and sulphuric acids, all iron, copper, etc., are dissolved, whilst lead sulphate and silver chloride are left. These are washed, dried, and reduced with zinc and hydrochloric acid; the resulting metallic mass is fused in a carbonate, five of borax, and five of starch. Ceruse, minium, ores rich in silver, gold, antimony, tin, copper, etc., and analogous substances, may be thus assayed. If there is not enough lead present for cupellation in the case of silver ores, more may be added.—Dingler's Polytechnic Journal.

Nearly Euchred.

The newly-elected officers, through not being posted on the new Code, came very near being euchred. The law now is that bonds shall be given within ten days after receiving the certificate of election, and yesterday was the limit for those who received notification on the 9th, the vote having been canvassed, the result declared, and notice given on that date. It is stated that one of the gentlemen interested found this out, accidentally, during a conversation in Stockton, and thus the alarm was given in time, and Ike was humping himself Thursday filing bonds for the fortunate—but nearly unfortunate—elected.—Tuolumne Independent, Sept 20.

Just, but Fearless.

The London Spectator, having been asked by a correspondent, "What is the liberality of an editor to his personal friends?" replies: "Strictly speaking, he should have no friends. He should attack his own father if he disapproves his speeches, or criticise his wife's last book if he thinks it rubbish. The journalist is bound, as the statesman would be bound, to do his duty and take the consequences. He might be a little more gentle in his language, a little more apologetic in his tone, but the attack must not be deprived of its efficiency for any personal consideration whatever."

Lida Valley.

This new mining camp is producing a large amount of silver bullion, and the mill they have is running constantly with ore enough on the dumps to run three or four more. The future of Lida Valley seems, beyond doubt, one of the most promising in the State. Its distance from the railroad is against it; but it is a difficulty that in time will be overcome, to a great extent, by regular lines of communication and the fact that they can get a large amount of value in small weight.—Virginia Chronicle.

Blanco Vale.

The contested right to the borax land of the Blanco Vale Company, which was tried at the last term of the Third District Court at Aurora, under the title of F. M. Smith, W. D. Shaves, et als. vs. E Gregovich, N. Gregovich and John Dwyer, and decided in favor of plaintiffs, has this week been settled by stipulation and agreement. The appeal will not be taken, and the title of the land is forever set at rest.—Borax Miner.

How the Women Love One Another.

Mrs. A.—"Well, good-by, dear. You must come and see my new dresses from Paris; one charming morning dress among the others, quite simple, and only costing sixty-seven guineas! You'll come, won't you? and tell me what you think of it!" Mrs. B.—"O, my dear, I'm no judge of cheap clothing, you know!"

A Jumper Jumped.

We hear of a man who went to Cornucopia, jumped a rich mine, was bought off for $2,000 and started East. At Toano the three card monte sharps jumped him and gobbled every cent of his ill-gotten gains.—Virginia Chronicle.

—This ugly conundrum originates with the Lawrence (Kansas) Tribune We give it up: "If an unsanctified Congressman who made friends with mammon and took his "grab," is to be "objurgated" every few days, what shall we say of the Chaplain of the Senate, who is traveling abroad inspecting consulates on a gold salary of eight dollars a day, and also draws his salary of nine hundred for perfunctory services as Chaplain. Does the Chaplaincy sanctify this useless expenditure of the people's money?

—A Detroit woman was consulting the police the other day to see if she had good grounds for a divorce suit. She alleges that her husband is drunk about twenty-seven days out of every month; that he wakens her at daylight by throwing a pail of water over the bed; that he has tried to force kerosene oil down her throat; that he makes her go out without shoes or stockings; and that he puts hot potatoes in her hands and then mashes them by squeezing her fingers.

—"Eli Perkins" writes that Dan Marks, a veteran baggage smasher, experienced religion at Round Lake, N. Y., and has since confessed in open meeting that he has smashed $13,000,000 worth of trunks in twelve years, and had been too sick a good deal of the time to attend personally to the business.

—Mr. Nast's illustration of "Pickwick"—the long promised edition by the Harpers—are not considered pleasing. He has vulgarized all our own friends out of all recognition," says one critic; "his campaign caricature style cannot be safely carried into literature, and it is this which he has done."

—A Kansas pastor declined an addition of a hundred dollars to his salary, for this reason, among others, that the hardest part of his labor heretofore had been the collection of his salary, and it would kill him to try to collect a hundred dollars more.

Title IV, Part I, Penal Code.

SECTION 41. Every person charged with the performance of any duty under the provisions of any law of this State relating to elections who wilfully neglects or refuses to perform it, or who in his official capacity knowingly and fraudulently acts in contravention or violation of any of the provisions of such law is, unless a different punishment for such acts or omission is prescribed by this Code, punishable by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the State Prison not exceeding five years or by both.

SEC. 42. Every person who wilfully causes, procures or allows himself to be registered in the Great Register of any county, knowing himself not to be entitled to such registration, is punishable by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the County Jail or State Prison not exceeding one year, or both. In all cases where, on the trial of a person charged with any offense under the provisions of this section, it appears in evidence that the accused stands registered in the Great Register of any county without being qualified for such registration, the Court must order such registration to be canceled.

SEC. 43. Every person who, after being required by the Board of Judges at any election, refuses to be sworn, or who, after being sworn, refuses to answer any pertinent question propounded by such Board, touching his right or the right of any other person to vote, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 44. Every person summoned to appear and testify, before any Board of Registration, who wilfully disobeys such summons, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 45. Every person not entitled to vote, who fraudulently votes, and every person who votes more than once at any one election, or knowingly hands in two or more tickets folded together, or changes any ballot after the same has been deposited in the ballot box, or adds, or attempts to add any ballot to those legally polled at any election, either by fraudulently introducing the same into the ballot box before or after the ballots therein have been counted, or adds to or mixes with, or attempts to add to or mix with, the ballots lawfully polled, other ballots, while the same are being counted or canvassed, or at any other time, with intent to change the result of such election, or carries away or destroys, or attempts to carry away or destroy, any poll list, or ballots, or ballot box, for the purpose of breaking up or invalidating such election, or wilfully defaces, mutilates, or destroys any election returns, or in any manner interferes with the officers holding such election or conducting such canvass, or with the voters lawfully exercising their rights of voting at such election, as to prevent such election or canvass from being fairly held and lawfully conducted, is guilty of felony.

SEC. 46. Every person not entitled to vote, who fraudulently attempts to vote, or who, being entitled to vote, attempts to vote more than once at any election, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 47. Every person who procures, aids, assists, counsels or advises another to give or offer his vote at any election, knowing that the person is not qualified to vote, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 48. Every officer or Clerk of Election who aids in changing or destroying any poll list, or in placing any ballots in the ballot box, or taking any therefrom, or adds, or attempts to add, any ballots to those legally polled at such election, either by fraudulently introducing the same into the ballot box before or after the ballots therein have been counted, or adds to or mixes with, or attempts to add to or mix with, the ballots polled any other ballots, while the same are being counted or canvassed, or at any other time, with intent to change the result of such election, or allows another to do so when in his power to prevent it, or carries away, or destroys, or knowingly allows another to carry away or destroy, any poll list, ballot box, or ballots lawfully polled, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for not less than two nor more than seven years.

SEC. 49. Every Inspector, Judge, or Clerk of an election, who, previous to putting the ballot of an elector in the ballot box, attempts to find out any name on such ballot, or who opens, or suffers the folded ballot of any elector which has been handed in to be opened or examined previous to putting the same into the ballot box, or who makes or places any mark or device on any folded ballot with the view to ascertain the name of any person for whom the elector has voted, or who, without the consent of the elector, discloses the name of any person which such Inspector, Judge or Clerk has fraudulently or illegally discovered to have been voted for by such elector, is punishable by fine, not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars.

SEC. 50. Every person who forges or counterfeits returns of an election purporting to have been held at a precinct, town, or ward where no election was in fact held, or wilfully substitutes forged or counterfeit returns of election in the place of the true returns, for a precinct, town or ward where an election was actually held, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for a term not less than two nor more than ten years.

SEC. 51. Every person who wilfully adds to, or subtracts from, the votes actually cast at an election, in any returns, or who alters such returns, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for not less than one nor more than five years.

SEC. 52. Every person who aids or abets in the commission of any of the offenses mentioned in the four preceding sections, or who, being present at or cognizant of the commission of either of such offenses, does not give information thereof as soon as practicable to the District Attorney or Grand Jury of the proper county, or to some Justice of the Peace of such county, is punishable by imprisonment in the County Jail for the period of six months, or in the State Prison not exceeding two years.

SEC. 53. Every person who, by force, threats, menaces, bribery, or any corrupt means, either directly or indirectly attempts to influence any elector in giving his vote, or to deter him from giving the same, or attempts by any means whatever, to awe, restrain, hinder or disturb any elector in the free exercise of the right of suffrage, or furnishes any elector wishing to vote, who cannot read, with a ticket, informing or giving such elector to understand that it contains a name written or printed thereon different from the name which is written or printed thereon, or defrauds any elector at any such election, by deceiving and causing such elector to vote for a different person or any office than he intended or desired to vote for; or who, being Inspector, Judge, or Clerk of any election, while acting as such, induces or attempts to induce, any elector, either by menace or reward, or promise the offer, to vote differently from what such elector intended or desired to vote, he is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 54. Every person who, with intent to promote the election of himself, or any other person, either:

1. Furnishes entertainment at his expense to any meeting of electors previous to or during an election;

2. Pays for, procures, or engages to pay for any such entertainment;

3. Furnishes or engages to pay or deliver any money or property for the purpose of procuring the attendance of voters at the polls, or for the purpose of compensating any person for procuring attendance of voters at the polls, except for the conveyance of voters who are sick or infirm;

4. Furnishes or engages to pay or deliver any money or property for any purpose intended to promote the election of any candidate, except for the expenses of holding and conducting public meetings for the discussion of public questions, and of printing and circulating ballots, handbills, and other papers previous to such election;

—Is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 55. Every person who, being a candidate at any election, offers or agrees to appoint or procure the appointment of any particular person to office as an inducement or consideration to any person to vote for, or procure or aid in procuring the election of such candidate, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 56. Every person not being a candidate, who communicates any offer made in violation of the last section to any person with intent to induce him to vote for, or to procure or aid in procuring the election of the candidate making the offer, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 57. (§84, 85, 86). Every person who gives or offers a bribe to any officer or member of any legislative caucus, political convention, committee, primary election, or political gathering of any kind, held for the purpose of nominating candidates for offices of honor, trust, or profit in this State, with intent to influence the person to whom such bribe is given or offered to be more favorable to one candidate than another, and every person, member of either of the bodies in this section mentioned, who receives or offers to receive any such bribe, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison not less than one nor more than fourteen years.

SEC. 58. Every person who by threats, intimidations, or unlawful violence wilfully hinders or prevents electors from assembling in public meeting for the consideration of public questions, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 59. Every person who wilfully disturbs or breaks up any public meeting of electors or others, lawfully being held for the purpose of considering public questions, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 60. Every person who makes, offers, or accepts any bet or wager upon the result of any election, or upon the success or failure of any person or candidate, or upon the number of votes to be cast either in the aggregate or for any particular candidate, or upon the vote to be cast by any person, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 61. Every person who wilfully violates any of the provisions of the laws of this State relating to elections is, unless a different punishment for such violation is prescribed by this Code, punishable by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars or by imprisonment in the State Prison not exceeding five years, or by both.

SUMMONS.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE SIXTEENTH Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the county of Inyo. John C. Morrison, Jr., plaintiff, against W. G. Squires, defendant. Action brought in the District Court of the Sixteenth Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the county of Inyo, and the complaint filed in said county of Inyo, in the office of the Clerk of said District Court.

The People of the State of California send greeting to W. G. Squires. You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff in the District Court of the Sixteenth Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the county of Inyo, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons—if served within this county; or, if served out of this county, but in this district, within twenty days; otherwise, within forty days—or judgment by default will be taken against you, according to the prayer of said complaint. The said action is brought to recover the sum of Eight hundred and fifty-seven 72-100 dollars in gold coin of the United States, for goods, wares and merchandise sold and delivered to said defendant by said plaintiff, at defendant's special instance and request, on the ninth day of September, A. D. 1872, together with interest thereon from said date at the rate of ten per cent. per annum. And you are hereby notified if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint, as above required, the said plaintiff will take judgment by default against you, in accordance with the prayer of said plaintiff's complaint.

Given under my hand and the seal of the District Court of the Sixteenth Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the County of Inyo, this Sixteenth day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy three.

MEDICAL.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE, FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.

No Person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittant Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most Wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Death Valley.

The Beaver (Utah) Enterprise has the following respecting a recent visit to this noted valley:

The Valley of Death—a spot almost as terrible as the prophet's Valley of Dry Bones—lies just north of the old Mormon road to California, a region thirty miles long by thirty broad, and surrounded, except at two points, by inaccessible mountains. It is totally devoid of water and vegetation, and the shadow of a bird or wild beast never darkens its white glaring sands. The Kansas Pacific railroad engineers discovered it, and also some papers which showed the fate of the lost Montgomery train, which came south from Salt Lake in 1850, guided by a Mormon. When near Death Valley some came to the conclusion that the Mormon knew nothing about the country, so they appointed one of their number a leader and broke off from the party. The leader turned due west; so with the people and wagons and flocks he traveled three days, and then descended into the broad valley, whose treacherous mirage promised water. They reached the center, but only the white sand bounded by scorching peaks met their gaze. Around the valley they wandered, and one by one the men died, and the panting flocks stretched themselves in death under the hot sun. Then the children, crying for water, died at their mother's breasts, and with swollen tongues and burning vitals the helpless mothers followed. After a week's wandering a dozen survivors found some water in a hollow of a rock in the mountain. It lasted but a short time, when all died but two, who escaped out of the valley and followed the trail of their former companions. Eighty-seven families with hundreds of animals perished there; and now, after twenty-three years, the wagons stand still complete—the iron work and tires as bright, and the shrivelled skeletons lie side by side.

District Judge.

[From The Alpine Chronicle.]

Hon. Theron Reed, our present District Judge, has been nominated by the Republicans of Alpine, Mono, Inyo and Kern—the counties comprising the 16th Judicial District—for reelection to this important position. That Judge Reed will be elected there is scarcely a doubt, as his course during his term now closing has won him hosts of friends for his sterling honesty and general uprightness of character. Although the Republican nominee, we do not support him on party grounds, believing as we do that party considerations should not enter into a canvas for judicial officers; if a candidate possesses the requisite qualifications, the question as to what party he belongs should not be asked. The first time Judge Reed was elected he received nearly the entire vote of Alpine, his Democratic opponent receiving only 37 votes—the Democracy having thrown "party" to the dogs and supported the man best qualified for so important a position—Theron Reed. And we believe the feeling exists to day among the Democracy that existed among the Republicans at the September election—a determination to support the best man, without regard to party trammels—and that Judge Reed will receive most of the Democratic vote. If reelected the people of this district will have the benefit of Judge Reed's experience, gained during the passing term. It is creditable to the people of this county that when they get a good officer they continue him in position and we trust the people of this judicial district will act in the same spirit at the coming judicial election, and retain Judge Reed in the position he now so honorably fills.

That's So.

An experienced news-paper man avers that the man is yet to be born who can furnish a local item for a paper and be perfectly sure no body will take offense at it; it is an even chance if he can do it when he is born, at least for feaw days. Indeed, that would be an item which would put somebody's nose out of joint.—Oswego Times.

A Fine Grazing Country—The Boundary Survey.

The San Diego Union gives some notes of the Wetmore expedition to the Colorado, among which we find the following:

About a hundred and seventy-five miles from San Bernardino the party came into a fine grazing country. Here they found hundreds of thousands of acres in a tract about forty miles wide east and west, with bunch or sacaton, black and white gramma, red top and galleta grasses, all growing luxuriantly. It is a tract of table land running north and south. All that is needed is water—and the indications are that it can probably be had in abundance by digging for it—to make this one of the finest stock raising sections on the coast.

When Wetmore and his party struck the Colorado river at Fort Mohave, they met Col. Von Schmidt and his party, who have been engaged since last April in surveying the eastern boundary of California, from Oregon to the Colorado, and who, having completed their task, were about starting on their return trip to San Francisco. The gallant Colonel has found more difficulties to overcome in making the survey than he experienced in his grand engineering feat of blowing up Blossom Rock, in San Francisco Bay. At one time they were three days without finding water, and in that time all their animals received was a little given them from the supply carried along, twice a day, from a tin cup. The party were sun burned to a mahogony hue, and their beards and hair had been allowed to grow to an extent that made them look like genuine frontiersmen.

The survey, which was a very careful one, shows that the eastern boundary of California, from Oregon to the Colorado river, is 613 miles, 24 chains, and 35 links in length. Within one chain of that given by astronomical observation.

Gen. McCook Assassinated.

A dispatch from Yankton, Dacotah Territory, dated September 12, gives the following account of the assassination of another one of the famous McCook family:

Gen. Erwin S. McCook, Secretary of Dacotah Territory, famous in the history of the late war as a member of the fighting McCook family, was assassinated about 9 o'clock on the 11th inst., in an unjustifiable and most cowardly manner, by Peter S. Wintermute. During the day the St. Paul excursionists had been arriving, and Yankton had been exerting its utmost resources to entertain them and render their visit pleasant. Wintermute had been drinking, and attended a railroad taxpayers' meeting the same night, with, as some say, the avowed intention of breaking it up. During one of the speeches, Wintermute left the meeting and followed Gen. McCook, addressing him in insulting manner. McCook spoke to him pleasantly, and told him to go away; that there was no need of any fuss; but Wintermute persisted. Becoming unendurable, McCook finally resented his bad treatment by bruising Wintermute's face. Wintermute returned to the meeting, interrupted the speaker by insulting remarks, and then subsided for about half an hour, during which time he watched the entrance, and suddenly rising, ran to the door and deliberately shot and killed the General, who was standing without in the passage way, unarmed and unprepared for any such encounter. The excitement runs high, and much talk is heard of lynching, but the friends of law and order have so far prevented anything rash. There are at least fifty witnesses of the deed, and a miracle alone will save the assassin, unless the law is tampered with.

—Fifty vessels laden with grain valued at $3,500,000 have been despatched this year from California for Europe, and a dozen more are taking cargo.

EXPLANATORY.

THE INDEPENDENT of the present week is issued simply for form's sake, rather than as presenting its usual amount of local or other reading matter. Nor do the proprietors feel like offering apologies therefor. In the hour of affliction, and with a crowd of other matters remorselessly demanding attention, it has been impossible to obtain competent help, so that the paper itself has been necessarily neglected.

The Panic.

The end of the money panic is not yet. Most if not quite all the banks in the principal cities of the Union have deemed it expedient to temporarily suspend. The feeling in New York, however, is reported as improving, and there is a hope that confidence will soon be restored. The President of the First National Bank of New York urges the immediate resumption of specie payment, on the ground that such action will add $80,000,000 positive relief to the money market. It is not likely that his suggestion will be acted upon.

Believe Him.

Irving, the man in San Francisco who says he is a murderer of the first magnitude, is having a hard time to make People believe him. Two New York detectives have come after him to take him to New York, not for trial for the Nathan murder, which he says he assisted to commit, but for some sneak thief burglaries. It is hard on Irving, persist in considering a man a fourth rate sneak thief when he says himself that he is a first rate murderer, and thinks he ought to be hung.

Hardenbergh.

It is thought that the charges made by the big land grabbers against Surveyor General Hardenbergh, are likely to be sustained by Commissioner Drummond's report. Drummond is a man in whom the public have great confidence, and an adverse report from him will be accepted as quite conclusive against the Surveyor General, but not necessarily favorable to the land thieves who bring the charges.

The Modocs.

Yesterday was the appointed day for the close of the earthly career of Captain Jack and his condemned confreres, and no doubt they have now reached the happy hunting grounds. The world will soon know how each and all the braves conducted themselves at the trying moment, for newspaper correspondents by the dozen went to Fort Klamath to be in at the death scene.

Extra Session.

It is said quite a pressure is being brought to bear upon the President to induce him to call an extra session to take action on the financial troubles, but it is not at all probable he will do it, as only nine weeks intervene until the regular session begins.

New Party in New York.

Those politicians of New York who, under the name of Liberal Republicans, were associated in support of Greeley, have issued a call for a Convention to be held in Elmira on the 8th of this month. The proposition is to call all the new movement "Liberalism."

Spain.

On the 27th of September two Spanish insurgent iron-clads bombarded the city of Alicante, in Spain. They kept it up for seven hours, doing considerable injury, but at the end of that time the forts drove them off in a damaged condition.

Masonic.

The Masonic fraternity dedicated their new temple in Philadelphia, September 26, with grand ceremonies. There were no less than 9,000 Masons in the procession, which was witnessed by over 200,000 people.

—An Ohio farmer who sent his daughter to a university where both sexes are admitted, says she was perfectly willing to stay there; but he can't see that she learned much, except to sigh about the house like a sick kitten.

—Eli Perkins, who is having a new suit of clothes constructed on long time, will soon deliver a seris of lectures in London, by special request of the Queen, who leaves town during their delivery.

—A wife wrote to her husband, absent in California, that the longer he stayed the better she liked him. Rather equivocal, that.

—The Courier-Journal calls the Cincinnati pork-packers "Baconian philosophers."

—"Occident" has been taken down to the San Jose Fair.

A STUPENDOUS GRAB.

The much talked of Swamp Land Grab for this county, fathered by Mr. J. Earl, Register of the United States Land Office here, is now assuming a tangible shape. A few days ago a friend, while in the Deputy County Surveyor's office, had his attention accidentally called to a manuscript book there on file. It being a public document of general interest a transcript was subsequently made, the sum of which is to the following effect:

On the 11th of July last Mr. Earl and one W. S. Powell, a surveyor we believe, and resident of Tulare county, filed an application in the Surveyor-General's office at Sacramento for the survey and segregation, under the act of March 28, 1868, of the tracts of alleged "Swamp and Overflowed Lands," south and east of Mount Diablo base and meridian, all in this valley and described by these numbers:

Township 6, Range 32—Sections 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 29, 30, 31, 32, 34, 35.

Township 19, Range 37—Sections 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 18, 19.

It will be seen from the above that this is a very modest little grab. It covers a portion of every township from Round Valley to the foot of Owens Lake—in some cases a part only, more frequently the whole, of some 221 sections, or a total area of 141,440 acres, counting each section full. At least 94 of these sections have actual settlers upon them, cultivating their respective tracts as a means of a livelihood, and holding titles either homestead, pre-emption or by actual purchase and United States patent.

If this proposed swindle is consummated, as it will be unless some united action is taken to prevent it, a present pre emption is worth as much as a United States patent or final homestead receipt, and neither is worth two cents and a half, except on certain conditions, to be hereafter named. We will state in this connection that we have advised with Messrs. Reddy & Egbert, both of whom take a deep interest in the welfare of this county, and consequently in opposing this wholesale grab. The legal points of the case that we shall briefly present are to be considered as meeting their indorsement, and we are indebted to them for the advice given below for settlers to follow to save their titles.

Mr. Earl has been assiduously, not to say insidiously, at work at his scheme for a long time past. In furthering it he finds it necessary to absent himself from his official duties here in this Land Office, which, and from the neglect of duty, shows this fact: That a sworn United States official can openly work to defraud the United States of her possessions, and if this is countenanced by the State and Federal officials at Sacramento, it is plain to see that the whole scheme can be carried through without much or any regard to forms of law, or the nature of an oath. Under these prospects it will not be difficult to prove that the best lands of this valley, and lands that will not produce a bushel to the acre without irrigation, are swamp and overflowed. A ruling of the Commissioner a year or two since (the date we do not remember), in regard to the Sierra Valley lands, was to this effect: That lands too wet for cultivation at the usual seeding time, though requiring irrigation later in the season, may be segregated as swamp and overflowed.

That ruling is the basis of this pending grab. Under it, with interested witnesses to bear testimony, in regard to the state of any of the agricultural lands in this valley at certain seasons of the year, it is not by any means an impossibility to procure the segregation of all. Money and a "fair divide" will accomplish wonders. But Mr. Earl has repeatedly asserted that he does not propose to interfere with existing titles of bona fide settlers. On the strength of this, numbers who otherwise would oppose the whole thing, now give it a real or quasi countenance, either in the hope of gain to themselves, or in the foolish belief that such a wholesale monopoly in the entry of present idle public lands would increase the taxable property of the county. That this is an absurd view is easy of demonstration, but for the present we shall have to pass it.

Now, this is the question that fully one half the settlers of this valley would like Mr. Powell, Register Earl and their unknown pals to answer:

"If you don't want to levy blackmail on us, or rob us and our families of our homes, or interfere with our titles, which are good against all and everything except underhanded false swearing, and, satisfactory to us as they are, why do you include our little farms in your application for swamp lands?"

The answer to this will probably be that in some instances it is done by request of parties who are willing to give up a United States title, and receive back one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre in greenbacks, for the chance of securing a little additional area from the State, at a cost of one dollar in coin per acre for the whole (provided such party was one of the original applicants, otherwise according to the terms that could be made with the grabber for all not included in his original metes and bounds), and then be not less than three years in perfecting his swamp land title. We shall not stop to figure up the immensity of this gain to the settler by the proposed change of titles. It is enough to know that the prime mover of this intended swindle on the United States Treasury and the settlers of this valley as well, has asserted that he apprehends no danger of a successful contest against his scheme because the parties opposed were too poor to raise the $50,000 necessary to defeat it.

The inference is that each settler who finds himself swamped and overflowed, though he lived in the sage-brush, would willingly forego his right to the return fund from the United States, and afterwards pay the twenty per cent advance to the State, rather than spend the necessary several hundred dollars in Sacramento to contend for his rights. In any case no perfect title can be obtained to these swamp lands, admitting them be such, in a less period than three years.

The law provides a certain systematic course of law and regular surveys, and final acceptance by the Surveyor-General, to segregate, unless they are so mapped and returned by the original United States Survey. A very trifling portion of Inyo lands have been so returned. The per centage of actual swamp lands on Owens river is very small. If this operation had been limited to these, or even the unoccupied dry lands, it would not have been so serious or objectionable, although the whole system is wrong in principle and contrary to the spirit of our land laws, which are framed to give the public domain to actual settlers for homes, and not in larger quantities to unscrupulous speculators.

But we must take things as we find them, and it will be found that some steps are necessary to avert the threatened danger. The segregation applied for required an affidavit to the effect that all the lands were unoccupied, or that there were no known adverse claimants. If that oath can be taken in this instance, there is no telling what the next move may be. The law requires an actual survey of all lands claimed as swamp not returned on the original maps as such, but it is possible for a surveyor to return a survey, made only from the original field notes, and if supported by his oath as to the character of the lands embraced, may be accepted as bona fide by the Surveyor-General which would complete the act of segregation, and all before those adversely interested were even aware that such a thing was possible. As a matter of safety the lawyers referred to advise settlers to proceed at once to define their metes and bounds by ditches, posts or monuments; otherwise, if their tracts are included in the perfected segregation, the title will rest with the applicant for the latter. The California Civil Code constitutes the settler on such lands a preferred purchaser for the period of six months from the date of the segregation, provided the boundaries were then defined as above stated. If space permitted we would give the law verbatim on these points, but the above is the substance on the principle one.

This W. S. Powell, we hear it stated, expects an appointment as Deputy United States Surveyor. As such the scheme above outlined becomes quite easy of execution, if he should prove to be a not over scrupulous man. He may be the finest man in the State, but in our opinion appearances are rather against him, particularly as he is well acquainted with the actual character of the Owens Valley lands, which he has applied for as swamp and overflowed.

THE NEW PARTY.

It may now be accepted as an established fact that we are to have a new party in this State and perhaps throughout the Union. As per notice the Independent Judicial Convention met in Sacramento on the 25th ultimo, and considering the brief time since the call, was very largely attended and enthusiastically conducted.

Judge E. W. McKinstry was nominated by acclamation for the Supreme Judgeship, and a platform adopted that taken as a whole, must certainly meet the approbation of a large majority of the people of this State. Of the nominee it is enough to say his record both as a man and officer is second to neither of the regular nominees. So far as the nominees themselves are concerned it is apparently a matter of small consequence to the people at large which may be elected, for they are all three unquestionably able and honest men, and in these respects stand equal. McKinstry, as the head of the new party, will doubtless poll a large vote; but, by reason of the fact that this is not deemed a political election in the sense that is calculated to draw votes from old time predilections, we doubt if the vote he receives will equal the extent of the actual indorsement by the people of the platform he stands upon. In other words it is quite likely he will be defeated, but the new party will live and flourish hereafter. Its principles as enumerated have the right ring. They are promulgated by earnest men of both the old parties, and are certain, sooner or later, to afford a fighting basis for large numbers of the disaffected of their former rank and file whether as against one or both the old loves in future contests.

In the main the platform suits our individual views exactly. We have not the space to give but a small part, since it is very long, and takes position on every important issue of the day, State and National.

It favors the Eight Hour Law, and a four years' limitation to the Presidential term, neither of which exactly accords with our own views.

It demands the abrogation of the Burlingame Treaty, or its amendment to a mere treaty of commerce, so as to render the utter exclusion of the Mongolians a possibility, which exclusion must be enforced.

It damns the Back Pay Steal without stint; also, "the abominable and infamous practice of securing election to office through the corrupt use of money, either at the polls or in Legislatures," and asserts that that practice threatens to sap the very foundations of our Government.

We append a few of the resolutions as a specimen of the whole, and also because in part they touch upon matters of direct interest to this as well as other localities selected for land grabbing operations:

Resolved, That we take ground absolutely against the custom of land distribution now in vogue, whereby the public domain is traded away in vast tracts to railroads and other corporations, or to private individuals, through the means of scrip or warrants issued under various pretenses, or by private entry on the part of non resident speculators; that the true policy of the nation is to retain the public lands for the benefit of actual occupants, upon the sole condition of residence thereon, in order to secure to each family a home.

Resolved, That we are opposed to granting aid or subsidies of money, lands, bonds, or interest on bonds, to any railroad or other corporation, either by the Federal, State, county or municipal governments, and to all laws designed to procure any such subsidies under the specious plea of submitting to a vote of the people the question as to whether or not a particular subsidy shall be granted.

Resolved, That we take ground against the present tariff, believing that it is the result of a dishonest and corrupt system of bargaining in Congress, whereby each interest seeking protection conspires with all other interests to support them in their claim, to the great injury of the cause of good government, and to the loss of the people who are taxed thereby.

Resolved, That in view of the climate of California wherein rain falls during a portion of the year, rendering irrigation an absolute necessity for the perfect development of the agricultural capabilities of our soil, we hold it to be the duty of the Legislature to retain control of all rivers, lakes and other bodies of water, to prevent their appropriation and monopoly by speculators, and to frame and perfect a system whereby the water can be turned upon the land at the expense of the districts benefited thereby, and for the use of the people residing on said land.

Resolved, That the surest safeguard for the perpetuity of this Government and the rights of the people must always be found in the education of the masses; therefore, we will stand by the common school system to maintain it in its integrity and support all improvements in popular education that the most advanced spirit of the age may advance or discover.

Resolved, That we regard the primary election system, as now conducted, especially in the larger cities, as being practically a device which deprives the honest citizen of his political influence and clothes the demagogue with power. It has driven statesmen from our halls of legislation, and made political economy subservient to personal aggrandizement; it has subverted the design of our Government, and rendered the ballot a snare to the unwary and a mockery of the elective franchise.

Resolved, That all property, including solvent debts, as well as railroads and railroad property, should be taxed in proportion to its cash value; but taxation of solvent debts should be so regulated by law as to obviate all objection on the score of double taxation, and if this cannot be obtained by legislation under the Constitution as it is, the fundamental law should be amended so as to accomplish such a result.

Resolved, That the Legislatures of the State and Nation should use all constitutional measures to facilitate commerce between the interior portions of the country and the sea, to cheapen freights and fares as well as to increase the means of conveyance, in order that the produce of our farmers and products of our manufacturers may be transported to market at the smallest possible cost.

DIED.

In Virginia, Nevada, September 25, 1873, of congestion of the lungs, Mrs. SALLIE A. PARKER, a native of Hamilton county, Ohio, aged 63 years. Iowa and Ohio papers please copy.

The deceased was the beloved wife of Hon. Thomas Parker of Virginia city, and mother of Wm. N. Chalfant of Iowa City, Mrs. Emma C. Bivins of Oakland, and P. A. Chalfant and Jas. E. Parker of this paper. She was a member of the Arthur family of Ohio, a race not unknown to history as statesmen, soldiers, pioneers and authors. She was the eldest of ten children of Pleasant and Agnes Arthur of Iowa, all of whom save one were alive in various parts of the United States at the time of her death. One brother, Chas. R. Arthur, late of Solano county, is now residing at Moro, Ventura county.

In a journal read chiefly where the devoted mother, the nobly charitable and cultured lady was unknown, it would perhaps be out of place for us to give such obituary notice as recurring memories of the past would dictate, or such wails of grief as our lacerated hearts are prompting. She lived but for the good she could accomplish, and a life devoted to the suffering, to the poor, to the sick, the homeless and the helpless has ceased to be of earth. Like a knell fell the news among the children of the lowly, from whom her kindly deeds and ministering hands have for long years brought forth tears of gratitude and joy. Amid all the worldly surroundings that heart could desire, the only ungratified wish of her life was that her children and grandchildren could be clustered around her in her declining years, but the great Giver of All has decreed to call her home with the one earthly longing unsatisfied. Like the true Christian she was, she died peacefully, serenely happy, her head resting in the arms of her daughter—the only one of her four living offspring accorded the sad privilege of being in attendance at the hour of dissolution.

Faith, Hope, Reason, inborn with the soul—
The spirit's hallowed dreaming—
Tell us that, afar from Earth's control,
Divine Heaven's light is gleaming.

Angels there weave garlands around her,
There in peace her sweet spirit is at rest,
Welcoming ones gone before have found her
Assuming sweet station with the blest.

Mariamne, Agnes, Little Brother,
In thy joyful realms she'll meet thee;
Now, Estelle, Jovita and another,
Adrian—she hath gone to greet thee!

Though our aching hearts be so tender,
Though our love's central object is gone,
Why grieve when life's thread is so slender,
And we know that she's beck'ning us on?

All subscriptions and transient advertisements must invariably be paid for in advance. Advertisements, to insure insertion, should be handed in on or before 6 o'clock P. M. of each Friday.

Contract Let.

Capt. MacGowan has let the contract of finishing the Post to Mr. P. P. Gerrish. The finishing is to be complete in all respects. Water-pipes are to be laid into every building, including the stables, belonging to the camp, so as to furnish an abundant supply for domestic purposes and to guard against destruction of the buildings by fire. The main pipe is to be of iron, and will be half a mile in length, giving a pressure of one hundred feet at the quarters. Mr. Gerrish also takes the contract of finishing the Post cemetery in accordance with the plans proposed by Capt. MacGowan as published by us some weeks ago. The whole is to be completed by the last of February next, and when done we think Camp Independence will be the neatest and most comfortable Post outside of San Francisco. The contract is in good hands, and being all in one and under one management, the contractor will do well, and yet be able to complete the whole several thousand dollars cheaper than if it had been done by Government employees or piece meal contracts. From all we have seen Capt. MacGowan has a most scrupulous regard for the interests of the Government and acquits himself of this trust in a manner worthy the highest praise.

Lively Muss.

On Thursday afternoon last the stoop immediately in front of the Aldine saloon was the scene of about the liveliest little skirmish we have heard of for some time. A drunken party of three or four assumed to "run" our little burg for a time, and had been nearly successful in so doing until they struck a crowd in the saloon named. To the gentlemen assembled they applied the most outrageous epithets, winding up by extending all hands a cordial and general invitation to a free fight. Tired of the unprovoked insults, the crowd accepted the proposition with astonishing alacrity, and in about a minute three "drunks" were doubled up in the street with fearful "heads" on. They were shortly snaked off to the dungeon portion of the Court House, where they remained until morning, when, at the suggestion of Justice Gunnison, they presented $12 apiece to the county, and travelled.

Severe Accident.

Mr. Walter Lee, who worked upon the Court House last Spring, had his right hand severely mangled by an accident with a circular saw at Hill & Stecker's shingle mill near Fish Springs, on Monday last. Dr. White went up and dressed the hand, setting some broken finger bones, so that he could come down for further treatment at the Dr.'s hospital. We learn that the hand will be saved to him, with possibly one or two of the fingers stiffened in their joints.

Gone for his Family.

V. A. Gregg, Esq., started yesterday for Ogden where he expects to meet his family en route from Iowa to this place, where they intend to make their residence. Mr. Gregg goes by way of Sacramento, where, if we are not misinformed, he expects to stop long enough to make application for admission to practice in the Supreme Court.

Sudden Death.

We hear that Willie Haun, a young man about 18 years of age, and a resident of Bishop Creek, a few days since, while out in his water melon patch, was taken with a fit which caused his death in a few minutes. We have no further particulars other than he was subject to epileptic attacks, the last one of which caused his death.

Houses Wanted.

It would be a sensible idea for some of our business men in town having a few twenties to spare, to erect a number of tenement houses, suitable for families and others. There has always been a demand for more houses, and as an investment, the owners of such would find it a very profitable one.

Religious.

Rev. A. Clark will hold Divine services at the school-house to-morrow evening.

Rev. Father Scannel will hold Divine services at the court-room at 10 o'clock A. M. to-morrow. A general invitation is extended.

Personal.

We note the presence of Col. C. W. Wingard, U. S. Paymaster, and his lady at Camp Independence. The Colonel has paid off the boys and will start on his return to San Francisco to-morrow.

Under Advisement.

At latest accounts Judge Belden had the motion of the Union Mining Company for a new trial under advisement. We hear a rumor also to the effect that the arguments were not yet ended.

Social Dance.

The popular boys of the Inyo House advertise a social party on Wednesday evening next. The dancing community are anticipating a treat.

A Cold-Blooded Murder.

We have to record what appears to be the most cold blooded murder ever yet committed in this county. It took place at Pinchower's store, Bishop Creek, at about 4 P. M. yesterday. The murderer, E. P. Welch, is a man of family and a well-known citizen of that locality. The murdered man was named Frank Moore, recently of Cerro Gordo, where for a long time previous he has been engaged in mining. It appears that the two men had been engaged in a game of old sledge, ten points up, in the saloon at the store. Moore had beaten Welch several games, winning two dollars each time. Welch proposed to reduce the points to seven, which was agreed to. They played on until Moore had made six points, Welch having but two; Moore held a full hand with but one point to go, but for the fun of the thing "begged" and Welch gave him one, which in point of fact ended the game; Moore threw down his hand and claimed the money, which Welch denied him saying that the game was "ten points up." Moore denied it, but said he would let it go, because his cards showed in their face the three points required to make the ten, and showing them took the $4. Welch disputed his right to do so, but without much further remarks left the saloon and went to his house, three-fourths of a mile distant, and arming himself with a revolver, returned to the store. Moore was in the act of putting on some new pants he had purchased, in which he was being assisted by a Mr. Powers. Some of Moore's money had fallen on the floor which Power's held in his hand when Welch approached with his pistol cocked, and with a vile epithet told Moore that he was going to kill him because he had two dollars of his money. Moore said he had won it fairly, but rather than be shot he would give it up. Powers advised him to give up the two dollars and laid that sum on the box, with Moore's consent, for Welch. The latter said, "You son of a b—h, I have a notion to have a crack at you anyhow." Moore opened his shirt bosom and replied, "Shoot me if you want to, Welch, but remember you kill me for two dollars that I haven't got." It is said he, finding that Welch was in deadly earnest, begged for his life on his knees, but however that may be, Welch repeated the remark above, and fired a ball directly through Moore's heart, who died without a word. Both were in liquor, but Moore was quiet and peaceable, and has always borne that character. Welch took a drink with two or three parties present, then returned to his house and mounting a horse started to this place, 45 miles distant. Some two hours after, Mr. Elisha Mallory mounted his fleetest horse and started in pursuit, overhauling Welch about 8 miles north of this place. Welch, on Mallory's approach, finding his horse too slow, drew his revolver in readiness, but as Mallory had him covered with his own, and the advantage in position, being in his rear, he made him put his revolver in its scabbard, and brought him into town about 10 o'clock last night, having made the whole distance on one horse in a little over four hours' time. Welch, we should have stated above, told Mr. Mallory that he was coming here to consult a lawyer and to give himself up. This may be so, but Mr. Mallory and every one knows that Welch would not have hesitated a moment to kill him or any man to save himself from capture if he had dared to attempt it, with equal chances, not to say the odds against him. Mr. Mallory done well, and his prisoner is safely locked up.

Off Again.

A stage load of notables left for San Francisco on Thursday last. Jas. Brady, of the Waucoba Company, and family, Clarence King, U. S. Geologist, Isaac Harris, of Harris & Rhine, and L. Cohn were among the number. As a matter of course, all hands will be back again, sooner or later. Prof. King spent some weeks in a pretty thorough examination of this entire section, and says that it has before it the most brilliant future of any region on the coast. We are promised an occasional article from his prolific pen, upon matters which he is recognized as the best authority in America. So mote it be.

Progressing.

Mr. Hardy's school is progressing unusually well, the attendance being quite large for this place. Several advanced pupils from outside districts, where there are no schools, have made application for admittance to this, and would willingly be received. But there is an obstacle in the way to prevent, and that is the fact that suitable boarding places are not to be had, except at rates too high to be satisfactory to parents.

Sylvania.

W. F. Kincaid, a well known Inyoite, just in from east of the range, dropped in on us for a few moments yesterday. For the past three or four years he has been mining in the districts on that side and of late has had the good fortune to discover the new district of Sylvania, now attracting considerable attention, of which we shall next week endeavor to speak in detail.

Incorrect.

It appears that our item crediting "Judge Peterson's court" of Lone Pine with having tried the poker-game $10-steal-case, was an error, as the matter was tried by Justice Peerson. Bob. was around looking for "the man that wrote that article;" hence this.

Women Fight.

A disgraceful affair, in the shape of a regular fisticuff fight, took place in Lone Pine a few days since, between two women who rate as quite respectable. That is about as much as we know or care to know about names or particulars.

Lida.

A correspondent at Lida, utterly unmindful of people's corns, gives the following amusing jingle of items, which are probably as presentable as we could arrange them: Two of Nadeau's 14-mule teams arrived in town with merchandise and lumber to-day. Gen. Page (who has been and always will be a candidate for Governor of this State) is in camp, with a view of looking after some mining interests of his, and the future prospects of this country generally. The Mexican people had a celebration and "grand ball" here on the 16th ultimo. There is a billiard table now operating in this enlightened camp—C. W. Ober, proprietor. John Frost has returned to Austin on business; will be here when he comes back. A first-class spring wagon met with a terrible accident last week, by which it lost its top-rigging. The wagon should have known better than be in company with a lot of aged hoodlums. Bullion, the staff of Lida, is going out of camp bully; last month the little 8-stamper shipped nearly $14,000 worth.

The Post Cemetery.

As noticed elsewhere the Post Cemetery will be enlarged according to Capt. MacGowan's plans. It was supposed the appropriation for that object would be sufficient only for a cemetery extensive enough for the Post requirements simply, and for that reason it was thought citizens, in order to be permitted to use it as a citizens' burial ground, would have to contribute something for a corresponding enlargement. No such contributions, however, will now be necessary, but when citizens choose that as the last resting place for friends and relatives, it must be understood that the rule requiring each grave to be fitted with appropriate grave-stones will be enforced in all cases.

Runaway Boys.

Under-Sheriff Moore was on last Sunday armed with a warrant and despatched after a couple of boys charged with stealing horses from the father of one of them, who resides at the Chrysopolis mill. Upon examination, they were discharged from custody, "the old man" coming to the center with costs.

Contemptible Business.

Some destructive vagrants have of late been making periodical raids upon the melon patch of W. H. Huff, some three miles north of town, maliciously destroying everything within reach. Mr. Huff is in possession of the names of the depredators, and says he will give them publicity in case they do not desist.

News of the Coast.

The rate of tax for State purposes is fixed at 50 cents on the $100.

Some of the mines of Wallapi district have recently yielded very rich ore, the assays varying from $700 to $13,000 per ton.

The establishment of the order of Patrons of Husbandry is rapidly progressing throughout the State. Already 56 Granges have been instituted.

Track layers on the Northern Pacific Railroad, near Nisqually, have run out of rails and suspended work until the arrival of the steamship Idaho.

Soaking rains continue to fall in Prescott and vicinity. This year the amount of rain fall has been comparatively greater than during the preceeding years.

Montana papers state that the range of mountains between the Bitter Root river and the waters of Salmon and Clearwater are full of prospectors looking for new diggings.

The railroad is progressing slowly but steadily in its construction between Walla Walla and Wallula. Five and a half miles are now completed, on which the construction trains are running.

The Los Angeles Star says there is a project on foot to build a narrow-gauge railroad from that city to Shoo Fly Landing, a distance of 13 miles, and it is likely that the work will be carried out. But they'd better start their little old "gouge" in this direction.

The Truckee Tribune says it is strange that Grant, the murderer of Townsend, who fled to Sierra Valley, immediately returned, and asks, What strange fascination could have induced the murderer to travel back thirty miles, and walk six or seven miles through the gloom of the forest to that lonely spot where he left his victim?

Curtis' new distillery at Los Angeles has been ready to commence operations some weeks, but no authority has yet been given by the Revenue officers to fire up. Meantime the grape crop is now ready, and the productive industry of the country loses about $150 per day.

The Downieville Messenger says: "Col. Baker has taken out $50,000 from his claim at Gardner's Point, near Grass Flat. Two years ago he paid $3,000 for the mine and ditch.

The largest "run" ever made in Eureka was by the Richmond Reduction Works, which in 24 hours turned out 63,000 pounds (nearly 32 tons) of bullion. Three furnaces were in operation.

N. S. Harrold, County Treasurer of San Joaquin county, has been indicted by the Grand Jury for not residing at the county seat. His trial is set for November 18, prior to which he is expected to move into town.

The Los Angeles people are anxious to learn whether the Southern Pacific Railroad Company intend to continue the road east from Los Angeles to San Bernardino, or cease work when the stipulated 25 miles are completed.

There is more bustle and business exhibited on the Navy Yard at the present time than has been witnessed for many months, some 1,200 men being at work.

Captain Hall.

The Herald's cable special of September 21st from London gives the following portion of Dr. Bissel's account of the Polaris disaster:

"Since my arrival here we find from American papers that several very silly and absurd rumors of a mischievous tendency have been abroad. It is just possible that the Government at Washington prefers that we should reserve what we have to say for graver discussion, but I must emphatically contradict the statement that Capt. Hall died other than a natural death. He died of apoplexy. He was ill about a fortnight. He appeared to be in perfect health when entering upon the voyage, and I noticed nothing unusual in his health up to the period of his illness. The rumor that he was poisoned is too absurd to be seriously entertained. It may have been founded on the hallucinations of the patient."

Schuman, the engineer, says: "Hall was in continual apprehension of being shot, but I was not aware that any one member of the crew more than another excited his suspicion. Another phase of his mania was that he determined not to eat or drink anything unless it was first tasted by some person. The tasting was mainly done by Hannah, the Esqimaux woman. He rallied, and for awhile recovered his wonted intelligence. He would say to Captain Buddington: 'If I die you must still go on to the North Pole.' He would say: 'My last wish is that you strive to go on to the North Pole. Don't let my death be a hindrance to the accomplishment of the great undertaking.'"

At a session of the British Association at Bradford on the 20th of September, Capt. Martham, of the British Navy, who was on board the Arctic when she received the men rescued from the Polaris, gave some details of the voyage of Capt. Hall, which he gathered from members of the expedition. He said the Polaris occupied only five days in making the distance from Cape Shackleford northward to latitude 82 14. This was the nearest point to the North Pole ever reached by civilized man. The ice was soft all the way and a stronger vessel could have attained a much higher latitude.

The London Observer closes a eulogy on the late Capt. Hall in these words:

"The rude wooden monument to the intrepid American, standing alone in Polar solitude, is at the same time a grand memorial, trophy and challenge."

A New Industry.

A company has been incorporated in San Francisco for the purpose of making butter out of suet. The Bulletin of that city says:

One of the principal objects of the Oleomargarine Company is the manufacture of first-class butter out of suet from fresh beef, which, it is claimed, can be accomplished with comparative ease and at a small cost, whereby the price of butter can be materially reduced, and, incidentally, the expense of housekeeping lessened. The modus operandi is interesting and decidedly curious. A large tank is filled with fresh, selected suet, which is thoroughly cleansed by the use of cold water. Then it is run through a machine similar to a sausage cutter, and ground thoroughly at the rate of 1,200 pounds an hour. It is immediately thrown into a vat containing about one foot of water. The entire mass is raised to blood heat (110 degrees Farenheit) by a coil of steam pipe laid in the water. After half an hour's constant stirring it is allowed to settle, and in a few moments all the little pieces of membrane and scrap sink to the bottom, while the fat or rather the pure stearine and oline float on the water. This is gathered off and placed in another vat to cool, and when about the consistency of lard is wrapped in cloths (about 300 pounds in each wrapper) and subjected to pressure of tremendous power. As the pressure is applied the oline oozes through the cloth and is conveyed by little troughs similar to those of a cider mill, to another tub. In this state it looks like the clearest olive oil, and may be kept an indefinite period without spoiling or becoming the least bit strong. Any little dust or impurity which before may have escaped is here separated, and the oil flows like the finest honey. The stearine, amounting to about 33 per cent, remains in the cloth. This is sold to the candle manufacturers, and as it is much superior to tallow for this purpose, commands a high figure.

Now comes the butter. The oline is conveyed by a tube to the churn, when the final operation takes place. This department should be about 18 feet square, with double walls (the space being filled with saw-dust), resembling a large refrigerator. A rack containing about twenty cakes of ice is suspended from the ceiling, so that the cold air in descending keeps the temperature always low. A number of Blanchard churns are ranged along one side of the room, into each of which is introduced fifteen pounds of the oline, together with two quarts of pure milk, and three-eighths of an ounce of annette, used for coloring. The churns are set in motion and kept at a uniform rate of speed for 17 or 18 minutes, when they are stopped, and the air is redolent with the perfume of butter. Ice-water is thrown in the churn, when the butter gathers, and it is placed on a large table, settled, and thoroughly worked. By this process the milk is extracted, and the butter is finished. On weighing the butter it is ascertained that there has been an actual gain in each churn of one and a half pounds, equal to 10 per cent since it left its oily state. This wonderful process was discovered by M. Alfred Paraf.

Obituary.

In Inyo county, California, at Camp Independence, Mr. William Clark, aged 35 years, 5 months and 6 days, of erysipelas, September 21, 1873, at 5½ o'clock, A. M.

He was born in the year 1838, in McKee's Post, Pennsylvania, on Easter Sunday (April 15th), and removed with his parents to Indiana in 1843, and from thence to Iowa in 1845, where he professed a hope in Christ in February, 1843, and in April united with the Mars Hill Baptist Church—then holding its meetings in his father's house, in Wapello Co., Iowa—where he lived a consistent member until July, 1861, when he enlisted in the army (Co. "I," 1st Reg., Iowa Cavalry, Vols.) to help put down the Great Rebellion, and preserve our national rights—civil and religious. In this he served (re-entering as V. V. in 1864) for nearly five years, faithfully performing all the duties assigned him, and leaving many marks of true courage and more than ordinary bravery. He was in more than 30 engagements, and, strange to say, escaped without a scar. On the 14th day of March, 1866, he was regularly mustered out of service with his regiment at Davenport, Iowa, and returned to his old home in Wapello county. On the 25th day of April, 1867, he married Miss Sara J. Myers, a member of the M. E. Church and worthy Christian, and upon the 7th day of May he started by wagon across the plains to California. At Fort Kearney his wife died, and after properly caring for and burying her remains, completed his journey, landing on Owens River, California, in October. On the first day of January, 1869 he participated in the organization of the Bishop Creek Baptist Church, becoming one of its constant members. This church was the first religious organization in Inyo Co., and of this body he lived a consistent member until his death.

In the fall of 1869 he returned to Iowa, and removed the remains of his wife to the burying-ground near Ashland, and left them to rest with those of her relatives and departed friends. He again returned to California where he remained until June, 1872, when he again crossed the plains by rail, and was one of the victims of the great railroad disaster near Wadsworth, having his face badly lacerated and severely injured otherwise. He was taken to Council Bluffs, Iowa, where he was under the doctors care for some time, and on his recovery married Dorcas Turner, a member of the Methodist Church, and an exemplary Christian, and returned with her to California, permanently settling on Bishop Creek.

From his early childhood he was a member of Sunday School, and during his residence in California, was nearly constantly a teacher, taking great pains to point his class to the plan of salvation, through Christ. In 1862 he united with the I. O. G. T. at Georgetown, Missouri, and, unlike many other members, kept his obligation inviolate during the war, and until his death. He was instrumental in organizing the Chequest Lodge, in Davis county, Iowa, of which he was W. C. T. during his entire stay in that place. He was one of the charter members of Oasis Lodge (Bishop Creek, Cal.), and was their first W. C. T., and during a membership of over four years was called by his lodge to fill the chair several times, which he always did with great interest and profit to the lodge. He was ever a strong advocate of temperance, and the order has lost in him an earnest and efficient worker, as well as the church a faithful member, and the community in which he lived a good citizen and neighbor.

His last moments were bright with prospects of Eternal Life, and frequent expressions of joy and peace would burst forth even amid the most extreme pain, and when in the very jaws of death exclaimed, "Yes, Jesus, there is no name on earth so sweet!" He leaves a devoted wife and infant daughter to mourn his intimely death, but blessed are the hopes of a family reunion where friends never die, and of him we can truly say:

Yes, rest gentle spirit thy turmoil is o'er,
And angels have borne thee above
To range 'mid the pleasures of the evergreen shore,
And bloom in the Eden of love.

We miss you dearest, father—husband;
Miss your loving presence here,
Yet in memory you are lingering,
And we feel you are ever near.

Ever near us, loving husband—brother
Watching o'er the paths we tread,
And pointing to Mount Calvary,
Where the blessed Jesus bled.

You have crossed the rolling river,
And have reached the shining shore,
There to shout and sing forever,
Praise to God forever more.

Cheerless is our lonely home now,
Thorny is our pathway here,
Weary are our aching footsteps
Through this desert dark and drear.

Yet we hope to meet thee, husband—brother,
When the sands of life have run,
With you to rest in Jesus' bosom
When our earthly work is done.

Praise to God, our Heavenly Father,
For the glorious hope He's given,
We may meet and sing together,
A united band in Heaven.

A Story for Spiritualists.

Geo. W. Johnson, better known as Wayne Hovey, editor of Mr. Bergh's Society paper, is responsible for the following remarkable story:

Not far from where Stewart's mansion now stands there lived some years ago, in a pretty little cottage, a cheerful old woman. She labored under what some people called an extraordinary delusion; but to her everything was real and pleasing, and nobody had the heart to disturb her in her belief. Her name was Jane Sands, and from what could be learned of her early history, she had been happily married. On her wedding day, in fact while the ceremony was being performed, a half-grown Newfoundland dog came into the church and laid down near the altar. An effort was made to drive him from his position, but without success. This circumstance, while it was considered singular, excited but little comment at the time. However, when the bride was taken to her new home, the dog followed and finally became a member of the family. It is said that the rare intelligence of the animal, and his attachment to his master and mistress, was remarkable. Mrs. Sands lived ten years with her husband when he died. The dog expired near him and at the same time. The grief of the wife was intense, and for several days it was thought she would lose her reason. One morning, about two weeks after her husband's death, she called to see one of her neighbors looking as cheerful and as happy as on the day of her marriage. She told them a story which they considered only an evidence of mental aberration. She said the spirit of the dog had appeared to her, and had brought with him a message from her husband, who was in the "Summer Land." She also said the communication was filled with the sweetest words of affection, and that the dog had returned taking with him her reply. In this delusion—if it may be called such—the widow lived happily for many years. Every two weeks the faithful dog made his appearance at her bedside, just before dawn, with a loving letter from her husband, and patiently waited for her answer. Thus dreaming, one quiet summer night she died, happy in her belief concerning the spirit land, her husband, and his faithful messenger.

Title IV, Part I, Penal Code.

SECTION 41. Every person charged with the performance of any duty under the provisions of any law of this state relating to elections who wilfully neglects or refuses to perform it, or who in his official capacity knowingly and fraudulently acts in contravention or violation of any of the provisions of such laws, unless a different punishment for such acts or omission is prescribed by this Code, punishable by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the State Prison not exceeding five years or by both.

SEC. 42. Every person who wilfully causes, procures or allows himself to be registered in the Great Register of any county, knowing himself not to be entitled to such registration, is punishable by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the County Jail or State Prison not exceeding one year, or both. In all cases where, on the trial of a person charged with any offense under the provisions of this section, it appears in evidence that the accused stands registered in the Great Register of any county without being qualified for such registration, the Court must order such registration to be canceled.

SEC. 43. Every person who, after being required by the Board of Judges at any election, refuses to be sworn, or who, after being sworn, refuses to answer any pertinent question propounded by such Board, touching his right or the right of any other person to vote, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 44. Every person summoned to appear and testify, before any Board of Registration, who wilfully disobeys such summons, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 45. Every person not entitled to vote, who fraudulently votes, and every person who votes more than once at any one election, or knowingly hands in two or more tickets folded together, or changes any ballot after the same has been deposited in the ballot box, or adds, or attempts to add any ballot to those legally polled at any election, either by fraudulently introducing the same into the ballot box before or after the ballots therein have been counted, or adds to or mixes with, or attempts to add to or mix with, the ballots lawfully polled, other ballots, while the same are being counted or canvassed, or at any other time, with intent to change the result of such election, or carries away or destroys, or attempts to carry away or destroy, any poll list, or ballots, or ballot box, for the purpose of breaking up or invalidating such election, or wilfully detains, mutilates, or destroys any election returns, or in any manner so interferes with the officers holding such election or conducting such canvass, or with the voters lawfully exercising their rights of voting at such election, as to prevent such election or canvass from being fairly held and lawfully conducted, is guilty of felony.

SEC. 46. Every person not entitled to vote, who fraudulently attempts to vote, or who, being entitled to vote, attempts to vote more than once at any election, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 47. Every person who procures, aids, assists, counsels or advises another to give or offer his vote at any election, knowing that the person is not qualified to vote, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 48. Every officer or Clerk of Election who aids in changing or destroying any poll list, or in placing any ballots in the ballot box, or taking any therefrom, or adds, or attempts to add, any ballots to those legally polled at such election, either by fraudulently introducing the same into the ballot box before or after the ballots therein have been counted, or adds to or mixes with, or attempts to add to or mix with, the ballots polled any other ballots, while the same are being counted or canvassed, or at any other time, with intent to change the result of such election, or allows another to do so when in his power to prevent it, or carries away, or destroys, or knowingly allows another to carry away or destroy, any poll list, ballot box, or ballots lawfully polled, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for not less than two nor more than seven years.

SEC. 49. Every Inspector, Judge, or Clerk of an election, who, previous to putting the ballot of an elector in the ballot box, attempts to find out any name on such ballot, or who opens, or suffers the folded ballot of any elector which has been handed in to be opened or examined previous to putting the same into the ballot box, or who makes or places any mark or device on any folded ballot with the view to ascertain the name of any person for whom the elector has voted, or who, without the consent of the elector, discloses the name of any person which such Inspector, Judge or Clerk has fraudulently or illegally discovered to have been voted for by such elector, is punishable by fine, not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars.

SEC. 50. Every person who forges or counterfeits returns of an election purporting to have been held at a precinct, town, or ward where no election was in fact held, or wilfully substitutes forged or counterfeit returns of election in the place of the true returns, for a precinct, town or ward where an election was actually held, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for a term not less than two nor more than ten years.

SEC. 51. Every person who wilfully adds to, or subtracts from, the votes actually cast at an election in any returns, or who alters such returns, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison for not less than one nor more than five years.

SEC. 52. Every person who aids or abets in the commission of any of the offenses mentioned in the four preceding sections, or who being present at or cognizant of the commission of either of such offenses, does not give information thereof as soon as practicable to the District Attorney or Grand Jury of the proper county, or to some Justice of the Peace of such county, is punishable by imprisonment in the County Jail for the period of six months, or in the State Prison not exceeding two years.

SEC. 53. Every person who by force, threats, menaces, bribery, or any corrupt means, either directly or indirectly attempts to influence any elector in giving his vote, or to deter him from giving the same, or attempts by any means whatever to awe, restrain, hinder or disturb any elector in the free exercise of the right of suffrage, or furnishes any elector wishing to vote, who cannot read, with a ticket, informing or giving such elector to understand that it contains a name written or printed thereon different from the name which is written or printed thereon, or demands any elector at any such election, by receiving and causing such elector to vote for a different person or any office than he intended or desired to vote for; or who, being inspector, judge or Clerk of any election, while acting as such, induces or attempts to induce, any elector, either by menace or reward, or promise thereof, to vote differently from what such elector intended or desired to vote, he is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 54. Every person who, with intent to promote the election of himself, or any other person either:

1. Furnishes entertainment at his expense to any meeting of electors previous to or during an election;
2. Pays for, procures, or engages to pay for any such entertainment;
3. Furnishes or engages to pay or deliver any money or property for the purpose of procuring the attendance of voters at the polls, or for the purpose of compensating any person for procuring attendance of voters at the polls, except for the conveyance of voters who are sick or infirm;
4. Furnishes or engages to pay or deliver any money or property for any purpose intended to promote the election of any candidate, except for the expenses of holding and conducting public meetings for the discussion of public questions, and of printing and circulating ballots, handbills, and other papers previous to such election;

—Is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 55. Every person who, being a candidate at any election, offers or agrees to appoint or procure the appointment of any particular person to office as an inducement or consideration to any person to vote for, or procure or aid in procuring the election of such candidate, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 56. Every person not being a candidate, who communicates any offer made in violation of the last section to any person with intent to induce him to vote for, or to procure or aid in procuring the election of the candidate making the offer, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 57. (§84, 85, 86). Every person who gives or offers a bribe to any officer or member of any legislative caucus, political convention, committee, primary election, or political gathering of any kind, held for the purpose of nominating candidates for offices of honor, trust, or profit in this State, with intent to influence the person to whom such bribe is given or offered to be more favorable to one candidate than another, and every person, member of either of the bodies in this section mentioned, who receives or offers to receive any such bribe, is punishable by imprisonment in the State Prison not less than one nor more than fourteen years.

SEC. 58. Every person who by threats, intimidations, or unlawful violence wilfully hinders or prevents electors from assembling in public meeting for the consideration of public questions, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 59. Every person who wilfully disturbs or breaks up any public meeting of electors or others, lawfully being held for the purpose of considering public questions, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 60. Every person who makes, offers, or accepts any bet or wager upon the result of any election, or upon the success or failure of any person or candidate, or upon the number of votes to be cast either in the aggregate or for any particular candidate, or upon the vote to be cast by any person, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 61. SUMMONS.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE SIXTEENTH Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the county of Inyo. John C. Morrison, Jr., plaintiff, against W. G. Squires, defendant. Action brought in the District Court of the Sixteenth Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the county of Inyo, and the complaint filed in said county of Inyo, in the office of the Clerk of said District Court.

The People of the State of California send greeting to W. G. Squires. You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff in the District Court of the Sixteenth Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the county of Inyo, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons—if served within this county; or, if served out of this county, but in this district, within twenty days; otherwise, within forty days—or judgment by default will be taken against you, according to the prayer of said complaint. The said action is brought to recover the sum of Eight hundred and fifty-seven 72/100 dollars in gold coin of the United States, for goods, wares and merchandise sold and delivered to said defendant by said plaintiff, at defendant's special instance and request, on the ninth day of September, A. D. 1872, together with interest thereon from said date at the rate of ten per cent. per annum. And you are hereby notified if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint, as above required, the said plaintiff will take judgment by default against you, in accordance with the prayer of said plaintiff's complaint.

Given under my hand and the seal of the District Court of the Sixteenth Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the County of Inyo, this Sixteenth day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy three.

MEDICAL.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE, FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.

No Person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittant Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most Wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

The Aldine.

It is a difficult task for a pen to describe the artistic beauties of the October Aldine, a number which flashes with rare gems of art, even as the October foliage assumes Oriental splendors. There are four full page illustrations in this issue, each a master production, by celebrated artists. Mr. John S. Davis has a lovely picture called "Nutting," a group of children beneath chesnut trees; Mr. Alexander Lawrie gives a grand view of Elizabeth Valley, in the world-named Andirondack region of New York; Mr. Holman Hunt, the famous English artist, is represented by the "Eve of St. Agnes;" and Mrs. Greatorex has a characteristic sketch of an old house in New York city, the Harsen Mansion. Besides these great pictures, Mr. Kruseman Van Elton gives a mid-summer view on Salmon Brook, in Connecticut, Mr. J. McEntee, of the National Academy, has a brilliant and dreamy October sketch called "Falling Leaves," as good as anything which ever came from the pencil of this famous artist; a bird picture of a duck and sparrows, called "Opulence and Indigence," is after Gustavius Lus; an original American landscape scene represents the flight of a flock of wild geese over a reedy lake; there is a magnificent portrait of the beautiful and accomplished Angelica Kaufman; and Benjamin Vautier, one of the most popular painters at Dusseldorf, has a charming German interior, called "Poor Pussy!" The remaining illustrations are a little gem, "The Summer Shower," and a view of the "Hinter-see, in Upper Bavaria." No art journal in the new world has ever attempted to give in one number so many rare and beautiful pictures. The literary contents of the October Aldine are unusually brilliant and piquant; as crisp as the air of October. In poetry, Geo. W. Sears writes of "October;" Marie S. Ladd of "Endeavor;" W. W. Bailey, of the "Forest Spring;" W. L. Shoemaker, of "The Red Lily;" and Nellie C. Hastings, of "A Dead Life." A better collection of poems seldom appears in an American magazine. In romance Lucy Ellen Guernsey has a gracefully written story called "Penelope's Web,' and W. F. Yocum, a thrilling tale of the "Loss of the 'Oro Fino.'" James Jackson Jarves writes of "The Lady of Bellosguardo," who was the intimate friend of Mrs Browning; Mrs. M. Despard describes the old "Harsen House;" Francis Tiffany has an essay on "The Rage for Depicting Reality," in which he narrates the love-life of Moliere; there is a lengthy sketch of Angelica Kaufman; and Gath Brittle has an amusing chapter on "Curious Advertisements." Dr. Fuller-Walker, the editor of The Aldine, has articles on "St. Agnes," "Salmon Brook" "Falling Leaves," "Elizabeth Valley," "Among the Birds," and a "German Interior." He also writes of the "Central Park Bronzes," in the art column, and of Philip Gilbert Hamerton's "Intellectual Life," and the President of Spain's (Emilio Castelar) "Old Rome and New Italy." The musical department glances at the coming New York season, and reviews music abroad. From this outline sketch of the October Aldine, it will be seen that it has an immense variety of art gems and literary articles of the highest order Subscription price, $5, including chromos "Village Belle," and "Crossing the Moor." James Sutton & Co., publishers, 58 Maiden Lane, New York.

Temper of Tools.

A correspondent of The Detroit Tribune says: If an edged tool is so hard as to crumble, grind it on a dry stone until the edge turns blue, it will then cease to break and the temper will generally prove to be about right. Scythes and axes are sometimes too hard at the edge, but if treated in this way will give no further trouble.

—General Wise, in his prime, could write an editorial fifty-six yards long, but he is getting old now, and don't push them beyond forty or thereabouts.

Music Haunted.

I made application for board, and the landlady said "Twenty dollars a week, payable in advance. You will find some very pleasant people here, musical people, and very talented in their way." I found 'em. They consisted of a violinist, a lady pianist, a clarionet player and a bass-singer.

We all had rooms on the same floor, and within hearing distance. If it had not been for being within hearing distance, this article would never have been written.

I look with sorrow upon my gray hairs, and wonder that I lived out that twenty dollars' worth without killing that lady singer, that bassanist, the clarionetist and the violinist cuss—my mind wanders even now.

I had a room between the clarionet and the violin, and opposite was the pianist. The bass cuss could "holler" so loud that it didn't make any difference where he was—if he'd been "floored" two stories lower down, I never should have asked him to come up stairs on account of his voice. I never could tell the difference in the morning between his voice and the milkman's, for they used to commence at the same hour—half past four.

I got up one morning and went to his room and asked him if he was ill. He said "No, I am only practising on the 'scales.'" I told him I had a pair of steelyards in my room he could use, which wouldn't make so much noise. And that if he was practising to sell fish, he'd better advertise and save his lungs. The d——d fool got indignant and ordered me out, saying I had insulted him. Very few people like to be advised.

The violinist used to start up about 6 o'clock A. M., and everybody on that floor used to start up about the same time. Several gentleman remonstrated with him, but he said that his instructor told him that was the best hour to practice, as he could detect any false notes better at that time than any other. The blasted chuckle-headed idiot practised at that hour every day, and left the detecting of false notes to us outsiders. He refused to stop, and said he'd be a second Paganini, or "bust every gut in the country."

The clarionet had an idea that about bed-time was the best hour for him. We never interfered much with him, trusting entirely to Providence, with the hope that Providence wouldn't be very long about it, either. Our prayers were granted. That young man was found on his bed one morning with a very full expression about his cheeks, and his clarionet idle for want of wind. The coroner who sat upon him was a fellow boarder, and he said he never enjoyed anything so well in his life. He took charge of the clarionet, and never turned it over to the estate. He's a firm believer in the Golden Rule.

The lady pianist had a room opposite mine, and divided our attention with the violinist. She seemed to be studying some kind of arithmetic, always saying "one, two, three, four. One, two, three, four." I suggested to her one day that the monotony wouldn't be so great if she'd "peg one," and call it five. She suggested to me that I had no ear for music, and had better attend to my own business. No ear for music! If I only heard.

If "practice makes perfect" these people ought to have been successes, for a young man, a little inclined to idiocy, told us he had lived there a year and that sort of thing had been going on all the time. I left that house at the end of the week, and got another boarding house where the boarders were all deaf and crippled.

That was years ago. I learned the other day that the young man inclined to idiocy was afterwards taken to an insane asylum, where he passes his time in trying to blow an imaginary clarionet, and count "one, two, three, four," at the same time. They tell me it's not a success. I also hear the musical boarding house has "petered," the non-musical boarders having pleaded the statute of limitations, and "busted" up the "works."

Fisherman's Peak.

This is the name given to the highest mountain in America by a party of Lone Pine fishermen, who had the honor, a few days since, to be the first white men that have planted foot on its summit. This is the mountain which overtops Mount Whitney, about which there has been much talk of late. C. D. Begole, John Lucas, A. H. Johnson, are the lucky men whose names are bound to be handed down to posterity as the most ambitious fishing party in the known world. We agree with THE INDEPENDENT that the name will hardly do. We advise these pioneers to recall it, and make up one more becoming, which will quickly be adopted by the press of the country, if attended to in time. Our State Geologist has done nothing to entitle his name to be shifted from the other peak to this.—Visalia Delta, Oct. 2.

The Largest Steam Engine in the World.

Pittsburgh claims to have in progress of construction a pair of engines which will be the most powerful in the world. Reducing the capacity of some of the largest pumping engines in the world to a uniform lift of one foot in twenty-four hours, it is found that the one at the Lehigh zinc mines will lift 3,456,000,000 gallons; the pair at the Chicago water works, 4,500,000,000 gallons; the pair at Haarlem, Holland, 10,000,000,000 gallons; while the new Pittsburg engines will lift 14,240,000,000 gallons. The pair will weigh 1,500 tons, and will cost $423,550. The following dimensions will serve to give some idea of the magnitude: Cranks, 9 tons; shafts, 24 tons; four sections of the two valve chambers, 120 tons; fly-wheel, 70 tons. The four plungers will weigh upwards of 400 tons. Cylinders, diameter, 64 inches, stroke, 11 feet. Plungers, 40 inches diameter, 11 feet stroke. This ponderous piece of machinery will be used to raise water into Highland avenue reservoir, in Pittsburg, a hight of 356 feet. It is estimated that it will raise 70,000,000 pounds of water for each hundred pounds of coal consumed, the cost being at the rate of one cent for every 3,070 gallons.

A Great Engineering Feat Accomplished in St. Louis.

The center sections of the arch between the western abutment and the first of the bridge, each consisting of an upper and lower rib, were completed September 18, by the insertion of the key or center tubes, and that portion of the arch is now finished, demonstrating the feasibility of the original plans, and its success is regarded as one of the greatest triumphs of engineering skill the world has ever seen. The two remaining ribs of this arch, which are only partially constructed, will be finished at once with ease. The three grand arches of the bridge were expected to be finished by the middle of December.

THE ELECTION.

We must remind our readers that on Wednesday next the people of California will be called upon to make a choice of Supreme and District Judges. Of the two candidates in this District we can only say that both are warmly indorsed by their respective admirers and friends, and since the votes of this institution will be a "stand off," as usual, it will offer no advice to others.

It should be borne in mind that we have three tickets in the field for the State—the two regulars and the People's Independent. No candidate has personal advantages over the others as regards integrity or qualifications, but at this crisis there are other points to be considered in making a choice that should be well weighed before casting a vote. Reform is imperatively demanded, and reform is promised by all. Our votes are to determine in which party we have the greatest faith.

Some of the Losers.

Henry Cooke, late Governor of the District of Columbia, and brother of Jay Cooke, is President of the First National Bank of Washington, and by its suspension, has left several distinguished persons creditors of the bank. Among these are President Grant and ex-President Johnson, the latter for about the whole of his worldly possessions amounting to $60,000, the former for a still larger sum. The Smithsonian Institute had $10,000 on deposit; the Childrens' Hospital and Benevolent Institution, which has been of great good in Washington, had $17,000. General Knox, Controller of Currency, said he had not money enough to go to market the day after the suspension, his money being all on deposit. The widow of the late John G. Wilson, member of Congress from Oregon, had $1,000 deposited there, and by the loss she is left penniless. This amount was placed to her credit after a long delay. During the time she has been teaching school in Oregon.

Chance to Locate.

The Secretary of the Board of Indian Commissioners telegraphs to Washington that he spent a week on the lands recently ceded by the Utes to the Government, through the Hon. Felix Brunot. He says the lands are immensely rich in gold, silver, copper lead, iron and coal. Fifty town lots have already been located since the agreement was made. He states that the western line of the reservation is twenty instead of ten miles long, as was reported at first.

The New Party.

Speaking of the People's party in Ohio, The Cincinnati Commercial says: There is no doubt about it—the third party movement is hourly gaining strength throughout the State. Collins, Oliver and Hassaruck, who are addressing meetings of Liberals, are well received, and are holding large and interesting meetings. The force of the new party is a complete surprise to the old fogies.

Their Sentence.

Two of the condemned Modocs, Slolucks and Barncho, have had their sentence of death commuted to imprisonment for life on Alcatraz Island. These wild bucks will probably serve out their terms quicker than any white men could or would.

The Columbus & Carson Road.

The Borax Miner says the Columbus wagon road road project may be considered as certain of completion. The Carson people have raised money enough to pay up all outstanding debts on the road, and work will now go on with renewed energy.

Expelled.

Grove L Johnson, him whom Edgerton pronounced a forger and political villain generally, has been expelled from membership of the Democratic Central Committee of Sacramento, for having had Republican names printed on Democratic tickets.

Refused.

Immediately after the execution of Capt. Jack and the others, Sheriff McKenzie made an application for the custody of the Indians indicted by the Grand Jury of Jackson county, Oregon, but Gen. Wheaton refused to give them up.

Admiral Winslow.

Rear Admiral Winslow of Kearsarge-Alabama fame, died in Boston on the 30th ultimo.

MOUNT WHITNEY.
